LOOK BACK

- 1 In pairs, look at the categories below. How many words in each category can you think of? Students' own answers

PERSONAL INFORMATION | DANE OSOBOWE

- 2 Listen to the recording and choose the personal information that you hear. Write the answers in your notebook. Where are you asked to give your personal information? Have you ever felt you had to give more information than needed?

age date of birth email address first name
ID number marital status mobile phone number nationality occupation passport number place of birth postal address surname

- 3 In pairs, ask for and give personal details in the situations below. Use the words from the box in Exercise 2.

Students' own answers

- signing up for a driving course
- buying travel insurance for a language course abroad

STAGES OF LIFE | OKRESY ŻYCIA

- 4 Which words complete the sentences correctly? Write the answers in your notebook.
- Most people get married when they're middle-aged / grown-up / adolescent.
 - A person between thirteen and nineteen is a teenager / an infant / a grown-up.
 - An informal word for 'child' is baby / kid / youth.
 - In Poland, people legally become adults at the age in / at / of eighteen.

Exercise 5

- 3 F (Someone who is ageing is getting older; an adolescent is a child who is becoming an adult.)
4 F ('To be on your deathbed' means about to die; 'to pass away' means to die.)

- 5 Are the sentences true (T) or false (F)? Correct the false ones. Write the answers in your notebook.

- If you're in your prime, you're living the most successful stage of your life. T
- A pensioner is a person who has retired from work. T
- You can call someone who is ageing an adolescent. F
- 'To be on your deathbed' and 'to pass away' mean the same. F
- A minor is an underage person. T
- A child who is just learning to walk is a toddler. T

- 6 In pairs, answer the questions. Give reasons for your answers. Students' own answers

- Which stage of life is it the best to be in?
- Do you like the stage of life you are in now? Why? / Why not?
- How do you feel about growing older?

APPEARANCE | WYGLĄD ZEWNĘTRZNY

- 7 Match the words from the box to people 1–5. Some words might match more than one person. Write the answers in your notebook. Suggested answers:

bald 2 beard 2 blonde 5 broad shoulders 5 dark complexion 4 freckles 1 lovely smile 1, 5 moustache 2 pale complexion 1 plump 2, 4 red hair 1 short 1, 2 slim 1, 3, 5 spiky hair 3 straight hair 4, 5 tattoo 5 white hair 3 wrinkles 2, 3

- 8 In pairs, compare the photos below. Then read the text, copy the table and complete it with words from the text. What's your opinion on these kinds of photo-editing apps?

Build	Height	Face	Hair	Other
fit	tall	small eyes, dark circles, freckles, pink cheeks, slim, full lips	beautiful, shiny	attractive, good-looking

Seventeen-year-old Jenna Olson has just taken over fifty selfies to post on her social media profile and she's not happy with any of them. She thinks her eyes are too small, and the dark circles under them are too visible. She also doesn't like it that everyone can see all of her freckles and pink cheeks. So, she decides to edit some of the photos to come up with the most attractive version of herself.

Millions of people use photo-editing apps, including celebrities who teenagers look up to. However, famous people don't always admit to changing their

- 9 In pairs, take turns to describe the people in the picture in Exercise 7. Use the words from Exercises 7 and 8. Try to guess which person your partner is describing.

PERSONAL POSSESSIONS | RZECZY OSOBISTE

- 10 Which clothes and accessories from the box can you see in the post? Write the answers in your notebook.

baseball cap belt designer glasses floral dress gloves handbag high heels loose sweatshirt old-fashioned pyjamas prescription sunglasses scarf smart suit snow boots straight-leg jeans sweater tight blouse tracksuit bottoms trainers warm shirt

photos, so their followers think that they're always tall and good-looking and that they have beautiful hair and fit bodies. What the fans don't realise is that what they see is not 'ideal'. It's just the result of a computer program.

Jenna's just posted her selfie online and her face is now slim with shiny hair and full lips. You can no longer see her beautiful natural freckles.

Jenna is just one of the many teenagers who have become part of the 'physical imperfection' culture. A population driven by 'perfect' celebrities who can't see the beauty in themselves.

- 11 Listen to four conversations. Match the words from the box to the clothes they describe. There are three extra words. Write the answers in your notebook.

casual checked comfortable cotton denim fashionable in good condition khaki leather patterned second-hand silk stunning trendy with pockets

- 1 a shirt: checked, in good condition
2 a dress: patterned, stunning, cotton a handbag and a belt: leather, second-hand
3 jeans: denim trousers: khaki
4 a sweatshirt: trendy, with pockets, comfortable

- 12 Work in pairs. Student A: You are selling the clothes in Exercise 10. Student B: You are interested in buying one of the items. Call the seller and ask about the item you want to buy (e.g. the size, quality, material, price). Then change roles and ask about a different item.

Students' own answers

- 13 Complete the sentences with the correct prepositions. Write the answers in your notebook. Are any of the sentences true for you?

- 1 My family usually dresses up in their Sunday best for our Christmas meal, but as soon as dinner is over, we dress down and change into our loungewear.
2 The trousers I bought last week were a bit too long, so I rolled them up. Now they are the right length and they look cool.
3 I really don't like cold weather, so whenever I go out, I wrap up warm and throw on a coat.
4 I prefer to wear clothes that make me blend into the crowd rather than stand out.
5 As soon as I come home from school, I slip into some comfortable clothes, like a hoodie and joggers.

PERSONALITY | CECHY CHARAKTERU

- 14 Answer the questions with the words from the box. There are two extra words. Write the answers in your notebook.

ambitious arrogant brave caring generous independent messy serious stubborn wise

What do you call someone who ...

- 1 never tidies their room? messy
2 is determined to be very successful? ambitious
3 isn't afraid to do scary things? brave
4 thinks that they're better than everyone else? arrogant
5 helps other people by giving them their time, money, support, etc.? generous
6 doesn't like to take advice from other people? independent
7 is quiet and doesn't laugh much? serious
8 is helpful and kind? caring

- 15 Which words complete the text correctly? Write the answers in your notebook. Then in pairs, answer the questions from the introduction.

What is your social media personality?

All of us have a certain relationship with social media which differs from person to person. Some of us clearly fit under one personality, whilst others might have a combination of two or more personalities. What is your social media personality? Do any of these apply to you?

The Social Bunny

You're a member of several social networks where you're an active member – everyone knows and likes you. You're very ¹mean / helpful / peaceful with the advice that you give to people. You're the first to organise meet-ups in real life due to your ²sociable / selfish / tolerant nature.

The FOMO (= Fear of Missing Out)

You're constantly checking all of your social network profiles because you're ³insecure / impatient / responsible and worried that you might get left out of something. You also think that by engaging in your network's posts all the time you're a ⁴shallow / modest / loyal friend and you're going to be liked more.

The Lurker

Your social media profile hasn't got any personal information about you or your photo. You're very ⁵talkative / outgoing / quiet and don't say much on social media platforms. But you notice a lot of what's going on.

The Critic

You love giving your opinion on everything and you're very ⁶honest / hard-working / artistic when it comes to expressing your views. Though some people might see it as ⁷calm / aggressive / shy. As long as you're ⁸polite / violent / bossy, you shouldn't have any problems.

Exercise 17

- 1 annoyed (because the dog keeps barking)
- 2 frightened (because he's afraid to go on the roller coaster ride / because the roller coaster is too high, etc.)
- 3 frustrated (because the phone keeps freezing and is unresponsive; she can't upload a photo, etc.)
- 4 moved (because she's watching a tragic/sad film)
- 5 worried (because someone he's expecting/ waiting for is late and it's out of character for him)

- 16 In pairs, choose three words from Exercises 14 and 15 to describe: Students' own answers
- both of you,
 - somebody you both know,
 - a celebrity.

FEELINGS AND EMOTIONS | UCZUCIA I EMOCJE

- 17 Listen to five recordings and choose the correct options. Write the answers in your notebook. Why are the speakers feeling like this?

- 1 The woman is annoyed / depressed / disappointed.
- 2 The boy is embarrassed / excited / frightened.
- 3 The girl is bored / frustrated / pleased.
- 4 The woman is surprised / moved / stressed out.
- 5 The man is worried / bored / angry.

- 18 Complete the sentences about the situations in Exercise 17 with words formed from the words in brackets. Write the words in your notebook.

- 1 The woman finds the dog annoying (ANNOY) because it keeps barking all the time.
- 2 Going on the roller coaster is stressful (STRESS) for the boy and he finds the whole experience frightening (FRIGHT).
- 3 The fact that the girl can't upload the photo is frustrating (FRUSTRATE) for her.
- 4 The woman is watching a moving (MOVE) film.
- 5 The man finds it worrying (WORRY) that his son is late and isn't answering the phone.

- 19 Complete the questions with the words from the box. There are two extra words. Write the answers in your notebook. Then in pairs, ask and answer the questions.

angry boring cheer disappointing feel lose make mood nervous worry

- 1 When was the last time you were in a bad mood? Why? What did you do to cheer yourself up?
- 2 Who is the last person you were angry with? What did they do to make you feel like this?
- 3 Are you nervous about your final exams? Why? / Why not?
- 4 What things do you worry about? What can you do to change this feeling?
- 5 Do you find it easy or difficult to make up your mind when you have to decide on something important?
- 6 What kind of situations make you lose your temper?

Unique hobbies

Numerous studies show that teenagers benefit hugely from having hobbies, so we've asked three teenagers to describe their unusual hobbies that you might take an interest ¹ in.

Woodworking Kayla (17)

I never regarded woodworking ² as a hobby, but when I was fourteen, we moved near my uncle who was really into it. So, I decided to have a go ³ at it, too. I mainly make furniture and I really take pride ⁴ in my work. I think other people appreciate it, too, as I sell a lot of my stuff online. I think this hobby is going to turn into a career for me.

Stone skipping Cole (18)

Stone skipping is throwing a flat stone onto the water to make it bounce on the surface. It requires knowledge ⁵ of physics and appropriate handling of the stone, but it's really easy to grasp the principles behind it. I now take part in international competitions. My parents disapprove ⁶ of it as they think it's a waste of time and money spent on travelling, but it appeals ⁷ to me, so I'll keep at it.

Pickleball Helena (19)

I discovered pickleball after my physiotherapist suggested it to me. I thought I wouldn't be capable ⁸ of engaging in this sort of activity due to having some back problems, but I've now realised that it's perfect for me. If you're familiar ⁹ with tennis or badminton, then pickleball shouldn't be new to you. You use a solid wooden racket and play on a smaller court. I've now convinced a few friends ¹⁰ of the benefits of it and they sometimes play with me.

PERSONAL VALUES AND ROLE MODELS | OSOBIŚĆ SYSTEM WARTOŚCI I AUTORYTETY

- 24 Match the personal values from the box to descriptions 1–5. There are three extra words. Write the answers in your notebook. Which three sentences are most important to you? In pairs, compare your answers.

courage faith friendship honesty loyalty self-respect tolerance

Exercise 21

Sample answers:

- bang your fist, grind your teeth
- purse your lips
- tap your fingers
- fold your arms
- shrug your shoulders
- raise your eyebrows

My Personal Value System

The most important things to me are:

- always telling the truth. honesty
- treating people in the same way regardless of sex, race, age or nationality. tolerance
- not betraying my family, friends and acquaintances. loyalty
- eating a healthy diet and taking regular exercise. wellness
- making the right decision even if it's difficult. courage

- 25 In pairs, answer the questions.

Students' own answers

- Who has had a positive impact on your life?
- Have you had any mentors in your life? Who were they and how did they help you?
- Who is your biggest role model and why?

GO FOR IT

- 26 In small groups, do the task. Together with your classmates you'd like to act out a play based on the book you recently read in class. You're looking for actors for the three main roles. Discuss: Students' own answers

- the characters' age and appearance,
- the clothes you need for the actors,
- the characters' personalities,
- the emotions the actors will have to act out.

Write an ad for your school paper with a description of the people you need.

Unusual beliefs

There were two people sitting in front of me on the bus. One was a slightly overweight woman in her mid-fifties wearing a long skirt, sensible flat shoes and a pearl necklace. The other was a well-built adolescent with a piercing in one lip and an orange sweatshirt with the hood pulled up over his black curly hair. ¹ C He was lively and cheerful.

But although they looked very different, as I listened to their conversation, I realised they had something in common. ² E For example? Well, ... 'There are aliens everywhere. They're disguised as humans,' said the adolescent.

'Yes,' agreed the woman. 'I know. I think my next-door neighbour is one.'

At first, I thought they were joking. ³ A As they talked, they found more beliefs they shared:

'I never walk under ladders.' 'I never go out of the house without checking my horoscope.'

'Fortune tellers can tell you your future.' 'Some people can talk to the dead.'

I like to think I'm open-minded, but I must admit I felt more than a bit puzzled. ⁴ D There is little or no scientific evidence to support what they think, so I just don't understand it. It's a complete mystery to me.

Exercise 1

Suggested answers:

They've been taught/brought up to believe them. / It's fun to believe magical things. / It gives people comfort in a confusing and challenging world.

- 1 Why do you think people believe in things for which there is little or no scientific evidence? Discuss in pairs.

- The Earth is flat.
- Having regular showers is bad for you.
- Fortune tellers can predict the future.

TRENING

- 2 Read the tip. Then match sentences 1–5 to sentences a–e to make a short text. Write the answers in your notebook.

- 1 My parents are generous, kind and loving. d
 2 They are similar in many ways. b
 3 My dad is quite superstitious. a
 4 My dad thinks that Friday is his lucky day. e
 5 So far, he hasn't won more than ten pounds. c

- a My mum, on the other hand, trusts in science.
 b However, there is one big difference between them.
 c But he's sure that one day his luck will change.
 d They're also great fun to be with.
 e That's why he always buys a lottery ticket then.

W zadaniu na dobieranie warto zwrócić uwagę na słowa i zwroty spełniające określone funkcje w tekście, ponieważ mogą pomóc ci uzupełnić brakujące zdania.

- Zaimki odnoszące się do osób lub rzeczy, o których była mowa wcześniej w tekście.
- Słowa wprowadzające dodatkowe argumenty, np.: also, besides, what's more, and, in addition.
- Określenia podobieństw, np.: similar, the same, both.
- Określenia różnic, np.: however, although, but, on the other hand.
- Określenia przyczyn i skutków, np.: that's why, that's the reason, as a result.
- Słowa powiązane tematycznie, np.: family – brothers and sisters; personality – shy, cheerful.

- 3 Explain how the tip helped you match the sentences in Exercise 2.

Suggested answers:

- 1 d Rzeczowniki i zaimki: zaimek they odwołuje się do wyrażenia My parents. Słowa wprowadzające dodatkowe argumenty: also. Słowa powiązane tematycznie: przymiotnik fun opisuje ludzi, podobnie jak słowa generous, kind i loving.
 2 b Określenia różnic: similar in many ways – However ... one big difference. Zaimki: w zdaniach użyty jest ten sam zaimek w różnych przypadkach (They – them).
 3 a Określenia różnic: My dad ... – My mum, on the other hand, ...; superstitious i trusts in science.
 4 e Określenia przyczyn i skutków: That's why. Rzeczowniki i zaimki: My dad – he.
 5 c Określenia różnic: but; never won oraz luck will change.

ZADANIE

- 4 Przeczytaj tekst, z którego usunięto cztery zdania. Uzupełnij luki 1–4 zdaniami wybranymi spośród A–E tak, aby powstał spójny i logiczny tekst. Jedno zdanie zostało podane dodatkowo i nie pasuje do żadnej luki. Zapisz odpowiedzi w zeszycie.

- A But it soon became clear they were serious.
B That's why they were enjoying themselves.
C She seemed gentle, kind-hearted and sensitive.
D Why do ordinary people have such unusual beliefs?
E They both believed some rather surprising things.

- 5 In pairs, answer the questions. Students' own answers

- 1 What things do the people on the bus believe?
- 2 What do you think of those ideas?
- 3 What other unusual ideas have you heard of?

- 6 SŁOWNICTWO Complete the note with the correct form of words from the first paragraph of the text on page 10. The first letter of each word has been provided. Write the answers in your notebook.

Although I'm a woman in my ¹mid-twenties, I must admit I'm not into fashion. I usually wear jeans and a T-shirt with a warm jumper or a sweatshirt with the ²hood up if it's cold. Occasionally, I put on a long skirt or a dress, but I never wear short skirts or high heels. I'm tall, so I think ³flat shoes suit me better. I'm not very 'modern'. I don't have a tattoo or any ⁴piercings, but I love jewellery. I always wear earrings and I've got a lot of bracelets and ⁵necklaces in a box at home. My boyfriend is a very well-⁶built rugby player. He used to have beautiful, long ⁷curly hair but now, unfortunately, it's really short.

- 7 SŁOWNICTWO Which words complete the sentences correctly? Write the answers in your notebook. Note down the sentences that are true for you. Then in pairs, compare your lists.

- 1 I'm always in a good mood. I'm a cheerful / helpful / quiet sort of person.
- 2 I think I'd make a good nurse. I'm generous / gentle / ordinary and caring.
- 3 I can understand some really complex ideas. I'm intelligent / puzzled / serious.
- 4 I'm usually pretty polite / sensible / sensitive, but occasionally I do something silly.
- 5 I've got a very bossy / lively / messy personality. I've always got to be doing something.
- 6 I'm a(n) insecure / kind-hearted / peaceful sort of person. I hate to see other people suffering.

CULTURE BIT | A Million Dollar Challenge

From 1964 to 2015, the American stage magician and scientific sceptic James Randi (1928–2020) offered a $1,000,000 prize to anyone who could produce scientifically approved evidence of any paranormal, supernatural or occult power or event. Over 1,000 people tried to win Randi's One Million Dollar Paranormal Challenge, but nobody ever succeeded in proving beyond doubt that they could talk to the dead, predict the future or bend metal spoons with the power of their mind.

LIFE SKILLS | Dealing with superstitions

- 8 In groups, discuss the best way to respond in the situation described below. Students' own answers

When talking to a cousin, you discover that they have some surprising beliefs for which, as far as you know, there is no scientific evidence. Do you ...

- change the subject and talk about something safer?
- ask your cousin to tell you more and to explain why he/she believes that?
- tell your cousin that he/she is talking nonsense and show him/her reliable websites that contradict his/her beliefs?
- suggest that you do some online research together to see if you can find any evidence for those beliefs?

- 9 In pairs, role-play the situation. Use the phrases below to help you. Students' own answers

STUDENT A: You believe in something surprising for which there is no scientific evidence. (Use one of the ideas from the text or think of one of your own.) Tell your partner about it.

I really believe that ...
Not many people know this, but ...
They're trying to hide it from us.

STUDENT B: Ask your partner questions about his/her surprising belief and suggest ways of checking whether there is any truth in it.

That's interesting, tell me more.
But if that's true, then surely ...?
I find that hard to believe.
Where did you hear that?
Have you got any evidence to back that up?
Why don't we check on ... to see if it's true or not?

A A seventeen-year-old was stopped for driving at 182 kilometres per hour. He didn't argue or lose control. He thought the cops were right to stop him. After all, it wouldn't do if everyone drove that fast. But he claimed he'd been careful. He'd chosen an empty, straight motorway and had kept an eye on the road at all times. The police were unimpressed and charged him with reckless driving. Why did he do it? We know teenagers can be moody, disobedient and immature and are sometimes irresponsible. But why do they occasionally feel the need to take irrational, unnecessary risks?

B Great thinkers have been grappling with this question for millennia. The Greek philosopher Aristotle argued that 'the young are heated by Nature.' In the early twentieth century, the pioneering American psychologist Granville Stanley Hall studied adolescents and concluded that their development replicates human evolution. In other words, the stormy, stressful period that teenagers go through is the equivalent of an early less civilised and sophisticated era of human society. This hypothesis has long been discounted, but could there be an evolutionary advantage to teenage behaviour?

C A more recent theory views teenagers not as incomplete adults, but as sensitive, highly adaptable creatures whose brains are perfectly designed for moving from the safety of the child's home to a complex, dangerous world. This theory explains why adolescents rebel against authority and long for thrills. It can lead to risky behaviour like speeding, but it also allows teenagers to meet more people and face up to challenges. And those new friends and experiences help them to evolve, to cope with the problems of adulthood and to become healthier and more successful.

D Brain-imaging technology has shown that human brains take longer to develop than we previously thought. From the age of twelve to twenty-five, our brains become faster, more mature and sophisticated, better at integrating memory and experience into our decisions. But it's not an easy process, so that might explain why teenagers are inconsistent and rebellious. They're still learning to use their brain's developing networks. Just as teens can be physically clumsy as their bodies grow, they can be mentally awkward as their brains develop. So perhaps the kid drove too fast because his brain was still a work in progress.

Uważnie przeczytaj pytania lub zdania w zadaniu na dobieranie i zwróć uwagę na kluczowe słowa i zwroty. Następnie poszukaj w tekście synonimów lub antonimów wybranych słów, powiązanych zwrotów lub przykładów.

ZADANIE

- 1 Przeczytaj podzielony na cztery części tekst oraz pytania do niego. Do każdego pytania 1–5 dopasuj właściwą część tekstu A–D. W jednej części tekstu znajdują się odpowiedzi na dwa pytania. Zapisz odpowiedzi w zeszycie.

In which paragraph does the author ...

- mention both pros and cons of risk-taking? C
- give an example of an individual's dangerous behaviour? A
- argue that teenage brains might provide evolutionary benefits? C
- explain that adolescents may take risks because they're not fully grown? D
- seem dismissive of a scientific theory? B

- 2 SŁOWNICTWO Complete the text with the verbs from the box. Write the answers in your notebook. Then in pairs, say if you think you could be a success in business. Give reasons for your answers.

cope face keep long lose rebel take

To be successful in business (and in life) you must ...

- know when to ¹take risks and when to play it safe.
- be willing to ²rebel against established conventions.
- ³keep an eye on your goals and never ⁴lose control.
- always ⁵face up to your responsibilities and ⁶cope with every challenge you meet without complaining.
- look to the future and not ⁷long for the past.

AS DIFFERENT AS CHALK AND CHEESE*

My twin sister Alicia and I are completely different, not 'two of a kind' as many people assume about twins. Yes, we are identical twins, and some people ¹ have problems differentiating between us, especially when we dress in identical outfits. We have the same taste in fashion, but that's about the only thing we have ² ! Our personalities, hobbies and our general outlook on life ³ us completely apart. While I am a shy and self-conscious kind of person who thinks twice before getting involved in anything, Alicia will always be willing to try new things and go against the flow. Nothing appeals ⁴ her more than taking risks and challenging herself. You ⁵ us last week when we locked ourselves out of the house twenty minutes before our A-level exams with my school bag left on the dining-room table! I, obviously, panicked. Alicia? She was ⁶ to be given the chance to solve a tricky problem. She climbed into the house through the back window, grabbed my bag and we made it to school on time!

Hi,

I saw Rita yesterday and guess what – she's become a minimalist! She had too many things and was annoyed she had to ¹tidy up all the time. So she got rid of lots of stuff. For example, she realised that she didn't need so many pairs of black trousers. But she didn't give away her ²(lovely) blue coat because it means a lot to her. Rita says it's best to try and go shopping ³(once) every two or three months / once per two or three months, at least in the beginning. She also said the general idea is to keep life simple. So, when I told her I was going to meet Roger before going to ⁴the gym, even though I didn't really want to, she was surprised. She said that part of being a minimalist is to regularly say ⁵no to things. I must say I liked the sound of that!

Rozmowa z odgrywaniem roli

- 1 In pairs, discuss whether you agree with the statement below. Is it better to give or to receive?

Students' own answers

A gift says more about the person who gives it than the person who gets it.

TRENING

- 2 Read the task below. In pairs, discuss what you might say about the four topics. Students' own answers

Rozmawiasz z kuzynem na temat zbliżających się urodzin waszej babci. Poniżej podano cztery kwestie, które musicie omówić. Rozmowę rozpoczyna uczeń A.

Charakter babci

Zainteresowania babci

Propozycja prezentu dla babci

Przewidywana reakcja babci na prezent

- 3 Listen to the role-play conversation. Do the students mention any of your ideas in Exercise 2? Students' own answers

Milczenie podczas rozmowy z odgrywaniem roli to błąd! Pamiętaj, by podtrzymywać rozmowę, nawet gdy nie masz pewności, co powiedzieć. Możesz poprosić rozmówcę o wyjaśnienie, samemu wyjaśnić lub sparafrazować wcześniejszą wypowiedź albo grać na zwłokę, zastanawiając się nad odpowiedzią na pytanie. W ramce Useful Phrases znajdziesz pomocne zdania i zwroty.

- 4 Copy the Useful Phrases box into your notebook and complete it with I, me or you. Then listen to the conversation again and tick the phrases you hear.

PRZYKŁADOWE ZADANIE I MODELOWA WYPOWIEDŹ

Otrzymałeś/Otrzymałaś zaproszenie na przyjęcie urodzinowe kolegi. Napisz o tym do koleżanki z zagranicy.

- Wyjaśnij, dlaczego to zaproszenie jest dla ciebie takie ważne.
- Opisz swoje uczucia związane z zaproszeniem.
- Poinformuj, jaki prezent planujesz kupić.
- Opisz strój, w jaki zamierzasz się ubrać, i poproś koleżankę o opinię.

Rozwiń swoją wypowiedź w każdym z czterech podpunktów. Długość tekstu powinna wynosić od 100 do 150 słów, nie licząc zdań, które są podane.

Dear Emma,

Guess what, Marek has invited me to his birthday party.

It's really important to me because Marek is the most popular boy in my school and I really like him.

At first, I was a bit worried because I don't know many of the people who will be there, but now I'm very excited and I'm looking forward to going.

I'm not sure what present to buy. It's hard to choose something for Marek because he's so fussy. I was going to get him a black leather belt, but I don't know if he's a small or a medium. He's tall but not very muscular, so maybe small?

Another problem is what to wear for the party. I was thinking of my little black dress, but I don't want to be the only one dressed up if everyone else is in jeans. What do you think? I know you're an expert on dress codes!

Looking forward to hearing from you.

Love,
XYZ

- 1 In pairs, discuss some of the reasons you email or message your friends (e.g. to give news or ask for advice). Do you ever write letters? Why? / Why not? Students' own answers
- 2 Read the sample task and the model answer above. In pairs, discuss what advice you would give your friend if you were Emma. Students' own answers

TRENING

- 3 Read the tip below, then read the sample task and the model answer again. How is each bullet referred to and developed? In pairs, think of alternative ways of referring to and developing the bullets. Students' own answers

Pamiętaj, że w zadaniu należy odnieść się do każdego z czterech podpunktów polecenia i je rozwijać, tj. poruszyć je i dodać bardziej szczegółowe informacje.

Spójrz na poniższe przykłady:

- wyjaśnij, czemu długo nie odpisywałeś/odpisywałaś
Przykładowa nierozwinięta odpowiedź brzmiałaby: I've been busy with driving lessons, a odpowiedź z odniesieniem i rozwinięciem: I've been busy with driving lessons every day for the last two weeks.
- krótko opowiedz o swoich zajęciach
Nierozwinięta odpowiedź: I've been helping my sister (= odniesienie), ale: I've been helping my sister prepare for her music exam. She's taking it tomorrow, so fingers crossed! (= odniesienie i rozwinięcie)

Pamiętaj, by zawsze rozwijać każdy punkt polecenia!

- 4 In pairs, think of alternative ways of referring to and developing the bullets in the sample task above. Students' own answers
- 5 Develop sentences 1–4 with your own ideas. Use the tip to help you. Write the answers in your notebook. Then in pairs, compare your ideas. Students' own answers
 - 1 I'm a bit nervous about the party.
 - 2 I don't want to go there alone.
 - 3 I wanted to wear jeans.
 - 4 I was going to buy him a book.
- 6 Copy the table into your notebook and add another example of an item of clothing from the model text.

- Describe an interesting person you talked to at the party.
- Describe your feelings when you saw your old boyfriend/girlfriend at the party.

CULTURE BIT | Dress codes

A dress code refers to appropriate clothing you are expected to wear in a given social situation. From informal to more formal, the most commonly used categories in the UK and the US are:

- casual – trainers, jeans and a T-shirt,
- smart casual – shirt, trousers, skirt, no jeans or trainers,
- business – suits, smart trousers and jacket, tie for men,
- black tie – for very formal occasions, bow tie and dinner jacket/tuxedo for men, evening dress and high heels for women.

11 Match photos A–G to the dress code categories from the Culture Bit box. Suggested answers: casual: C, D, F smart casual: B business: E, G black tie: A

What language is it?

It seems that globalisation is turning us slowly into one uniform culture. Regardless of where we live, we tend to wear the same brands, eat similar food and watch the same series. That said, something that still lets us stand ¹ ? from the international crowd is the characteristic body language commonly used in our culture. Obviously, some facial expressions are universal. A smile usually shows happiness while ² ? your eyebrows communicates surprise. But every so often gestures in other parts of the world can be puzzling and hard to ³ ? at first glance. I took an interest in cultural differences in body language when I moved to India. I vividly remember not feeling capable ⁴ ? why the people I talked to kept shaking their heads in a peculiar way. To me, they looked ⁵ ? they doubted or disapproved of every single word I said. Only later did I find out that in India headshaking during a conversation was regarded ⁶ ? a way of showing respect to the other person. Since then, I've learnt a lot about Indian gestures. Some locals even say I shake my head like a native.

To: Lucas
Subject: My new room

Hi Lucas,

I hope you're well. As you know, I've been looking for a room to rent as I don't want to live in student accommodation when I go to uni.

Last weekend I saw two rooms. The first one has recently been ¹*renovated* – they changed the carpet and painted the walls. It had a big window, so it was really ²*bright*. There was a lot of space, so it felt quite ³*roomy*. I really liked the ⁴*modern* pictures on the wall, but I would probably replace them with photos of my family.

Then I saw this really small room in the attic of a very old house. Actually, it wasn't old – it was ⁵*ancient*! The room felt ⁶*cosy*, which was nice, but it was dark as there was only one ⁷*tiny* window, which didn't give much light.

I didn't like the second one and I'm not sure about the first one – the location wasn't great. I'm seeing a few more rooms next week. Will keep you posted.

All the best,

Olivia

The robots that will ¹do the housework for you

Let's face it – not many people enjoy doing household ²chores/jobs.

Actually, a recent survey claims that seven in ten people would be fine with a robot doing the work for them and seventy-three percent think their place would be cleaner if they had a robot. There already are robots that can ³mow the lawn or ⁴vacuum the carpet.

Forty-three percent of the people surveyed said that they hate ⁵folding the washing after it comes out of the dryer, but ... you've guessed it ... there's a robot for that! All you have to do is ⁶put the clothes away.

Now, wouldn't it be great if there was a robot that would ⁷make/cook the dinner and ⁸clear the table and ⁹load/stack the dishwasher afterwards? All we'd need to do is switch it ¹⁰on and relax.

BLOG ► POST

I finally bought my own flat! At twenty-three, it's quite an achievement. However, my happiness ends there. Ever since I moved ¹out of my old place and came here, I've had nothing but trouble. First of all, I had to clean ²up the mess that the previous owners left. They were actually letting ³out the flat, so it's very likely that it was their tenants who left the place looking like a dump! Still, the owners should have cleaned it and thrown ⁴out all of the rubbish. Secondly, I noticed that the wallpaper was coming ⁵off the walls, the tap in the bathroom was leaking and the toilet was cracked. So now I need to take ⁶out another loan to pay someone to do ⁷up the flat. I haven't even had a chance to settle ⁸in. I guess this is what it means to be a homeowner. I just hope nobody drops ⁹in/by for a visit.

I'd love to do up my home, but I'm afraid I might spend a lot of money only to find that I don't like the result once the work's finished.

If that sounds like you, then we would love to hear from you. In Your Dream Home, we use virtual reality and special effects to help you turn your house into your dream home. And then we send in the builders. To apply to be on the show, please click on the link below.

Hi Karolina,

You'll never guess what's happened! Remember my parents applied to take part in that TV show Your Dream Home? Well, we've been accepted! They're filming the show next week. It'll be amazing to put on virtual reality goggles and see what they can do to our old-fashioned home with its antique furniture, net curtains and sad brown wallpaper! I've got some great ideas. The ceilings downstairs are really high, so I think we could have a mezzanine* floor in our living room to make a games room. I'd love to have a sun terrace on the roof, too. And as for my bedroom, I'm thinking a fitted wardrobe and my own en-suite bathroom with a shower cabin.

Any thoughts?

Cheers,
Kate

CHANNEL 9

8 p.m. Your Dream Home

The show where they use technology to let people see what their home could be like before they call the builders in. In this episode, we meet

Colin and Jackie and their two teenage kids Kate and Kenny who want to renovate their three-bedroom 19th-century terraced house in Leeds. The only problem is they all have very different ideas of what changes they'd like to make.

Your Dream Home: REVIEWS

I love this show. I never miss it. It's such a brilliant idea to let people see what a home renovation would be like without even picking up a brick or opening a can of paint. Last night's episode was hilarious because the teenage kids and the parents couldn't agree about anything. In the end, they chose a really modern, unusual style and when all the building work and decorating was finished, their home looked amazing.

Exercise 1

- 1 It's a show about home renovations.
- 2 Students' own answers
- 3 Sample answer: Many people like watching shows like that in order to get ideas on how to do up their own home; some people like seeing the homes of other people.

1 Read texts A–D quickly. Then in pairs, answer the questions.

- 1 What kind of TV show is Your Dream Home?
- 2 Are there any shows like that in Poland?
- 3 Why do you think shows like that are popular?

TRENING

2 Read the tip below. Then read extracts 1–3 and match them to sentences a–d. There is one extra sentence. Write the answers in your notebook.

- 1 So if I've got this right, you want us to knock down the wall between the kitchen and the living room. b
 - 2 We're going to be away for a couple of weeks, so I wonder if you'd mind passing by now and then to water the plants. d
 - 3 This beachside apartment will be a real home from home. You shouldn't hesitate about booking it for your next holiday. a
- a The author of this extract makes a recommendation.
 - b In this extract, someone checks they've understood something correctly.
 - c This extract warns somebody not to do something.
 - d This author of this extract makes a request.

W zadaniu na dobieranie zdań do tekstów należy zwrócić uwagę na intencję autora. Zastanów się, jaki był zamiar piszącego: zachęta, ostrzeżenie, przekazanie informacji czy rekomendacja.

ZADANIE

- 3 Przeczytaj teksty A–D. Do każdego zdania 1–3 dopasuj właściwy tekst A–D. Jeden tekst nie pasuje do żadnego zdania. Zapisz odpowiedzi w zeszyście.

1 This text reports what happened in an episode of a TV show.	D
2 This text invites people to participate in a TV show.	A
3 In this text, someone describes some specific changes they'd like to make.	B

- 4 Read texts A–D again. In pairs, answer the questions.
- How can the guests on Your Dream Home see what their house will look like before the renovations have even been started?
 - What four renovations would Kate most like to make to her home?
 - According to the TV guide, why might this episode of the show be particularly entertaining?
 - How successful was the family's home renovation in the end?
- 5 SŁOWNICTWO Complete each sentence with two words from text B. Write the answers in your notebook.
- This summer we've hardly used the sun terrace because the weather's been so bad.
 - Nobody uses the bath anymore now what we have a(n) shower cabin in the bathroom.
 - There's a lot more space for your clothes when you have a(n) fitted wardrobe.
 - We're going to get rid of those horrible net curtains and replace them with blinds.

TRENING

- 6 Use the information from texts A–D to complete the sentences in Polish. Use up to three words in each gap. Write the answers in your notebook.
- Rodzina Kate mieszka w XIX-wiecznym domu szeregowym w Leeds.
 - Kate wzięła udział w programie dzięki zgłoszeniu wysłanemu internetowo przez (jej) rodziców.
 - Aby zgłosić się do programu Your Dream Home, należy użyć linku podanego przez organizatora.
 - Po remoncie styl domu można określić jako nowoczesny i niezwykły.
 - Kate chciała mieć w swoim pokoju wbudowaną szafę oraz własną łazienkę.

Zanim odszukasz informację w tekstach, spróbuj się domyślić, jakiej informacji brakuje w tekście, np. kwoty, godziny, przymiotnika opisującego osobę lub przedmiot.

ZADANIE

- 7 Przeczytaj wiadomość Karoliny do Marka. Uzupełnij luki zgodnie z treścią tekstów A–D tak, aby jak najbardziej precyzyjnie oddać ich sens. Luki należy uzupełnić w języku polskim. W każdą lukę można wpisać maksymalnie trzy wyrazy. Zapisz odpowiedzi w zeszyście.

Cześć Marku!

Opowiadałam Ci kiedyś o mojej koleżance Kate z Wielkiej Brytanii. Właśnie obejrzałam odcinek programu Your Dream Home z udziałem jej rodziny. Od dawna chcieli przeprowadzić remont swojego domu, zbudowanego jeszcze ¹w XIX wieku, ale obawiali się, czy będą zadowoleni z efektu końcowego. Dzięki specjalnej technologii użytej w programie mogli zobaczyć przyszłe zmiany i zdecydować, jak ma wyglądać ich dom w nowej odsłonie. Na tym etapie Kate i jej brat mieli zupełnie odmienne wizje niż ²ich rodzice, co sprawiło, że odcinek z ich udziałem był wyjątkowo zabawny, jak słusznie zauważył jeden z widzów. Kate chciała na przykład wybudować antresolę, a na niej urządzić pokój gier, wykorzystując atut salonu, którym jest ³(jego) wysokość. Jej innym pomysłem było urządzenie na dachu ⁴tarasu słonecznego. W sumie remont okazał się sukcesem, a wystrój domu zmienił się diametralnie. Zresztą sam obejrzyj. Odcinek jest dostępny na stronie Channel 9.

Suggested answers:

- They can see the changes with virtual reality and special effects.
- Put a mezzanine floor in the living room to make a games room; add a sun terrace on the roof; get a fitted wardrobe; install an en-suite bathroom with a shower cabin in her room.
- Because the four members of the families disagree on the changes they'd like to make to their home.
- According to the reviewer, it was very successful. The home looked amazing once the renovation was completed.

LIFE SKILLS | Resisting change

- 8 Sometimes we resist change without considering if it's a good idea or not. For example, you might not want to change the wallpaper in your room, but you later like the new look. Can you think of a situation when you or somebody you know resisted change only to discover later that the change was a good thing? Students' own answers
- 9 In pairs, discuss what we can do to be more open-minded about changes. Use the ideas in the box and your own ideas. Students' own answers
- ask others for advice
 - do some research
 - really listen to others
 - visit places where the change has already happened

TRENING

- 1 Match sentences 1–4 to sentences a–d. Use the underlined phrases to help you. Write the answers in your notebook.

- 1 Marty used to live in a city centre flat. b
 2 If he won the lottery, he'd buy a new house. c
 3 Scottish cities look different to English ones. d
 4 I imagine it's fun living like a nomad on the road. a a Driving around the country in a motor home must give you a sense of freedom.
 b Last year he moved to a house in the suburbs, though.
 c But he wouldn't leave his home town.
 d In Glasgow, for example, most people live in flats rather than houses.

Exercise 2

Suggested answers:

Tip 1:

- 1b Marty = he 2c he = his

Tip 2:

- 1b city centre flat ≠ house in the suburbs
 4a like a nomad on the road = driving around the country

Tip 3:

- 3d Glasgow is an example of a Scottish city.

Tip 4:

- 1b Past forms (used to and Past Simple) are used in both sentences.
 2c The conditional tense is used in both sentences.

- 2 Match the four pairs of sentences from Exercise 1 to tips 1–4 below. Some sentences might match more than one tip. Write the answers in your notebook.

Zdania wiążą się w spójny i logiczny tekst m.in. dzięki słownictwu i strukturom gramatycznym. Gdy uzupełniasz brakujące zdania w tekście, zwróć uwagę na poniższe punkty:

ZADANIE

- 3 Przeczytaj tekst, z którego usunięto cztery zdania. Uzupełnij luki 1–4 zdaniami wybranymi spośród A–E tak, aby powstał spójny i logiczny tekst. Jedno zdanie zostało podane dodatkowo i nie pasuje do żadnej luki. Zapisz odpowiedzi w zeszycie.

- A As a result, over 25 percent of Britons aged 20 to 34 live with their parents now, whereas in 1997 the proportion was under 20 percent.
 B I'll have to climb onto the roof to clean the leaves out of the gutter, to replace a broken tile or to fix the aerial.
 C I used to live in a nice flat in London, but it cost a fortune and I couldn't stand my flatmates, so I soon moved out.
 D I'm not looking for a lakeside property with its own boathouse or a city centre penthouse with a hot tub on the terrace.
 E I close my eyes and imagine myself in a new flat, putting up some shelves with friends and playing my music as loud as I like.

A place of my own

I live with my parents, but I'd like to move out. ¹ D It's not for me. I'd be satisfied with an unfurnished studio flat in a run-down neighbourhood as long as it has electricity, running water, modern plumbing and easy access to shops.

- ⁵ I'm not desperate. I get on well with my parents and we live in a comfortable home in a leafy housing estate. My bedroom is a fully equipped converted loft. It's got a walk-in wardrobe and plenty of storage space for all my belongings, which is great because I'm very neat and tidy.
¹⁰ The ceiling's a bit low, so I bang my head quite often but, all in all, it's a nice place to live.

However, when I crawl under my quilt at night and lie with my head on the pillow looking at the stars through the skylight, I sometimes feel like a bird in a birdcage. ² E They also have

- ¹⁵ similar dreams and want the freedom of living on their own.
 My parents aren't pushing me to leave. On the contrary, I think they'd be quite upset if I left. However, having just celebrated my twenty-eighth birthday, I think the time has come for me to go.
²⁰ I'm not unusual. Today, young people stay longer with their parents than before mainly because they can't afford not to. In the UK, for instance, house prices have doubled in the last twenty years while wages have stagnated. ³ A Men stay at home longer than women, too. In the EU, over 35 percent of ²⁵ 25- to 34-year-old males live with their parents compared to 20 percent of females.

I can't afford to buy a place, so I'll have to rent. Unfortunately, there's not a lot to choose from in my price range. I'm aware there will be disadvantages if I move house.

Dobieranie zdań do wypowiedzi

- 1 Read the Culture Bit about allotments. Do we have something similar in Poland? In pairs, discuss what you grow / would grow on your allotment. Students' own answers

CULTURE BIT | Allotments

An allotment garden, often called simply 'an allotment', is a plot of land in a city, town or village made available for individual, non-commercial gardening – usually for growing fruit and vegetables for personal consumption.

TRENING

- 2 Listen to two short texts. What is the context for each one? Choose from the ideas in the box. Write the answers in your notebook.

Text 1 = an advert Text 2 = a voice message an advert instructions a lecture a podcast a speech a voice message

- 3 Read the tip below and choose the correct answer for texts 1–2. Write the answers in your notebook. Then listen again to check and note down the differences between the recording and the incorrect answers.

The speaker mentions

- a that vegetables need a maximum amount of sunlight.
b it is possible to grow vegetables in small urban spaces.
c the design of large vegetable gardens that suit city lifestyles.

The speaker

- a doesn't think his friend helps out enough on their allotment.
b has an allotment that he doesn't like sharing with anybody.
c wants his friend to only water the tomatoes on the allotment.

W zadaniu na dobieranie wysłuchasz kilku krótkich wypowiedzi na pokrewny temat. Do każdej wypowiedzi należy dopasować zdanie, przy czym jedno zdanie zostało podane dodatkowo. Staraj się zrozumieć sens całej wypowiedzi, zamiast skupiać się na pojedynczych słowach czy zwrotach. I w nagraniu, i w zdaniach do wyboru może pojawić się samo słownictwo, lecz nie oznacza to automatycznie, że dana odpowiedź jest poprawna.

- 5 Usłyszysz dwukrotnie pięć wypowiedzi na temat ogrodów. Które zdania A–F pasują do wypowiedzi 1–5? Jedno zdanie zostało podane dodatkowo i nie pasuje do żadnej wypowiedzi. Zapisz odpowiedzi w zeszycie.

This person ...

- A complains about the cost of something for the garden.
B explains the real reasons for a rise in plant ownership.
C mentions an initiative potentially improving the quality of life in cities.
D advertises the attractions of visiting some famous private gardens.
E recommends plants that are suited to urban locations.
F suggests that it is not easy to have a garden at this location.

B	F	D	C	A

- 6 SŁOWNICTWO Match the words from boxes A and B to make compound nouns from the recordings in the lesson. Do they form one or two separate words? Write the answers in your notebook. Then check your answers in the audioscript on page 345.

A | fruit house roof vegetable window

B | garden plant sill terrace tree

One word	Two words
houseplant, windowsill	fruit tree, roof terrace, vegetable garden

- 7 In pairs, check if you know the Polish translation for all the compound nouns in Exercise 6. Discuss how interested you would be in owning and looking after your own garden. Students' own answers

Exercise 3

Suggested answers:

Text 1 key words:
sunlight / vegetable garden / designs / suit / lifestyles

a is wrong because it says six or more hours of sunlight/enough sunlight, not maximum.

c is wrong because they are small not large gardens and also it's probably not this speaker who actually designs the gardens (as it's an advert).

Text 2 key words:
allotment / sharing / water / tomatoes

b is wrong because he wants to share with someone, but not necessarily this friend.

c is wrong because he wants him to water the allotment.

Exercise 3

Suggested answers:

- 1 give/offer advice about / share her experiences about / talk about
 - 2 her job

Dear Moni,

Thank you for agreeing to house-swap in July. Here's some information about our apartment.

We live outside the town centre, but there's a bus stop just opposite our apartment block. The bus is number 3 and it goes to the central bus station. Our apartment is on the fourth floor, but there's a lift.

We live in a residential area, so there aren't many restaurants nearby. However, we recommend Sam's Pizzeria, which is just across the street. They serve delicious pizzas and salads. And the prices are reasonable.

Thank you for agreeing to look after our cat. I really appreciate it. The cat food is in the cupboard under the sink. And one last thing – I'd be grateful if you could water the house plants just once during the week.

I'm really sorry about the taps in the kitchen. My dad tried to fix them himself instead of asking a plumber.

Have a great time!

All the best,

XYZ

On the one hand, ... On the other hand, ...

These days many young people are opting to stay in the family home while they study locally, but they may be missing out on experiencing all that independent living can teach them. Here we consider the advantages and disadvantages of living at home while studying.

The obvious advantage of staying at home is that it is more economical. Without the cost of eating out and other domestic expenses, students are likely to be better off living at home. Furthermore, students are more likely to eat well and they may avoid spending time on household chores. Another point in favour of staying at home is that family members can support them when they are dealing with issues such as exam stress or personal problems.

However, there are also downsides to living and studying at home. Firstly, local universities may not offer the same range of faculties as the ones located in big cities. Secondly, space tends to be an issue. Stay-at-home students with big families may find it difficult to have the privacy and peace and quiet they need. Moreover, depending on where they live, a reliable Internet connection might be a problem. What is more, they may have to sacrifice some aspects of social life because they can't invite people around or stay out late.

On balance, the decision whether to live at home or in student accommodation is a difficult one. Staying at home may be beneficial in terms of budget, but there are other factors to take into account. When making their choice, students should decide which factor is the most important for them.

- 4 In your notebook, rewrite statements 1–5 in a more tentative way. Then in pairs, discuss the statements and decide which ones you agree with.
 - 1 Stay-at-home students miss out on learning important life skills.
 - 2 A lot of student accommodation in big cities is poor quality and bad value for money.
 - 3 Many students are not very good with money and get into serious debt.
 - 4 Female students are better at coping with living away from home than male students.
 - 5 Students who study in big cities get better, higher-paid jobs.

Education in Canada

The Canadian system of education is split into four levels: pre-primary, ¹primary, secondary and post-secondary. The pre-primary stage is ²private, which means that parents have to pay for it. Primary and secondary education is ³public, so mainly funded by the government. Children start primary school at the age of five or six (depending on the province). However, the first year of school (called ⁴kindergarten in Canada) isn't obligatory. Obligatory education starts with Grade 1 and students stay in primary school until Grade 6. During this stage of education, students are taught by one teacher (who teaches all the subjects) and don't change classrooms.

The next level, secondary, has two stages: junior high school and ⁵high school. Junior high school lasts two years and helps students transition to a school where classes are taught by different teachers and in different classrooms. This stage ends after students complete Grade 12. School is compulsory until the age of sixteen, apart from the provinces of Manitoba, Ontario and New Brunswick, where it's eighteen.

Most schools in Canada are ⁶mixed (or co-educational), so boys and girls learn together. Independent schools, also called private schools, aren't very popular.

After completing secondary education, students can go to either a school where they learn a specific trade, to college or to ⁷university.

- 3 In pairs, discuss the similarities and differences between the Canadian and Polish systems of education. Students' own answers

A different kind of school

Imagine reading Greek ¹myths whilst travelling around Greece or learning Italian while ordering food in a restaurant in Rome. This is what happens at THINK Global School. When I first wanted to visit the school and talk to the head teacher, I learned that I had to go to ... China as that's where the students were studying at the time.

This is because THINK Global School is a travelling school. Students follow the school's own ²curriculum, which sees them study in around twelve different countries over three years. As it's an independent school, parents have to pay school ³fees, which are really high.

Students learn things from the places they're at instead of ⁴cramming for exams and answering ⁵multiple choice questions; they learn through ⁶project work, experiencing the local history and culture and interacting with the locals.

After the three ⁷obligatory years, students receive a(n) ⁸certificate of completion and can ⁹enrol on a course at university. THINK Global School graduates go on to study at some of the top universities in the world. Sometimes, the most unconventional types of schooling can bring the most success.

- 5 In pairs, discuss if you would like to study at THINK Global School. Give three arguments for and three arguments against studying at this school. Students' own answers

exams pass results

Joanna, 45

It's been a while since I finished university, but some of my closest friends are people that I went to uni with. Remember that it's not all about academic ¹results. There's more to university than ²exams. The people that you meet at uni are likely to remain your friends for life.

cheat entrance retake school-leaving

Greg, 32

I've got a great tip for you which is based on my own experience. Don't ³cheat in exams! I learned the hard way as I got expelled from university. I had to ⁴retake my university ⁵entrance exams and start all over again! I was a completely different student when I went back.

do get past revise

Wei, 25

I'm fresh out of uni and I found taking tests and exams quite hard. When you are studying for an exam make sure you look at ⁶past exam papers as teachers like to use similar content year after year. And if you ⁷do badly in an exam, then don't worry. Just ⁸revise a bit more and next time you'll probably pass.

apply campus faculty get halls scholarship take

- What are the requirements to get into university in Poland?
- Can people in your country get a(n) scholarship to help fund their education?
- Are you planning to apply to university? Why? / Why not?
- Do students live at home, rent rooms or stay in halls of residence?
- Do people take a gap year before going to university? Would you like to do this? Why? / Why not?

GO FOR IT

22 In small groups, do the task. Imagine you can create your ideal school. Decide on the following: Students' own answers

- what kind of school it would be,
- what subjects you would teach,
- who would work at the school,
- what the school building would look like.

Make a poster advertising your new school. Then present it to the rest of the class.

Four schools around the world that are breaking norms

1 D Ørestad Gymnasium, Denmark

Can you imagine 358 pupils all together in one huge classroom? Now, imagine the walls are made of glass! You'd think it would be hard to pay attention when taking part in lessons. But, apparently, it isn't. The wide open spaces encourage students to collaborate, to think flexibly and to take an active role as they do research, solve problems and learn new skills.

2 B Steve Jobs School, The Netherlands

This secondary school rejects the idea that every pupil should learn at the same rhythm as their classmates. Instead, every student gets a tablet with apps that guide them along a personal learning plan, which is evaluated and modified every term by the child, their parents and their coach (not teacher). Participating in the design of your own education increases your motivation to learn.

3 E Carpe Diem School, Ohio, USA

At the Carpe Diem school, education is also personalised. Instead of attending classes, each of the 300 students has a small personal space with a computer that guides them through their education. Consequently, the place looks more like an office than a school. Any student who has trouble with their online learning can ask an instructor for help.

4 F Innova Schools, Peru

These low-cost fee-paying schools were launched by billionaire businessman Carlos Rodriguez-Pastor in 2011. Now, there are twenty-nine of them across Peru. They have managed to raise academic standards by emphasising technology, group work and blended learning (half online, half in traditional classrooms). They also have strict rules that make sure students study hard to pass their exams and get better marks.

- 1 Look at the photo and read the text quickly. Which school the students in the photo could attend?

Suggested answer:

She probably attends the Steve Jobs School because she's using a tablet and is working alone.

TRENING

- 2 What is the paragraph below about? Choose the correct heading. Write the answer in your notebook.

How can I describe my first day? It was different. Exciting and a little confusing. There were so many students all moving around together. How could anyone concentrate, I wondered. However, once I eventually found my group, I realised my classmates were all paying attention and were keen to answer the teacher's questions.

- a Education can be fun
- ☒ b My unusual new school
- c Impossible to concentrate

- 3 Match reasons 1–3 to the headings in Exercise 2. Write the answers in your notebook.

- 1 This heading is wrong because the text explains that the students at the school were focused. c (Additionally, this heading focuses on a specific piece of information from the text and doesn't summarise its meaning.)
- 2 This heading is wrong because the text is about a school in particular, not education in general. a
- 3 This heading is correct because the text describes a student's first day at school. b

- 4 Which school in the text do you think the paragraph in Exercise 2 is referring to? Give reasons for your answer. The Ørestad Gymnasium because there are a lot of students all in the same space.

Uważnie przeczytaj wszystkie nagłówki, zanim dopasujesz je do fragmentów tekstu. Niewłaściwe nagłówki mogą zawierać informacje nieprawdziwe, nawet jeśli słownictwo nawiązuje do danego akapitu. Mogą również zawierać powszechnie znane, prawdziwe informacje, o których jednak nie ma wzmianki w tekście.

ZADANIE

- 5 Przeczytaj ponownie tekst. Które nagłówki A–F pasują do części tekstu 1–4? Dwa nagłówki zostały podane dodatkowo i nie pasują do żadnej części tekstu. Zapisz odpowiedzi w zeszytach.
- A Technological research at school
B A team decides on your learning path with you
C Results aren't the most important thing
D Learning together in the same space
E Autonomous study in a workplace environment
F Hard work pays off without costing a fortune
- 6 In pairs, discuss why the other two headings in Exercise 5 are incorrect.
A is incorrect because although research is mentioned in paragraph 1 and words associated with technology (tablet, apps, computer, online, technology, blended learning, online) are mentioned in paragraphs 2–4, none of the paragraphs mentions using technology for research into education.
C is incorrect because although it is generally true, it is not relevant to any of the paragraphs in the text.
- 7 In pairs, answer the questions. Students' own answers
- Which of the schools in the text is most like yours?
 - If you were a parent, would you send your child to any of these schools? Give reasons for your answer.
 - What other unusual schools have you heard of?
- 8 SŁOWNICTWO Complete the questions with the words from the box. There is one extra word. Write the answers in your notebook. Then in pairs, ask and answer the questions.
Students' own answers

CULTURE BIT | Independent schools in the UK

In England, there are more than 2,500 independent schools with well over half a million students. They educate about seven percent of England's school population. In Scotland, independent schools are less popular teaching only about four and a half percent of all students. Confusingly, independent schools in England are usually called public schools, even though they are actually private and charge fees. Some independent schools are very old. The King's School in Canterbury, for example, first opened its doors in the year 597. Over fifty percent of the British political elite have studied at independent schools.

LIFE SKILLS | Independent learning strategies

- 10 Which of these independent learning strategies do you use? In pairs, grade them from 1 to 5 in terms of other useful you think they are. Then think of other successful learning strategies and compare your ideas with the rest of the class.
Students' own answers
- Put your phone away so you can concentrate on what you're doing.
 - Write down your learning objectives and order them from the most to the least important.
 - Set yourself a realistic timetable with regular breaks.
 - Go back over your work a few hours or days later and try to judge it objectively.
 - Teach what you've learned to someone else.

A The Dilemma

Lisa was hurrying along the corridor on her way to the library when she bumped into her form teacher, Ms Jankowski.

'Lisa, the Deputy Head Teacher would like to see you in her office.'

Lisa felt intrigued and worried. Why did the Deputy Head Teacher want to see her? Had she done something wrong? And why did it have to be now when she had so much work to catch up with? She had two assignments to submit for the next day. And she needed to do some revision and study some past papers for her Maths A level.

Lisa was a gifted student. Her attendance record was perfect. She always paid attention to her teachers and took precise notes in class. Her exam marks were well above average and her parents read her school reports with pleasure.

However, although her academic results were excellent, Lisa had a problem. She wanted to do a degree in Economics and Management at Oxford University. The problem was that to be accepted on that course, you had to excel at Maths. It was obligatory to get an A level at A* or A grade. And, unfortunately, Maths was Lisa's worst subject.

That was why her parents had agreed to send her to this exclusive boarding school. She'd previously gone to a state comprehensive. She'd liked it there and the teachers were great but, unfortunately, the academic standards were not so great. There were too many kids who skipped lessons and caused disruption.

Lisa knocked on the door of the Deputy Head Teacher's office and waited. There was no sound from inside. She turned the door handle. The door opened. 'Hello?' she said.

Silence. She looked inside. There was no one there. She stepped into the room. On the desk near the window was a large beige envelope. On the corner of the envelope was a label. It read Maths A level, strictly confidential.

Lisa's heart began to race. She closed the door behind her. This was her opportunity. She had to get an A in Maths. If not, she'd have to resit the exam and that would ruin her plans for the summer. And there was no guarantee she would get an A in the resit, anyway. She'd been lucky to get a B in the mock exam. All she needed to do was to open that envelope and her problem was solved.

But if she did that and looked at the exam paper, that would be cheating and she'd never cheated before. Still, the temptation was enormous. Lisa had never failed to achieve her goals and she didn't want to start now. She wouldn't even need to copy the questions from the exam paper, she could just take a photo. It would only take a second. But then, what if she got caught? She'd probably be expelled and expulsion from school would ruin her future.

It was a dilemma.

A few minutes later, the Deputy Head Teacher appeared and saw Lisa waiting outside her office.

'Lisa, I have some good news. I've been told you need more support to get an A in your Maths A level, so I've arranged for extra tuition for you from now until the exam.'

As Lisa walked along the corridor to the library, she had a relieved look on her face. She pulled out her phone, accessed the gallery and without even looking at it, she deleted the last photo she'd taken.

B The Toughest Degree in the Country

Would you like to graduate from Oxford or Cambridge? If so, you'd better study hard because the admission requirements are extremely demanding. For example, the acceptance rate to study Architecture at the University of Cambridge is less than eleven percent, which means almost nine out of ten candidates are rejected. Computer Science at Oxford is even more demanding. The rate of successful applications is just nine percent. The toughest degree course in the country, however, is Economics and Management at Oxford. Only seven percent of candidates are successful.

So what do you need in order to be one of the lucky few?

Apart from having suitable school-leaving qualifications including Mathematics, you must also pass the Thinking Skills Assessment to show you have the skills and aptitude required to succeed in Higher Education. You should be interested in discovering how businesses and the economy are organised. Apart from being independent and adaptable, you also need to be capable of performing a critical and logical analysis of problems and solutions, and you must also be able to assess arguments critically. Finally, it is also important that you possess the ability to present your thoughts in a clear and effective way in speech and in writing.

If you're accepted, what is the course like?

The three-year B.A. degree consists of two parts: Prelims and Finals. The first academic year, Prelims, involves lectures and tutorials in General Management, Introductory Economics and Financial Management leading to exams in June. Curiously, your exam results do not count towards your final degree. Their purpose is to help you choose which subjects to specialise in. In the second year, there are no formal exams, but over the two years of Finals, you must complete eight papers, or alternatively, seven papers and a thesis. The final examinations take place at the end of your third year.

- 1 In pairs, discuss when and why this photo of 16-year-old UK students was taken. Then read the Culture Bit below and check your ideas. Students' own answers

CULTURE BIT | The School Prom

Most UK secondary schools hold a prom – short for ‘promenade dance’ – for Year 11 students (aged 15/16) at the end of the summer term. Proms were popularised in the UK during the 2000s – probably due to the influence of American TV shows. The word ‘promenade’ originally comes from a French word meaning to walk or stroll, but in the US it soon became associated with dancing. These days a prom is a rite of passage and will usually involve an impressive outfit and luxury transportation to venues that can range from the school gymnasium to a five-star hotel or even a medieval castle.

- 2 Listen to a student talking about her school prom. Note down her positive memories and her negative memories.
Positive: proud mum, music
Negative: prom, her appearance – dress, hair, fake tan

TRENING

- 3 Read questions 1–3. In each case, which option is correct? Write the answers in your notebook. Then listen again and check.
- The speaker
 - remembers her school prom with great fondness.
 - ☒ doesn't remember her school prom being very enjoyable.
 - She
 - wore an outfit that was lent to her for free.
 - ☒ wore an outfit that cost a lot of money.
 - She
 - ☒ is ashamed of the way her hair looked on the night.
 - is proud of the way her hair looked on the night.
- 4 In your notebook, match the extracts from the audioscript containing the key information with the correct sentences in Exercise 3.
- 'I spent a fortune on a dress that looked as if I'd borrowed my mother's wedding dress and dyed it pink.' 2b
 - 'She took some photos as we were leaving, and I honestly can't believe I went out with my hair like that.' 3a
 - 'If I said I had good memories of my school prom, I'd be lying. In fact, I'm not sure that anyone enjoyed it really.' 1b

- 5 Read the tip below and find examples in Exercises 3 and 4 that illustrate the advice.
synonyms: remember good times = had good memories, outfit = dress, cost a lot of money = spent a fortune, ashamed of the way = can't believe I antonyms: borrowed ≠ lent complicated grammar: looked as if I'd, If I said I had ... I'd ...

There's a small room with seats in a semi-circle, a classroom with desks in rows and a nice light classroom with tables arranged so that groups of four can sit together. I think option three would be best for my English classroom because ...

Zadanie z materiałem stymulującym polega nie na opisie zdjęć, ale na ocenie dostępnych opcji, na wyborze i jego uzasadnieniu, jak również na uzasadnieniu odrzucenia pozostałych opcji. We wstępie do wypowiedzi należy pokrótce opisać cechy wspólne ilustracji oraz wspomnieć o kontekście wybrania jednej z nich, a następnie określić, którą opcję uważasz za najlepszą. Te kilka zdań wystarczy jako wstęp do dalszej wypowiedzi, w której przedstawisz argumenty za dokonanym wyborem.

- 5 Read the Useful Phrases and the task in Exercise 6. Think of two simple sentences to present the three photos and state which option you think is best. Students' own answers

PRZYKŁADOWE ZADANIE I MODELOWA WYPOWIEDŹ

Po lekturze artykułu na temat inspirującej osoby, która poradziła sobie z trudnościami w nauce, podziel się swoimi przemyśleniami na blogu.

- Przedstaw sylwetkę tej osoby i wspomnij, z jakimi trudnościami w nauce ten ktoś się zmagał.
- Opisz problemy szkolne spowodowane tymi trudnościami.
- Wyjaśnij, w jaki sposób ta osoba poradziła sobie z problemami.
- Wspomnij o planach na kolejne posty na blogu.

Rozwiń swoją wypowiedź w każdym z czterech podpunktów. Długość tekstu powinna wynosić od 100 do 150 słów, nie licząc zdań, które są podane.

- 1 In pairs, discuss what you understand by this famous quote. Do you believe it applies to schools and academic achievement? How can students achieve it, particularly students with learning difficulties?

Students' own answers

Genius is one percent inspiration and ninety-nine percent perspiration.
(Thomas Edison)

- 2 Read the sample task and the model answer above. Imagine you have to write about somebody who overcame a learning difficulty. Who would you write about?

TRENING

- 3 Read the tip below. Does the sample answer above follow the advice? Find examples.

Yes. Sample answers: you've heard, you may not know this, get in touch.

Gdy piszesz post na blog, używaj nieoficjalnych, kolokwialnych form języka, np. skróconych form czasownika czy wtrąceń typu Well ... lub I mean ... Zwracaj się bezpośrednio do czytelników (you), aby czuli, że chcesz nawiązać z nimi kontakt. Unikaj jednak emotikonów i żargonu blogowego. Pamiętaj też o sprawdzeniu tekstu. Nieoficjalny czy kolokwialny to nie to samo co pełen błędów!

- 4 In pairs, think of other informal expressions and ways of addressing readers you could use in a blog post. Students' own answers

It's dyslexia awareness week, and I've got an inspiring story for you.

I'm sure you've heard of Jamie Oliver, the famous chef! Well, you may not know this, but he really suffered at school because of his dyslexia.

Sadly, if you were dyslexic in those days, people didn't understand enough about it and couldn't help you to learn in a different way, and this was the case for Jamie Oliver. Back then, he had a really hard time at school and he lost the motivation to learn.

Fortunately, his love of cooking helped him to overcome his dyslexia. He didn't let dyslexia hold him back: he found something he was good at and worked hard at it until he became successful.

I'm planning to blog about some more famous people with dyslexia this week. I'm also putting together a 'Facts about dyslexia' digital presentation – just let me know if you'd like me to share it.

Get in touch with your own stories, or stories of people you know.

annoyingly, certainly, clearly, fortunately, hopefully, interestingly, luckily, naturally, obviously, probably, sadly, surprisingly, understandably, unfortunately

- 6 In your notebook, rewrite the sentences replacing the words in bold with an appropriate adverb. Do you agree with the statements? Write three more of your own statements on education. Begin each one with an adverb.

Students' own answers

- 1 I understand why / Understandably, society needs a way of testing academic ability.
- 2 It's annoying that / Annoyingly, a student's academic results are still largely based on a single school-leaving exam.
- 3 It's obvious that / Obviously/Clearly, a fairer system would include grades from other schoolwork.
- 4 It surprises me that / Surprisingly, exams are still such a big part of education.
- 5 I'm hoping that / Hopefully, the education authorities will change assessment methods soon.

- 7 In pairs, read your partner's comments or opinions from Exercise 6. Discuss whether you agree or disagree with each other. Students' own answers

- 8 Internet connectivity improved and the use of digital resources in schools grew during the early 2000s. In pairs, compare and contrast what you think education was like before the Internet with education today. Discuss the points below and your own ideas. Make notes under the headings given.

How to be inclusive

Special Educational Needs and Disabilities (SEND) can affect a young person's ability to learn and make friends. Everyone can help by understanding and accepting differences.

Top tips

- 1 Act against exclusion – it's a form of bullying. Recognise it and don't do it.
- 2 Support individuality. Each person is unique – let's celebrate that!
- 3 Focus on values like kindness, respect and empathy.
- 4 Widen your social group – avoid exclusive groups.
- 5 Be kind online – don't share mean comments.
- 6 Engage with people who you think are different from you.
- 7 Find out what people are interested in and what they're good at.
- 8 Give others space if they ask for it.

SŁOWNICTWO

1 Answer the questions. Write the answers in your notebook.

- Who doesn't normally work at a school: a form teacher, a lecturer or a head teacher? a lecturer
- Which object doesn't fit in a school bag: a ruler, a sharpener or a locker? a locker
- Which one is a Science subject: Civics, Physical Education or Chemistry? Chemistry
- Where do students usually have a meal at their lunch break: in a canteen, in a library or in a gym? in a canteen
- Which of these help the most to prepare for A levels: file folders, past exam papers or school timetables? past exam papers
- Which adjective best describes teachers who expect a lot from their students: demanding, fair or imaginative? demanding
- Which adjective describes students who show exceptional talent: cooperative, gifted or strict? gifted

2 Complete each sentence with a verb. Write the answers in your notebook.

- When you learn something by heart, you memorise it.
- When you turn/show up late for school, you miss the beginning of the first lesson.
- When you fail a test, it means that you don't pass it.
- When you retake/resit an exam, you take it once again.
- When you hand/give in your homework, you give it to your teacher.
- When you pay attention in class, you listen carefully to your teacher.
- When you do well in a test, you get a good mark.
- When you solve a mathematical problem, you know the correct answer to it.

3 In each sentence choose one option that doesn't go with the verb in bold. Write the answers in your notebook.

assess assignments catch cram curriculum enrolled fall fees motivated revision

Recently I've ¹*enrolled* on my first online postgraduate course. I like the flexibility the course offers. Classes are recorded so if I need to ²*catch* up on the material I missed, I can watch the lesson again later on. What's more, if anyone happens to ³*fall* behind with the coursework, they can do additional modules and apply for a private tutorial. It's also very easy to ⁴*assess* your own progress thanks to weekly online tests. They're a very effective way of doing ⁵*revision*. I suppose once I've passed all these tests, I won't need to ⁶*cram* for the final exams. Another great advantage of the course is that students can contribute to the development of the ⁷*curriculum*. We can say which of its elements we'd like to focus on, or even what ⁸*assignments* it would be useful to write. After all, the course is called Innovation in Learning and Teaching. I hope it'll make me a more innovative teacher.

The Perfect Manager

I was recently asked how I got to where I am today. In terms of work, of course. My first job was as a(n) ¹employee in a big corporation. I was really lucky to get that post right out of uni – it taught me a lot, especially how to take criticism. My ²boss was a horrible person who had no idea how to manage a(n) ³team of people. Fortunately, I had a really supportive ⁴colleague who helped me get through a few years of misery. Last year, I decided I could no longer work there and left the company to start working as a(n) ⁵freelancer. I love being my own boss as I don't have to worry about promotions, office politics or other members of ⁶staff.

- 18 Which words complete the sentences correctly? More than one option might be correct. Write the answers in your notebook.

- The person that reports to you is your subordinate / director / boss.
- The person that decides if you're going to get a job is a(n) trainer / hiring manager / interviewee.
- A person that is under you is your superior / line manager / trainee.
- All the people that work for a company are its human capital / pensioners / colleagues.
- A person that isn't employed by the company, but does occasional work for it is a shareholder / mentor / subcontractor.
- A person that works for free is a(n) workaholic / volunteer / entrepreneur.

- 19 Translate the words in brackets into English. Write one or two words in each gap. Write the answers in your notebook.

- My to-do list is really long and my boss keeps adding more tasks to it – I'm really overworked (przepracowany).
- I help to look after three small children. I don't know how the parents do it – it's really hard work (ciężka praca).
- When I was younger, I worked in a factory making clothes. The pay was terrible and the overall working conditions (warunki pracy) were awful!
- New furniture and computer equipment has brought a positive change in our workplace (miejsce pracy).
- The success of this project was mainly due to the staff's great teamwork (pracy zespołowej).

20 Complete the sentences with on or for. Write the answers in your notebook.

Britain's top ten happiest professions by Suzy Gilmour

I've just read a survey in which 40,000 British workers were asked to grade how happy their jobs made them. I must admit I found the results quite surprising.

5 Apart from architects, none of the 'happy' professions get particularly high wages while several 'unhappy' occupations (e.g. accountants and lawyers) get paid well. So money doesn't necessarily bring 10 happiness, especially if you have to work long hours or under a lot of pressure.

Indoor workers, such as plumbers, electricians and painters, are all 'unhappy' professions, too. Working outside, on the 15 other hand, seems to be rewarding. The tenth happiest workers in the survey are personal trainers (fifty-one percent are very happy at work), ski instructors are eighth (a satisfaction rating of fifty-nine 20 percent) and tennis coaches are seventh (sixty-two percent of them smile at work). Clearly, physical exercise is good for your mental well-being.

Jobs that involve working with other 25 people are good. Tutors are sixth on the list (sixty-three percent are very happy). Wedding photographers, who work with happy people on happy occasions, are fourth (sixty-eight percent). And although 30 they often work with unhappy people, counsellors are third: seventy-four percent said they're content when they're at work.

Working with animals is an even better way 35 to make a living. Dog walkers are number two on the list: seventy-eight percent of them have a song in their hearts as they work.

But the best career choice may be to 40 work with plants. Gardeners are ninth on the list: fifty-five percent are happy at work. And Britain's happiest workers are the people who design gardens: landscapers. A stunning eighty-six 45 percent love their jobs.

So, all that got me thinking about my current job. I began to wonder if I should look for a new job or even if the time had come to change careers completely.

50 Unfortunately, I'm not qualified to be an architect. (I can't draw a straight line!) I can't work as a personal trainer, a ski instructor or a tennis coach because I'm the least sporty person I know. My idea of 55 exercise is running for the bus! I can't take up dog walking or wedding photography, either. I'm allergic to dogs and I always cut off people's heads when I take their photo. And I definitely can't get a job 60 gardening or landscaping. Plants turn brown and die as soon as I look at them.

I do have good communication skills, though, so I could be a tutor or a counsellor. But having thought about it, 65 I don't think I'll bother changing jobs. After all, I already have the best job in the world. I'm a schoolteacher.

- 1 Look at the photos. In pairs, discuss if you would be happy doing these jobs. Give reasons for your answers.

- 2 Read the paragraph and choose the correct option a–d. Write the answer in your notebook.

Mason

When I was sixteen, I was employed by the Post Office as a temporary postal worker to help with the Christmas rush. The money wasn't great, but it seemed a lot to me at the time. Despite the bad weather, I enjoyed the work. It was fun walking around my home town. There were only two things I didn't like; two things that made me rule out postal worker as a career choice. First, some of the letterboxes were like traps. If you weren't careful, you could cut your hand putting the letters through the door. The second problem were the dogs. In some houses where a fierce dog was loose in the garden, I felt like doing something silly: folding the envelopes into paper aeroplanes and throwing them at the door. I didn't, of course.

The job at the Post Office

- a paid even less than the writer was expecting.
- b convinced the writer to choose a career as a postal worker.
- ☒ c had some dangerous moments.
- d made the writer do some foolish things.

- 3 Complete explanations 1–4 using the correct form of words from the paragraph in Exercise 2.

- 1 This answer is wrong because the writer ruled out postal worker as a career choice.
- 2 This answer is wrong because although the writer says the money wasn't great, he says it seemed a lot to him.
- 3 This answer is wrong because the writer thought about making paper aeroplanes out of the envelopes, but he didn't do it.
- 4 This answer is right. The writer mentions two dangers: letterboxes that could cut your hand and fierce dogs.

- 4 In your notebook, match explanations 1–4 in Exercise 3 to options a–d in Exercise 2.

Jobs that are safe from the threat of AI

- A In recent decades, computers have been carrying out many of the jobs that humans used to need to do. And they've been doing those jobs more quickly and efficiently than we can. Computers don't need sick leave, miss deadlines or take time off. They just get on with their work. So it's no surprise that workplace automation is an ongoing process. In the next fifteen years, it is estimated that up to fifty percent of jobs will be automated. But however diligent and industrious computers are, they can't do everything. So which careers are safe from AI?
- B Humans understand humans in a way computers can't. So jobs that require interpersonal skills are probably safe from automation. Physical therapists, for example, need to be extremely sensitive with their hands to detect responses from their client's body, but they also need to be aware of their feelings. They must know how to adapt each treatment to the particular personalities and problems of the people they deal with. Psychologists also require empathy to perform their duties, so psychotherapy and other humanistic jobs such as counsellors seem to be beyond the abilities of computers.
- C Can computers thrill us, scare us, engage our emotions or make us laugh or cry? Well, they definitely make us cry, but only when they crash. Algorithms can't conceive of original plots or create credible characters. So creative writers, film directors and game designers should all feel safe. The same goes for artists, composers and fashion designers. It's hard to imagine a computer creating a truly original painting, song or dress. AI may be able to create some things, e.g. undemanding social media posts but, surely, real works of art will always need the human touch.
- D AI has already moved into business management and law. However, computers don't possess the entrepreneurial spirit required to set up companies. Nor can they replace highly skilled experts. Managing directors, for example, have to delegate, supervise, lead a team and think on their feet. Top barristers must be able to both reason logically and win the trust of their clients and apply years of experience to argue a case. Computers can do unskilled, repetitive legal and administrative work, but they're not resourceful problem-solvers that can master complex strategies. They'll never replace the high-fliers.

We'll help you sail through your job interview!

Do you feel uncomfortable in front of strangers? Does the very thought of a job interview with future ¹*employers* (EMPLOY) make you anxious and you find it impossible to relax? Do you sometimes wish you could ²*disappear* (APPEAR) the moment you face a panel of interviewers? The fears you are experiencing are quite normal and you can learn to deal with them. During our workshop, we'll teach you everything you need to know: why it's not a good idea to wear ³*informal* (FORMAL) clothes, like a sweatshirt, for a job interview, how to answer even the most unusual questions, and how to ask for a good salary without sounding ⁴*impolite* (POLITE). You will also have a chance to ⁵*discover* (COVER) some useful tips on how to stay calm and relaxed.

Join us next Tuesday and start a new chapter of your life!

- 15 Do you think it would be useful to attend the workshop described in Exercise 14 before a job interview? Why? / Why not? Students' own answers

The costs of a late start on the job market

In the UK, having a part-time Saturday or holiday job while still at school is considered extremely ¹*beneficial* (BENEFIT). However, the number of British teenagers with temporary jobs is going down significantly, mostly because fewer people choose to work and study at the same time. Only twenty-five percent of teenagers aged sixteen to seventeen can currently boast of having a job, compared to twice that number two decades ago. This regrettable trend of delaying work experience is also stretching into higher education. Experts are warning that waiting longer to start work could have ²*damaging* (DAMAGE) consequences on young people's career prospects. By ³*underestimating* (ESTIMATE) the importance of work experience, they risk missing out on valuable opportunities. It is often the case that people who start some kind of work when at university can refer to their skills more easily during later interviews. The key thing here is that no job, even the most unskilled, is seen as ⁴*irrelevant* (RELEVANT) by a potential employer. Therefore, those who are thinking of a future career should make sure they have any work experience they can so that they can refer to it when applying for a job with their prospective employer. This will help them ⁵*unlock* (LOCK) their potential by showing what they are capable of and what they can bring to the job market.

I've survived my first day as an apprentice!

I've wanted to be an engineer ever since I was a four-year-old who loved to build cities with building blocks. So, when I got a place as an apprentice engineer, I was over the moon.

All the new apprentices are extremely friendly, but there is something I find shocking. I'm the only woman. Apparently, the number of females applying for engineering courses has doubled recently, but the gender gap is still enormous.

Personally, I find this hard to understand, but if you ask me, I'd say it's got a lot to do with the lack of female role models in engineering. Traditionally, people assume it's a man's job.

Engineering is a fascinating career for creative people who enjoy solving problems. So why don't women want to be engineers? I'd love to hear your opinion.

- 1 In many countries, some professions are mainly female, e.g. pre-school teachers and nurses, whereas other professions are mainly male, e.g. engineers and pilots. In pairs, discuss why this might be so. Which professions do you think are equally male/female?

List formalny: list motywacyjny

PRZYKŁADOWE ZADANIE I MODELOWA WYPOWIEDŹ

W odpowiedzi na ogłoszenie o pracy wakacyjnej w centrum ogrodniczym napisz list motywacyjny, w którym wyjaśnisz, dlaczego interesuje cię tego rodzaju praca oraz przedstawisz umiejętności i doświadczenie, które sprawiają, że jesteś właściwą osobą na to stanowisko.

Wypowiedź powinna zawierać od 200 do 250 słów.

Dear Sir or Madam,

I saw your advert on social media yesterday and would like to apply for the position of garden centre worker. I am eighteen years old and I am currently in my final year at school.

I am passionate about plants and gardening, and in future I am very keen to pursue a career in this field. With this aim in mind, I am highly motivated to gain hands-on experience of working with plants whenever I can. For the last few months, I have been running a vegetable growing project in my school and can provide excellent references from my teachers.

I believe that I possess the relevant experience and skills for the job. At the weekends, I volunteer at a retirement home near my house, and I am responsible for taking care of indoor and outdoor plants. I work alongside a professional gardener, and she has taught me a great deal about plant care. (1) ~~For example, I now know how I killed a resident's expensive bonsai tree by watering it too much.~~ I am also a reliable and trustworthy person who is capable of taking on the responsibility of working on the tills.

I feel confident that I am a suitable candidate for the position. I would be delighted to attend an interview at your convenience, and I have attached a copy of my CV for your consideration. (2) ~~I don't have any holidays arranged because I've just split up from my girlfriend and we were going to go to Greece together.~~

I look forward to hearing from you.

Yours faithfully,

XYZ

- 1 Your local garden centre is looking for summer staff to work on the tills. In pairs, discuss what experience, skills and personal qualities you think they are looking for. Would you be interested in this job? Give reasons for your answers. Students' own answers
- 2 Read the sample task and the model answer above. Why do you think the student decided to delete sentences 1 and 2 from the final version of the letter? Because they were irrelevant, not supportive of the application, informal and silly.

TRENING

- 3 Read the tip below and find examples in the model answer that illustrate each point.

Pamiętaj, że oficjalne listy motywacyjne powinny:

- być napisane właściwym formalnym językiem, odpowiednim do sytuacji,
I am passionate about ..., I am highly motivated to ...
- kończyć się uprzejmą prośbą o odpowiedź,
I look forward to hearing from you.
- zawierać właściwe zwroty powitalne i pożegnalne.
Dear Sir or Madam,
Yours faithfully,

- 4 In each of these pairs, decide which word or phrase is more formal. Then copy the Useful Phrases box into your notebook and complete the gaps.

CAN WE SEE YOUR PORTFOLIO?

A portfolio is a collection of work samples that show what someone has achieved in terms of their professional development. Although mostly used in artistic professions, portfolios are now popular with all kinds of jobs, from journalists and computer ¹*programmers* (PROGRAM) to chefs and teachers. The importance of portfolios is growing as employers are more and more interested in the actual work someone has done rather than formal qualifications or ²*references* (REFER) from previous jobs or schools.

A good portfolio, whether it's a physical or digital one, should only include your best projects that show how ³*creative* (CREATE) and professional you are. Building a portfolio is a continuous process because it has to be updated ⁴*regularly* (REGULAR). Adding samples of your current work and deleting those that are no longer interesting is especially important when you have your own website. This may ⁵*encourage* (COURAGE) your potential employers to visit it every now and again and could even bring new job offers as a result.

EVERYONE CAN DO GIGS

People have worked freelance for years but, with the emergence of new technologies, the number of those working independently on short-term contracts has increased a lot. This section of the job market is now referred to as the gig economy. The word gig, which ¹*originally* (ORIGINAL) meant a concert or performance, is now a synonym for a short-term job. People make a living from doing gigs not only as highly ²*skilled* (SKILL) freelance designers or writers, but also by delivering food and driving others to work. The gig economy gives them flexibility in deciding how long they want to work. For those who've suffered a job ³*loss* (LOSE), it may be a quick way to find a temporary source of income while looking for a new position. On the other hand, people working in the gig economy often feel ⁴*insecure* (SECURE) about their future. They don't have the protection guaranteed by permanent work contracts. Many economists say that we need to improve the rights of gig workers; otherwise the rapid growth of the gig economy may even ⁵*threaten* (THREAT) social stability.

I'll start as my situation is probably a bit different. I never knew my dad, and my mum died when I was seven years old, so I became a(n) ¹orphan at a young age. My grandma got ²custody of me and brought me ³up until she passed away when I was sixteen. Being too young to live on my own, I was put into ⁴foster care. Multilingual England

A recent university study has shown which foreign languages are the most widely spoken in England and Wales. Do you know which ones they are? Our reporter Anna Jovic talked to people in the streets of London to see if they know what languages their fellow citizens speak. The results were surprising.

B

One or both parents of thirty-four percent of British-born children come from abroad. Almost twenty percent of primary school children speak a language other than English at home. This study examines the experiences of teenagers in bilingual and multilingual homes. It looks at their relationships with friends, schoolmates and relatives, and analyses how they choose which language to use and how language choice can cause social problems.

1 In pairs, answer the questions.

- Which languages can you and the people in your family speak? Students' own answers

TINA JONES

I was born in England, but my dad's Spanish and my mum's French. They speak French together. Mum speaks to me in French, but Dad uses Spanish. When I was growing up, he used to read aloud to me every night and he always spoke Spanish when he picked me up from school. For a while, I rebelled and answered in English. I didn't want to seem different from my friends. But I've grown out of that now. My parents never told me off for speaking English. I never felt I was letting them down if I spoke to them in the 'wrong' language. We get on really well and we spend a lot of time together. I always have a good time when I'm with them and I'm so grateful to them for bringing me up with three languages.

D

Tim

Tina, I'm sorry for getting upset with you yesterday. I was fed up because you were speaking French with your cousin and I couldn't understand.

I know. But it really hurt me when I tried to speak French and you both laughed.

How about giving me some French lessons?

Tina

Why did you get so angry? Eloise was so looking forward to meeting you and then you just walked away. It was rude.

I'm sorry. What can I do to make it up to you?

Good idea. The sooner you learn to speak French, the better.

I heard from Tomek yesterday. He's at an English summer camp. For the first few days, he missed ¹*his home*, but he's fine now. He says there's a good atmosphere in the camp. Obviously, the organisers want the students to speak English as much as possible, but they ²*are allowed* to speak their own languages if they really need to. Tomek says the coursebook is better than the one we had at school last year because it lets the students ³*take part in / participate in / interact with* real-life situations.

Hi Tina,

I love it here in Paris, but sometimes I think my head is going to explode. It's hard speaking a different language all day. You're lucky you learnt to speak both ¹*French and Spanish / Spanish and French* as well as English when you were growing up. Do you remember that time ²*I met* your cousin Eloise for the first time and I got annoyed because you were speaking in French together? How embarrassing! Fortunately, I understand French much better now.

My best friend on the course is Marek from Warsaw. He told me that ³*Polish* is the most commonly used foreign language in England. I didn't know that. He speaks perfect English, but he'll only speak in French. He's not like your parents. He tells me off if I speak the wrong language.

I discovered an interesting fact today. Did you know that either the mother or the father, or sometimes both, of ⁴*thirty-four/34 percent / about a/one third* of kids from the UK are immigrants like your parents? Anyway, got to run. Call me later.

Love,
Tim

ZADANIE

- 1 Przeczytaj tekst, z którego usunięto cztery zdania. Uzupełnij luki 1–4 zdaniami wybranymi spośród A–E tak, aby powstał spójny i logiczny tekst. Jedno zdanie zostało podane dodatkowo i nie pasuje do żadnej luki. Zapisz odpowiedzi w zeszycie.

- A They should be caring and supportive, ready to listen and to help us sort out our problems. 4
- B It might not be as easy for friendly parents to give their kids the kind of discipline they need as they grow up.
- C Children were supposed to look up to their parents. They wouldn't dream of offending, insulting or disrespecting them. 1
- D Parents have power over us. Along with pocket money, they give us orders, lay down ground rules and set boundaries. 3
- E More democratic parenting meant it became more acceptable for parents to share their children's interests and to take up the same hobbies. 2

- 2 SŁOWNICTWO Complete the sentences with the words from the box. Write the answers in your notebook. Then in pairs, say if you agree or disagree with the sentences. Give reasons for your answers.

affection lenient obedience parenting spoil supportive

- We should get taught parenting skills at school.
- Grandparents love to spoil their grandchildren.
- You can't compare the affection you feel for your friends with the love you have for your family.
- Parents should always be supportive no matter what their children do or say.
- Children respect parents more if they're strict than if they're lenient.
- Children should always show respect and obedience towards their elders.

Can our parents be our pals?

It's my eighteenth birthday tomorrow and I'm going out to celebrate with my parents, not my mates. Why shouldn't I? Can't our parents be our friends, too?

- 5 In the not-so-distant past, parents provided for their offspring and expected respect and obedience in return. ¹ C There was affection, of course, but it was often said that children were better seen and not heard. As the twentieth century progressed, family relationships began to change. ² E Happy families would play board games or go fishing.

Today we're more likely to binge-watch series or play video games together, and the idea of parents and kids being pals is seen as something normal. Some parents even try to be too matey and intrude on your private life. I must admit I find it ¹⁵ hard to put up with my parents when they go on social media and try to 'friend' me.

Obviously, it's great if your parents are easy to get on with and you have a good relationship, but we shouldn't confuse that with friendship. Parent-child relationships are not based ²⁰ on equality. ³ D When we don't stick to them, when we do something wrong, they may have to punish us, tell us off or tell us we're grounded.

I'm lucky. My parents are neither too strict nor too lenient. They don't spoil me or let me get my way all the time. But they ²⁵ don't lay down the law and say, 'My way or the highway'. They explain why rules and boundaries are necessary and why my behaviour is sometimes wrong.

We need our parents, we need to trust them, to rely on them when times are tough. Friends may let us down, but parents ³⁰ always have to be there for us. ⁴ A It's their responsibility to help us become happy mature adults. To do that, they need to be more than just friends.

By the way, I'm going out with my parents tomorrow because it's Wednesday. I'm celebrating with my friends on Friday.

TRENING

- 1 Which option a–c matches the meaning of the words in bold? Read the tip below. Then answer questions 1–2 in your notebook.

You don't have to dress up for his birthday party.

- a mustn't dress up
- b allowed not to dress up
- c needn't dress up

1 Która odpowiedź jest odpowiedzią właściwą, ponieważ po jej wstawieniu zdanie jest poprawne gramatycznie i oddaje sens wyróżnionego fragmentu? c

2 Która odpowiedź jest odpowiedzią niewłaściwą, ponieważ po jej wstawieniu:
a zdanie jest gramatycznie niepoprawne? b b zdanie jest gramatycznie poprawne, ale oznacza coś innego niż wyróżniony fragment? a

Gdy rozwiązujesz zadanie zamknięte polegające na parafrazowaniu zdań, zastanów się:

- czy wybrana przez ciebie odpowiedź oznacza dokładnie to samo, co wyróżniony fragment,
- czy po jej wstawieniu w miejsce wyróżnionego fragmentu zdanie pozostaje poprawne gramatycznie.

Niewłaściwe odpowiedzi są same w sobie poprawne gramatycznie i mogłyby poprawnie uzupełniać inne zdania.

- 2 Read the tip below. Then in your notebook, complete the second sentence in each pair so that it means the same as the original sentence. Use the word in brackets, but do not change its form. You can use up to four words, including the word given.

- 1 It was a mistake that you didn't stick to the rules. (HAVE)
You should have stuck to the rules.
- 2 It's possible that Jessica was grounded by her parents. (MAY)

What?

Granny and Grandad's 40th wedding anniversary

When?

25th June, 5 p.m.

Where?

School hall, 66 Norton Street

It's Granny and Grandad's 40th anniversary next month! They've been married for forty years and never argued! 1*I'm sure they are* really happy together! We (all the grandchildren) 2*want to* organise a surprise party for them. As it is a very special anniversary, it needs to be a very special celebration, too! We are thinking of renting a school hall and celebrating with some great food and music there. We (the youngest generation 😊) will organise everything, so you 3*needn't* worry about anything. The food, the birthday cake, the music and all the decorations will be taken care of. We kindly ask you for one thing though: as it is a surprise party – you 4*can't* talk about it before the big day! Otherwise, you'll be grounded! As we need to start thinking about the numbers, please let us know by the end of next week if for some reason you 5*have to miss* the party.

Hope to see you all on the 25th of June,
Alice, Ben, Matthew and Dave

Dobieranie zdań do wypowiedzi

- 1 In pairs, discuss different sorts of activities you do in your free time. Talk about things you already enjoy doing and things you would like to try. Describe your perfect day off. Students' own answers

- 2 Listen to a voice message. What is the reason for the call and what free-time activity is mentioned?
The caller is explaining why he can't come on a bike ride. He mentions cycling.

TRENING

- 3 Listen again and decide which four sentences can be matched to the voice message. Which sentence cannot be matched to the voice message? Write the answers in your notebook.

The speaker ...

- ① explains why he has to cancel an arrangement.
② is unhappy with the attitude of a particular shop.
③ shows how disappointed he is about missing a day out.
④ leaves a voice message for a friend with an apology.
5 wants his friend to lend him £50 to buy a bicycle.
Sentence 5 cannot be matched.
- 4 Read the tip below and notice how sentences 1–4 in Exercise 3 match the different listening skills a–d described in the tip.

W tym zadaniu nie musisz koncentrować się na konkretnej informacji, więc nie skupiaj się na poszczególnych słowach lub wyrażeniach. Musisz za to zrozumieć wypowiedź w całości i wybrać spośród podanych te zdania, które wyrażają:

- a główną myśl tekstu, 1
b wnioski, jakie można z niego wyciągnąć, 2 c intencję autora, 3
d kontekst wypowiedzi. 4

- 5 Look at the audioscript on page 349. Identify words or phrases in the voice message which show you that:
- this is an explanation, just calling to say
 - the boy is unhappy with the bike shop, I think it's a bit rude
 - the boy is disappointed, I was looking forward to ...
 - this is an apology. I'm really sorry

10.30 Saturday Q&A Live

Presenter: Maggie White

Guest: Dr Mary Pitt – Relationship expert

Dr Pitt, whose latest book has been number one among the non-fiction best-sellers ¹for 12/twelve months, answers questions from the public about how to end a relationship respectfully. She explains that break-ups are rarely by mutual agreement. Usually one person initiates the break-up, but there are things that the person can do to reduce their partner's ²hurt and anger / suffering / pain (and heartache) / distress. Reasons why couples separate include personality differences, cheating or exam stress. There is ³never a good/right / no good/right / never a good or bad / no right or wrong / no good or bad moment to split up. However, Dr Pitt recommends honesty and kindness and says that clear boundaries are essential at first even if you develop ⁴a friendship / friendly relations in years to come.

- 6 SŁOWNICTWO Complete the text with the words from the box. Write the answers in your notebook. Then in pairs, discuss how useful this advice is.

agreement blow break-up distress relationship split

How to deal with social media after a break-up

Whether it was you who instigated the ¹break-up or the other party who drove the ²split or even if you both came to a mutual ³agreement, most breakups are traumatic for both partners and likely to cause you emotional ⁴distress. After a break-up, supportive comments from friends may soften the ⁵blow a little, but social media is not the place to go into hurtful details about your ex. You need to take the time to heal. After crashing out of a(n) ⁶relationship, the last thing you need is to see photos and memories of better times. Stay away from social media until you feel stronger.

- 7 In pairs, discuss some of the messages from the interview with Dr Mary Pitt. Do you agree or disagree? Students' own answers

- Only time will mend a broken heart.
- There is no right or wrong time to break up.
- Make a clean break and don't keep in touch.

PRZYKŁADOWE ZADANIE I MODELOWA WYPOWIEDŹ

Twoja kuzynka Laura mieszka na stałe w Anglii. Niedawno odwiedziłeś/odwiedziłaś ją z okazji jej przyjęcia zaręczynowego. Napisz po powrocie wiadomość do Laury.

W e-mailu:

- podziękuj kuzynce za przyjęcie i pogratuluj zaręczyn,
- wyraż opinię na temat przyjęcia i ją uzasadnij,
- opisz element przyjęcia, który najbardziej zapadł ci w pamięć,
- opisz swoje uczucia związane z zaproszeniem cię na wesele.

Rozwiń swoją wypowiedź w każdym z czterech podpunktów. Długość tekstu powinna wynosić od 100 do 150 słów, nie licząc zdań, które są podane.

- 1 In pairs, tell each other about any recent family occasions you have attended. Talk about occasions in the box or your own ideas. Students' own answers a birthday party an engagement party a name day a wedding

- 2 Read the sample task and the model answer above. Why is the author thrilled? Because she is going to attend a traditional English wedding.

TRENING

- 3 Read the tip below. Then find examples in the model text for each bullet in the model task.

Możesz odnieść się do punktów z polecenia i rozwinąć je w takiej kolejności, w jakiej zostały wymienione w zadaniu. Ich kolejność jest logiczna i nie trzeba jej zmieniać. Jeśli zdecydujesz się zmienić kolejność, upewnij się, że żaden z punktów nie został pominięty w twojej wypowiedzi.

- 4 Read another answer to the sample task above. In your notebook, order paragraphs a–d in a more logical order.

Dear Laura,

It was such a pleasure to see you last Saturday.

I just wanted to say thanks for the party and congratulations on your engagement. It was great to be there and celebrate with you.

The party was fabulous. The food was absolutely delicious and the live music was brilliant. I was delighted to see my cousins and get to know John's friends.

I will never forget your speech! It was really entertaining and it was so funny to hear how you and John first met. Thank goodness you weren't injured when he ran into you on his bike. I guess it was love at first sight!

I'm so thrilled that you want me to come to your wedding. Taking part in a traditional English wedding will be a new experience for me. I'm really looking forward to it!

Thanks again and best of luck with everything! I'll be in touch.

Love,
XYZ

- 5 Read the Useful Phrases. Then complete the second sentence in each pair so that its meaning is similar to the first sentence. Write the answers in your notebook.

- Many thanks for the lovely flowers.
I just wanted to say thank you for the lovely flowers.
- Many congratulations on your engagement.
I'd like to congratulate you on your engagement.
- I hope you get on well with organising the wedding.
Good luck with organising the wedding.
- Thank you so much for the invitation.
I'm very grateful to you for inviting me.
- All the best for the big day!
Best of luck for the big day!
- Thanks again for including me.
It was very nice/kind of you to invite me.

Exercise 3

- I just wanted to say thanks for the party and congratulations on your engagement.
- The food was absolutely delicious and the live music was brilliant.
- I will never forget your speech! It was really entertaining etc.
- I'm so thrilled etc. I'm really looking forward to it!

Dear Laura,

It was such a pleasure to see you last Saturday.

a 3 The most memorable bit was the music. It was amazing. I particularly enjoyed watching your grandmother dancing – she's really good!

b 4 I'm so excited about coming to your wedding. I've never been to one before! I've already started to think about what I'm going to wear.

c 2 The party was such a success. The people were lovely, the atmosphere was great and the food fantastic. I'm sure you are grateful to your parents who helped you to prepare it all.

d 1 I just wanted to thank you for including me in your celebrations and congratulate you again on your engagement! (By the way, you're such a wonderful couple!)

Thanks again and best of luck with everything! I'll be in touch.

Love,
XYZ

Wagyu Beef

One of the most expensive food items in the world is Wagyu beef, which comes from Japanese cows. If you just look at a Wagyu steak, you might think that it's very ¹*crusty* / chewy / lean because of the white marble-effect. But once cooked, the meat becomes ²*tough* / stale / tender with a buttery texture that just melts in your mouth. A kilogram of Wagyu beef costs around 3,500 PLN.

Moose cheese

Moose cheese, which is produced by three moose on a Swedish farm, comes with the hefty price of around 3,900 PLN per kilo. The family who own the farm milk the moose between May and September and make the ³organic / free-range / off-putting cheese themselves. As moose milk has a higher fat content than cow milk, the cheese is extremely ⁴*skimmed* / creamy / savoury.

Hi, everyone! Let's talk about eating today. What do your eating habits look like? Have you got any questions?

CorySkater

I've never liked meat or fish, so I've recently decided to adopt a vegetarian ¹*diet*. My parents aren't happy about it as they're worried that I'm going to lack certain vitamins and be ²*low* in iron. My mum usually ³*prepares* all our meals and now she's saying that she has to cook two dinners: a(n) ⁴*course* for me and one for her and Dad. Has anyone been in this situation?

EllyGirl

My parents say that when I was a kid I used to be a really ⁵*fussy* eater, but now I have a great ⁶*appetite* and I'll eat anything. I try to eat a(n) ⁷*healthy* diet and I usually avoid eating ⁸*junk* food. Sometimes when I'm late for school, I have to ⁹*skip* breakfast and then end up grabbing a(n) ¹⁰*bite* to eat in the school café which is usually high ¹¹*in* fat and sugar. If I don't do that, then I ¹²*starve* all day. How can I avoid this?

Method:

Put the butter in a ¹*pot* and heat it at low temperature until it starts melting. Then add the flour and ²*mix* energetically until the butter and flour start forming a ball. Be careful because butter can ³*burn* very quickly and it will ruin your dish. When all the flour and butter is combined, start slowly pouring in the milk. As you do it, mix it in thoroughly. Then add the cream and keep mixing. The mixture will start to become ⁴*thick*. Now start adding the cheese and mix as you do it. Make sure you leave a cup of cheese for the ⁵*topping*. When the cheese is all melted, take the sauce off the heat. Add the macaroni pasta and mix everything really well. Put the pasta in an oven-proof dish. Combine the ⁶*leftover* cheese with the breadcrumbs and sprinkle on top of the pasta. ⁷*Bake* in the oven for fifteen minutes or until golden brown. ⁸*Serve* hot with a green salad.

FOOD ART

Where food becomes art and art looks like food

Russian baker Maria Troitskaia creates mouth-watering cakes that look like the works of famous architects, e.g. the Pompidou Centre in Paris. It takes three days to make the dessert, using architectural drawings as a model. Inside, the cake has four layers of chocolate sponge cake, representing the floors of the building, spread with white vanilla cream. It sounds delicious, but it tastes even better.

Every Sunday Florence's Uffizi Gallery shows a short online cooking show linking art with food. A well-known chef offers a recipe based on the fruits, vegetables, meats and fish in a work of art. They use the colours and flavours in the paintings to attract food lovers to the gallery.

British designer Kyle Bean makes dishes like noodles, burgers, sushi, corn tortillas and lasagne with everyday things. Sweetcorn comes from yellow pins, finely chopped cabbage from pencil shavings, grated cheese from string and eggs from table tennis balls. They look yummy, but you won't put on weight with them. They're not for eating.

If you like animals and you like food, then you'll love Helga Stentzel's food animals. This Russian-born, London-based artist makes a fantastic-looking zoo out of everyday food, the kind you can find in your kitchen. There's a spaghetti bird, a banana elephant and my own favourite: a perfect little cabbage dog.

CULTURE BIT | Taking tea with style

Throughout Britain there are some wonderful tearooms and cafeterias where you can sip a hot drink and bite into a delicious cake. Many of the most elegant ones are in art galleries and museums. In London, you should definitely visit the Victoria and Albert Museum, where the world's first museum café opened in 1856. Twelve years later, it was replaced by three new stunning dining rooms. As well as those historic rooms, in the museum today there is the Garden Café and the more recent Courtyard Café. To sum up, the V&A is the perfect place in London to take a morning coffee, an afternoon tea, a quick snack or even a full meal.

A Seven Ingredients

Patrick took another sip of his freshly-squeezed grape juice and told his friends he had a game for them. He described it in a nutshell. 'Imagine you had to live the rest of your life with only seven ingredients. What would you choose?'

- 5 Sophie, who was extremely busy peeling vegetables on the kitchen worktop, laughed. 'Not much of a game, really, is it?'

Patrick smiled. 'OK, it's a thought experiment, but answer the question.'

Sophie frowned as she thought about it.

- 10 Sam, who was putting the place mats on the table, said, 'Well, water, obviously.'

'You're allowed basic ingredients like water, salt and cooking oil.'

'And pepper?' asked Sam putting the pepper mill and salt

- 15 cellar on the table.

Patrick nodded.

'Sugar?' said Sophie, who had a sweet tooth.

'Yes, sugar, too.'

While she was thinking, Sophie picked up the kettle and

- 20 poured some boiling water into a pot. Then she greased an oven dish.

Sam sat down opposite Patrick and started grating some cheese. 'Sophie, has this cheese gone off?'

'No, it's meant to smell like that.'

- 25 'Well?' asked Patrick.

Sam replied. 'The first thing is to choose a staple food, so either potatoes or rice. I vote for potatoes.'

'You would,' said Sophie. 'You could live on chips alone! No, I'd go for flour so we can make bread and pasta and ...'

- 30 'OK,' said Patrick. 'Flour it is.'

'Sausage rolls or shish kebabs?' suggested Sam, licking his lips. 'They're my favourites.'

Sophie shook her head.

- 35 'What about instant noodles?' asked Sam. 'They're quick and easy.'

'And they taste awful,' protested Sophie. 'No way!'

'Anyway,' said Patrick, 'we shouldn't have processed foods like that on our list.'

'OK,' agreed Sam, 'but we need meat, right?'

- 40 'I love lamb,' said Patrick, 'but I think I'd choose chicken. You can do more with it.'

'We don't need any meat,' said Sophie. 'Let's have some healthy vegetables like tomatoes, onions, leeks, Brussels sprouts or ...'

- 45 'You would say that. You're a vegan.'

'I've told you before, Patrick. I used to be a vegan, but now I'm a vegetarian. I eat cheese and eggs and ...'

'Eggs!' said Sam. 'We've got to have eggs!'

The other two nodded.

- 50 'Good idea,' said Sophie, 'Because with eggs, flour, oil and sugar, we can make cakes and biscuits and custard tarts and ...'

'Stop!' said Sam. 'You're making my mouth water!'

'I think Sophie's right about the vegetables,' said Patrick.

'Shall we have tomatoes and onions?'

- 55 'Yes,' said Sophie. 'And let's have chocolate, too. It's so good.'

'OK, so we have flour, eggs, tomatoes, onions and chocolate,' said Patrick. 'That makes five. What else?'

'We need pulses,' said Sophie. 'They're nutritious, low in fat and high in fibre, so they're good for your digestion.'

- 60 'Which kind?' said Patrick. 'Lentils, chickpeas, beans ...?'

'Lentils.'

'OK, so flour, eggs, tomatoes, onions, chocolate and lentils,' said Patrick. 'Just one more.'

'Cheese!' said Sophie.

- 65 Just then Dee appeared. 'Sorry, I'm late,' she said. 'Oh! That smells delicious. What's on the menu?'

Sophie grinned. While she was describing what was for dinner, she stressed some words as she counted off the ingredients on her fingers.

- 70 'Lentil and onion soup to start.' She held up two fingers.

'Followed by cheese and tomato casserole with homemade pasta made with wholemeal flour.' She held up another three fingers.

- 75 'And for dessert, some scrumptious cake made with eggs and chocolate.'

Patrick and Sam stared in amazement as Sophie, looking delighted with herself, held up seven fingers for the seven ingredients in her meal.

Working as a Chef

Step 1: start at the bottom of the ladder as a commis chef

A commis chef is a junior or apprentice chef who helps other chefs while learning the tricks of the trade. What's it like to be a commis chef?

- When you work in a kitchen, it's vital to know where everything's kept and how to control stock so that you never run out of ingredients and none of them go stale or past their best-before date. So a regular job for a commis chef is to unpack and store the deliveries.
- Food contamination can cause food poisoning, so commis chefs need to learn to keep themselves and the kitchen spotlessly clean. The kitchen must be tidy, too, so nobody trips over packets or slips on a dirty floor.
- A commis chef's day is full of learning opportunities. You could say they have a finger in every pie. You might start the day helping the breakfast chef make pancakes, waffles and poached eggs. After that, you could be working with the pastry chef learning how to knead dough and to make cakes, tarts and pies.
- One thing you're sure to have to do is to measure precisely the ingredients for the different recipes on the menu. Then you could be peeling, chopping and slicing vegetables. The meat chef might show you how to season and marinate sirloin steaks or the sauce chef might have you stirring sauces.

Being a commis chef is tough. But it's a great way to see if you're cut out to be a professional chef. It allows you to find out what specialities you're good at, what you like doing and what kind of chef you might want to be in the future.

HOW MUCH DO YOU KNOW ABOUT FRUIT AND VEGETABLES?

There are quite a few things about fruit and vegetables some people find surprising. Did you know that, according to many studies, frozen fruit and vegetables are as good for you ¹as fresh ones? Interesting, isn't it? Vegetable names can also be very confusing. One example here is the sweet potato. ²Though/Although they share the same name, the sweet potato is a root vegetable and only loosely related to the potato. There are also many interesting and sometimes little known facts about fruit. Eating ³an apple in the morning will give you lots of energy, as apples have high carbohydrate, vitamin and mineral content. Bananas, on the other hand, are high in potassium, ⁴but/although they aren't the best source of it. Avocados, potatoes and beans have more potassium than bananas per serving. Another interesting fact is that orange peels contain about four times more fibre than ⁵the fruit itself.

ROMAN FAST FOOD RESTAURANT UNEARTHED AT POMPEII

A 2,000-year-old fast food restaurant has recently been unearthed in Pompeii. ¹The ancient diner offered its Roman customers culinary delights such as snails, duck, pig, goat and fish, traces of which were found in terracotta pots that ²had been buried in volcanic ash since 79 AD. The discovery of the pots gave extraordinary insight into the Roman diet. Some 13,000 people lived in Pompeii, thousands of whom died when Mount Vesuvius erupted, covering the city in ash. ³While/Although archaeologists have excavated more than eighty other similar eateries, this is one of the best preserved. It is an ancient version of Italy's modern day tavola calda – a cheap restaurant that serves ready-to-eat meals and drinks. Inside the restaurant, a fresco of a sea nymph riding a horse decorates a counter full of holes, ⁴where steaming pots of food were most probably displayed. Other frescoes represent some of the meat that ⁵would/might/could have been on offer, such as a pair of ducks.

Exercise 4

- a: The author of the podcast is not a famous person, but is going to interview famous people. The food given by the grandmother is mentioned by one of the interviewees.
- c: The celebrities are going to talk about their comfort food at present, not about their eating habits in the past.

4 In your notebook, choose the sentence that best summarises the recording in Exercise 3. Compare with your partner and explain why you rejected the other two sentences.

In this new podcast,

- a a famous person talks about the food his grandmother gave him as a little boy.
- ☒ b well-known personalities open up about the link between food and their emotions.
- c celebrities reveal their childhood eating habits and link them to their present lives.

ZADANIE

5  Usłyszysz dwukrotnie cztery wypowiedzi na temat emocji i jedzenia. Które zdania A–E pasują do wypowiedzi 1–4? Jedno zdanie zostało podane dodatkowo i nie pasuje do żadnej wypowiedzi. Zapisz odpowiedzi w zeszycie.

The speaker mentions ...

- A one type of food that triggers positive emotions in people.
- B the reason why skipping certain food is recommended.
- C a type of food that contains natural ingredients that calm you down.
- D food that can be used to convey a special message to someone else.
- E certain food that can trigger a memory of meals from their homeland.

CULTURE BIT | UK's favourite comfort food

According to a recent survey, UK's favourite comfort foods are curry and cottage pie*. Other favourites include sausages and mashed potatoes (bangers and mash), lasagne and spaghetti bolognese. The poll also suggests that the average person tucks into feel-good food seven times a month!

*A dish made of minced meat with mashed potato on top.

Wypowiedź na podstawie materiału stymulującego i odpowiedzi na dwa pytania

- 1 Around thirty-three percent of all food produced globally is lost or wasted every year. In pairs, discuss why you think this happens and what the consequences are. What can individual citizens do to reduce food waste?

TRENING

- 2 In pairs, read the task below and discuss which of the three options you would choose and why. Then listen to a model answer and compare your ideas. Students' own answers

Popatrz na Plakat 1., Plakat 2. i Plakat 3. Zdjęcia przedstawiają trzy plakaty reklamujące kampanię pt. Stop Food Waste w szkole. Która z propozycji, twoim zdaniem, najbardziej przemówi do młodych ludzi?

- Wybierz plakat, który uważasz za najlepszy, i uzasadnij swój wybór.
- Wyjaśnij, dlaczego odrzucasz pozostałe propozycje.

- 3 Read the tip below. Then listen to the model answer again and write down the reasons given for the chosen poster and against the two rejected ones.

Oprócz uzasadnienia wyboru jednej z ilustracji, przedstaw także powody odrzucenia pozostałych opcji.

- 4 Listen to the model answer again. Which expressions from the Useful Phrases box can you hear? Write the answers in your notebook.

Exercise 4

Of these three options, I like (number 3) best because ... (it has a bigger impact than ...)

The first/main reason I say this is that ...

Secondly, ...

In my view, (poster 2) is less (effective) because ...

The disadvantage of poster two is ...

In addition to this, ...

Furthermore, ...

Exercise 3

Reasons for option 3:

It's impactful, shows a person throwing perfectly good doughnuts away, a good reminder of the point of the protest, it also shows the image of a kitchen that everyone can relate to.

Reasons against option 2:

The message isn't clear, doesn't show food waste clearly, it's difficult to relate to.

Reasons against option 1:

The image shows more containers than food so it illustrates plastic waste rather than food waste.

Dear Jo,

I'm so glad you can help me do the baking for next weekend's charity cake sale. It's really good of you.

Shall we do it at your house? My parents won't let me use our kitchen since the fire. It wasn't my fault, by the way 😞. Perhaps we could go back to your house together after school on Friday?

How about making some dairy-free cakes for the vegans? My specialities are apple tart, banana bread and vegan chocolate cake. I've already baked them several times.

Why don't we use your mum's recipe? Her cakes are easy to make and they are always delicious. Everybody loves them.

I think we'll need to buy a bag of flour, sugar, two bars of dark chocolate, and a bunch of bananas. Let's make a list when we see one another. Maybe I could bring some cake tins and a mixer.

I'm looking forward to our baking Friday! 😊

Love,
XYZ

Artykuł

PRZYKŁADOWE ZADANIE I MODELOWA WYPOWIEDŹ

Coraz więcej osób przechodzi na dietę wegańską. Napisz artykuł na stronę internetową poświęconą żywności i żywieniu, przedstawiający pobudki tych osób do zmiany sposobu odżywiania oraz opisz doświadczenia niektórych z nich z dietą roślinną.

Wypowiedź powinna zawierać od 200 do 250 słów.

- 1 In pairs, discuss the difference between vegans and vegetarians. Talk about attitudes to food and motivations. Then list some foods both groups do and do not eat. Students' own answers

- 2 In pairs, read the sample task above and think of at least two reasons why young people might go vegan and at least two issues they might experience in the process. Then read the model answer and compare your ideas.

Students' own answers

- 3 Look at the sample task and the model answer again. Identify phrases and sentences that cover the points required in the task.

Reasons why people go vegan: to protect animals and to reduce the impact of livestock farming on the environment, for health reasons: a plant-based diet is said to lower the risk of heart disease.

Experiences they have giving up animal products: feeling tired and lacking in energy, difficulties digesting, becoming more creative in their cooking.

TRENING

- 4 Read the tip below and identify which of the four suggestions is used to end the model answer.

Suggestion 3

Artykuł powinien zawierać zakończenie zgodne z treścią artykułu, podsumowujące najważniejsze informacje w nim zawarte. Dobrze również dać czytelnikowi materiał do przemyśleń. Możesz:

- 1 zadać pytanie,
- 2 zaapelować do czytelnika,
- 3 zasugerować coś lub udzielić rady,
- 4 odnieść się do przyszłości.

- 5 Match the other three suggestions in the tip above to alternative endings a–c. Write the answers in your notebook.

- a Having interviewed several people about their vegan way of life, I felt that it was less likely than ever that I would become a vegan. 4
- b On balance, I can see the benefits of following a vegan diet, for the individual and for the planet. But would I be able to live without cheese? I very much doubt it. 1
- c To all you vegans out there, please introduce more variety into your vegan diet if you want to get all the vitamins you need. 2

Why are so many people going vegan?

Veganism is on the rise, and it would appear that the trend is driven by young people. Apparently, almost half of all vegans are aged 18–35. So why are so many people giving up meat and dairy, and how are they finding the transition to a totally plant-based diet? I interviewed members of the online vegan community to find out.

There is no doubt that the main factors for going vegan are to protect animals and to reduce the impact of livestock farming on the environment. People also mention health reasons: for instance, a plant-based diet – although it requires vitamin B12 supplementation – is said to lower the risk of heart disease.

Several people I spoke to about their experience of going vegan reported feeling tired and lacking in energy. They had to eat a lot of vegetables to feel full, and this resulted in difficulties digesting. One person I spoke to replaced sugar with honey in her tea, and then realised that honey is an animal-based product. They said that one surprising result of going vegan was that they became more creative in their cooking.

Based on my research, it seems clear that veganism is driven by health and environmental concerns. However, there is little long-term evidence of the health benefits of a vegan diet and so it is important that people plan their transition carefully and supplement where necessary.

WHAT'S SO DELICIOUS ABOUT MONSTERA DELICIOSA?

Monstera Deliciosa, which you can see in the photo, ¹used to be a common houseplant in the 1970s and then its popularity declined. Now it's made a comeback as more and more people are creating their own 'indoor jungles'. It's an ideal plant since it grows fast and big, is extremely easy to look ²after and has beautiful decorative leaves with holes. ³Because of them monstera is sometimes called the Swiss cheese plant.

Not every owner of this plant knows, however, that in its natural habitat it also produces delicious fruit known as Mexican breadfruit. It tastes ⁴like a combination of pineapple and banana. But you can't eat the freshly-picked fruit because it's toxic and can irritate your mouth and stomach. You need to wait for a few days ⁵until it opens up naturally and shows its white aromatic flesh. Then it's ready and safe to eat. Yummy!

SOME THOUGHTS ON COOKERY PROGRAMMES

I'm a big fan of cookery programmes. Had I not watched so many of them, I ¹wouldn't have no idea how to cook chickpeas properly, make classic risotto or knead bread dough. But cooking shows offer much more than just tips for perfecting your technique. They broaden your horizons about other cuisines and their exotic flavours, which you may not have a chance to try ²unless you travel widely or live in a truly multicultural city. Thanks to cooking shows I've found out about various unusual ingredients that you can sometimes come across in ³an overpriced supermarket for food lovers, such as black garlic, bitter cucumber or enoki mushrooms. Equipped with this basic knowledge, I get more adventurous and dare to experiment with new products. That said, there is one thing that annoys me about these shows. It's the part when the cook tastes the food they've prepared. Even though it's always described in a way that ⁴makes your mouth water, deep down I doubt that the final result is always so scrumptious. How come they never spoil the dish? ⁵Even the best chefs must sometimes add too much salt or overcook the veg, don't you think?

Just like any other shopper, Steph Roberts is annoyed when she arrives at the supermarket entrance and there isn't a(n) ¹trolley in sight. But unlike other shoppers, she makes a note of it on her phone. She then goes to pick up a basket only to find old ²receipts and pieces of food on the bottom. Again, she makes a note.

Steph isn't a real shopper, she's a mystery shopper. With more and more people shopping ³online, it's important that regular stores offer the best service possible to attract ⁴customers. And this is where mystery shoppers come in. They act like other shoppers by walking up and down the ⁵aisles, and picking ⁶products off shelves. But their main job is to report on things that the shop could do better.

Today, Steph is working in a large supermarket. She's timing how long it takes to stand in the queue at the ⁷till. When it's her turn, the bar ⁸code on a box of eggs doesn't want to scan and the checkout ⁹assistant is getting irritated, and asks her to get another box. publicity sample Nineteen-year-old Holly is in her home studio recording a new video for her 100k social media followers. This time she's talking about a new skincare line and showing her daily routine using the products. But Holly didn't choose the products herself. A company contacted her and asked her to ¹endorse the products to her followers.

Holly is an 'influencer'. Influencers are experts in their field and have a huge social media following. As a well-known beauty blogger, Holly mainly attracts beauty ²brands. By mentioning the products, she creates ³publicity and, as a result, helps ⁴boost sales. This is called influencer marketing. Instead of paying millions for a commercial that might not even be seen by the target ⁵audience, marketers prefer to split that money between a number of influencers who already have an audience which includes the company's ⁶prospective customers.

So, next time you see an influencer talking about a product or service, ask yourself if they're trying to sell you something.

The problem with online shopping

by Alison White

I've never really enjoyed shopping. It's no fun fighting your way through crowds of shoppers on the High Street, especially during the sales. I can't stand queuing up to pay and I hate self-service checkouts. Trying on clothes in changing rooms is a pain. (It's always so hot!) And my memory is not great, so more than once I've carried heavy shopping bags down to an underground car park only to find I don't remember which level I parked on.

So last month I decided to do all my shopping online. What's it been like?

Obviously, it's much more convenient to buy anything you want with just a click of the mouse. There's an incredible range of products online. And if you like bargains, you can find some great reductions. You can save money as long as you're careful and just buy what you need. If not, you can spend a fortune. However, I am careful so, overall, my experience of online shopping has been a success.

But ... there is one disadvantage. Online shopping isn't exactly 'what you see is what you get'. When you look around real shops, you can pick up and examine your potential purchases. Not online. You rely on adverts: photos and descriptions. And they're not always accurate.

- 20 One problem is colour. I bought some new curtains for my room. In the photo, they were a beautiful shiny gold. In reality, they looked like mud hanging over my windows. Another problem is size, especially for shoes and clothes. I'm not really into the latest fashions or trendy designer clothes, but I was looking for a new party dress. I found one that looked perfect. What's more, it was last year's model, so it was fairly inexpensive. The website had a chart to help you choose the right size, so I measured myself carefully and ordered the dress. It came the next day, but it was so tight I couldn't pull the zip up. I exchanged it for a bigger size. But that one was too loose! Other disasters include a tiny bottle of perfume in a huge box, a T-shirt with a big red stain on the front (was it ketchup?) and some trousers that were torn in a very important place. Fortunately, when you're unhappy with something you've bought online, they replace it, no questions asked. Or you can just return it without paying anything. Just as well, really.

1 What ways of shopping can you see in the photos? Which do you prefer? Why? Students' own answers

2 Read the text quickly and say how Alison prefers to shop. She prefers shopping online.

TRENING

3 Read the paragraph below and choose the correct answer. Write the answer in your notebook.

Want to get some new looks for the summer? Searching for bargains?

Well, you don't need to look any further than Pretty Poppy. We only opened nine months ago, but already we've been described as the only place to go when you want to look good.

And starting from next Saturday, it's our crazy summer sale. Fantastic reductions and great quality. Now the lowest prices in town are lower than ever.

Pretty Poppy clothes shop – the coolest fashions in the High Street for the hottest summer in your life.

What is the main purpose of this text?

- a To explain why shoppers like bargains.
- b To inform about the history of a shop.
- ☒ c To attract customers to a shop.
- d To describe the latest summer fashion trends.

4 Read the tip below. Then match explanations 1–3 to the wrong options in Exercise 3. Write the answers in your notebook.

- 1 This answer refers to a common belief about the world, which is not explained in the text. a
- 2 This answer mentions 'the coolest fashions' and 'the hottest summer', but it doesn't say what the trends are. d
- 3 This answer is wrong because the text only mentions one minor detail (when the shop opened), but it doesn't give the history of the shop. b

- Do you agree with Alison's complaints about high street shopping and online shopping? Why? / Why not?
- What kind of things do you prefer to buy in high street shops and which online? Give reasons for your answer.
- Do you think online shopping will become more and more popular? Why? If so, what do you think will happen to traditional shops?

LIFE SKILLS | Making a complaint

- 10 Read the advice. Then in pairs, role-play situations 1 and 2 below so that you get what you want. Students' own answers

When you want to complain about an unsatisfactory product or service, ...

- make sure you have the receipt for the thing you bought / paid for,
- explain clearly what the problem is,
- don't shout or get emotional,
- ask to see the manager if the shop assistant is not helpful.

Situation 1

STUDENT A: You bought a pair of jeans. When you got them home, you noticed there was a small stain on one knee. You take them back to the shop and ask for a refund.

STUDENT B: You work in a clothes shop. Your boss wants you to keep the customers happy, but he prefers you to exchange unsatisfactory items rather than to give a refund.

Situation 2

STUDENT A: You paid to have your bike repaired because it was making an annoying noise. It seemed all right at first, but after cycling a few hundred metres, you realise it's still making the same noise. You take it back to the shop.

STUDENT B: You work in a bicycle repair shop. A customer complains that the bike you fixed still has the same problem. You're really busy today. There are two other customers waiting for their bikes to be fixed.

Colleen's Eco Farm Shop & Garden Centre

St Ives, Cornwall

Great news!

Our loyal customers know all about the quality of the produce that we sell in our farm shop and garden centre. ¹ D No wonder! Everything is reasonably priced and Fatima's cakes are the most delicious you'll ever taste!

Now, we're delighted to say we're opening a new shop right next to the café. It's not a normal shop because it's not for profit. You can't spend any money in it.

² C Our new shop is called The Swap Shop! The idea ¹⁰ is that you bring in things you don't want any more and exchange them for things you need.

We've received a ton of donations to get us started, so we've already ¹⁵ got a wide selection of clothes, accessories, jewellery, footwear, domestic appliances, furniture, electronics, books and lots more. It's like a megastore of second-hand goods!

²⁰ Why pay through the nose for badly-made clothes in a chain store when you can help recycle perfectly good garments at The Swap Shop? ³ E Is there any reason to go bargain hunting in retail parks when the consumer society has no place in your heart? So, feel free to drop in any time and see ²⁵ what we've got. You'll always get a good deal from our super-friendly, highly-trained staff Piotr and Francesca.

By the way, would you like to know how to re-fashion worn-out things to give them new life? ⁴ A The classes are free as long as you promise to donate your time in exchange to ³⁰ teach something you know how to do, e.g. music, painting or foreign languages.

Come to Colleen's this Saturday for the opening of The Swap Shop. Bring your family and friends and make a day of it.

For the kids, there are free donkey rides and farm animals

³⁵ to feed. You can stock up on fresh fruit and veg at the farm shop, browse around the plants in the garden centre, have a tasty snack in the café and swap to your heart's content in our brand-new Swap Shop!

TRENING

- 1 Which option a–c completes both gapped sentences correctly? Read the tip below and answer questions 1–3. Write the answers in your notebook.

If you decide you don't like the dress I bought for your birthday, you can always ? it back.

I'm afraid they don't ? credit cards at this new second-hand shop.

a accept b take c bring

- 1 Które dwa czasowniki spośród opcji a–c łączą się z wyrażeniem it back w pierwszym zdaniu? b, c
- 2 Które dwa czasowniki spośród opcji a–c mogą poprawnie uzupełnić drugie zdanie? a, b
- 3 Który czasownik poprawnie uzupełnia oba zdania? b

Gdy rozwiązujesz zadanie typu set leksykalny z trzema opcjami odpowiedzi, sprawdź najpierw, czy wybrany przez siebie wyraz tworzy poprawne wyrażenie z wyrazami znajdującymi się bezpośrednio wokół luki. Następnie przeczytaj całe zdanie i upewnij się, że ma ono sens. Wybrana odpowiedź musi poprawnie uzupełniać oba zdania.

- 2 In your notebook, match the words from the box to the pairs of expressions. The same word should complete both expressions correctly. Write the answers in your notebook. Then make questions with these expressions. In pairs, ask and answer your questions.

- Opening a savings account requires a visit to a branch.
 - Checking your balance and transferring money is easy using the app.
 - The bank's online service is the same high quality as other big banks.

- 5 SŁOWNICTWO Complete this very positive staff announcement with one word in each gap. The phrases are all from the recordings in the lesson. Write the answers in your notebook. Then listen and check.

Congratulations on winning ¹Personal Shopper of the Year. In this challenging time for shopping centres everywhere, you have managed to increase ²retail profits. You are a highly ³skilled worker, who is always willing to move ⁴heaven and earth to improve your customers' experience. Your manager has this message: thanks for never missing ⁵out on a sale. You know how to create a personal ⁶bond with your clients and once they meet you, they don't feel the need to ⁷shop around anywhere else. If there were more ⁸service providers like you, shopping centres would soon be buzzing again!

Text 3

- 3 The speaker is giving the talk to young people who
- are trying to secure an internship in the retail sector.
 - are unsure about whether to consider a career in retail.
 - are interested in hearing about a typical career path in retail.
 - are about to begin work in the retail sector as interns.
- 4 The speaker talks about the current situation in order to
- describe the difficulties caused by online domination.
 - warn against entering the profession at this particular time.
 - question the idea that opportunities in retail no longer exist.
 - stress that imagination and creativity are always highly valued.
- 5 A sales assistant can really impress a shopper by
- being particularly polite and helpful.
 - giving them plenty of time to browse.
 - asking whether they need any assistance.
 - providing an additional, more personalised service.
- 6 To be a successful intern, you need to - sell your customers as many items as you can.
 - find the right product for each customer.
 - give customers a wide choice of options.
 - become very friendly with your customers.

Rozmowa z odgrywaniem roli

- 1 In pairs, discuss whether you enjoy doing the activities in the box. Put them under these two headings: A great day out and An awful day out. Add your own ideas.

Students' own answers

a bike ride a museum visit a picnic in the park a shopping trip a walk

TRENING

- 2  Read the task below. In pairs, discuss what you might say about the four topics. Then listen to students doing the task and write down what they say. Compare your ideas. Students' own answers

Planujesz niespodziankę dla kolegi/koleżanki: wspólną wyprawę na zakupy. Porozmawiaj o pomysły z innym kolegą / inną koleżanką. Poniżej podano cztery kwestie, które musicie omówić w rozmowie. Rozmowę rozpoczyna uczeń A.

Powód wyprawy

Miejsce zakupów

Wybór sklepów

Przerwa na obiad

- 3  Read the tip below. What three things does Student B 'express doubt' about during the task? How does Student A respond? Listen again and check.

W trakcie rozmowy z odgrywaniem roli rozmówca może wyrazić wątpliwość, nie zgodzić się z jakąś kwestią lub poprosić o wyjaśnienie. Potraktuj to jako część zadania, nie negatywną ocenę umiejętności. Wysłuchaj uważnie pytania lub uwagi i odpowiedz w adekwatny i naturalny sposób.

- 4 Copy the Useful Phrases box into your notebook and complete it with one word in each gap.

- 5 In pairs, try to act out the same role-play with the notes you made in Exercise 2 and appropriate Useful Phrases.

Students' own answers

- 6 In pairs, do the task in Exercise 2 again. Invent different reasons for the trip, a different location, different shops and different lunch suggestions. Take it in turns to be Student A and B. Students' own answers

- 7 Read the Culture Bit. In pairs, discuss whether there is anything similar in Poland. How would you try to sell unwanted household goods? Students' own answers

CULTURE BIT | UK car boot sales

Car boot sales are a form of market where people come together – usually in a large field or similar space – and sell unwanted household goods or personal belongings. You usually pay a small entrance fee, park your car, set up a table or literally sell your stuff out of your car boot.

Exercise 3

- Doubt about a shopping trip: Student A says it might cheer the friend up.
- Doubt about where to shop: Student A agrees with Student B's alternative suggestion.
- Doubt about where to eat: Student A says they have cheap lunch menus.

PRZYKŁADOWE ZADANIE I MODELOWA WYPOWIEDŹ

Bardzo lubisz książki i często odwiedzasz księgarnie. Napisz o tym post na blogu. W poście:

- napisz, co sądzisz o kupowaniu książek w stacjonarnych księgarniach,
- wyjaśnij, dlaczego pracownicy twojej ulubionej księgarni są atutem tego miejsca,
- opisz inne wyjątkowe cechy twojej ulubionej księgarni,
- doradź czytelnikom, jak najlepiej wykorzystać pobyt w księgarni.

Rozwiń swoją wypowiedź w każdym z czterech podpunktów. Długość tekstu powinna wynosić od 100 do 150 słów, nie licząc zdań, które są podane.

- 1 In pairs, tell your partner about the last time you bought a book to read. Discuss whether it is better to buy books second-hand or new, online or in a bookshop. Give reasons for your answers. Students' own answers
- 2 Read the sample task above. In pairs, discuss the sort of things you could write to develop each of the four points. Then read the model answer and compare your ideas. Students' own answers

I want to tell you why bookshops are my happy place!

Most people buy their books online. Don't get me wrong – there's nothing bad about that. I just think it's a shame not to experience the pleasure of spending time in a bookshop and the deep satisfaction of knowing that you're supporting a local business.

My favourite bookshop is a truly magical place. I just love it! You can't imagine how passionate the staff are! They write personal reviews of new titles and stick them on the bookshelves for customers to read.

There's also a café where you can look through books while enjoying a cappuccino. Then, every month, they hold a special event when they invite an author to read from their books and sign copies.

For the best bookshop experience, give yourself plenty of time to browse the bookshelves. I'd highly recommend exploring new titles by authors you know and love, as well as being open to new discoveries.

You can never spend too much time in your local bookshop!

- 3 Copy the Useful Phrases box into your notebook and complete it with one word in each gap.

USEFUL PHRASES

► STR. 338

Sounding positive and enthusiastic

Don't ¹get me wrong ...

You can't ²imagine / wouldn't believe how ...

I can't tell you how ...

You don't want to miss out on ...

Using emotive adjectives

the ³deep satisfaction

how ⁴passionate the staff are (about) ...

the best bookshop experience

Using strong intensifiers

a ⁵truly magical place

I'd ⁶highly recommend ...

It's a really good idea to (give yourself plenty of time).

- 4 In your notebook, rewrite the sentences replacing the underlined words with an alternative Useful Phrase with a similar meaning. Change the grammar if necessary.

- 1 I want to tell you about my favourite shop – I can't tell you how much I love it. you can't imagine
- 2 Don't get the wrong idea – I'm not a shopaholic. Don't get me wrong
- 3 But I enjoy the excellent feeling of finding something that fits me and looks good. deep satisfaction
- 4 I really think you should go there if you need something for a special occasion. I'd highly recommend that you go
- 5 You wouldn't believe how much the staff want to help you to find the right thing. how passionate the staff are about helping
- 6 They've created an exciting shopping experience – it's an absolutely amazing place. a truly magical

- 5 In pairs, tell your partner about your own favourite shops. What makes them so good?

Students' own answers

- 6 Read the tip below. Copy the sentences into your notebook and add just. What is the meaning of just in each sentence and in what sort of shopping situation might you hear each one?

- 1 It's what I've always wanted.
- 2 It's OK, I'm looking.
- 3 I knew you'd want one, too!
- 4 This place is perfect!
- 5 I need to try it on first.
- 6 I'm amazed by the huge range.

Just jest jednym z najczęściej używanych angielskich słów i ma ono kilka znaczeń. Jeśli nauczysz się poprawnie używać potocznych zwrotów i wyrażań z just, twoje wypowiedzi będą brzmiały naturalniej. Oto trzy z najbardziej przydatnych znaczeń just, stosowane do wyrażania preferencji:

- 1 podkreślenie (= really, so), np. I just love it!
- 2 zmniejszenie nacisku/wagi (= simply, only), np. I just think that ...
- 3 precyzowanie (= exactly), np. That's just what I need.

- 7 In your notebook, rewrite this neutral text so it is more positive and enthusiastic. Use at least three each of emotive adjectives, strong intensifiers and just.

Students' own answers

I didn't use to like shopping for clothes. I am very tall and it was difficult to find anything in my size. The other day, I was happy to discover an online store for tall people. It's a good website and easy to use. They have a wide range of good quality, fashionable clothes in my size. The prices are reasonable and they deliver everything the next day. It was good to find a shop I can buy clothes from. If you are tall, you should visit this online store.

CULTURE BIT | Bookshops in the UK

- The oldest bookshop in the UK is Hatchards in London, founded in 1797 by the publisher John Hatchard. You can find it in the centre of London, near Piccadilly Circus. There are five floors full of books arranged by subject (e.g. History, Cookery or Art).
- The area of London famous for books is less than a kilometre away – Charing Cross Road (and nearby Cecil Court), where you can still find many specialist and second-hand bookstores. The location inspired the book (and later a film starring Anthony Hopkins) 84 Charing Cross Road about a long-lasting correspondence between a writer and a bookshop manager.

- 8 In pairs, think about the last time you went to a shopping centre and brainstorm what you could write about in the four points in the task in Exercise 9. Students' own answers

Exercise 6

- 1 It's just what I've always wanted. (exactly)
- 2 It's OK, I'm just looking. (only)
- 3 I just knew you'd want one, too! (so)
- 4 This place is just perfect! (exactly)
- 5 I just need to try it on first. (only)
- 6 I'm just amazed by the huge range. (so)

ZADANIE

- 9 Do the task below in your notebook.

W twoim mieście niedawno otwarto nowe centrum handlowe. Opisz swoje wrażenia z tego miejsca we wpisie na blogu. W poście:

- poinformuj, kiedy byłeś/byłaś w nowym centrum handlowym i co sądzisz o tym miejscu,
- napisz, jakiego rodzaju sklepy się tam znajdują i jak zorganizowana jest przestrzeń,
- opisz swój ulubiony sklep,
- wyjaśnij, jak można tam spędzić czas poza robieniem zakupów.

Rozwiń swoją wypowiedź w każdym z czterech podpunktów. Długość tekstu powinna wynosić od 100 do 150 słów, nie licząc zdań, które są podane.

- 8 Complete the text with the missing words. The first letter of each word has been given. Write the answers in your notebook.

L A really hard day

I've had a really hard day today. I'm preparing for my ¹diving test and I had my last lesson today. I'd been feeling really confident until we drove into the city and there was heavy traffic as it was ²rush hour. I started to panic as I'd never driven in those conditions before. We stopped at the traffic ³lights and my instructor told me to turn right. So, I did, but it turned out that I had to give ⁴way to oncoming traffic. I hadn't even noticed the road ⁵sign. We then got on the motorway and he told me to accelerate. I listened to him again, but I hadn't realised that there was an 80 km/h speed limit! I was lucky that I didn't get a ⁶ticket. I'm so upset – I don't think I'll ever get my driving ⁷ilicence.

MUSEUM OF SOAP AND THE HISTORY OF DIRT IN BYDGOSZCZ

Amazing visit!

The ¹*guidebook* that I bought says that this is probably one of the most unique museums in Poland or maybe in the world. Take a journey through the history of soap and hygiene, have a look at how soap products and everyday items, like toothbrushes and toilet paper, have changed through the years. Take part in a hands-on soap-making workshop.

They didn't ²*charge* us much, but spaces are limited, so make sure you book a(n) ³*guided* tour online. Tours start every ninety minutes and are available in Polish and English.

Really fun tour, but too busy

After visiting many museums that usually feel the same, we stumbled upon this gem. We've never seen anything like it. The ⁴*admission* price for a family of four was quite reasonable and we booked one of the first tours hoping it wouldn't be busy. However, when we got there, the place was ⁵*packed* with tourists and they were all part of our group. The tour ⁶*guide* was very knowledgeable and funny but, as it was so crowded, we sometimes couldn't hear her or see everything.

I'd still recommend the place, but try to visit it in low season when it's not so busy.

Travel safety – four simple things to do

It's easy to get sick or robbed on holiday, so if you want to have a relaxing time and avoid having to deal with problems, then follow these tips from ¹seasoned travellers.

1 Get to know your ²destination

Before you go, find out as much as possible about the place you're going to. Not just about the hotel, restaurants and tourist attractions, but also about the safety. Be ³wary of taxis with broken meters, especially at airports. This is a well-known ⁴scam that can quickly leave you out of pocket.

GO FOR IT

23 In pairs, do the task. You're organising a school trip for your class. Look at the photos below and decide which type of trip you would like to go on. Discuss the following:

Students' own answers

- how you are going to get there,
- the type of accommodation,
- what you are going to do there,
- how you are going to prepare for the trip,
- how you are going to prepare for any emergencies,
- the cost.

Say why the other types of trip are not suitable.

2 Keep a(n) ⁵eye on people giving you things

If it's free, it's too good to be true. Don't let people put bracelets on your hands or give you flowers. When you try to walk away, they will cause a scene and take your wallet without you noticing. So, don't make yourself a(n) ⁶target of pickpockets.

3 Take safety ⁷precautions

Don't wear ⁸flashy jewellery in public and keep all your ⁹valuables in the hotel safe. Better yet, don't bring them with you!

4 Always purchase travel ¹⁰insurance

This will give you added peace of ¹¹mind in case something does happen.

Happy travelling!

UNUSUAL ACCOMMODATION

Eilean Donan Castle, Scotland

How can you have a holiday in a train, a boat and a bus, but only travel by car?

Mum loves last-minute holidays. ¹ E A few hours later, we were on our way to the Scottish Highlands with a mountain of luggage in the back of our ancient minivan. (We never travel light!)

Our first accommodation was a railway carriage on an unused railway line. It wasn't a five-star hotel. ² C The scenery was beautiful and we went swimming in the freezing lake. Two days later, we set off again. Mum laughed and said we were going on a cruise. But when we got there, we saw it wasn't a cruise ship. ³ A It was surprisingly comfortable and spacious. The next day, we went kayaking in the Atlantic and saw some dolphins. Our final B & B was a minibus. It was like a mobile home. We went hiking in the hills and visited Eilean Donan Castle and other historic monuments and ancient ruins.

⁴ D We'd enjoyed a wonderful stay in Scotland in a train, a boat and a bus.

Exercise 2

- 1 So; We use so to connect something, e.g. the fact that I love railways, with a logical result or consequence: I often travel by train.
- 2 However; We use however to contrast two things, e.g. a fantastic hotel room with a terrible breakfast.
- 3 Finally; We use finally to introduce the last thing in a sequence, e.g. 1 fly to London, 2 take a bus to Oxford and 3 get a taxi home.

- 1 Which of these places have you slept in? Which was the best and why? In pairs, compare your answers. Students' own answers

TRENING

- 2 Which words complete the sentences correctly? Write the answers in your notebook. Say when we use these connecting words.
 - 1 I love railways. Finally, / However, / So I often travel by train.
 - 2 The hotel room was fantastic. Finally, / However, / So the breakfast was terrible.
 - 3 First, we flew to London. Then we took a bus to Oxford. Finally, / However, / So we got a taxi home.

- 3 Read the tip below. Then read the paragraph and decide which sentence best completes the gap. Write the answer in your notebook. Give reasons for your answer.

The West Highland Railway Line runs from Glasgow to Oban or Fort William and Mallaig. It is widely considered to be one of the most beautiful railway journeys in the world. The line to Mallaig crosses the Glenfinnan viaduct, which is the bridge used in the well-known Harry Potter films.

? The mountains, lochs (the Scottish word for lakes) and wild scenery make this a train journey you'll never forget.

- a Finally, this line has appeared in many films and TV series.
- b However, it is not the only beautiful line in this part of the world.
- c So it is no surprise that the line is popular with cinema fans. Because the word so introduces a logical result. It is logical that as a result of seeing the Harry Potter films, the railway line is popular with cinema fans.

Gdy dobierasz zdania do luk w tekście, zastanów się uważnie nad znaczeniem spójników takich jak however (ale, jednak), so (więc, z tego powodu) czy finally (ostatecznie). Czy zdania że zawierające łączą się logicznie z tekstem?

ZADANIE

- 4 Przeczytaj tekst, z którego usunięto cztery zdania. Które zdania A–E uzupełniają luki 1–4, tworząc spójny i logiczny tekst? Jedno zdanie zostało podane dodatkowo i nie pasuje do żadnej luki. Zapisz odpowiedzi w zeszycie.

- A It was a 110-year-old lifeboat that had been turned into a holiday home.
- B It was supposed to be a lovely place, but we weren't so impressed.
- C However, for a train, it was quite luxurious and it had a great view of Loch Awe.
- D On the last day, we checked out early and drove back south.
- E So it was no surprise last week when she told us to hurry up and pack our bags.

- 5 Read the text again. In groups, discuss what you would enjoy and would not enjoy about a holiday like that. Students' own answers

Odpowiedzi na pytania

6 SŁOWNICTWO Which words complete the sentences correctly? Write the answers in your notebook.

- 1 Our new minivan / carriage has lots of luggage space. It's perfect for our family trips.
- 2 There are fifty students going on the school trip, so we'll need to hire a coach / mobile home.
- 3 I didn't sleep well at the hotel because there was a busy railway / cruise line behind the building and passing trains sometimes woke me up.
- 4 When the train reached the end of the line / platform, I was the only passenger left in the carriage / board.

7 SŁOWNICTWO Complete the text with the words from the box. There is one extra word. Write the answers in your notebook.

arrived checked last-minute luxurious pack ruins scenery set stay way

Last year, we won a holiday: a week in a(n) ¹luxurious five-star hotel in Rome. We had plenty of time to plan the trip and to ²pack our bags, which was great because I can't stand ³last-minute holidays. I panic when I don't have enough time. We really enjoyed our ⁴stay in Italy: the ancient ⁵ruins and the historic monuments were just as special as I'd imagined them to be. What surprised me, however, was the wild mountain ⁶scenery that we saw not far from Rome. On our last day, we felt sad as we ⁷checked out of the hotel and ⁸set off on our return journey. While we were in the plane on our ⁹way home, we looked at our photos and promised we would be back one day.

CULTURE BIT | British place names

English is not the easiest language in the world to pronounce. For example, look at the letters o-u-g-h when they appear together. Cough /kɒf/ sounds like 'off', enough /ɪnʌf/ sounds like 'puff' and through /θru:/ sounds like 'too'. Why is English often not pronounced as it is written? One reason is that there is no Academy of English to revise spelling to make it more logical. The same problem of how to pronounce words occurs with place names. Let's start with o-u-g-h. The English town Slough /slaʊ/ sounds like 'how'. The 'h' is silent in Buckingham /ˈbʌkɪŋəm/ and Durham /ˈdʌrəm/. The 'w' is silent in the middle of Warwick /ˈwɒrɪk/ and in Norwich /ˈnɒrɪdʒ/, too. Greenwich /ˈɡrɛnɪtʃ/ is not as colourful as it looks — it's not pronounced like 'green'. The red colour can be heard in Reading /ˈredɪŋ/, so you should never read it as 'reading'. Worcester /ˈwʊstə/ and Leicester /ˈlestə/ only have two syllables, not three as you might guess. There's no 'e' in Derby /ˈdɜːbi/. And if you ask for directions to the village of Woolfardisworthy /ˈwʊlfəri/, you may get lost if you don't say it correctly. It's the same in Scotland. Kirkcudbright /kəˈkuːbri/ and Milngavie /mɪlˈɡaɪ/ are two examples of a totally different pronunciation and spelling. And the capital is Edinburgh /ˈedənbərə/. It's not pronounced like Hamburg, as some people might think.

A Driverless Cars

Cars today are partially automated. They can park and switch on the headlights by themselves. They have GPS and cruise control to reduce speed so you keep a safe distance from the car in front. Some cars can even apply the brakes automatically or steer the car back into the right lane if the driver gets distracted. But now fully automated vehicles are on the way. So what are the pros and cons?

Every year on Britain's roads, about 1,800 people are killed and 22,000 injured. Approximately seventy-five percent of all road accidents are caused by human error. Machines are safer drivers. Driverless cars always give way to pedestrians and cyclists, they don't get tired or distracted, and they never need a breathalyser test. Driverless cars also consume less fuel while cutting down journey times. One study estimated that motorway journeys could be eleven percent faster if all vehicles were fully autonomous. You wouldn't need a driving licence to use an autonomous car. You wouldn't even need to own a car. You could just order one like a taxi. So there would be fewer traffic jams, less congestion and cleaner air.

However, there are some potential problems. Taxi and delivery drivers would lose their jobs. Computers crash, so why wouldn't the software in autonomous cars? And if that caused a real life crash, who would be responsible? The 'driver' or the manufacturer of the vehicle or the software? Just like your computer system can get hacked, blackmailers could hack into your car while you're driving and threaten to crash if you don't pay a ransom. Terrorists could take control and cause head-on collisions and motorway pile-ups.

I must admit I'm in two minds about driverless cars. I would enjoy speeding along while sitting in the driver's seat with a book in my hands. But what about those problems?

ZADANIE

1 Odpowiedz na pytania 1–4 zgodnie z treścią tekstu A tak, aby jak najbardziej precyzyjnie oddać jego sens. Zapisz odpowiedzi w zeszytce.

- 1 What is the main purpose of this text?
- 2 Apart from the fact that driverless cars don't get tired or distracted, why might they cause fewer accidents?
- 3 What do driverless cars have in common with computer software?
- 4 What can we conclude from the last paragraph?

Exercise 1

Suggested answers:

- 1 To examine the pros and cons of driverless cars.
- 2 They (always) give way to pedestrians and cyclists and they don't drink alcohol.
- 3 They can both crash and be hacked.
- 4 The author has no clear opinion about driverless cars as they can see both pros and cons of using them.

The Wind in the Willows is a well-loved children's book which has been popular with both children and adults since it was first published in 1908. It relates the adventures of four animals with very human characteristics – a mole, a rat, a toad and a badger – who live in the English countryside. The author Kenneth Grahame developed the novel from the bedtime stories he used to tell his son.

B The Wind in the Willows

They were strolling along the high-road easily, the Mole by the horse's head, talking to him; the Toad and the Water Rat walking behind the cart talking together, when far behind them they heard a faint warning hum, like the drone of a distant bee. Glancing back, they saw a small cloud of dust, with a dark centre of energy, advancing on them at incredible speed, while from out the dust a faint 'Poop-poop!' wailed like an uneasy animal in pain. Hardly regarding it, they turned to resume their conversation, when in an instant (as it seemed) the peaceful scene was changed, and with a blast of wind and a whirl of sound that made them jump for the nearest ditch. It was on them! The 'Poop-poop' rang in their ears, they had a moment's glimpse of an interior of glittering plate-glass and rich morocco¹, and the magnificent motor-car, immense, breath-snatching, passionate, with its pilot tense and hugging his wheel, possessed all earth and air for the fraction of a second, flung an enveloping cloud of dust that blinded them utterly, and then dwindled to a speck in the far distance, changed back into a droning bee once more.

The old grey horse abandoned himself to his natural emotions. Rearing², in spite of all the Mole's efforts, he drove the cart backward towards the deep ditch at the side of the road. It wavered³ an instant – then there was a heart-rending crash – and the canary-coloured cart, their pride and their joy, lay on its side in the ditch, a wreck.

The Rat danced up and down in the road. 'You villains!' he shouted, shaking both fists. 'You scoundrels, you highwaymen, you road-hogs! I'll report you!'

Toad sat straight down in the middle of the dusty road, his legs stretched out before him, and stared in the direction of the disappearing motor-car. His face wore a placid, satisfied expression, and at intervals he faintly murmured 'Poop-poop!'

The Mole was busy trying to quiet the horse, which he succeeded in doing after a time. Then he went to look at the cart, on its side in the ditch. It was indeed a sorry sight. Panels and windows smashed, axles hopelessly bent, one wheel off.

The Rat came to help him, but their united efforts were not sufficient to right the cart. 'Hi! Toad!' they cried. 'Come and bear a hand, can't you!'

The Toad never answered a word, or budged from his seat in the road; so they went to see what was the matter with him. They found him in a sort of a trance, a happy smile on his face. At intervals he was still heard to murmur 'Poop-poop!' The Rat shook him by the shoulder. 'Are you coming to help us, Toad?' he demanded sternly. 'Glorious, stirring sight!' murmured Toad, never offering to move.

'The poetry of motion! The real way to travel! The only way to travel! Here to-day – in next week tomorrow! Villages skipped, towns and cities jumped – always somebody else's horizon! O poop-poop! O my! O my!'

⁵⁵ 'O stop being an ass, Toad!' cried the Mole despairingly.

'And to think I never knew!' went on the Toad. 'All those wasted years that lie behind me, I never knew, never even dreamt! But now that I know, now that I fully realise! O what a flowery track lies spread before me! What dust-clouds shall spring up behind me as I speed on my reckless way! What carts I shall fling carelessly into the ditch!'

Adapted from Kenneth Grahame, The Wind in the Willows

² rear – to stand on back legs (used to talk about animals)

³ waver – to move gently in different directions

SUNNY WEATHER AND OTHER MISFORTUNES:

HOLIDAY COMPLAINTS

Tom Smith, who ¹ ? in the travel industry for two decades by the end of this year, has just revealed some of the most unusual holiday complaints. According to him, the list was topped by ... high temperatures and melting ice cream. One British family, who chose Portugal as their holiday destination, talked of their dismay at the hot weather and complained their holiday clothes were too warm. Apparently, the sun was so strong that their ice cream melted too quickly. On the other hand, a man who travelled around Alaska in summer was disappointed about the temperatures ² ? as high as he had imagined. Another cruise lover said the sea was too loud while she was on a Mediterranean cruise and thought the cabins had better ³ ? more soundproof in the future. AIR TRAVEL MIX-UPS

A medical student was left red-faced after he attempted to fly to Guyana to begin a scholarship but ended up almost 2,000 miles away from his intended destination. Emmanuel Akomanyi, from Ghana, could not find a direct flight to Georgetown, the capital of the South American country. However, he ¹ ? what he thought was an indirect service via São Paulo. But when he disembarked the plane, he found himself not in Guyana, but the Brazilian city of Goiânia. Akomanyi spent a week in Brazil, where he was supported by strangers as he was travelling on a ² ? budget and had no funds. The airline that had sold him the original ticket initially refused ³ ? responsibility but eventually flew him to his intended destination. It was certainly not the first time a pair of similar sounding place names ⁴ ? to travel mishaps. In 2013 Lamenda Kingdon, a British woman, hoped to explore the beautiful Alhambra Palace in Granada, Spain. Instead, she mistakenly caught a flight across the Atlantic and ⁵ ? on the tropical Caribbean island of Grenada. Mrs Kingdon had booked her flight over the phone and on receiving the ticket failed to notice that the destination on it was one letter different (and 6,500 km away) from the place she intended to visit. ► GRAMATYKA | CZASY GRAMATYCZNE, STR. 258

I'm sure you're all dying to hear about the new trip I'm planning for the spring break.

I'm going camping in Scotland. I'm going to visit Edinburgh and go trekking in the Highlands. I'm thinking of taking the train. It's expensive, but it's greener than flying.

My initial plan was to visit a big city. I couldn't decide between Paris and Stockholm. I've got friends in Stockholm, but Paris is so beautiful. However, in the end, I realised I couldn't afford either place. In any case, I need a break from city life.

I'm really looking forward to the trip. As long as the weather's fine, I'm sure it will be fantastic. I'm not totally sure where I'm going, but my heart is set on climbing Ben Nevis. I've always dreamt of reaching the highest point of the British Isles.

I'm planning to make this forum more attractive, so I'm thinking of making a video of my trip and posting it here. What do you think?

- 5 Which words complete the sentences correctly? Write the answers in your notebook.

- 1 I've decided / looked / realised to take a week off.
- 2 My heart / holiday / plan is set on learning to ski.
- 3 I'm going / hoping / looking forward to the trip.
- 4 We're going / looking / thinking about going to France.
- 5 I've always decided / dreamt / planned of visiting Rome.
- 6 As long / provided / sure as you don't drive, I'll come.

ZADANIE

- 6 Do the task below in your notebook.

Wraz z grupą przyjaciół planujesz wycieczkę po zakończeniu roku szkolnego. Podziel się planami wyjazdowymi na szkolnym forum internetowym. W poście:

USEFUL PHRASES

► STR. 338

Expressing confidence

I feel confident that ...

I am (absolutely/pretty) sure/¹ certain that ...

There is no ² doubt (in my mind) that ...

I do not think there can be any/much doubt that ...

It is/seems ³ obvious that ...

Making assumptions

I ⁴ assume that ...

It may ⁵ well be that ...

I would guess that ...

Expressing doubt

I am not a hundred percent sure (about) ...

I am not sure/⁶ convinced that ...

I have some/many ⁷ serious doubts about ...

I am in two minds about ...

It seems ⁸ likely that ...

I would not take that for granted.

- 1 Cycling is environmentally-friendly, inexpensive and relatively quick. However, I'm not convinced that it's the best option for urban travel. To explain why, I will look at the issue in terms of safety and comfort.
- 2 Firstly, it is obvious that cycling is not always safe. In my city, for example, there are very few bike lanes. Moreover, the ones we have are terrible. Either they are on the pavement, forcing cyclists to steer past pedestrians, or there is no barrier separating the bike lane from other vehicles. Consequently, most of the time, cyclists have to ride on the road, often in heavy traffic. There is no doubt that even if you wear a helmet, you risk suffering a serious accident in such conditions.
- 3 I also have some serious doubts about how comfortable cycling is in bad weather. For instance, I am certain most people would prefer to be sitting in a nice warm car, bus or train when it is cold and windy or the rain is pouring down. What is more, if you cycle, you may have to take a change of clothes or shoes. After all, I assume that most people do not want to arrive at work or school in wet clothes, muddy shoes or covered in sweat.
- 4 All in all, it may well be that cycling is suitable when the weather is fine. However, until cities like mine invest more in safe bike lanes, it seems likely that for most people cars or public transport will be a safer and more comfortable option.

- 5 In your notebook, complete the sentences with one word in each gap. Tick the sentences that you agree with and change the ones you disagree with. Then in pairs, compare your answers. Students' own answers

- 1 I am pretty sure our trains are the best in the world.
- 2 I am in two minds about the best way to get to school.
- 3 I would guess that the price of petrol will continue to rise.
- 4 I have some doubts about how green electric cars really are.
- 5 I feel certain that I'll pass my driving test before I am twenty-one.
- 6 There is no doubt in my mind bikes are better than e-scooters.
- 7 I don't think there can be any doubt that air travel is bad for the environment.
- 8 It seems likely that we will stop driving petrol cars soon, but I would not take it for granted.

- 6 In pairs, discuss why more people don't use public transport in Poland. In your notebook, make notes with facts, examples and logical deductions.

Students' own answers

ZADANIE

- 7 Do the task below in your notebook.

Wiele osób podróżuje samochodem nawet wtedy, gdy są dostępne wygodne połączenia transportem publicznym. Napisz rozprawkę, w której przedstawisz swoją opinię na ten temat, uwzględniając czas i koszty podróży.

Wypowiedź powinna zawierać od 200 do 250 słów.

Can we go any faster?

Japan is probably the first country that comes to ¹ ? when we think of the best train journeys. Japanese trains are frequent, punctual and enable passengers to ² ? the majority of destinations in the whole country, including small towns and villages. Obviously, the most famous Japanese trains are the high-speed trains called Shinkansen. They're so fast that the 552-kilometre distance between Tokyo and Osaka only takes them 2.5 hours. Most of us probably ³ ? our trains were so speedy, but for the Japanese it's not enough. They're still improving and expanding their rail network. Currently a new line ⁴ ? between Tokyo and Osaka for the new generation of magnetic trains. Thanks to them the travel time between the cities ⁵ ? reduced to less than an hour by 2045. For most visitors to Japan, travelling on a Shinkansen train is an adventure in itself. ⁶ ? this is not exactly cheap, tourists can buy a special rail pass at a really affordable online price before arriving in Japan. Planning well in advance definitely pays off.

Film location walking tour

🕒 2 hours

In recent years, Dubrovnik in Croatia has gained some fame due to its appearance in numerous films and TV series. If you want to see some of the most popular film locations, then join us on this two-hour walking tour.

The tour starts at a very famous ¹monument – the Aphrodite and Pan Statue. From there, it's only a three-minute walk to our first stop – Fort Lovrijenac. In Game of Thrones, the fort was used as a(n) ²castle where the king and his family lived. We'll spend an hour here.

We will then walk to Pile Gate which is known as the official entrance to the Old Town and where e.g. Robin Hood: Origins was shot. It consists of two doors and two ³bridges, one made of stone, and the second wooden, which could be raised to prevent intruders from entering the city. The Old Town itself is also heavily featured in films, mainly thanks to the various ⁴styles of architecture, including Gothic, Renaissance and Baroque buildings. For example, in The Last Jedi, it acted as the coastal city Canto Bight.

From the Pile Gate, you can enter the city ⁵walls. They were built using stone in the thirteenth century, and they enclosed the whole city. You can see them in many scenes in all the above mentioned productions.

Our tour ends at St Ignatius ⁶church and its impressive main doorway with two large ⁷columns. There are many photo opportunities on the nearby staircase. You will then have a chance to explore the rest of the Old Town on your own.

gig lyrics performances producer rehearsed released tune

Some groups are remembered for their music, but some ... for their scandals. Milli Vanilli were a huge singing duo in the late 80s. They started off in Germany and ¹released their first album All or Nothing in 1988, soon afterward becoming a worldwide singing sensation. Even though most people knew that they weren't giving live ²performances and instead were lip-synching, nobody expected what was about to happen. During one ³gig in 1989, the backing track got stuck and the two 'singers' Rob and Fab ran off the stage. Soon after, someone came forward and claimed he sang all the ⁴lyrics on Milli Vanilli's albums. The group's record ⁵producer confirmed it. The duo had to return all their awards and pay compensation to disappointed fans.

Could it end differently?

Have you ever read a book and thought 'I wish it ended differently,' or 'That character shouldn't have done that'? Do you know that there are books that let you change the ¹plot by deciding what the hero or ²heroine should do? They're called 'gamebooks.' The ³genre originated in the 1930s with the height of its popularity coming in the 80s. Having sold more than 250 million ⁴copies by the end of the twentieth century, the Choose Your Own Adventure book series was one of the most popular at the time.

How does a gamebook work? You read part of the story and, at certain points, you're asked what you want the character to do. Based on your answer, you're taken to a different paragraph or chapter. This means that a book is never read in a(n) ⁵linear way, instead, the reader 'jumps' around the book.

With the appearance of e-books and the Internet, gamebooks have made something of a resurgence in the form of 'interactive fiction'. Publishers are looking for various ways to attract new readers, especially younger ones. However, at present, the most ⁶avid readers prefer to stick to traditional narratives. It will be interesting to see what the future brings for book publishing.

B

From: Aimée To: Tomek

Hi Tomek,
Guess what! I passed the audition! I'm the new singer with Iron Age! We're playing in Queen's Park on May 1st. Then we're going to a recording studio to record a new album. We're going to shoot a music video, too. And in June, we're going on a world tour! Our first concert's in Warsaw and we'll be touring for six weeks in front of huge audiences. I'm so happy! My solo career was going nowhere. You get paid so badly playing in bars and clubs. I even had to go back to performing in the streets for a while. But now money's no problem. I'm going to be a star!

Call me. I'd love to see you after the concert.

Love,

Aimée

Salary of Musicians in the UK

This graph from the UK Office for National Statistics shows the money earned by musicians and singers according to how old they are. The first thing to notice is that, on average, music performers do not earn much. Many fail to reach the UK average salary of about £29,000 per year at any point during their careers. Secondly, artists tend to earn more in their thirties and early forties. Their income drops considerably after that.

Aimée

Musicians play an important role in society. So I think governments should pay us to help promote culture. What do you think?

Jake

Good idea. Do they do that anywhere?

Tomek

They've just introduced a plan in San Francisco to pay musicians $1,000 a month.

Claude

Yeah, I saw that. And in Australia, they offer one-off payments to help you make a record or to go on tour.

Tomek

Scandinavia's good, too. In Norway, the government spends about $50 million a year on music.

Aimée

It makes sense because successful groups and singers earn a lot of money for their countries, right?

- 1 In pairs, discuss the good and bad sides of having a career as a musician or actor. Students' own answers

- Zdaniem Aimée rządy / państwa / rządy państw / władze powinny wspierać muzyków finansowo. tekst D

Pamiętaj, że informacje, których potrzebujesz do uzupełnienia luk, znajdziesz w różnych tekstach. Układ informacji w tekstach A–D nie musi odpowiadać kolejności luk w zadaniu. Uwaga! Czasami potrzebne informacje zawarte są w materiale graficznym, np. na wykresie lub w tabeli.

ZADANIE

- 6 Przeczytaj wiadomość Tomka do Moniki. Uzupełnij luki zgodnie z treścią tekstów A–D tak, aby jak najbardziej precyzyjnie oddać ich sens. Luki należy uzupełnić w języku polskim. W każdą lukę można wpisać maksymalnie trzy wyrazy. Zapisz odpowiedzi w zeszyście.

To: Monika
From: Tomek

Cześć Moniko,

nie uwierzysz, ale Aimée została wokalistką Iron Age! Wkrótce jedzie z zespołem na światowe tournée, które rozpoczną od występu w Warszawie. Aimée napisała, że chce się ze mną spotkać po koncercie. Przed trasą Iron Age nagrywają nowy album. Mam nadzieję, będzie pełen hitów jak ich ¹debiutancki album / pierwszy album / debiut płytowy, którym zdobyli listy przebojów. Ostatnio dowiedziałem się, że w ²Australii można otrzymać jednorazowe wsparcie finansowe na nagranie płyty. Zawsze myślałem, że bycie muzykiem to dobrze płatna praca. Okazuje się jednak, że często jest odwrotnie. Na przykład, połowa brytyjskich muzyków w wieku 40 lat zarabia poniżej ³£25 000 / 25 000 funtów, a w późniejszym okresie życia ich dochody jeszcze maleją. Aimée w przeszłości też miała trudności finansowe. Aby się utrzymać, przez jakiś czas musiała nawet ponownie występować ⁴na ulicy. Teraz oczywiście nie martwi się już o pieniądze.

Miałabyś ochotę zobaczyć Iron Age na żywo?

LIFE SKILLS | Strong and weak arguments

- 9 Should governments support culture financially? In pairs, decide which of these arguments are strong and which are weak. Students' own answers
- Creative industries can make a country money.
 - Taking part in art improves people's mental health and makes society brighter and better.
 - Spending money on culture reduces crime and anti-social behaviour.
 - Some forms of culture cannot make a profit and will die without state aid.
 - By helping culture in our country, we're protecting our history.
- 10 In groups, use the arguments above and your own ideas to discuss if the government in your country should provide more financial help to promote culture and how it could be done. Students' own answers

Maurice Baquet in Chamonix, 1957

Taking centre st(r)a(n)ge

A Usually, professional musicians play indoors on stage in theatres or concert halls or outdoors at music festivals. Other musicians busk on streets, in parks or underground tunnels. However, there is a long tradition of musicians playing music under extreme conditions in very strange places. In 1957, for example, French actor and cellist Maurice Baquet heaved his cello high up into the Alps near Chamonix to perform a concert that was captured on film by his friend, the famed photographer, Robert Doisneau. This tradition of playing music in weird and wonderful places is still very much alive in the twenty-first century.

B A cello in its case with its bow and other accessories weighs about ten kilos. It's not the kind of instrument you want to carry up a mountain. But that's what American cellist Ruth Boden does. Ruth is a classically trained musician who loves rehearsing in the wild. In the short documentary Andante directed by filmmaker Gavin Carver in 2014, we follow Ruth as she treks through Oregon's Wallowa mountains before performing the soothing music of J.S. Bach on a peak at a height of 3,000 metres. This inspiring film is highly recommended. It has a poignant soundtrack that can move you to tears.

C In 2016, composer and pianist Ludovico Einaudi took centre stage while floating in the Arctic Ocean. The critically-acclaimed Italian maestro put on a spellbinding show as he performed his own creation, Elegy for the Arctic, in front of the Wahlenbergreen glacier off the coast of Norway. The aim was to try to bring public attention to the problem of melting ice at the North Pole due to climate change. It was not reported if there were any polar bears in the audience, but if there had been, I'm sure they would have given Einaudi's masterful concerto a standing ovation.

D It's not easy to play the bagpipes marching in a band at the Highland Games, but it's even trickier to strike the right note while falling head-first at 80.5 kilometres-per-hour. That's what piper Roddy Garden did in 2017 when he jumped into the River Garry while playing Scotland the Brave. As a true Scot, he made the extraordinary forty-metre-high bungee jump in his kilt! Amazingly, he managed to keep in tune during his sensational performance and only played a few wrong notes as he was pulled back up. Impressive! But can you imagine the stage fright he must have felt?

ZADANIE

- 1 Przeczytaj podzielony na cztery części tekst oraz pytania do niego. Do każdego pytania 1–5 dopasuj właściwą część tekstu A–D. W jednej części tekstu znajdują się odpowiedzi na dwa pytania. Zapisz odpowiedzi w zeszycie.

In which paragraph does the author ...

Przed dobieraniem zdań do akapitów przeczytaj każdy fragment tekstu uważnie i znajdź w nim kluczowe słowa.

Tłumaczenie fragmentów zdań

TRENING

- Read the tip below. Then decide which option a–c completes sentence 1 correctly and why the other two options are incorrect. For sentence 2, translate the words in brackets into English so that the sentence is logical and grammatically correct. Use up to five words in the gap. Write the answers in your notebook.
 - The theatre director ? (zlecił zbudowanie sceny) by two local carpenters.
 - has had the stage built poprawna odpowiedź
 - has built the stage
Odpowiedź b nie jest tłumaczeniem fragmentu podanego w nawiasie, ponadto po jej wstawieniu zdanie jest niepoprawne gramatycznie.
 - have had the stage built Użyta jest błędna forma czasownika posiłkowego have.
 - She's decided to have her portrait painted (zlecić namalowanie swojego portretu) by a well-known young artist.

Przeczytaj dokładnie zdanie i zastanów się, jaka struktura gramatyczna jest potrzebna, aby w kontekście całego zdania dobrze przetłumaczyć podany w nawiasie fragment. W zdaniu zamkniętym przetłumaczony przez siebie fragment porównaj z odpowiedziami do wyboru. W zadaniu otwartym zawsze podana jest maksymalna liczba wyrazów, które można wpisać w lukę. Po przetłumaczeniu fragmentu zdania sprawdź, czy liczba użytych przez ciebie wyrazów nie przekracza limitu określonego w poleceniu.

Na koniec przeczytaj całość jeszcze raz i sprawdź, czy wybrana odpowiedź pozwoliła utworzyć zdanie, które jest logiczne i poprawne gramatycznie.

- In your notebook, translate the words in brackets into English so that the sentences are logical and grammatically correct. Use up to four words in each gap.
 - All suggestions and comments about the performance can/may be left (można zostawić) on our website listed below.
 - This amazing young musician had a really good start to his career – he was offered (zaoferowano mu) a recording contract at the age of seventeen.

Dobieranie zdań do wypowiedzi

- 1 In pairs, compare your attitudes towards the news. Discuss the questions. Students' own answers
- How interested are you in keeping up with the local, national or international news?
 - How do you access the news – news apps, social media, TV, radio, newspapers?
 - What type of news stories interest you most/least and why?

TRENING

- 2 Read the tip below and statements a–c. In each case, decide what the underlined verb can tell you about the text you will hear. Then listen to the recording and choose which statement is the correct match. Write the answer in your notebook.

The speaker ...

- a expresses his/her views to start a discussion about news reporting.
b suggests that journalists should only report on good news.
c complains about how much bad news there is in the world.

Pamiętaj, by przed wysłuchaniem nagrania uważnie przeczytać wszystkie zdania w zadaniu i zwrócić uwagę na czasowniki wprowadzające (typu suggest, complain, describe czy explain). Podpowiadają one, jakiego typu wypowiedzi możesz się spodziewać.

- 3 Listen to another recording and decide which option (a–e) best describes the speaker's intention. In your notebook, complete the option you've chosen to provide more information about the recording.

The speaker ...

- a gives an explanation ...
b gives an opinion ...
c makes a complaint ...
d makes a suggestion ...
e provides a description ...

Sample answer: The speaker provides a description of the first day of the summer sales in London.

ZADANIE

- 4 Usłyszysz dwukrotnie pięć wypowiedzi na temat mediów. Które zdania A–F pasują do wypowiedzi 1–5? Jedno zdanie zostało podane dodatkowo i nie pasuje do żadnej wypowiedzi. Zapisz odpowiedzi w zeszycie.

The speaker ...

- A briefly introduces three important current news items.
B reports on some findings in a study about news.
C explains why it is important to keep up with the latest news.
D suggests a simple way to improve the TV news.
E shows how much he/she knows about another person's interests.

- 6 In pairs, look at the diagram below based on a survey in the UK. Do you think the situation is similar in Poland? Students' own answers

The most used platforms for news

- 7 In pairs, discuss three opinions expressed in the recordings. Do you agree or disagree? Give reasons for your answers. Students' own answers

- I really only want to hear the good news because there's nothing I can do about the bad news.
- In the present digital age, anyone can create a blog and put an opinion out into the world, where it can go viral without any fact-checking or editing.
- Please, please, please ... stop interviewing politicians! They never answer a question. It's a total waste of time listening to them, and they're all the same.

TRENING

- 1 Read the tip below. Then decide if sentences 1–6 describe facts (F) or opinions (O). Write the answers in your notebook. In pairs, compare your answers. Do you agree with the opinions?
- Personally, my favourite time of year is Christmas, especially when it snows. O
 - It seems to me that people have forgotten the real reason for Christmas and it's become too commercialised. O
 - In a recent survey, 50% of children reported being disappointed with their Christmas presents. F
 - I can't imagine Christmas without roast turkey and all the trimmings. O
 - The upbeat Christmas song Jingle Bells was the first song ever played in space on 16 December 1965 on board a NASA space craft. F
 - In Ukraine, spiders are considered symbols of good luck at Christmas. F

W zadaniu wielokrotnego wyboru może pojawić się pytanie o rozróżnienie faktów i opinii. Fakty czasami są poparte danymi, liczbami lub badaniami. Opinie w nagraniu mogą być poprzedzone wyrażeniami typu Personally, It seems to me itd.

- 2 Listen to a podcast about an Icelandic Christmas tradition. Which of the following are stated in the recording as facts and which as opinions? In your notebook, write F or O.
- Jolabokaflod* began as a result of goods shortage during wartime. F
 - The Icelandic people are able to find creative solutions in times of need. O
 - December is a good time to read a compelling story. O

2 Read the sample task and the model answer above. In your notebook, answer the questions.

- 1 What kind of place does the hip-hop group need?
It must be a place where they can make noise without causing problems. It should be warm. It shouldn't be too expensive.
- 2 Which place does the writer prefer and why?
The writer prefers the recording studio at the university because they would be able to record their music there and it's in the centre of town.
- 3 If you were a member of the hip-hop group, which place would you choose? Why? Students' own answers

TRENING

3 Read the tip below. In the model answer above, find some examples of informal language.

E-mail do przyjaciół to przykład tekstu nieoficjalnego, więc zwróć uwagę na użyte słownictwo i styl listu. Teksty nieoficjalne są zbliżone do języka mówionego, czego przykładem jest nagłówek lub stopka listu (np. Hi guys). Treść e-maila jest bezpośrednia, a zdania krótkie (np. Please help me zamiast I would appreciate your help lub Any other suggestions? zastępujące Have you got any other suggestions?). Możesz użyć form skróconych czasowników (I'm, he's) oraz kolokwialnych słów i zwrotów typu Cool!, Guess what! czy By the way.

Hi guys,

We're not going to get any better unless we find a good place to rehearse.

We need a place where we can be noisy without upsetting anyone. It would be nice if it was warm and dry, too. Oh! And it mustn't cost too much.

So far I've found two possibilities. One is a garage belonging to my uncle. It's out of town and the bus service is terrible but on the plus side, it's free! The other is to hire a studio in the university. The downside is it's quite expensive. However, it is centrally located. Overall, although I can see the benefits of the garage, I'd rather go for the university. The main advantage is it's a recording studio, so we could record our songs there. What's more, we wouldn't have to travel far.

Which place do you guys prefer? Any other suggestions? If so, I'd love to hear them. Come on, let me know and don't be slow!

See you soon,
XYZ

Board: Teens and sport

Liam84

Hi everyone! I'm working on a school project about the positive and negative effects of doing sport. I have to interview at least three people on this topic. Can anyone help me, please? Let me know your experiences and I'll message you with more questions.

AmayaGirl

I can't think of any negative consequences of being active. For me, it's all been positive. I've been doing various forms of sport since I was little and it's always helped me ¹prevent / ^{lose} / keep weight and stay healthy. I regularly go ²on / for / at a jog which helps me ³reduce / cope with / boost stress. Feel free to get in touch. I'm happy to help you with your project.

MasterBlake

Oh, I can tell you about the negative consequences. DM me and we can chat. I'm a professional body builder and have been doing this for the last six years. Sure, it's great to be ⁴as fit as a fiddle / in good shape / short of breath, but when I first started out, I found it difficult to work out more than once a week. I now also have a ⁵recurring injury / muscle strain / pulled muscle which prevents me from training.

FitNicola

Well, I can talk to you about some positive effects of sport. I used to be really unfit and was overweight. My doctor said I needed to ⁶return / get / go back into shape. So I joined a club and started doing aerobics three times a week. I'm now able to ⁷stay / keep / hold pace with the instructor and work ⁸out / at / off all of the day's stress.

BREAKING AT THE OLYMPICS

1 D

In 2020, it was decided that breakdancing (or breaking) would be in the Paris Olympic Games. But not everyone was happy with that decision. Some people said breakdancing wasn't really a sport. How do you decide who comes first if you can't score a goal or a point? How do you decide who wins the gold medal when there's no finishing line to cross?

2 A

However, you could ask the same questions about other sporting events such as gymnastics, fencing, diving and synchronised swimming. Like those long-established Olympic sports, breakdancing has rules and judges. There are five judges who carefully watch the breakdancers as they perform. They give each breaker a score, disqualify competitors who break the rules and, eventually, decide the winners.

3 C

To win an international breaking competition, you must be strong and fit, but breakers don't just train hard and follow routines. They also have to be creative and be able to think quickly and react to their opponents' moves. Since fans started cheering on their favourites in championships around the world in 1990, the most successful countries have been the USA, South Korea and the Netherlands.

4 E

Exciting new sports interest young people. Snowboarding has been an Olympic sport since 1998, the triathlon since 2000, BMXing (Bike Motocross) since 2008. Surfing, skateboarding and sport climbing were all introduced in the 2020 Tokyo Olympics, which took place in 2021 due to the pandemic. So why shouldn't breakdancers compete, too? I think it's a lot more enjoyable than watching someone weightlifting, pole vaulting, throwing a discus or running a marathon.

1 In pairs, answer the questions. Give reasons for your answers. Students' own answers

- 1 What do you know about breakdancing? Do you like watching it?
- 2 Do you think it's easy or hard to do it?
- 3 Do you think it's an art form or a sport?

CULTURE BIT | Breakdancing

The most famous of all the hip-hop dance styles began a lot longer ago than you might think. The first breakdancers, also called B-boys and B-girls, started breaking in the early 1970s on the streets of the South Bronx in New York. That's about fifty years ago! Breakdancing was born when street DJs started mixing parts of dance records so that dancers could show off their talents. They took moves from gymnastics as well as other dance styles such as disco, lindy hop and the Brazilian martial art capoeira. In the 1980s, breakdancing took off in other countries around the world. It has become particularly popular in France and South Korea. Breakdancing is an incredible mix of dancing and athletics, so it's no surprise that it has developed into a competitive sport. The first international breakdancing competition took place in Germany in 1990. It was called the Battle of the Year. In 2018, breakdancing was included in the Summer Youth Olympics in Buenos Aires.

LIFE SKILLS | Understanding arguments

- 7 Look at these arguments in favour of or against breakdancing being an Olympic sport. In pairs, discuss which arguments are supported by reasons or evidence and which ones are emotional.
1 and 4 are based on personal preferences and emotions. 2, 3 and 5 are supported by reasons or evidence.
- 1 It should be an Olympic sport because I really like it and the music is cool.
 - 2 It should be an Olympic sport because it's very popular. It got more attention on social media than any other sport at the 2018 Youth Olympics in Buenos Aires.
 - 3 It should be an Olympic sport because the best breakdancers train hard and the events are just as competitive as other sporting events.
 - 4 It shouldn't be an Olympic sport because I don't know anybody who likes it.
 - 5 It shouldn't be an Olympic sport because it hasn't existed for very long. The first competitive international event was in 1990.
- 8 In groups, decide if you think breakdancing should be an Olympic sport or not. Use logical arguments and provide reasons or evidence for your opinions.

RACING AGAINST TIME

It was the first day of the summer holidays. Mandy had intended to spend all day in bed, but then her ever-so-slightly annoying twin brother

5 Mark burst into her room, pulled open the curtains and with a dazzling smile said, 'Come on, sis, get up. It's a glorious day. Let's make the most of it!'

10 Mandy groaned. No wonder everyone called Mark 'Sparky'. He was as bright as the sun that was shining through the window from the bluest of blue skies.

'Come on! There'll be plenty of time to lie in bed when you're 15 old and grey,' he said.

'What do you want to do?' she asked.

Forty minutes later, the twins were cycling in the country park. They'd both received new racing bikes for their birthday a few days earlier and this was only the second time they'd tried them

20 out. Mark had convinced her they should use the holidays to challenge themselves physically, to get in shape and to increase their stamina and that cycling was just the way to do it. 'What's more, everyone knows aerobic sport helps boost your mood, which is just what a grumpy girl like you needs.'

25 She'd thrown her pillow at his head, but as they cycled through the countryside, Mandy had to admit that her brother had been right. She felt young and full of life.

Mark had set off fast and, even though Mandy suspected it would be wiser for them to pace themselves, she'd forced herself

30 to keep up with him. Inevitably, as soon as they reached the first steep hill, they found it impossible to keep up the pace and even though they changed down to the lowest gear, they began to struggle.

Suddenly, another cyclist overtook them. As he passed them

35 by, he gave them a cheery wave.

'Wow!' said Mark, 'He must be the fittest pensioner on the planet!'

Mandy was so out of breath all she could do was nod. The cyclist looked older than her grandfather.

They stood up on their pedals and tried to catch up, but no matter how hard they pedalled, they couldn't narrow the gap. In 40 fact, the other cyclist kept pulling further ahead. When they reached the summit, red-faced and out of breath, the elderly cyclist was there admiring the view. They dismounted and stood next to him. Mandy told him how impressed she'd 45 been with how easily he'd climbed the hill.

'Easily!' he protested. 'You're kidding! It was murder! When I was your age, I could have done it without breaking sweat, but these days every climb is a challenge.'

'Do you mind if I ask you how old you are?' asked Mandy.

50 'Eighty-five.'

'How long have you been cycling?'

'All my life. I was regional champion three years running when I was young. I went professional and, in 1962, I completed the Tour de France.'

55 The kids' jaws dropped. The Tour de France!

'I still go out cycling every day, but I haven't entered a competition for years. These days, at my age, I only race against time.'

'Do you always cycle on your own?' asked Mandy.

60 The man nodded. His eyes glistened. 'I used to go out with my mate Tommy, but he died last year, so now I go alone.'

Mandy and Mark looked at their feet. They couldn't think what to say.

The man got on his bike, but just as he was about to cycle down the other side of the hill, he turned his head and said, 'Well,

65 are you coming or what?'

The twins glanced at each other and smiled.

B

The Marathon of the Sands

In 1984, a twenty-eight-year-old French music promoter called Patrick Bauer did something extraordinary. He crossed 350 kilometres of the Sahara Desert alone and on foot. His route led him across an uninhabited landscape with no villages or oases, so he had to be self-sufficient. He carried a rucksack weighing 35 kilograms with all the water and food he needed for the journey. It took him twelve days. His adventure was to inspire one of the world's toughest footraces. Two years later, twenty-three athletes took part in the first Marathon des Sables. This seven-day-long ultramarathon takes place in southern Morocco every year. At 250 kilometres, it's the equivalent of six normal marathons. Since it is such a long race, there are frequent medical checkpoints to make sure the runners are fit enough to continue. The organisers provide communal tents and water, but each competitor must carry their own food and other items including a sleeping bag, a head torch, a compass, a whistle, sun cream and an antivenom pump in case of snake bites. The backpacks weigh up to 15 kilograms and it's forbidden to lighten the load by littering. Another problem is the climate. Temperatures often reach 50°C and violent sandstorms can reduce visibility to zero. In 1994, an Italian runner got lost in the desert during a sandstorm. He was discovered in Algeria nine days later and over 160 kilometres off course. Despite these difficulties, it's a popular race with a waiting list to take part. In 2019, 1,200 people signed up for the 34th edition, 800 runners from 52 countries made it to the start line and 752 completed the race. The winner, Moroccan Rachid El Morabity, registered a time of just over 18 hours 31 minutes. The last competitor took over two days longer!

CULTURE BIT | Gender equality at the Paralympics

Given its origins as a way of rehabilitating injured soldiers after the Second World War, it is perhaps understandable that for much of its early history the Paralympic movement was dominated by male athletes. In Sydney 2000, only twenty-five percent of the athletes were female, but by Tokyo 2020 this had already risen to over forty percent. The International Paralympic Committee (IPC) are committed to gender equality, but it is interesting to note that only four out of fourteen IPC own Governing Board members are women.

Jutro bierzesz udział w ważnym wydarzeniu sportowym. W e-mailu do koleżanki:

- przedstaw wydarzenie,
- opisz swoje uczucia i wątpliwości związane z tą imprezą sportową,
- zaproś koleżankę do kibicowania i wyjaśnij, czemu zależy ci na jej obecności,
- wyraż przypuszczenie, co może się wydarzyć podczas imprezy.

Rozwiń swoją wypowiedź w każdym z czterech podpunktów. Długość tekstu powinna wynosić od 100 do 150 słów, nie licząc zdań, które są podane.

- 1 In pairs, tell each other about big sporting events you have either played in or watched.
Students' own answers
- 2 Read the sample task and the model answer above. How optimistic is the writer about the big match? Why does he/she feel that way? Do you usually feel optimistic or pessimistic before a big match?
The writer is not very optimistic because his/her opponent is more experienced and is playing in her home town. However, the writer thinks he/she has a chance because anything can happen in a final. Students' own answers
- 3 Copy the Useful Phrases box into your notebook and complete it with the words from the model answer.

USEFUL PHRASES

► STR. 338

Expressing feelings about the present and future

I have a good feeling / I'm really nervous about ...
I feel quite confident. / I don't feel ¹*too* confident.

Inviting others

Are you free on ...?
Would you ²*like* to (come)? / Do you fancy (coming)?
I'd love it / be ³*delighted* if you could ...
It would be great if you could ...

Making predictions

I've no idea what's going to happen.
⁴*Anything* could happen.
I'm (pretty) sure I'll ... / I suppose I might ...
There's a (good) ⁵*chance* I could ...
I don't have the ⁶*slightest* chance of (winning).
As ⁷*long* as ..., there's a chance I could win.

- 4 Complete the text with one word in each gap. Write the answers in your notebook.

Do you ¹*fancy* coming to the match tomorrow? It would be ²*great* if you were there to support us. I have a really good ³*feeling* about it. As ⁴*long* as the referee is fair, I'm pretty ⁵*sure* we'll win. In fact, I don't think the other team has the ⁶*slightest* chance of beating us.

Hi Cheryl,

Well, it's here at last. The big day.

It's my first big tennis tournament, the regional championships, and I'm playing in the final. I still can't believe it! It's tomorrow at 3 p.m. at the King's Club in Willesden.

I must admit I don't feel too confident. In fact, I'm really worried. My opponent's a lot more experienced than me. And to make things worse, she's the local favourite: she's from Willesden!

I know you love tennis and I need all the support I can get, so would you like to come? I'd be delighted if you were there to cheer me on. I've got some free tickets, so don't worry about the cost.

My brother says I don't have the slightest chance of winning, but I think he's joking. After all, anything could happen in a final! As long as I keep calm, I know there's a chance I can win.

Hope to see you tomorrow,
XYZ

- 5 Think of a sporting event that you are going to take part in or watch in the next month. Then, in groups, invite each other to those events. Respond appropriately to the invitations you receive. Students' own answers
- 6 In pairs, make predictions for and express feelings about the situations below. Students' own answers
What are the chances of ...
1 someone from your school taking part in the Olympic Games in the next ten years?
2 a tennis player from your country winning e.g. Wimbledon or Roland-Garros?
3 your favourite sports team winning a cup or the league this year?
4 a major sports tournament taking place in your town?

ZADANIE

Podczas rocznej przerwy w nauce mieszkasz u swojej rodziny w Wielkiej Brytanii. W najbliższą sobotę idziesz na mecz drużyny piłkarskiej, której kibicujesz. Masz jeszcze jeden wolny bilet. W e-mailu do kolegi:

- wyjaśnij, czemu mecz jest ważny,
- zaproś kolegę na mecz i zachęć go do przyjęcia biletu,
- opisz swoje uczucia związane z meczem i je uzasadnij,
- wyraż przypuszczenie, jaki może być wynik meczu.

Rozwiń swoją wypowiedź w każdym z czterech podpunktów. Długość tekstu powinna wynosić od 100 do 150 słów, nie licząc zdań, które są podane.

Hi Sam,

Great news! I've got tickets for a big match on Saturday.

- 4 In your notebook, rewrite the sentences using the Useful Phrases and the correct form of the words in brackets.
 - 1 To start with, you must realise that not everyone is naturally gifted for sport. (thing / bear)
 - 2 Secondly, you have to consider that sport takes up a huge amount of time. (thing / account)
 - 3 We should definitely be aware that sport often causes injuries. (worth / note)
 - 4 It's important to remember that luck plays a big part in winning and losing. (shouldn't / sight)
 - 5 Finally, it's important to remember that taking part is more important than winning. (least / forget)
 - 6 Firstly, we shouldn't forget that some sports are expensive. (start / notice)
 - 7 Taking all of that into account, it seems clear that sport is good for you. (considering)

Many people enjoy team sports because of the friendship and support they get from teammates. However, many others prefer the freedom of training and competing on their own. Here I discuss the advantages and disadvantages of participating in individual sports.

One thing to bear in mind with individual sports is you can train whenever you and the sports facility you need are free. You are in charge: you don't depend on other people's timetables and you can go at your own pace. Another thing to take into account is that individual sports, especially solitary activities such as cross-country running or swimming provide time to think and peace of mind. Last but not least, individual sports teach you to be self-reliant and how to motivate yourself.

On the other hand, we shouldn't forget that there is less incentive to train and play. There are no teammates relying on you, nobody forcing you to put on your trainers or grab your goggles. Consequently, you may end up training less than you should. Another disadvantage is that you have no teammates to console you when you lose or to celebrate with when you win. It is also worth remembering that some people simply find individual sports boring.

To sum up, individual sports are undoubtedly easier to organise and to take part in. However, they seem more suited to people with a busy work schedule, to those who have no problem self-motivating and to those who enjoy the solitude of competing against themselves.

HEALTH TRENDS FROM AROUND THE WORLD

Every nation has some unusual wellness trend. Some are deeply rooted in a country's culture, whilst others end up being short-lived fads. Here's a rundown of some of our favourite health trends from around the world.

Japan: Otonamaki (Adult wrapping)

Tightly wrapping up a newborn baby in a blanket has proven to make it feel calm and safe. Otonamaki has transferred this concept to adults. Fans of tying up a grown up in a freshly-washed cloth claim that it helps to ¹straighten the body and ease pain in e.g. the back and hip, increasing the body's ²flexibility at the same time. The technique is also supposed to relieve ³tension.

Maldives: Night Spa Ritual

If you suffer from sleep ⁴deprivation, then this trend might be for you. This ritual, offered in one of the hotels on the island, is a 2.5 hour massage in the jungle and a bath in salt water. To round it all off, you get to spend a night in a swinging bed. No ⁵tossing and turning guaranteed!

China: Green tea

What started in Asia is now a health trend all over the world. Drinking green tea is said to have lots of health benefits, from improving your metabolism to increasing your ⁶immunity to infection. Cheers!

I hadn't been feeling well for the last few weeks and, as my parents started to get worried, I decided to ¹consult a doctor. So I called the doctor's office and ²made an appointment.

The doctor was truly concerned about my health. First, she completed an interview where she asked me about my health history. Then she ³examined me thoroughly. She also ⁴took my blood pressure and temperature. She said she couldn't ⁵diagnose me without ⁶running some tests. I have to go to the lab and get these tests done and then go back to see her. But before I left, she ⁷reassured me that it doesn't look serious and she thinks I'm just exhausted from all the studying I've been doing and a lack of sleep.

ADDICTIONS | UZALEŻNIENIA

21 Complete the sentences with the correct form of addict. Write the answers in your notebook.

- Alcohol and drugs are addictive substances and there are no safe quantities.
- Matt was addicted to alcohol, but he was in therapy for a few years and is now sober.
- In Poland, a tenth of the adult population suffers from a(n) addiction to work.
- A new therapy centre has been built for addicts battling drug addiction.

22 Complete the text with the correct form of the words in brackets. Write the answers in your notebook. In pairs, discuss other examples of the type of addiction described in the text. R

Most people associate addiction with alcohol, nicotine or drug abuse. These are called substance addictions. However, it's also possible to exhibit signs of ¹dependency (DEPEND) towards things like work, shopping, video games, etc. These are called ²behavioural (BEHAVIOUR) addictions as individuals engage in ³compulsive (COMPULSION) activities that don't involve substances.

A recent study has revealed that 27,000 Poles over the age of fifteen have become addicted to ⁴gambling (GAMBLE). Most of these people are hooked on the national lottery (27%), then scratch cards (17%) and phone lotteries and competitions.

GO FOR IT

23 In pairs, do the task. Students' own answers

While attending a language course in Scotland, you had a medical problem. You're at the doctor's. Discuss:

- what happened,
- your symptoms,
- what treatments you've already tried,
- the prognosis.

The doctor starts the conversation. Then change roles.

THE FUTURE OF MEDICINE?

The Browns' Christmas party always attracted a crowd. This year was no different and, as usual, Jim was the centre of attention. He was talking about some medical beds he'd seen in science-fiction films. ¹ D To justify that claim, he explained that the beds could give patients a check-up and cure anything from minor health problems like an upset stomach, an injured finger or a twisted ankle to serious, life-threatening conditions like lung cancer or a heart attack.

Jim's audience were fascinated. ² E Could they carry out an operation or give you a blood test? Could they give you an injection or extract a tooth? Could they put a bandage on or put a broken arm in a cast?

Jim nodded. 'Yes, they could do all that. They could help you if you have a disability or if you are allergic to cats, overweight or short-sighted. They could probably even help the blind regain their sight. ³ C So since they would only help patients and not harm them, they'd be perfect.'

Suddenly, a young woman said, 'Nonsense!' It was Jim's brother's new girlfriend, who had been invited to a family dinner for the first time. There was a moment's silence. ⁴ A She smiled and told him, 'A machine could never do all that.'

'Oh, yes?' said Jim. 'And how would you know?' 'I'm a doctor,' she said.

- 1 What do you think of science fiction in novels, series and films? Do you think they can predict the future? Give reasons for your answers. Students' own answers

TRENING

- 2 Read the tip below. Then rewrite the underlined words and phrases so that the sentences in each group continue logically from the first one. Write the answers in your notebook.
- 1 He loves the sound of his own voice. You never feel as if she's he's really listening to what you say to her him.
 - 2 I saw an interesting science-fiction film last week. It will be was about a linguist who will help helped aliens and humans understand each other.
 - 3 At first, I felt fine. What's more However, then I started to feel ill and before after an hour or two I had a temperature. In the beginning end, I had to go to the hospital.

Podczas dobierania zdań do luk w tekście zwróć uwagę na jego spójność i logikę. Sprawdź zgodność zaimków, czasów gramatycznych oraz spójników.

- 5 SŁOWNICTWO Which words complete the sentences correctly? Write the answers in your notebook. Then in pairs, say if the sentences are true for you.
- I sneeze when I'm near cats because I'm allergic / blind.
 - I've never had a broken arm or a disabled / twisted ankle.
 - I think it's great that there are Paralympics for people with disabilities / side effects.
 - One time I got an injured / upset toe playing football.
 - I've had a few life-threatening / minor health problems, but nothing serious.
 - I can eat anything. I never get an overweight / upset stomach.
- 6 SŁOWNICTWO Complete the text with the correct form of the phrases from the box. Write the answers in your notebook.
- carry out an operation extract the tooth give sb a blood test give sb an injection go for a check-up have a heart attack put a bandage on sth regain one's sight

Trevor is a hypochondriac. One time he thought he'd gone blind, but then his wife put the light on and he ¹regained his sight. Another time he thought he was ²having a heart attack, but it was just chest pains because he'd eaten too much chocolate. Last week, he ³went for a check-up at the doctor's. They ⁴gave him a blood test and a full examination, but there was nothing wrong with him. However, on the way out, he fell, cut his head, damaged a tooth and broke an arm. He was worried that they would have to take him to hospital and ⁵carry out an operation. But they just ⁶put a bandage on his head and put his broken arm in a cast. Next week, he has an appointment at the dentist's. He says if they need to ⁷extract the tooth, he wants them to ⁸give him an injection so he won't feel any pain.

CULTURE BIT | Medicine in sci-fi

On board the spaceship in the 2012 film Prometheus, there is a device called a MedPod. This is a completely automated medical station that can diagnose health problems and carry out operations. One year later, in the 2013 science-fiction film Elysium, the technology has moved on. In this film, there are special beds called Med-Bays which can solve any human medical problems. They can scan the patient for illnesses or injuries and then reconstruct broken bones, cure cancer and even reverse the aging process, allowing people to live forever. However, they can't repair any damage to the brain or the central nervous system. Fast forward a few years to 2019 and, in the TV series The Mandalorian, you don't even need to get inside a machine to be cured. When the leading character Mando is seriously injured in a battle, a droid sprays him with Bacta Spray and, instantly, his wounds heal. In a few seconds, he's as good as new.

LIFE SKILLS | Addressing your listeners

- 7 When you speak, especially in public, it's important to think about the knowledge, interests, feelings and opinions of the people you're talking to. In pairs, discuss what's wrong with these messages in these situations. Suggested answers:
- A doctor talking to a six-year-old patient: 'Your respiratory problems are the result of swollen adenoids*.' The doctor should use much simpler language to explain the child's health problem.
 - A patient telling a doctor about a health problem: 'I have a pain here in my chest. I hope it's not a heart problem. It could be, you know, because the heart is located in this part of the body.' It is inappropriate for a patient to tell the doctor basic information about the human body such as where the heart is located.
 - A teenager to a schoolmate with a toothache: 'It's your own fault. I told you not to eat so many sweets.' A teenage schoolmate doesn't want to hear his/her friend criticising him/her as if he/she were an adult.
- *swollen adenoids – obrzęknięte migdałki gardłowe
- 8 In pairs, rewrite the messages in Exercise 7 to make them more suitable for the situation. Write the answers in your notebook. Students' own answers

POLLUTION KILLS

Pollution is bad for your health in more ways than you might imagine.

- A Air pollution is one of the leading causes of premature death and ill health. Studies have shown that about ninety percent of people living in urban areas suffer from health problems due to the air they breathe. Poor air quality causes asthma, bronchitis, leukaemia, cancer and other terminal diseases. It also increases the risk for pregnant women of suffering hypertension (high blood pressure). Consequently, their babies may have lower birth weight, poorer lung development and smaller brains. Amongst older people, air pollution can lead to cardiac arrest, strokes and neurological disorders such as Parkinson's, Alzheimer's and other types of dementias.
- B When you breathe, eat or drink water, you're also consuming tiny plastic particles. One study estimates that we consume about 5 grams of microplastics every week (as much as a credit card!). It's not yet clear how dangerous they are, but we know microplastics contain chemicals that cause all sorts of disorders from hearing problems to cancer. They can interfere with our hormones leading to obesity and reducing fertility in both men and women. As well as weakening our reproductive systems, they also harm our immune and nervous systems. They may even cause brain damage.
- C Pollution causes global warming, which has allowed some viruses spread by mosquitoes to emerge in countries where they were previously unknown, for example, the West Nile virus in the USA. The majority of infections cause no symptoms, but about one person in five runs a fever or has a splitting headache, vomiting or a rash. In fewer than one percent of cases, the virus affects the nervous system causing severe illnesses, such as meningitis or encephalitis (inflammation of the brain). In those cases, it can take months to make a full recovery and about one in ten people dies.
- D Man-made climate change has been shown to cause extreme weather events and natural disasters such as hurricanes, floods, heat waves and forest fires, even in areas where they never occurred before. Apart from the physical problems that these traumatic events may cause, they can also damage our mental well-being. Even people with no history of mental illness can suffer anxiety, sleep disorders and chronic stress as a result of living through such frightening experiences. People who are forced to leave their homes as a consequence of these disasters are even more likely to suffer from post-traumatic stress disorders.

Podczas dobierania zdań lub pytań do tekstu, poszukaj w każdym akapicie tej samej treści wyrażonej innymi słowami bądź przykładów jakiegoś zjawiska.

ZADANIE

- 1 Przeczytaj podzielony na cztery części tekst oraz pytania do niego. Do każdego pytania 1–5 dopasuj właściwą część tekstu A–D. W jednej części tekstu znajdują się odpowiedzi na dwa pytania. Zapisz odpowiedzi w zeszycie.

In which paragraph does the author ...

TRENING

1 Read the tip below. In your notebook, complete each pair of sentences with one word.

- Mary's GP allowed her to go back to work on condition that she would try to avoid stress.
Two people are in a critical condition after a major car accident in Brighton yesterday.
- After the consultation, the doctors decided to carry out the operation immediately.
Could you help me carry the suitcase? My arm is still a bit sore.

Przed wypełnieniem luk w zadaniu otwartym typu set leksykalny przeczytaj oba zdania i zdecyduj, jaką częścią mowy jest wyraz, którego potrzebujesz. Jeśli wiesz, jakim wyrazem uzupełnić jedno ze zdań, wstaw go do drugiego zdania i sprawdź, czy ma ono sens i jest poprawne. Pamiętaj, że odpowiedź musi poprawnie uzupełniać oba zdania.

2 Read the tip below. In your notebook, complete each set of three sentences with one word.

R

- Grey matter is responsible for many of our brain's functions, including sensory perception and muscle control. She started reading an article about obsessive-compulsive disorder in a medical journal, but the subject matter was much too complicated for her. Ever more scientists think that discovering a complete cure for cancer is just a matter of time.
- Tom's mother has finally made a full recovery after spending over two months in hospital. The junior doctor was full of apprehension before performing his first operation. The car accident happened close to the school building in full view of the parents dropping off their children.

Jeśli na początku nie wiesz, jakim wyrazem uzupełnić zdania, skoncentruj się tylko na jednym z nich i wypisz wszystkie wyrazy, które według ciebie mogłyby je poprawnie uzupełniać. Zrób to samo dla pozostałych dwóch zdań, a następnie znajdź wyraz, który się powtarza wśród możliwych odpowiedzi. Wstaw go jeszcze raz do wszystkich trzech zdań i sprawdź, czy mają one sens.

3 In your notebook, match the words from the box to the pairs of expressions. The same word should complete both expressions correctly. Then write sentences with these expressions.

PRZYKŁADOWE ZADANIE I MODELOWA WYPOWIEDŹ

Niedawno zmieniłeś/zmieniłaś swój styl życia na zdrowszy. Podziel się swoimi doświadczeniami z czytelnikami bloga. We wpisie:

- wyjaśnij powody zmiany swoich nawyków,
- opisz wprowadzone zmiany oraz to, jak się teraz czujesz,
- udziel czytelnikom ogólnych rad na temat zdrowia,
- opisz problem zdrowotny, który się u Ciebie właśnie pojawił, i poproś czytelników o radę.

Rozwiń swoją wypowiedź w każdym z czterech podpunktów. Długość tekstu powinna wynosić od 100 do 150 słów, nie licząc zdań, które są podane.

- 1 In your notebook, make a short list of things that you do that are good and not so good for your health. Then in pairs, compare your lists. Students' own answers
- 2 Read the sample task and the model answer above. In pairs, say how useful you think the advice in the blog post is. How easy do you think it is for people to change their unhealthy lifestyles? Students' own answers
- 3 Read the Useful Phrases. Which phrases appear in the model answer?

Recently, I changed my lifestyle. It wasn't easy, but it was worth it!

I used to sit about too much, I hardly did any exercise and I had a terrible diet. Then one day, I realised how unfit I was and decided to change.

I cut out cola, cakes and sweets and replaced them with water and fresh fruit. After that, I began to walk to school and to take the stairs instead of the lift.

Then I joined a gym and started doing a lot of sport.

Now I feel stronger and happier and find it easier to concentrate.

If you want to be healthy, you definitely shouldn't eat junk food. You should drink plenty of water and get regular exercise. A useful tip is to get up from your desk once an hour and do some exercise for five minutes.

Unfortunately, I hurt my neck when I was working out yesterday. It's really painful. What advice would you give me?

- 4 In pairs, give each other advice for a healthy lifestyle using the prompts below and the Useful Phrases. Students' own answers

1 eat / drink

2 sport / exercise

3 sleep / bedtime

4 TV / phones / computers

5 hobbies / free time

6 run / swim

- 5 In pairs, think back to the answers you gave in Exercise 1. Then give each other advice on how to be healthier. Students' own answers

TRENING

- 6 Read the tip below. Find different phrases the author of the model answer on page 198 used to avoid beginning every sentence with the pronoun I.

We wpisze na blog używaj krótkich zdań i akapitów, aby tekst był łatwiejszy w odbiorze, a jego przekaz jasny. Zwróć także uwagę na to, by unikać powtórzeń, np. rozpoczynaj kolejne zdania od różnych słów (a nie zawsze od zaimka I). Tekst powinien też być interesujący dla czytelników, np. zawierać ciekawą historię.

- 7 In your notebook, rewrite this text so that the sentences are shorter, there is no repetition and not every sentence begins with the pronoun I.

Sample answer:

Yesterday, I had a terrible time at the doctor's. Whenever I go there, I feel nervous and I often start shaking. It's because every time I see someone wearing a white coat, I feel strange. It happens to me at the chemist's, too. Although I told my parents that I didn't need to see the doctor, they made me go because I was coughing and sneezing a lot. As soon as I went inside, I saw someone in a white coat and I fainted. Fortunately, my mum caught me before I fell so I didn't get hurt. After a minute or so, I woke up. I felt really strange. The doctor examined me and asked some questions. It turned out that I have an allergy. Now I have to take some medicine every day. I don't mind as long as I don't have to go back to the doctor's again.

I had a terrible time yesterday because I had to go to the doctor's and I hate going to the doctor's because whenever I go to the doctor's I feel really nervous and sometimes I even start shaking. I don't understand why I'm so nervous when I go to the doctor's, but every time I see someone wearing a white coat, even when I'm at the chemist's, I feel nervous and my stomach feels funny. I told my parents I didn't want to go to the doctor's and that I felt alright really, but they didn't listen to me and they told me to get into the car and then they drove me to the doctor's. I was coughing and sneezing a lot, so that's why they made me go to the doctor's even though I didn't want to go. I got out of the car and went into the clinic and then I saw someone wearing a white coat and I fainted. I didn't hurt myself because my mum caught me before I fell, but I was unconscious for about a minute. I woke up after about a minute and I felt really strange, but they carried me in to see the doctor and he examined me and he asked me some questions and he said I had an allergy, so now I have to take some medicine every day. I don't mind taking medicine every day as long as I don't have to go back to the doctor's again.

LIFE SKILLS | Successful teamwork

- 8 When you work in a team, it's important to ask for, listen to and react politely to your teammates' ideas. Which of these phrases are appropriate when you're working in a team? Why? / Why not?
1, 3, 6, 7, 9, 10 and 12 are suitable because they encourage cooperation. 2, 4, 5, 8 and 11 are unsuitable because they are impolite and would lead to conflict rather than collaboration.
- 1 What do you all think we should do?
 - 2 I know what to do, so listen to me.
 - 3 One thing we could do is write down our ideas.
 - 4 That's a terrible idea.
 - 5 You never have any good ideas.
 - 6 That's an interesting idea, but how about doing this instead?
 - 7 I'm not sure what to do. What would you do if you were me?
 - 8 I'm lost and you lot are no help at all.
 - 9 Have you any other useful ideas?
 - 10 I can see why you suggested that, but I wouldn't recommend doing it because I don't think it would work.
 - 11 You're not making any sense. I've no idea what you're talking about.
 - 12 I'm not sure what you mean. Could you explain that in more detail?
- 9 In groups, agree on a list of ten healthy lifestyle choices for students in your school. In your discussion, use the Useful Phrases and the phrases in Exercise 8. Then write down ten suitable tips and compare them with the rest of the class. Students' own answers

- 5 Complete the text with the words from the box. There are two extra words. Write the answers in your notebook. In pairs, discuss if you have ever conducted similar experiments.

consists contains evaporate freezes liquid melts react states

One of the most popular scientific experiments that children do at school is the 'ice cream float' experiment. It's used to teach the ¹*states* of matter (solid, ²*liquid* and gas), but it also shows how different chemicals ³*react* with each other.

What you need to do is put a portion of ice cream into a tall glass and then add a sparkling drink (like cola, for example). As the drink is poured, the ice cream ⁴*melts* and lots of foam appears. Why does this happen? Well, ice cream ⁵*contains* lots of air bubbles and the drink ⁶*consists* of carbon dioxide. When the two come into contact, the carbon dioxide helps to free the bubbles that are in the ice cream.

How to write a post

Our platform makes it really easy to write, edit and publish blog posts. Just follow these steps.

- Log into the admin area by typing your username and password. If you've forgotten it, follow the prompts to get a new one.
- Once you're in the admin panel, click the 'add new post' icon. A new window will open. This is where you will create your post.
- In the 'Title' section, write the title of your post. Then scroll down to the section where it says 'Start typing.' Place your cursor there and start typing your post.
- You don't have to save your post as you write as the platform will do it for you every few seconds. Don't worry, you won't lose your document as the platform has good back-up systems.
- If you want to attach a photo or a file, just click on the 'Add media' button. A new window will pop up that will let you find and add a file directly from your computer's hard drive.
- If you're happy with your post, all you need to do is select 'Publish'. Now everyone will be able to see your post on your website.

R

alerts characters disclose encounter firewall identity leak phishing piracy precautions scams

Finding out that someone has stolen your personal information is not something we ever want to hear. But there are some simple safety ¹*precautions* you can take to protect yourself from ²*identity* theft.

- Be smart when using online banking services. Never do it on a public computer and make sure your own computer is behind a(n) ³*firewall* which stops anyone from the outside accessing your information.
- Create 'strong' passwords. They should have at least eight ⁴*characters* and contain uppercase and lowercase letters, numbers and symbols. Set up security questions that nobody will be able to answer. And ensure you never ⁵*disclose* this information to anyone.
- Closely monitor all of your online accounts, whether it's your bank accounts, shopping or food delivery accounts. Never ignore any security ⁶*alerts* or suspicious activity.
- Be wary of Internet ⁷*scams*, a type of cybercrime that uses the Internet to trick people into giving away their money and personal information.
- Never reply to emails requesting your personal details, like your date of birth, national insurance number, bank account number, etc. These emails look like they've come from a trusted source, like your bank for example, but they're ⁸*phishing* emails, designed to steal your personal and financial information.
- Most importantly, use your common sense. Never do online anything that you wouldn't do offline. And if you ⁹*encounter* a problem, call your bank or the police immediately.

- 22 Complete the questions with the correct prepositions. Write the answers in your notebook. Then in pairs, ask and answer the questions.

- 1 How often (if ever) do you back up your files so as not to lose anything?
- 2 What do you do when your computer or other devices freeze up and nothing works?

A SOCIAL MEDIA USERS AROUND THE WORLD IN JANUARY 2021

- 1 How many hours a day do you spend online? What do you do? What devices do you use? Students' own answers

TRENING

- 2 Read the tip below. Then read the text and do the task. Write the answers in your notebook.

Everyone knows I'm not the kind of person who enjoys shopping, so it took me ages to make up my mind to change my phone. My old one was really out of date. It didn't have enough memory for all the new apps that are out there and the battery was so old I had to recharge it two or three times a day. Finally, I got a new one. It cost a fortune, but I'm delighted with it. I must say it was worth every penny. It's absolutely brilliant!

Suggested answers:

Find ...

- a fact about David's old phone. it was out of date / it didn't have enough memory / he had to charge it two or three times a day
- David's general opinion about the new phone. it's absolutely brilliant / it's worth every penny
- a fact about David. he doesn't enjoy shopping

Podczas dobierania zdań do tekstów czasem trzeba odróżnić fakty od opinii. Te ostatnie są czasami wprowadzane słowami lub zwrotami I think/believe, I must say, I'd say, In my view/opinion, I have no doubt that, My (first) impression is, As far as I'm concerned itd. Zawierają również przymiotniki takie jak terrible, awful, the worst, not too bad, brilliant, fantastic lub great. Zdania przedstawiające fakty z reguły nie zawierają przymiotników wyrażających opinię bądź powyższych zwrotów.

B Does Too Much Tech Harm Your Brain?

Some research has demonstrated that using technology too much can cause unhappiness and problem behaviour. However, a new study carried out by the Oxford Internet Institute suggests the increase in use of technology is not leading to a rise in mental health problems. The researchers investigated the tech habits of over 430,000 British 10–15-year-olds. The results seem to prove that although kids today use social media and electronic devices a lot more, the connection between social media use and mental health problems is slightly weaker now than it was in 2010.

ZADANIE

- Why did David take a long time to buy a new phone?
Because he doesn't like shopping.
 - What is his new phone like?
It's expensive but very good.

Uważnie przeczytaj pytania i upewnij się, że je rozumiesz. Nawet jeśli nie wszystko w pytaniu jest zrozumiałe, znajdź kluczowe słowa i następnie poszukaj zbliżonych słów i zwrotów w każdym tekście. Poszukiwana odpowiedź zazwyczaj znajduje się tuż po kluczowych słowach w tekście lub tuż przed nimi. Po zapisaniu odpowiedzi sprawdź, czy jest prawidłowo napisana.

Help!

I'm a digital addict. My fingers itch when they don't have a phone, a gamepad or another gadget to hold. My ears feel strange when I'm not wearing a headset.

I read every text message as soon as I receive it. I even dream that I'm texting. I type and I swipe and I scroll in my sleep. I press invisible buttons on the table at breakfast. I browse the Internet when walking in the park. I panic when I can't find my phone charger. I sit on the floor near a socket so I can keep using my phone when the battery is dead. And the battery life of every electronic device I own is always too short. What can I do?

suzyQtee

Stop worrying about it. It's normal. You're a digital native. I don't believe that social media and gaming are any worse than sitting in front of a TV with a remote control in your hand. In fact, they're better, more active.

dooRsfK8

No way! To my mind, scrolling through social networking sites is passive. It's junk food for your brain. Most social media is empty, brainless rubbish.

3bcgmeT

I partly agree. My impression is that most people who chat or post photos or videos are wasting their time, but on the other hand, there are lots of things you can do online to develop your mind.

ZADANIE

- 5 Odpowiedz na pytania 1–4 zgodnie z treścią tekstów A–D tak, aby jak najbardziej precyzyjnie oddać ich sens. Odpowiedzi należy udzielić w języku angielskim. Zapisz odpowiedzi w zeszytach.

- What percentage of users access social media on their phones? 98.8%
- What was the objective of the Oxford study?
To examine/study the connection between social media use and mental health.
- How does RobbieMcK53 react when he can't use his phone? He panics, he moves his fingers involuntarily, he even dreams he's on his phone.
- Why does suzyQtee think RobbieMcK53's problem is nothing to worry about?
Because spending time on social media and gaming is better than watching TV.

- 6 SŁOWNICTWO Complete the questions with words from texts A–D. The first letter of each word has been given. Write the answers in your notebook. Then in pairs, ask and answer the questions.

- Do you know what all the buttons on your TV's *r*emote control do?
- Have you found any good websites when you were *b*rowsing the web recently? Which was the best one?
- Do you know any *d*igital addicts? How do you know they're addicted?
- On your phone, do you *s*wipe up or down to access your notifications panel?

- How good is the *b*attery life on your phone?
- How many fingers do you use when you type or *t*ext? What about your parents?

- 7 In pairs, answer the questions. Students' own answers

- Do you ever do any of the things that RobbieMcK53 describes in his post, e.g. do your fingers itch when you haven't got a device to hold?
- How big a problem do you think digital addiction is in society?

LIFE SKILLS | Social media addiction

- 8 Look at these tips to avoid getting addicted to social media and choose the three most practical ones for you. Students' own answers

- allow yourself a maximum of X hours a day
- don't worry about your posts
- delete apps you don't need
- spend a whole day without your phone
- don't switch your phone on until after breakfast
- turn off notifications
- leave your phone in another room when you go to bed
- establish a timetable so you only use social media at specific times

- 9 In groups, agree on a list of four top tips to avoid digital addiction. Use the tips above and your own ideas. Then compare with other groups and give reasons for your choices. Students' own answers

WHEN THE EXPERTS GET IT WRONG

Experts usually know what they're talking about, but when they try to predict the future, they don't always get it right.

In 1876, a groundbreaking invention to facilitate communication was revealed in Philadelphia, USA. It was the world's first telephone transmitter. ¹ B Sir William Preece claimed that although the Americans might need the telephone, the British did not because they had plenty of messenger boys.

In the same year, 1878, the Paris Exhibition presented the wonders of electricity. ² E He said, 'When the Paris Exhibition closes, electric light will close with it and no more will be heard of it.' Fortunately, that prediction was wrong.

In 1895, another British scientist got it wrong. The brilliant physicist Lord Kelvin, the man who formulated the first two laws of thermodynamics, denied the possibility of man-made flight. 'Heavier-than-air flying machines are impossible,' he said. Just eight years later, the Wright brothers proved him wrong.

Of course, it is not just the British who have made inaccurate predictions. ³ C He asked how a wooden ship could possibly sail with a fire under its deck.

Even the greatest make mistakes. Albert Einstein was undoubtedly a genius. He conducted some of the most important scientific research in history, developed the theory of relativity and made huge contributions to quantum mechanics. ⁴ A It might have been better if he had been right. Not long afterwards the atom was split and the atomic bomb and radioactive contamination became a reality.

Computer science has inspired many incorrect predictions. In 1977, tech executive Ken Olsen claimed he could see no reason why anyone would want a computer in their home. As you can see, it's not easy to predict the future. However, it is fun to try. So here are my predictions. Which do you think might be wrong?

First, we'll never be able to use wormholes to cross space. Second, human beings will never be grown inside test tubes. One day, we'll be able to improve our sight so we can see like eagles, but we'll never have contact lenses that let us see the future.

ZADANIE

1 Przeczytaj tekst, z którego usunięto cztery zdania. Które zdania A–E uzupełniają luki 1–4, tworząc spójny i logiczny tekst? Jedno zdanie zostało podane dodatkowo i nie pasuje do żadnej luki. Zapisz odpowiedzi w zeszycie.

- A But, in 1932, he rejected the argument that nuclear fission was possible. He claimed that we would never be able to control and use nuclear energy.
- B However, two years later, the chief engineer of the British Post Office, rejected this new telecommunications device.
- C In the early 19th century, French leader Napoleon Bonaparte simply refused to believe that boats could be powered by steam engines.
- D For example, it is often said that no one ever discovers or invents something on their own. As Newton said, we are all 'standing on the shoulders of giants'.
- E Surprisingly, the famous British surgeon Erasmus Wilson was not convinced that the new invention would replace gaslight and candles.

2 SŁOWNICTWO Complete the questions below with the words from the box. There is one extra word. Write the answers in your notebook. Then in pairs, ask and answer the questions.

W zadaniu na dobieranie i przekształcanie wyrazów testowanych jest zawsze kilka różnych części mowy. Przed uzupełnieniem luk przeczytaj tekst i zastanów się, jaka część mowy powinna się znaleźć w każdej z nich. Przeanalizuj wyrazy z ramki pod kątem tego, jakie możesz z nich utworzyć części mowy. Pamiętaj, że każdy wyraz użyty w tekście musi zostać we właściwy sposób przekształcony. Jeśli luka ma zostać uzupełniona czasownikiem, zwróć uwagę na jego właściwą formę. Po wstawieniu nowo utworzonych wyrazów w luki przeczytaj tekst jeszcze raz i sprawdź, czy cały tekst jest spójny i logiczny. W zadaniu tego typu bardzo ważna jest poprawna ortografia. Każdy błąd ortograficzny wpływa na ogólną ocenę zadania.

HOLIDAY WITHOUT A MOBILE PHONE?

The mobile phone is one of today's most popular electronic devices. It's ¹unbelievable how quickly this little device has become such a huge part of our lives. We need it everywhere, including on holiday, to take photographs, contact our friends and post messages on social media. Using our phone, however, could mean we are missing out on everything that we've gone on holiday to enjoy. Psychologists agree that what makes us experience positive emotions during a holiday is our ²interaction with other people. By spending time together and talking to each other, we can improve our relationships, which is the shortest way to increase our ³happiness. But modern technology can be a big distraction here. Conversations which are constantly ⁴interrupted by the beeps and ringtones of our phones are never going to be deep or long. Our friends will feel annoyed or unimportant and ignored. Could a phone-free holiday help avoid these problems? Yes, definitely! So before you go, pack your suitcase but leave your mobile behind!

Teen inventor awarded prestigious title

At the age of fifteen, Gitanjali Rao ¹was awarded 'Kid of the Year' as one of several thousand candidates for the title awarded in 2020 by Time magazine. This American teenager has been into science ever since she received a chemistry set when she was a few years old. It was Gitanjali's natural ²curiosity about the world that pushed her to investigate the things around her. One of the problems she wanted to solve was that of cyberbullying. She created an app and browser extension called Kindly, which filters messages for potential bullying content. Gitanjali believes the app can ³lower the risk of unintentional bullying by giving teenagers the possibility of reflecting on what they have written. Another invention of Gitanjali's is TETHYS, an app which can notify mobile phone users on lead content in drinking water. The idea was born when Gitanjali learnt about the problem with water pollution in Michigan. She found the idea of people drinking unsafe water totally ⁴unacceptable and decided to do something about it.

Dobieranie zdań do wypowiedzi

- 1 Look at the diagram showing daily smartphone usage in the United States. In pairs, discuss whether you think your own usage is similar. Then answer the questions.

Students' own answers

- How soon after waking up do you check your phone?
- What is the longest time you have spent without your phone?
- In what situations is it not OK to check or use your phone?

TRENING

- 2 Read the tip below. Then listen to two texts on the topic of smartphones and make notes in your notebook.

W zadaniu na dobieranie podczas słuchania każdego tekstu warto zadać sobie trzy pytania:

- 1 Kto mówi?
- 2 Do kogo się zwraca?
- 3 Jaki jest cel wypowiedzi?

Zanotuj odpowiedzi na te pytania, a następnie porównaj je ze zdaniem do dopasowania.

- 3 Based on your notes in Exercise 2, match sentences a–d to text 1 or text 2. Write the answers in your notebook. Then listen again and check your answers.

This person ...

- a talks about a recent experience. 1
- b instructs people how to get rid of something responsibly. 2
- c expresses concern about a change in someone's behaviour. 1
- d identifies a common problem and gives some useful advice. 2

ZADANIE

- 4 Usłyszysz dwukrotnie pięć wypowiedzi na temat telefonów komórkowych. Które zdania A–F pasują do wypowiedzi 1–5? Jedno zdanie zostało podane dodatkowo i nie pasuje do żadnej wypowiedzi. Zapisz odpowiedzi w zeszyty.

The speaker ...

- A talks about his/her embarrassment in certain situations.
- B reports on an official decision about the use of mobile phones.
- C tries to persuade people to try out a new product.
- D shows their disappointment that phones aren't used more in education.
- E gives a detailed description of his/her phone.
- F shows his/her frustration about not being able to contact somebody.

- 1 What is the most useful electronic device you own?
 - 2 When was the last time you had an automatic system upgrade on your phone?
 - 3 Have you ever cracked the screen on your phone?
 - 4 How have smartphones transformed the way people live and behave?
 - 5 Which was a bigger technological breakthrough: the creation of mobile phones or laptops?
- 6 In pairs, ask and answer the questions in Exercise 5. Is your smartphone your most treasured possession? Why? / Why not?

Exercise 2

Suggested answers:

Text 1

- 1 a young woman
- 2 a friend
- 3 The speaker wants to chat about a mutual friend's unusual behaviour.

Text 2

- 1 a radio presenter
- 2 listeners
- 3 Discuss what to do with old phones.

- 1 If you could stay at a certain age without getting older, what age would you choose? Students' own answers

TRENING

- 2  Listen to a news report about a recent scientific finding. In your notebook, answer questions 1 and 2. What are the implications for humans?

- 1 Mice which were given an extra quantity of the protein
 (a) lived a third longer than normal mice.
 b recovered better from all serious illnesses except cancer.
 c seemed younger, but not as lively as other mice.
- 2 In the report, which of the following is stated as a fact, not an opinion?
 a Mice which have been given the protein are stronger than other mice.
 b The protein is an effective means of curing illnesses in humans.
 (c) At the moment, an average European can expect to live into their late seventies.

Humans might be able to live longer and treat serious diseases better.

- 3  Read the tip below and listen again. Note down synonyms in the news report for all the underlined words and expressions in the questions in Exercise 2.

Exercise 3

extra quantity – boosted dose live a third longer – a thirty percent increase in life expectancy recovered ... from – (were able to) overcome serious illness – life-threatening diseases seemed younger – appeared more youthful stronger – less frail an effective means – a useful tool at the moment – currently expect to live – average life expectancy

Słowa kluczowe w zadaniu wielokrotnego wyboru często są synonimami słów i zwrotów użytych w nagraniu. Przykładowo: w zadaniu możesz przeczytać an extra quantity, a w nagraniu usłyszysz a boosted dose. Podczas słuchania skup się na znaczeniu tekstu, a nie na poszczególnych wyrazach, które w nagraniu mogą się nie pojawić.

ZADANIE

- 4  Usłyszysz dwukrotnie trzy teksty. Które z podanych odpowiedzi A–C lub A–D są właściwe i zgodne z treścią nagrań? Zapisz odpowiedzi w zeszycie.

Text 1

- 1 In the conversation, which of the following is stated as a fact, not an opinion?
 A Thirty is the optimum age to be.
 B It is impossible to distinguish between young worms and old worms.
 (C) Investment into genetic engineering research is increasing.

Text 2

- 2 The student is visiting Dr Cruz in order to
 (A) sign up for a controlled experiment.
 B discuss Dr Cruz's latest research.
 C find out if cold baths will help him live longer.

Text 3

- 3 The speaker says that

- A his company knows how to reverse the aging process in some organisms.
 B people don't have to die of illnesses such as cancer.
 C people want to live longer and healthier lives.
 (D) future generations will probably be able to live forever.

- 4 The scientists working for the speaker's company should

- (A) be ready to challenge conventional viewpoints.
 B have experience working in start-ups and well-established companies.
 C not share data with other companies.
 D remember that it's impossible to do science without good data.

- 5 The company offers grants and internships to

- (A) encourage a wider variety of young people to become scientists.
 B ensure that young women get the same opportunities as young men.
 C attract young recruits who want to make a difference in the world.
 D give opportunities to young people who don't study science subjects.

- 6 The main purpose of this talk is to

- A inform students in detail about all the scientific research the company does.
 B explain how it might be possible for humans to live forever.
 (C) recruit young people to join the company.
 D show students how they can live healthy, illness-free lives.

- 5 SŁOWNICTWO In your notebook, add a word from the box to complete a third strong collocation from the recordings.

Although ICT (Information and Communication Technology) seems obvious to some people, it can often be confusing to others.

They might not know how to download programs, install applications or manage their files and folders.

Learning new things is difficult and it gets harder as you get older. After all, our grandparents are not digital natives, so it's not surprising they often struggle with ICT.

For example, there was no storage space available on my gran's phone. She'd never uploaded any images or videos to another device. I showed her how to delete images and helped her install a program to move files to her computer.

People dislike showing they don't know things, so it's important to be careful when helping them with technology. First, be sure not to speak too fast. Then remember to avoid technical language. It's not a good idea just to sort their problem. It's better to show them how to do it themselves. If that doesn't work, try writing down instructions. Hope this helps!

Students' own answers

- Which of the science careers sounds more interesting to you? Why?
- Can you think of any more advice for someone who wants to be a scientist?

- 2 Copy the Useful Phrases box into your notebook and complete it with words from the model text.

USEFUL PHRASES

► STR. 338

Give guidance with conditions

If you aim to work in science, you ¹*must* study Mathematics.

²*Even* for biologists, it's essential.

If we were to reduce class sizes, students would enjoy science more.

As/So long as you revise enough, you'll pass your exams.

³*Unless* you're certain what you want to do, don't specialise too soon.

On condition that you learn the formulas, you'll pass Chemistry.

⁴*Providing*/Provided (that) you learn English, you'll be able to understand most scientific papers.

Given that you passed Chemistry and Physics, maybe you should study Science at university.

⁵*Supposing* you don't want to go to university, you can still work in science.

Assuming you learn the right skills, you could become a scientist.

► GRAMATYKA | ZDANIA WARUNKOWE, STR. 312

It's not all white coats and test tubes

The stereotypical image of a scientist is a shy introvert carrying out experiments in a laboratory. But not all scientists wear white coats and handle test tubes. A science degree can lead to many exciting career paths.

You could be a modern-day Indiana Jones: a professor of archaeology uncovering ancient ruins in exotic places. Or you could become an environmentalist and help save the planet by studying climate change in the Antarctic. Or what about a police scientist finding clues in crime scenes like in the movies? You might become a geologist studying earthquakes or volcanoes, a physicist solving the secrets of nuclear fusion or a zoologist filming nature documentaries in the Amazon rainforest or the African savannah.

If you aim to work in science, you must study Mathematics, 'the queen of the sciences' (to quote Jan Śniadecki). Even for biologists, it's essential to work with statistics. Secondly, you should develop analytical and critical thinking skills for observing, making hypotheses and experimenting, as well as for keeping up to date with the latest research. Unless you're certain what you want to do, don't specialise too soon. Study the basics of Chemistry, Physics and Biology first. And learn English. Providing you have a good level, you'll be able to understand most scientific papers.

Finally, supposing you don't want to go to university, don't worry: you can still work in science. You don't require a degree to become a lab technician. However, you may need to wear a white coat and handle test tubes.

- 3 Which words or phrases complete the sentences correctly? Write the answers in your notebook.

- You can go out given / on condition that you finish your Biology homework.
- If / Unless you pay attention, you won't know what to do.
- Assuming* / Even if the science exhibition is still open, we could visit it.
- Given* / Provided that you are not great at Maths, maybe you shouldn't study Science.
- Supposing* / Unless you are at an altitude of 2,000 metres, water will boil at about 93°C.
- Algebra is hard, even for / so long as people who are good at Maths.
- If she were to explain the concept again, I will / would understand it better.

ZADANIE

- 4 Do the task below in your notebook.

Wielu uczniów uważa, że przedmioty ścisłe są nudne i skomplikowane. Napisz artykuł na szkolną stronę internetową, opisujący częste przyczyny niechęci do tych przedmiotów oraz przedstawiający sposoby na ich uatrakcyjnienie i zainteresowanie nimi młodych ludzi.

Wypowiedź powinna zawierać od 200 do 250 słów.

When the Roman Empire collapsed in approximately 395 CE, the brilliant innovations of the ancient Romans did not ¹*disappear* with them. Thousands of years later, their ²*inventions* and technologies continue to influence the modern world that we live in. One of these is the hypocaust system which was an early method to distribute heat in a building in a safe way. Today, we call it ³*central* heating. It was based on the idea that heat rises. For its time, this was an advanced system that consisted of an open space below a floor where wood was burned slowly throughout the day, if necessary, and on cold winter nights. The hot air from the fire rose up into the rooms above through hollow walls, heating the whole house, and smoke was ⁴*released* through chimneys.

The terms 'theory' and 'hypothesis' tend to be used interchangeably by people who are ¹*unfamiliar* with science, but they have significantly different meanings. A hypothesis is an idea that is ²*formulated* by a scientist prior to conducting research. Its purpose is to propose an explanation for a phenomenon that can be supported or rejected through experiments. A theory is an explanation for a phenomenon that is widely accepted among the ³*scientific* community and supported by data. Theories are confirmed by multiple tests and experiments, and are thus unlikely to change. To summarise, a hypothesis is an idea, while a theory is backed by ⁴*evidence* collected through experimentation. Examples of theories include Einstein's Theory of General Relativity and Copernican Heliocentric Theory.

- 12 Read the sentences and complete the words. The first letter of each word has been given. Write the answers in your notebook.

- 1 The largest continent in the world – in terms of both size and population – is Asia, which covers an area of 44.58 million km² and is inhabited by over 4.5 billion people.
2 The longest river in Poland is the Vistula, which flows into the Baltic Sea.
3 The only desert in Poland, and the largest one in Europe, sometimes described as the 'Polish Sahara,' is called Błędowska.
4 The length of Poland's Baltic coastline is approximately 770 km.
5 The largest rainforest in the world is the Amazon. Around 290 trillion trees grow there.

- 16  Do the quiz. Write the answers in your notebook. Count how many As, Bs and Cs you have. Then listen to the results. In pairs, discuss your results and say what more you could do to be environmentally-friendly. Students' own answers

QUIZ? ? ?

How environmentally-friendly are you?

- 1 How do you get to school?

- On a bike or walk.
- By public transport.
- By car.

- 2 Do you turn off the lights when you leave a room?

- Yes, always.
- Sometimes.
- I often forget to do that.

- 17  Which options complete the sentences correctly? Write the answers in your notebook. Then listen again and check.

- You're on the right track when it comes to [?] global warming.
a protecting b preventing c preserving
- Make sure you switch off the lights so that you don't [?] energy.
a leave b recycle c waste
- It's important you stop [?] the environment.
a damaging b using c cutting

- 18 What do these actions from the quiz help with? Match 1–5 to a–e. Write the answers in your notebook.

- go by bike/walk b
- turn off the lights e
- take short showers d
- don't pack food individually c
- sort waste a

- recycling to reduce waste
- reducing car exhaust fumes
- reducing packaging
- reducing water consumption
- saving energy

- 19  Listen to four speakers. In your notebook, match problems a–h to speakers 1–4. Use each speaker twice. What other solutions can you think of for the problems described by each speaker?

- choose eco-friendly goods 1
- consume less 1
- don't buy packaged food 3
- generate less pollution 4
- leave animals in the wild 2
- protect endangered species 2
- reduce traffic congestion 4
- use environmentally-friendly bags and containers 3

- 3 What do you do?

- Take short showers.
- Take baths, but never add more warm water.
- Take baths and keep adding more warm water.

- 4 How do you pack your fruit and vegetables in a supermarket?

- I don't pack them individually.
- I bring my own containers/recyclable bags.
- I use the plastic bags that the supermarket provides.

- 5 What do you do with all of your waste?

- I sort it by type (glass, plastic, paper, etc.).
- I sort some of it, but not all of it.
- I throw everything out into one bin.

20 Match the words in the box to the definitions. Which of these do you think is the best alternative source of energy and why?

fossil fuel hydroelectricity nuclear energy solar power wind power

- 1 The energy that you get from the sun.
solar power
- 2 Coal, gas and petroleum are all forms of this.
fossil fuel
- 3 A system that uses water for power.
hydroelectricity
- 4 Using the movement of air to generate power and electricity.
wind energy
- 5 Energy that comes from the bonds that make up atoms.

Alyssa Carson was always interested in space and, when she was three, like many kids that age, she told her parents that she wanted to be a(n) ¹astronaut. She pursued her dream and now, at twenty-one, she's well on her way to being sent to ²outer space, Mars to be exact. Her fascination with space ³exploration started when her dad told her about Neil Armstrong's landing on the ⁴Moon. Later, she attended NASA's Space Camp, where she got to ⁵launch into space on a simulator, built a model rocket, and got to know other enthusiasts like her. That's when she realised that her future lay in ⁶astronautics. Today, after attending specialist training for astronauts, she's going to be one of the first (and youngest) people to be put into a(n) ⁷spacecraft and lifted-off to Mars.

CLEANING FROM A KAYAK

Teenager William Darling from Norfolk, England, knew how littering can harm the environment. ¹ C He wanted to clean it up to protect wildlife and repair the damage to its habitats. But there was a problem. It wasn't easy to reach the rubbish from the river bank. ² D He cleaned up the river, not from the riverside path, but from his kayak.

In a relatively short time, this young ecological activist cleaned up rubbish from 160 kilometres of rivers and lakes. ³ E It was mostly plastic bags, bottles, food wrappers and aerosols. But he even found car tyres and a portable toilet!

During the following summer, William travelled abroad to help build school and houses in Tanzania, East Africa. ⁴ A He cleaned plastic from the shores of the Indian Ocean and recycled rubbish into useful objects. Back home, William decided to work hard to clean up his local waterways again.

- 1 In pairs, answer the questions. Then read the text to see what a teenage boy did to keep his local area clean.

William used his kayak to keep his local waterways litter free.

- How do you feel when you see someone dropping litter on the street? What about if it's in the countryside?
- What can you do to keep your town or local countryside clean?

TRENING

- Read the tip. Then decide which words complete the sentences correctly. Write the answers in your notebook.
 - I really care about the quality of the air I breathe. However, / (That's why) I encourage people to cycle or walk instead of driving.
 - A lot more people volunteered to pick up rubbish than we expected. Despite this / (So) we're going to be able to clean up the whole area in just a few hours.
 - The weather was terrible during the charity walk: it rained all day. (Although) / What's more we all got wet, we had a good time.
 - A: What environmental problems / (solutions) are you considering?
B: Well, we're going to make people pay ten pence for plastic bags.

CULTURE BIT | Canals in the UK

The oldest working canal in the UK was built by the Romans. It goes from the River Trent to Lincoln, and it's 1,900 years old. Not many British canals are that old: most of them were built over 200 years ago. At that time, they were a quicker, cheaper and more efficient form of transport for carrying raw materials and manufactured goods than taking them by road. They helped Britain's economy develop during the Industrial Revolution. However, surprisingly, there are actually more barges* and boats using canals today than there were in the eighteenth or nineteenth century. Canals are not used so much for carrying goods any more – large lorries on motorways and trains do that job now. But they are very popular for people who want to enjoy pleasant, relaxing holidays through the countryside and through the past of Britain's transport system.

* barge – a long narrow boat used for carrying goods on canals.

LIFE SKILLS | Finding a creative solution

7 In groups, discuss the questions.

Students' own answers

William found an original solution (his kayak) to a difficult problem (how to clean up rubbish in the water).

- 1 Have you ever solved a problem in a creative or original way? How did you think of the solution?
- 2 Which of these ideas do you think can help you find creative solutions to problems?
 - Think of the result you want to achieve and work backwards from that.
 - Check out how other people have dealt with the same or similar problems, either online or by asking people you know.
 - Think of other problems you've solved and see how those solutions could be adapted to your new problem.

8 Tell your group about a problem you would like to solve and work together to find a creative solution. Students' own answers

Elizabeth and her German garden

I love my garden. I am writing in it now in the late afternoon, interrupted by the mosquitoes and the temptation to look at all the new green leaves washed half an hour ago in a cold shower.

This is less a garden than a wilderness. No one has lived in the house, much less in the garden, for twenty-five years, and it is such a pretty old place that the people who might have lived here and did not, preferring the horrors of a flat in a town, must have belonged to that vast number of eyeless and earless persons of whom the world seems chiefly composed. Noseless too – the greater part of my spring happiness is due to the scent of the wet earth and young leaves.

We had been married five years before it struck us that we might as well make use of this place by coming down and living in it. Those five years were spent in a flat in a town, and I was perfectly miserable. While we were wasting our lives there, here was this dear place with dandelions up to the very door, all the paths grass-grown, and in May no one to look at the masses of lilacs, and not a living creature ever entering the empty house except the snakes, which got into the habit of wriggling up the south wall into the rooms. All that was here, – peace, and happiness, and a reasonable life, – and yet it never struck me to come and live in it. At last, in the early spring of last year, [in] the bare garden, [the] smell of wet earth or rotting leaves brought back my childhood with a rush. It was the beginning of my real life, my coming of age. Early March, grey, quiet skies, and brown, quiet earth; leafless and sad and lonely enough out there in the damp and silence, yet there I stood feeling the same pure delight in the first breath of spring that I used to as a child, the five wasted years fell from me like a cloak, the world was full of hope, and I have been happy ever since.

Yet my town acquaintances look upon it as imprisonment. What can life in town offer in the way of pleasure to equal the delight of any one of the calm evenings I have had this month sitting alone at the foot of the steps, with the May moon hanging low over the beeches, and the beautiful silence made only more profound in its peace by the croaking of distant frogs and hooting of owls?

The other day at a party the women after dinner were curious to know how I had endured the winter, snowed up sometimes for weeks.

‘But I am quite happy,’ I began, as soon as I could put in a word.

‘You cannot possibly be happy in the winter entirely alone,’ asserted a lady.

‘But I am.’

‘Your husband ought to bring you to town in the winter.’

‘But I don’t want to be brought to town.’

‘I enjoyed the winter immensely,’ I persisted when they were a little quieter; ‘I sleighed and skated, and there were shelves full of—’ I was going to say books, but stopped. And how could I talk to them of the happiness I felt when the sun shone on the snow?

‘It is entirely my doing that we have come down here,’ I proceeded, ‘and my husband only did it to please me.’

Gardens that go up the way

Most gardens go across the ground, but in the huge densely populated metropolis that is Mexico City, they’re growing plants up the way!

Via Verde (Green Way) is an environmentally-friendly project that aims to turn at least a thousand ugly grey concrete columns which hold up raised highways running through the city into gardens. Special pockets made from recycled plastic with different plant species planted inside are attached to the sides of the columns. The species are well-adapted to the environment as they have a low level of water consumption and are resistant to heat and pollution. Once the project has been completed, there should be approximately 2.2 million more plants in the city.

This original, ambitious and sustainable project intends to increase the amount of greenery in the city. Since plants absorb CO₂ and give off oxygen, the vertical gardens will hopefully reduce pollution and smog as well as clean the air. The gardens have a self-sufficient irrigation system, which means the plants are watered with rainwater rather than wasting clean drinking water. Via Verde provides another benefit, too. Many studies have shown that the more greenery a city has, the less its inhabitants suffer from stress and anxiety.

Some people have criticised the project, claiming that it would be cheaper and more efficient just to plant more trees in the city. However, the organisers defend it saying the cost is entirely covered by private businesses which are permitted to advertise on one of every ten columns. Finally, Via Verde is also helping to rehabilitate prisoners. Their job is to make the pockets which hold the plants. This gives them valuable training and work experience and increases their chances of finding employment in the future.

Via Verde is a great green way to do several good things all at once.

WAYS TO SAVE OUR PLANET

The future of our planet is in our hands. We are all responsible for damaging the environment, so ¹everybody/everyone/you/we should do something every single day to protect it. Doing small things or avoiding certain actions would make all the difference. For example, to save water at home, ²you shouldn't leave the water running while brushing your teeth. It's a simple but effective way of reducing water waste. This is just one example of what can be done on a regular basis by all of us. Governments and people in power also have a very important role to play. At the moment, some politicians take global warming very seriously, while ³others are not concerned about it at all. This is worrying, because if governments of different countries don't work with ⁴one another to solve issues concerning global warming, climate change will have very negative consequences in the very near future. Most experts seem to agree that one of the most important questions now is ⁵how to produce energy without emitting planet-warming greenhouse gases. Some people claim goods and services ⁶that/which harm the environment should be taxed more heavily. And since cars have a negative impact on the environment, ⁷they should be completely banned from city centres.

WORLD ENVIRONMENT DAY

YOUR TURN FOR ACTION!

It's 5th of June today and officially World Environment Day! Do you know that it's been celebrated since 1974? The global campaign sets out to restore land and water through the actions of both institutions and individuals in more than 100 countries. This is the day to do ¹something, even very small, to protect the planet and celebrate!

If you want to make a change this World Environment Day, but aren't sure ²where/how to begin, here are three simple ideas for a good start:

- Shop locally, but remember to take a reusable bag to cut down on plastic use. (It may be a small step, ³but/yet it's an important one.)
- Join a tree-planting project. Or maybe you could plant your own tree ⁴if/when/should you have the chance.
- Take photos and write about your projects on social media. This may sound like silly advice, but it helps to spread the initiative. Now is the time for everybody to get involved in the protection of our planet. Why not make every day World Environment Day, and make ⁵these/our single actions count?

EUROPE'S FIRST 'BIOBANK'

Europe is going to store cells from endangered animals in a unique biobank in the hope of saving them from ultimate extinction. The UK-located store, ¹which is known as Nature's SAFE, will feature cells from species such as the Amur leopard and black rhino. Thanks to e.g. Oxford University researchers, the project ²has already secured material from seventeen species to deposit in cryogenic tanks, but there are still many thousands of cells from ³other animals in danger to obtain, such as the eastern gorilla and Asiatic black bear. The biobank has been recognised as a charity in the UK and states ⁴its/their/the mission is to preserve live cells for an indefinite time. When an animal dies, tissue samples can be frozen to temperatures of –196°C, and kept for future use. Once defrosted, regenerated cells could ⁵be used for reproductive programmes to restore animal species.

Deforestation – The plain facts

Speaker: Rose Wood – entrepreneur and passionate environmentalist, whose latest project is to buy up land to replant trees that have been lost due to ¹(an activity) animal farming.

Main topics:

- The importance of trees to humans. How much we all depend on trees for things like fuel and materials for ²(noun) construction.
- The importance of trees to nature. For instance, a single tree species can feed and protect approximately ³(number) 2,300 other types of wildlife.
- Urgent problems facing trees and the planet, including the fact that twenty percent of the different tree types in ⁴(country/region) Brazil are at risk and the damage that deforestation is causing, for example increased temperatures and higher ⁵(noun) sea levels.

Plant a tree today

Why?

Trees play an important role because they take CO₂ out of the air and ¹store it. Although planting a tree is great, we should try to ²decrease/reduce our use of fossil fuels.

Which tree?

Choose a species which ³is like / is similar to others growing in or near the area where you want to plant it.

Where?

Give your tree plenty of space to grow – it needs to be more than ⁴two/2 metres away from the next tree or bush.

How?

Make a hole that is deep enough for the roots, and make sure you ⁵don't damage them / the roots when planting the tree. Then make sure you support your young tree and protect it.

Only One Earth Let's look after it!

- In pairs, take it in turns to make true sentences about nature and the environment using the words or phrases in Exercise 6. Score one point for each correct sentence. Students' own answers
- In pairs, discuss the questions.
Students' own answers
 - What do you think about the ideas in Exercise 2 and Exercise 5?
 - What tree would you like to plant and where would you plant it?
 - How important is deforestation compared to other factors causing climate change?

- 1 In your notebook, complete the list of English names for the planets in the solar system. Which planet, apart from Earth, is most likely to be able to sustain life in the future? Mars

The Sun Mercury Venus Earth Mars Jupiter
Saturn Uranus Neptune

- 2 Listen to a lecturer talking about setting up a base on another planet. What is the major challenge she identifies? how to feed people / how to produce food

TRENING

- 3 Read the tip below. Then choose the correct alternative in each case so that all four sentences match the recording. Listen and check.

The speaker

- predicts that trips to Mars are likely / unlikely within ten years from now.
- explains why the existence of water is / isn't enough to grow food on Mars.
- suggests that it will eventually / soon be possible to grow enough to feed people in space.
- reports on past / ongoing experiments in space farming.

Pamiętaj, że kluczowe informacje w nagraniu mogą być wyrażone za pomocą wyrazów o przeciwnym znaczeniu, np. poprzez użycie przeczenia (do not do sth), przedrostka zmieniającego znaczenie wyrazu, np. przymiotnika (likely – unlikely), lub antonimu (eventually – soon).

- 4 In your notebook, copy and complete the extracts a–d from the recording. Check your answers in the audioscript on page 362. Then compare sentences 1–4 in Exercise 3 with extracts a–d and notice how the same meaning is expressed in two different ways.

- Travel missions to Mars may be only a decade away ...
- ... water is just one of many things that are required to support sustainable agriculture ...
- ... there's a long way to go before space farming can support a colony ...
- Space farming techniques are already being tried out on the International Space Station ...

ZADANIE

- 5 Usłyszysz dwukrotnie pięć wypowiedzi na temat kosmosu. Które zdania A–F pasują do wypowiedzi 1–5? Jedno zdanie zostało podane dodatkowo i nie pasuje do żadnej wypowiedzi.

The speaker ...

- observes that planets can sometimes be mistaken for spacecraft.
- explains how older spacecraft can cause damage to planet Earth.
- highlights an increasing risk of accidental harm to orbiting spacecraft.
- mentions a spacecraft's astonishing return to Earth.
- says that space travel and spacecraft are not the best investments.
- informs how certain spacecraft are equipped for possible contacts.

- 6 SŁOWNICTWO In your notebook, complete the text with the words from the box. There are two extra words. Which facts did you already know?

atmosphere horizon launches new moon orbit satellites shooting stars solar system spacecraft
 UFOs

FIVE FACTS ABOUT SPACE

- Most experts agree that there are eight planets in our ¹*solar system* – not nine. Pluto is not considered to be a true planet.
- According to the UN there were 7,389 ²*satellites* in ³*orbit* around the Earth in 2021. Only about half of these are operational. The others are inactive and likely to eventually break up and burn up in the ⁴*atmosphere*.
- Since Yuri Gagarin became the first man in space in 1961, there have been over 350 ⁵*launches* of manned ⁶*spacecraft*. The busiest decades were the 1970s and 1980s.
- Meteors are more commonly known as ⁷*shooting stars*. On a dark night, you might see one every fifteen minutes or so. They are fragments of asteroids or comets that burn up as they fly towards the Earth. Most just turn to dust, but larger ones occasionally hit the Earth as meteorites.
- A(n) ⁸*new moon* occurs every twenty-nine and a half days when the Moon is situated between the Earth and the Sun. It marks the beginning of the first lunar phase and symbolises new beginnings.

Rozmowa z odgrywaniem roli

- 1 In pairs, read and compare how many bee facts you know. What else do you know about bees? Why is it important to protect them? Students' own answers

Did you know?

- Bees have five eyes.
- Bees' favourite colour is blue.
- Bees hardly ever sting humans and when they do, they die.
- A bee produces a teaspoon of honey in her lifetime.
- Across Europe nearly ten percent of wild bee species face extinction.
- Without bees, it would cost UK farmers £1.8 billion a year to pollinate their crops.
- A person who looks after bees is called a beekeeper.

Glossary:
sting – użądlić
pollinate – zapylać

TRENING

- 2 Read the task below. In pairs, discuss what you might say about the four topics. Then listen to students doing the task and compare your ideas. Students' own answers

Chcesz zorganizować w szkole Święto Pszczół. Rozmawiasz o swoim pomysle z kolegą/koleżanką. Poniżej podano cztery kwestie, które musicie omówić. Rozmowę rozpoczyna uczeń B.

Sposoby prezentacji materiałów

Promocja imprezy

Potencjalne problemy

- 3 Read the tip below. In your notebook, match responses a–c to interventions 1–3.

Interventions

- 1 That sounds good, but I'm not sure people are very interested in bees. c
- 2 How will you get people to come to your Bee Day? b
- 3 What about if your beekeeper couldn't come for some reason? a

Responses

- a I'm sure another beekeeper would agree to come instead.
- b I have several ideas for promotion.
- c It's our job to make them interested.

W zadaniu z odgrywaniem roli, jeśli rozmówca poda w wątpliwość twoje pomysły lub nie zgodzi się z nimi, pamiętaj, by zareagować stosownie do sytuacji, np. udzielić wyjaśnień lub zaproponować inne rozwiązanie. Odpowiedź powinna być naturalna, jak w codziennej rozmowie.

- 4 Read the Useful Phrases box. In pairs, discuss which phrases could be used to introduce the responses a–c in Exercise 3.

PRZYKŁADOWE ZADANIE I MODELOWA WYPOWIEDŹ

Chcesz wziąć udział w weekendowej akcji sprzątania lasu. W e-mailu do koleżanki:

- przedstaw szczegóły organizacyjne akcji,
- zaproś ją do wzięcia udziału w wydarzeniu i wyjaśnij, czemu to dobry pomysł,
- poproś o pożyczenie plecaka i uzasadnij prośbę,
- odpowiedz na jej prośbę o zaopiekowanie się psem w czasie wakacji.

Rozwiń swoją wypowiedź w każdym z czterech podpunktów. Długość tekstu powinna wynosić od 100 do 150 słów, nie licząc zdań, które są podane.

- 1 In pairs, make a list of things that you and your friends could do to help protect the environment. Then say which things are the most useful and which are the most practical. Students' own answers
- 2 Read the sample task and the model answer above. Then in pairs, find a request and a response to a request.
Request: ... would it be all right if I borrowed your green backpack? Response to a request: ... I'd really love to look after Luna at my place, but I can't.

TRENING

- 3 Read the tip below. Then in groups, discuss the differences between being polite in English and in Polish. Students' own answers

W języku angielskim krótkie, bezpośrednie prośby mogą wydawać się nieuprzejme. Znacznie grzeczniej zabrzmie dłuższa prośba wyrażona nie wprost. Przykładowo, gdy ktoś siedzi zbyt blisko ciebie, bezpośrednie Can you move? jest mniej uprzejme niż I wonder if you could possibly move over, please. Elementem uprzejmości jest też dodawanie do prośby uzasadnienia, np. Would you mind moving over a little bit? There isn't much room on this sofa. Podobnie gdy chcemy komuś odmówić – uprzejmie jest dodać powód odmowy: I'm sorry, I can't help you at the moment. I'm really busy. Prośby wyrażone pisemnie są najczęściej bardziej formalne od ustnych.

Dear Lindsay,

Have you heard about the 'clean up our forest' activity that's taking place next weekend?

It's at the New Forest from Saturday morning until Sunday evening. You can either go for just a few hours or you can take a tent and spend the whole weekend there.

If you're free next weekend, why don't you come along with me? There are people coming from all over the country, so it's sure to be fun, and it's good for the environment, too. I really hope you can make it.

Also, I have a favour to ask: would it be all right if I borrowed your green backpack? I've only got a small one, and it's not big enough for all my things.

By the way, I'd really love to look after Luna at my place, but I can't. My brother is allergic to fur and he gets terribly sick when dogs are around. I'm really sorry about it!

Let me know about next weekend.

Best,
XYZ

USEFUL PHRASES

► STR. 338

Expressing a request

I have a favour to ask.

Do you think I/we could ...?

Would it be all right if I (borrowed your ...)?

Would you mind (lending me your ...)?

Could you (possibly) ...?

I wonder if you could ...

I'd really appreciate it if you could ...

Accepting a request

Of course, I can do that for you.

I'd be delighted/happy to help you out.

Sure, no problem.

Refusing a request

I'm (really) sorry, but I can't / won't be able to ...

I'd rather not / you didn't ...

I'd love to, but ...

- 5 In your notebook, rewrite the underlined sections in this email to make it more polite.

To: Sasha
From: Alex

Hi Sasha

¹I can't come round to yours this evening. Sorry.
²Come to mine instead.

Listen, my parents want me to go camping in the mountains with them next weekend. I don't want to go on my own, so ³come with us! ⁴Go on, you'll make me happy if you come! There's nothing to do there in the evenings, so ⁵bring that card game we played last week. Speaking of games, ⁶lend me that new video game you got for your birthday.

Cheers,
Alex

- 2 Przeczytaj tekst ucznia A. Uprzejmie odmów i szczegółowo uzasadnij odmowę.

CULTURE BIT | The British and words of affection

British people often address friends and even complete strangers with words of affection. This can seem very strange to foreign visitors. For example, in Devon and Cornwall in the south-west of England, a shop assistant might call you my lover. Other words used in different parts of the country are: darling, sweetie, love, hon (honey), mate, pal, sis, duck and the more recent American terms bro and dude.

- 8 Imagine you have to do an environmental project at school. In pairs, agree on what project you could do. Then ask your partner politely to do different parts of the project. Respond appropriately. Students' own answers

- 9 Do the task below in your notebook.

Wraz z kolegami i koleżankami z klasy organizujecie akcję informacyjną na temat alternatywnych źródeł energii. Chcesz zaangażować do współpracy kolegę z wymiany uczniowskiej. W e-mailu do niego:

- wyjaśnij, dlaczego taka akcja jest ważna,
- poproś go o pomoc, informując, jakie zadania zostały jeszcze do wykonania,
- napisz, co już zdążyliście zrobić,
- zaproś go do współpracy i obiecaj dobrą zabawę.

Rozwiń swoją wypowiedź w każdym z czterech podpunktów. Długość tekstu powinna wynosić od 100 do 150 słów, nie licząc zdań, które są podane.

Alligator vs crocodile

Alligators and crocodiles look alike because they share a common ancestor. They both have long bodies with prominent bellies and short legs. Strong tails help both creatures move through the water quickly. They can also use their tail to defend ¹*themselves* if they are attacked. Both animals lay eggs and hunt in the water and on the land ²*where* they live.

However, millions of years ago they began to evolve differently to each ³*other*, and they now belong to two different families. ⁴*If/When* you compare them side by side, you can see that adult crocodiles are larger than alligators. They are also a lighter colour and their head and mouth – known as the snout – is narrower and V-shaped. ⁵*Because* of the specific shape of their snout, crocodiles are unable to hide their teeth. Alligators, on the other hand, have shorter, U-shaped snouts and, when the mouth is closed, you can't see their lower teeth.

EARTH DAY

Earth Day is celebrated annually on 22nd April and is an event dedicated to awareness and education about the challenges that our planet is facing. The first Earth Day, ¹*which* was celebrated in 1970, came about when a United States senator, Gaylord Nelson, organised a national demonstration to raise awareness about environmental issues. He ²*had* seen the catastrophic impact of a huge oil slick in California and was determined to take action. The impact made by that very first Earth Day was massive, and it resulted ³*in* the creation of the Environmental Protection Agency in the US and important environmental laws. ⁴*Since* then, Earth Day has grown. It has expanded from a US movement into a global one, with over a billion people participating yearly, learning about conservation and the dangers of climate ⁵*change* and global warming.

Poland's Political System

The Polish Constitution of 1997 says that Poland is a democratic ¹state with a political system based on the separation of powers. This means that the government is divided into three branches: the legislature, the executive and the ²judiciary. They all have their own responsibilities and are independent of each other, however, they are checks on each other to ensure that there's always a balance of power. Legislative power is attributed to the Parliament, which is composed of two chambers: the lower one which is the Sejm, and the upper one which is the Senate. The legislature ³ratifies new laws and ⁴passes treaties. Executive power is exercised by the President and the Council of Ministers, also called the ⁵Cabinet, led by the Prime Minister. The main function of the executive branch is to ⁶implement laws. Judicial power is vested in the Supreme Court, the Tribunal of State, the Constitutional Tribunal and the ⁷courts of law. This branch ensures that all laws are ⁸applied correctly and it also ⁹resolves any disputes.

TRENING

- 2 Read the tip below. Then read the paragraph and choose the correct option a–d. Write the answer in your notebook.

I'd just gone to sleep last night when my upstairs neighbours came home. They immediately started playing really loud music and dancing. It woke me up. It sounded as if they were going to fall through the ceiling into my room. They opened the window and I could hear a lot of people talking. There was no way I was going to be able to sleep, so I got out of bed, got dressed and went upstairs. I rang the bell and, eventually, my neighbour Wilf opened the door. Behind him, I could see there was a party going on. Wilf smiled. He seemed really happy to see me and asked me in. I didn't know what to do.

- a The party upstairs started just before the writer went to sleep.
- b Someone at the party had an accident and fell down.
- c There were only a few people at the party.
- d The neighbour invited the writer to join the party.

How to Deal with Nightmare Neighbours

Six months ago, Linda Forbes got some new next-door-neighbours: the Martin family. From the beginning, they were guilty of antisocial behaviour. Their dogs barked for hours. The garden was a mess. They threw rubbish out on the street every day. At weekends, they had large parties that continued into the small hours of the morning. Their teenage daughter Tina played loud techno music late at night. Their son Marc repaired old motorcycles with roaring engines in front of the house.

Linda told them the rubbish was collected on Tuesdays and Fridays. She politely asked them to keep the noise down at night and to control their dogs. They listened and nodded, but nothing changed.

Linda didn't want a conflict with her neighbours, but she couldn't sleep. She felt terrible. One friend suggested she call the social services or the town council. Another said she should report the Martins to the police. But Linda had a better idea.

She baked a cake and took it round to her neighbours'. Nancy Martin accepted the cake without a smile or a thank you and closed the door. Linda went home, wondering why Nancy was so unfriendly. But she didn't give up. A few days later, she gave Nancy some plants and offered to help her make her garden look nice. For the first time, Nancy smiled. The two women worked together in the garden every day. Nancy discovered she loved growing flowers. Before long they grew close and became friends.

One day, over a cup of tea, Nancy explained that her husband, Francis, had been sent to jail for a crime he hadn't committed. He'd just been released from prison after serving a six-month sentence. Now he couldn't get a job. She explained that Tina had dropped out of school and that she and Marc were both on the dole. The family were surviving on welfare and unemployment benefits and Nancy's wage from her part-time job in a café.

Linda invited the Martins to lunch. She told Frank she did voluntary work for a local charity shop and persuaded him to volunteer three days a week. Six months later, he got a full-time, paid job with the charity. She told Tina about a Music Production course at the local college and helped her fill in the application form. Two weeks later, the girl was accepted on the course. She spoke to her brother George, who ran his own garage. George needed a new mechanic. He gave Marc a chance and the boy got the job.

Now, the Martins are perfect neighbours, their dogs hardly ever bark and every night Linda sleeps like a baby.

- 2 Should everyone who commits a crime automatically go to prison?
- 3 If children steal things from a shop, should they be sent to jail?
- 4 If prisoners behave well should, the authorities release them from prison early?
- 5 What do you think people who are serving a prison sentence miss the most about freedom?
- 6 Do you think it should be easier or more difficult for people in need to claim benefits? Why?

8 Read the Culture Bit. In pairs, choose and discuss one of problems that featured in the TV series.

Students' own answers

- 1 What options did the neighbours have?
- 2 How do you think the situation developed?
- 3 What would you do if you had a similar problem with your neighbours?

CULTURE BIT | The Nightmare Neighbour Next Door

The Nightmare Neighbour Next Door is a British documentary TV series that's been shown since April 2014. The show reconstructs real events and interviews neighbours who have had disagreements, arguments and even fights. It covers all sorts of problems between neighbours. Here are two examples.

- Someone added a new room to their house and blocked out all the light from the neighbour's windows.
- A couple moved into a quiet neighbourhood. The only problem was they had twenty-two dogs.

Exercise 5

Sample answers:

Should sixteen-year-olds be able to vote?

How old must you be to be eligible to vote in a national election? In most countries, you have to be at least eighteen years old. In some places, you have to be older. ¹ C. It was only in 1969 that the voting age here was reduced to eighteen.

⁵ In Greece, Indonesia or the Sudan, you can vote when you're seventeen, but the first nation in the world to extend suffrage to sixteen-year-olds was Nicaragua in 1984. Brazil followed in 1988 and now you can vote from the age of sixteen in Argentina, Austria, Ecuador and Malta.

¹⁰ In the UK, the first time that sixteen- and seventeen-year-olds were allowed to vote was in the 2014 referendum on Scottish independence. The experiment was a success, so a year later, a bill was passed unanimously in the Scottish parliament to lower the voting age for both local and

Some politicians argue the young are not mature enough to vote. They say that they don't know enough about politics ²⁵ and would probably just turn up at the polling station and vote the same way their parents do. Others, however, say that if you can get a job, pay taxes and get married (with parental permission) when you're sixteen, you should be able to vote, too.

³⁰ The Electoral Reform Society, the British Youth Council and the Votes at 16 campaign all support reducing the voting age. ⁴ A. Since young people tend to abstain more than older voters, that would be a good thing for democracy.

What do you think? Should the voting age be lowered to ³⁵ sixteen or not? Send us your views.

TRENING

1 Choose the correct continuation (a or b) for sentences 1–3. Write the answers in your notebook.

- 1 How did a party that's been in power for so long manage to win yet again?
 - a In spite of that, their share of the vote went down.
 - (b) Perhaps it's because most of the media supports them.
- 2 I got to the polling station just before it closed.
 - a I had better hurry or I'll be late.
 - (b) If I'd been five minutes later, I wouldn't have been able to vote.
- 3 The party proposes increasing taxes on high earners.
 - (a) One reason they give is that it would boost the economy.
 - b They haven't yet produced their election manifesto.

Podczas dobierania zdań do luk w tekście pamiętaj, że:

- po pytaniu może nastąpić przypuszczenie (perhaps, might, may),
- czasy gramatyczne w kolejnych zdaniach są ze sobą powiązane,
- po opisie czynności lub opinii może pojawić się jego przyczyna (because, since).

ZADANIE

2 Przeczytaj tekst, z którego usunięto cztery zdania. Które zdania A–E uzupełniają luki 1–4, tworząc spójny i logiczny tekst? Jedno zdanie zostało podane dodatkowo i nie pasuje do żadnej luki. Odpowiedzi zapisz w zeszyty.

- A They argue that by involving young people, they will be more engaged in politics and more likely to continue voting in the future.
- B However, unless it became clear that it would be a vote-winning strategy, the party is unlikely to add it to their election manifesto in any forthcoming elections.
- C For example, in Singapore, Kuwait or Samoa, you can't vote until you're twenty-one. Not so long ago that was the case in the UK, too.
- D Wales followed this example and sixteen-year-olds were able to elect candidates to the Welsh Assembly in May 2021.
- E Whatever the reason, sixteen- to eighteen-year-olds can't elect MPs to the House of Commons. Nor could they vote in the 2016 referendum that led to the UK leaving the EU.

3 SŁOWNICTWO Which words complete the text correctly? Write the answers in your notebook. Then in pairs, discuss if you agree with the speaker's views on politics and democracy.

I voted 'No' in the Scottish independence ¹campaign / (referendum) in 2014. I was in two minds while I was walking to the ²polling / voting station. I was even thinking about ³abstaining / electing, but in the end, I voted for Scotland to stay in the UK. However, after Brexit, I changed my mind and now I ⁴declare / (support) independence. Back then, I wasn't interested in ⁵parliaments / (politics). I used to think that all ⁶politicians / supporters were the same. But then I realised that although ⁷democracy / leadership isn't perfect, it's better than all the other systems we've tried. So last year, I became a ⁸conservative / (member) of a political party for the first time and now I'm going to be a ⁹candidate / manifesto in the forthcoming elections for the city council. I have a great vote-winning ¹⁰assembly / (strategy). What is it? I'm going to be honest and tell the truth.

- 2  Read the tip below and sentences a–c. Then listen to the recording about prisons and choose the correct option. Write the answer in your notebook.

The speaker

- a describes in detail the purpose of prisons before 1800.
b informs listeners how the purpose of prisons has changed over time.
c expresses doubt that prisons will ever fulfil their purpose.

W zadaniu na dobieranie, przed wysłuchaniem całego nagrania, warto wyróżnić słowa kluczowe w zdaniach. Tematy wypowiedzi są pokrewne, jednak dzięki słowom kluczowym możesz zorientować się, jakie występują między nimi różnice. Przykładowo, w zdaniach a–c powyżej powtarza się określenie the purpose of prisons (temat wypowiedzi), ale pozostałe informacje (np. before 1800, has changed over time) różnią się między sobą.

- 3 In pairs, discuss how you would describe the type of recording you listened to in Exercise 2 and where you would expect to hear it. It's a very brief history of prisons. It could be heard on a history podcast or maybe in a history module for school, or as a commentary for visitors to a museum (or former prison).

Treating someone like a monster will make them behave like one.

- Do you agree with the comment? Why? / Why not?
- What rights should prisoners have / not have when they are serving time?
- What should the main purpose of prisons be in the twenty-first century?

CULTURE BIT | The Tower of London

Today the Tower of London is home to the Crown Jewels and one of the city's most popular tourist destinations. But it has a dark past as a prison and has held some famous prisoners over its 1000-year history. Guy Fawkes was imprisoned here in 1606 after trying to blow up parliament, and Anne Boleyn, second wife of Henry VIII, was executed here in 1536. In the First and Second World Wars, the Tower was again used to hold prisoners of war. Among the most recent prisoners were the London gangsters, the Kray twins – held here for a short time in 1952. Prison certainly didn't work for the Krays. During the 1960s, they went on to form one of the most brutal organised crime gangs in London.

Teens and their money

In this lively programme, a group of guests discuss economics from a teen perspective. This episode explores new economic models and the first guest talks about Doughnut Economics. Its creator, Oxford academic Kate Raworth, argues that countries which are focused only on ¹*making/generating/producing* profits have got it all wrong. Her model aims to meet people's basic needs without ²*causing/doing damage* to the planet. The inner ring of the doughnut represents basic necessities such as water, food, shelter etc. and the outer ring represents all the ³*environmental* considerations. The point is that a healthy economy stays inside the doughnut and doesn't fall into ⁴*the hole (in the middle) / the middle* or off the edges of the outer circle. Guests then discuss other models before concluding unanimously that we either change direction now or face economic disaster.

Highly recommended! ★★★★★

- 6 SŁOWNICTWO In pairs, explain the following terms and phrases from both interviews in this lesson. You can use the audioscript on pages 363–364 for more context.

Guess what! They've cancelled the late bus from the centre to our neighbourhood.

I'm furious. I used that bus to get to my guitar lessons. Now, if people here can't get a lift or afford a taxi, they'll either have to catch the 8.30 bus or walk home in the dark. And that's dangerous.

I'd never recommend walking home alone, but if you have to do it, take care. Watch out for the streets near the factory. And if I were you, I wouldn't take the tunnel under the railway line. Whatever you do, don't go through the park.

I think we should start a campaign to ask the bus company to reconsider their decision. Perhaps we could write to the newspaper or appear on local TV. Or what about organising a petition?

I've set up an online meeting next Thursday at 7 p.m. to debate what action to take. Please attend if you can and send me more ideas and suggestions.

Dear Mayor Smith,

As a member of RYTG (the Redwood Youth Theatre Group), I am writing to congratulate the town council for inaugurating the splendid new cultural centre in the old crisp factory and to invite you to an event we are planning.

I recently rehearsed for the first time in the new centre and I would like to take this opportunity to offer you and the council our most sincere congratulations for creating such a wonderful facility for artists, musicians and actors. Everyone I have spoken to is most impressed with the quality and practicality of the building. I am aware of the issues you faced when developing the centre, in particular, the problem of financing it. However, despite those difficulties you showed great determination to complete the work. We would like to compliment you on a job well done.

On behalf of RYTG, I would like to invite you and all the town councillors to the opening night of our new play Distractions. It is a political black comedy set in the near future. We are confident that everyone, especially people like yourself who are involved in politics, will enjoy it immensely. Please find enclosed twenty complimentary tickets for Saturday March 27 at 8 p.m. at the Riverside Cultural Centre.

Hoping you will be able to accept our invitation, we congratulate you again on the work you have done and wish you more successful cultural initiatives in the future.

Yours sincerely,
XYZ

Exercise 1

Sample answers: Defence and foreign affairs are clearly the responsibility of national government. Rubbish collection is clearly the responsibility of the town council. Other responsibilities can be shared at different levels of government, e.g. policing.

Exercise 2

The author was impressed with quality and practicality of the building and the way the mayor and the council solved the problems involved in developing the new centre. Because it is a political play and the mayor is involved in politics.

4 Which words complete the sentences correctly? Write the answers in your notebook.

- opisując czynności i sytuacje, które zakończyły się w przeszłości, ale nie wiemy lub nie jest istotne, kiedy miały miejsce (możemy wtedy podać, ile razy się wydarzyły):
I have taken part in beauty contests three times.
- opisując czynności, sytuacje i stany, które zaczęły się w przeszłości i trwają do chwili obecnej:
My little sister has known the truth about Santa Claus since last Christmas.
His family has lived in this magnificent house for over a decade.
- w konstrukcjach typu it is the first/second time:
It is the first time I have travelled by plane.

TIME EXPRESSIONS | OKREŚLENIA CZASU

Czasu Present Perfect Simple używamy często z wyrażeniami already, just, yet, ever i so far:

- already (już) oraz just (dopiero co / właśnie) występują tylko w zdaniach twierdzących:
She's already done her homework.
I have just finished cooking.
- ever (kiedyś/kiedykolwiek) występuje w pytaniach:
Have you ever been to England?
- so far (jak dotąd):
He's happy with the grades he has received so far.
- yet występuje w zdaniach przeczących (jeszcze nie) lub pytaniach (już):
I haven't told him yet.
Has Tom left his office yet?
- since określa moment, w którym rozpoczęła się dana czynność lub sytuacja:
since 2001
Monday last summer her name day yesterday
- for określa czas, przez który trwa dana czynność lub sytuacja:
for twenty minutes three weeks
most of his life
a very long time ages

PRESENT PERFECT CONTINUOUS

Czasu Present Perfect Continuous używamy, opisując czynności i sytuacje:

- które rozpoczęły się w przeszłości i trwają do chwili obecnej, a podkreślamy okres trwania i powtarzalność czynności:
My mother has been teaching in this school since 2014.
We have been learning English for eight years.
- które trwały przez pewien okres (i trwają nadal lub dopiero co się zakończyły), a ich skutek (często również uboczny i niezamierzony) jest bezpośrednio widoczny w chwili obecnej:
I feel exhausted. I have been working in the garden all day.
Look at them! I'm sure they have been arguing.

- powtarzające się od jakiegoś czasu:

We have been doing a lot of voluntary work recently.

R

Mówiąc o tym, jak długo trwa obecne zdarzenie lub sytuacja, używamy czasu Present Perfect, a nie Present Simple lub Present Continuous:

I've known her for twenty years. –

NIE: I know her for twenty years.

We've had this house since 2010. –

NIE: We have this house since 2010.

She's been working here since February. –

NIE: She's working here since February.

How long have you been waiting? –

NIE: How long are you waiting?

PRESENT PERFECT SIMPLE A PRESENT PERFECT CONTINUOUS

O wyborze czasu Present Perfect Simple lub Present Perfect Continuous decyduje często to, czy chcemy położyć większy nacisk na skutek czynności, czy na samą czynność i okres jej trwania. W języku polskim używamy wtedy odpowiednio czasowników dokonanych lub niedokonanych:

I have knitted ten rows. – Zrobiłem dziesięć rzędów na drutach. (skutek)

I have been knitting all morning. – Robiłem na drutach przez cały rano. (okres trwania czynności)

Czas Present Perfect Continuous jest częściej używany, gdy chcemy podkreślić, że czynność, o której mowa, powtarza się od jakiegoś czasu i/lub nie została zakończona:

I have been calling my bank's customer service all day. – Wydzwaniałem do obsługi klienta mojego banku cały dzień. (wiele razy, być może nieskutecznie)

I have called my bank's customer service. – Zadzwoiłem do obsługi klienta mojego banku. (może tylko raz lub kilka razy)

Present Perfect Continuous nie jest używany do opisu stanów:

He's known her since he was a little boy. –

NIE: He's been knowing her since he was a little boy.

I've belonged to the swimming club for two years. –

NIE: I've been belonging to the swimming club for two years.

PAST SIMPLE

Czasu Past Simple używamy:

- mówiąc o zdarzeniach lub sytuacjach, które miały miejsce i zakończyły się w przeszłości:
During our last History class, Tom answered the most difficult question.
- mówiąc o wydarzeniach, które powtarzały się w przeszłości:
As a child, I spent most of my summer holidays at my grandparents' house.
- opowiadając o następujących po sobie wydarzeniach:
I switched off the computer, locked the door and went to bed.

TIME EXPRESSIONS | OKREŚLENIA CZASU

yesterday, yesterday afternoon/evening, last week/month/year/Monday/night, in May, in 2020 / the 1980s, three days / a month / five years ago, when I was six / a teenager / young, one night/morning

PRESENT PERFECT SIMPLE A PAST SIMPLE

Mówiąc o zdarzeniach lub sytuacjach, które miały miejsce i zakończyły się w konkretnym momencie w przeszłości, używamy czasu Past Simple, a nie czasu Present Perfect Simple:

I bumped into my English teacher last Monday. – NIE: I ~~have bumped into~~ my English teacher ~~last Monday~~.

Ten konkretny moment w przeszłości może być wyrażony w zdaniu za pomocą jednego z okoliczników czasu (np.: yesterday evening, in 2006, four weeks ago, when I was a child) lub pozostawać domyślny:

They flew to Canada the day before yesterday. – NIE: They ~~have flown~~ to Canada ~~the day before yesterday~~. (konkretny moment w przeszłości wyrażony za pomocą okolicznika czasu the day before yesterday)

My grandmother came up with the idea for her business in secondary school. – NIE: My grandmother ~~has come up with~~ the idea for her business in ~~secondary school~~. (domyślny moment w przeszłości, bez okolicznika czasu)

Odpowiadając na pytanie zadane w czasie Present Perfect Simple i dotyczące naszych doświadczeń życiowych, używamy tego samego czasu. Podając dalsze szczegóły wydarzeń, stosujemy czas Past Simple:

A: Have you ever been to a wedding?*

B: Yes, I have. I went to my cousin's wedding last year. It was a very big wedding with a hundred guests.

PAST CONTINUOUS

Czasu Past Continuous używamy:

- opisując czynności, które trwały w określonym momencie w przeszłości:
Hannah and Robert were waiting for us in front of the cinema.
- mówiąc o zwyczajach lub sytuacjach przejściowych w przeszłości:
At that time, my cousin James was staying with us. Were you studying at the George Washington University when you first met Professor Richards?
- mówiąc o czynnościach lub stanach w przeszłości, podczas których nastąpiły inne, krótsze zdarzenia (które wyrażamy w czasie Past Simple):
Somebody knocked on the door while I was chatting with my best friend on the phone.
- opisując tło jakiegoś wydarzenia lub czynności:
It was getting dark and the sun was setting.

- w wyrażeniach typu I was wondering, I was hoping, I was thinking, które czynią prośby, pytania i sugestie bardziej uprzejmymi:

I was wondering if you had the chance to read my last assignment.

I was hoping that you could help me with the last three sentences.

Mówiąc o zakończonych czynnościach i stanach, używamy zwykle czasu Past Simple, a nie Past Continuous, nawet jeżeli te zdarzenia trwały przez dłuższy czas:

Even though she was in a bad mood, she tried to joke with us. – NIE: Even though she ~~was in a bad mood~~, she ~~was trying~~ to joke with us.

We went to the park every day last week. –

NIE: We ~~were going~~ to the park every day last week.

Even when we had no clue how to solve the problem, the teacher made an attempt to explain it to us again and again. – NIE: Even when we ~~had no clue how to solve the problem~~, the teacher ~~was making~~ an attempt to explain it to us again and again.

TIME EXPRESSIONS | OKREŚLENIA CZASU

when, while, as, all afternoon/day/night, all day yesterday

PAST PERFECT SIMPLE

Czasu Past Perfect Simple używamy:

- mówiąc o czynnościach zakończonych przed określonym momentem w przeszłości:
Joanna had finished working on her Spanish assignment by five o'clock yesterday.
- opisując zdarzenia z przeszłości w kolejności niechronologicznej (wtedy czas Past Perfect Simple wskazuje, że dana czynność poprzedzała inne czynności, wyrażone w czasie Past Simple):
When we got to the theatre, the play had already started. (drugie zdarzenie miało miejsce wcześniej niż pierwsze)
On my way to the airport, I remembered that I hadn't packed my passport. (drugie zdarzenie miało miejsce wcześniej niż pierwsze)

- w wyrażeniach typu it was the first time:

It was the first time I had seen my best friend so terribly embarrassed.

TIME EXPRESSIONS | OKREŚLENIA CZASU

when, already, just, by, by the time, after, before, never, for, since

PAST PERFECT SIMPLE A PAST SIMPLE

Mówiąc o pojedynczym zdarzeniu lub sytuacji, która miała miejsce i zakończyła się w konkretnym momencie w przeszłości, używamy czasu Past Simple:

Robert twisted his ankle while stepping off a curb yesterday. – NIE: ~~Robert had twisted his ankle while stepping off a curb yesterday.~~

Czasu Past Perfect Simple używamy, gdy opisujemy co najmniej dwa zdarzenia z przeszłości i chcemy podkreślić, że jedno z nich poprzedzało drugie:

When she gave me a call, I had managed to fix her computer. (dwa zdarzenia; drugie zdarzenie miało miejsce wcześniej niż pierwsze: najpierw naprawiłem jej komputer, a potem ona do mnie zadzwoniła)

I had never won an athletics competition before the long jump last week. (dwa zdarzenia: skok w dal i inne zawody lekkoatletyczne; pierwsze zdarzenie miało miejsce wcześniej niż drugie: nigdy nie wygrałem żadnych zawodów lekkoatletycznych aż do czasu wygrania skoku w dal w zeszłym tygodniu)

Jeżeli wydarzenia opisujemy w kolejności chronologicznej, użycie czasu Past Perfect Simple nie jest konieczne.

Because they (had) offered me a job in Australia, I moved there with my wife and children.

Użycie czasu Past Perfect Simple w takim kontekście ma na celu podkreślenie, że pierwsza czynność została całkowicie zakończona przed rozpoczęciem drugiej:

When I had gathered all the information about the incident, I wrote an article for a local newspaper. (najpierw zgromadziłem wszystkie informacje, a dopiero potem napisałem artykuł)

USED TO, WOULD

Wyrażenia used to używamy, mówiąc o stanach i czynnościach, które powtarzały się w przeszłości, a nie występują obecnie lub występują w innym natężeniu:

Lia didn't use to be so talkative. (teraz się zmieniło)
Robert used to take up a new hobby every year when he was younger. (teraz już tego nie robi albo robi to rzadziej/częściej)

Jeżeli mówimy o czynnościach lub stanach, które wystąpiły jednokrotnie lub zdarzały się nieregularnie, bądź jeżeli nie chcemy podkreślać zmiany w stosunku do przeszłości, używamy czasu Past Simple:

One time she slipped on a banana skin. (zdarzenie jednorazowe)

I watched a lot of romantic comedies when I was younger. (nie wiadomo, czy się zmieniło)

Wyrażenie used to odnosi się tylko do przeszłości. Mówiąc o obecnie powtarzających się czynnościach, używamy czasu Present Simple:

A: Did you use to go to the gym on Saturdays?

B: No, I used to go to the gym on Sundays.

Now I go to the gym on Fridays.

Opisując typowe zachowania lub czynności (ale nie stany) w przeszłości, można użyć także would:

As a child, she would always give her parents a kiss before going to bed.

When I visited my grandmother, we would always bake cakes together.

Kiedy mówimy o stanach lub uczuciach powtarzających się w przeszłości, nie możemy użyć would:

As a little boy, Peter used to love ketchup, but now he can't stand it. – NIE: ~~As a little boy, Peter would love ketchup, but now he can't stand it.~~

I used to be much more adventurous than I am now.

– NIE: ~~I would be much more adventurous than I am now.~~

Gdy opowiadamy historie z przeszłości, często dla urozmaicenia używa się obu form (used to i would) oraz czasu Past Simple:

My brother and I used to fall out very often, and after each argument he would sulk for hours.

Beth used to be very shy as a child. Whenever we had visitors, she would run to her bedroom and refuse to come out.

a Last weekend ¹*you invited* (zaprosiłaś) quite a few people round, but ²*?* (nie poinformowałaś mnie) about it before. Don't get me wrong – I have nothing against your friends. And ³*?* (naprawdę dobrze się bawiłam) on Saturday. But I'd like to know in advance when they're coming. OK?

b To be honest, I'm not happy with the situation as it is now. ⁴*?* (Posprzątałam już) our flat twice this week. You promised to do the washing-up, remember? And how many times ⁵*?* (zrobiłaś to) so far? Not even once.

c Yes, ⁶*?* (pożyczyłam) your T-shirt the other day without permission. And I'm sorry about it. But as far as I know, ⁷*?* (ty wzięłaś) my handbag without asking yesterday. Not to mention my cosmetics. And ⁸*?* (nigdy nie powiedziałam) a word against you, while ⁹*?* (narzekasz) since we started sharing a flat. It's really not fair!

d Oh, come on! That's silly! ¹⁰*?* (Kłócimy się) for the last fifteen minutes instead of coming up with a solution. Why don't we sit down and work it out together? ¹¹*?* (Przygotowałam już) a list of chores that need to be done every week. Have a look and tell me which ones you'd prefer to do.

Exercise 11

13 Zapisz w zeszycie poprawne tłumaczenia fragmentów podanych w nawiasach.

- a It would be a good idea to get some snacks. We will need quite a lot of them. Remember? Last time Nicolas and Marta 1 were late (spóźnili się) and when they arrived, the other people 2 had already eaten (już zjedli) almost everything. And drinks? I 3 don't / do not suppose (nie przypuszczam) anyone would like hot drinks. Juice and mineral water then?
- b I can book a room for our party at the reception. I 4 've / have done it / that before (robiłam to już przedtem), so I know how to go about it. Could you collect some money for food and drinks from everybody? I think £3 each should be enough. That's how much we 5 collected (zbieraliśmy) last time. I will help you do the shopping. That's all that needs to be arranged, isn't it? Oh, no! We 6 've / have forgotten (zapomnieliśmy) about a thank-you card for John.
- c No, a barbecue party is not a good idea. You 7 never know (nigdy nie wiadomo) what the weather might be like here, in England. It 8 's / has been raining (pada deszcz) for three days now and it 9 doesn't / does not look (nie wygląda) like the weather is going to change at the weekend. Let's have our farewell party at school. We 10 've / have already had (już mieliśmy) one party at school, so it shouldn't be any problem.
- d How about playing some games? Last time somebody 11 brought (przyniósł) chess. Shall we play something different now? How about Twenty questions? Do you remember the rules? I 12 used to know them (kiedyś je znałam), but I 13 haven't / have not played (nie grałam) it for ages!

ROZMOWA Z ODGRYWANIEM ROLI

14 Które wypowiedzi z ćwiczenia 13 pasują do czterech kwestii w poniższym zadaniu?

Twój trzytygodniowy kurs języka angielskiego w Cambridge dobiega końca i wspólnie z jednym z kolegów / jedną z koleżanek z grupy planujecie zorganizować spotkanie pożegnalne dla wszystkich jej członków i nauczyciela. Poniżej podane są cztery kwestie, które musisz omówić w rozmowie.

Miejsce spotkania c

Podział obowiązków przy organizacji b

15 Przeczytaj wiadomości na forum internetowym dotyczące poznawania ludzi przez Internet. Jakie formy czasowników w nawiasach poprawnie je uzupełniają?

- a The Internet is great for meeting people! I 1 bumped into (bump into) John, who is now one of my best friends, in a chat room about ten years ago. After about a year, we 2 met (meet) in person. We 3 've / have been (be) good friends since then and although we 4 live (live) a long way from each other, it 5 's / has never made (never / make) much difference. We just 6 spend (spend) a lot of time on Skype or on the phone to each other.
- b It 7 depends (depend) on who you 8 want (want) to meet. One of my friends 9 has been trying (try) to find a running partner in his town through some running apps for over a year – no luck so far. I 10 guess (guess) it's much easier to meet a friend than a running buddy!
- c When I was still a student, I 11 met (meet) new people only at university. Over the last year, I 12 've / have been corresponding (correspond) with a couple of people online, but it's a bit strange for me, to be honest. I 13 prefer (prefer) meeting people face-to-face. At the moment, I 14 'm / am exchanging (exchange) messages with a girl I met at a webinar about public speaking. We 15 've been writing (write) to each other a lot recently and it 16 seems (seem) we might even register for another webinar together.

16 Przekształć zdania, używając podanych początków i zakończeń tak, aby zachować znaczenie zdań wyjściowych. Zapisz odpowiedzi w zeszycie.

- 1 I haven't driven on the left side of the road for ages. It's ages since I drove on the left side of the road.
- 2 When did you start learning Mandarin Chinese? How long have you been learning Mandarin Chinese?
- 3 We ate all the food before the other guests arrived. By the time the other guests arrived, we'd / we had eaten all the food.
- 4 The last time this nation overthrew the government was about fifty years ago. This nation hasn't / has not overthrown the government for about fifty years.
- 5 Having introduced my new friends to my parents, I started talking about our holiday plans. After I (d/had) introduced my new friends to my parents, I started talking about our holiday plans.

FUTURE SIMPLE

Will/won't + bezokolicznika bez to używamy:

- przewidując, co się zdarzy, na podstawie własnych opinii, przeczuć lub doświadczeń:
I'm sure your German teacher will be disappointed that you've decided to give up German. (mam bardzo silne przeczucie)
- podejmując spontaniczne decyzje:
I'll answer the phone. (podjąłem decyzję w tej chwili)
OK, I'll look into that matter as soon as possible. (zgodziłem się na to w tej chwili)
- formułując obietnice, propozycje lub groźby:
I'll show you around if you want.
I'll never lie to you again.

FUTURE CONTINUOUS

Will/won't + be + -ing używamy:

- opisując czynności, które będą trwały w określonym momencie w przyszłości:
I will be driving to Kraków at 10 o'clock tonight.
Will you still be working on your essay at 11 p.m.?*
- mówiąc o przyszłych zdarzeniach, które są nieuchronne lub mają charakter rutynowy:
They'll be staying with their family. (zawsze to robią)
I'll be going to the supermarket on Saturday, so I can get some charcoal for the barbecue. (w soboty zwykle jeżdżę do supermarketu)
- formułując prośby w sposób pośredni:
Will you be using your laptop tomorrow?* (bo chciałbym z niego skorzystać)

Czasowniki statyczne (be, know, believe, forget, like, want itp.) nie występują w czasie Future Continuous:
This time tomorrow I will know the exam results.

BE GOING TO

Konstrukcji be going to używamy:

- mówiąc o planach i zamiarach, które mogą ulec zmianie:
We are going to raise money for cancer research. (mamy taki zamiar, ale może to jeszcze ulec zmianie)
- opisując zdarzenia, które – na podstawie tego, co wiemy lub co obserwujemy obecnie – wydają się bardzo prawdopodobne:
Look at that fishing boat out in the sea! It is going to sink! (widzę, jak łódka się przechyla i nabiera wody)

CZASY TERAŹNIEJSZE

Do mówienia o przyszłości używamy też czasów Present Continuous i Present Simple.

Czasu Present Continuous używamy, mówiąc o planach, których szczegóły (np.: czas, miejsce) są już określone:

They are flying to New York on Monday. (mają już bilety)
I can't come tomorrow. I'm studying for my History exam with Robert. (jestem już z nim umówiony)

Czasu Present Simple używamy, mówiąc o przyszłych wydarzeniach, których termin wynika z zewnętrznych ustaleń (rozkład jazdy, program, terminy świąt itp.):

My train tomorrow leaves at 3.30 p.m.
Easter falls at the end of March next year.

1 Której formy czasownika użyje każda z osób?

1 Tegoroczny maturzysta mówiący o swoich planach:

I will study / am going to study / am studying law at Warsaw University.

2 Chłopiec próbujący uniknąć kary w rozmowie z ojcem:

I promise I won't do / am not going to do / am not doing it again!

3 Nauczyciel w szkole podający informacje swoim uczniom:

Next term is starting / is going to start / starts on 12 February.

4 Mężczyzna widzący kobietę, która próbuje wejść z wózkiem dziecięcym do tramwaju:

Wait a second, I will help / am going to help / am helping you.

5 Ktoś obserwujący człowieka wchodzącego po przechylającej się drabinie na dach budynku:

Oh no! He will be falling / is going to fall / will fall.

2 Jakie formy czasowników wyrażające przyszłość poprawnie uzupełniają zdania?

1 Tonight? No problem, I can come – I 'm not doing (not/do) anything important.

2 Dave and Robin are getting married (get married) on 14 July. Have you been invited?

3 Look at the sky. It 's/is going to rain (rain) any minute.

4 I don't think Mark will ever pass (ever/pass) his driving test. It is completely beyond him!

5 This time tomorrow we 'll/will be lying (lie) on one of the most beautiful beaches in Brazil.

6 New Year's Day falls (fall) on a Saturday next year.

7 Will you be using / Are you going to use / Are you using (you/use) your car tomorrow? I wonder if I could borrow it for the day.

8 I can see you're cold. I 'll/will turn up (turn up) the heating.

3 Formy czasu przyszłego użyte w poniższych sytuacjach są błędne. Zapisz poprawione zdania w zeszycie.

- Wybierasz się do kina z kolegami. Macie już bilety.

Exercise 4

Suggested answers:

- 2 I'm sure you'll recognise my sister at the station – she'll be wearing her red coat.
- 3 In March this year, my grandparents will have been married for fifty years.
- 4 Will you be using your car at the weekend?
- 5 The dinner will have been cooked by the time you get home.

MODAL VERBS | ZASOWNIKI MODALNE

Cechy czasowników modalnych (can, could, may, might, must, ought to, should):

- występują tylko w czasie teraźniejszym (z wyjątkiem could) – w pozostałych czasach używamy innych konstrukcji,
- mają tylko jedną formę (w 3. os. l. poj. nie dodajemy do nich końcówki -s, nie mają formy -ing ani -ed),
- pytania tworzymy przez inwersję (tzn. zamieniając miejscami podmiot i czasownik modalny), a przeczenia przez dodanie not (n't) po czasowniku modalnym,
- nie występują bezpośrednio po sobie,
- występujące po nich czasowniki niosące znaczenie mają formę bezokolicznika bez to.

OBLIGATION, ABILITIES, PERMISSION | POWINNOŚĆ, UMIEJĘTNOŚCI, POZWOLENIE

MUST, HAVE TO, NEED TO

Wyrażając nakaz, konieczność lub przymus, używamy:

- must, jeśli opisujemy wewnętrzną konieczność odczuwaną przez osobę mówiącą:
I must talk to her as soon as she comes back. (wewnętrzne przekonanie)
I must visit my grandma in hospital tomorrow. (bardzo bym chciał)
I must give Robbie a hand with renovating his flat. (naprawdę chciałbym to zrobić)
- konstrukcji have to, jeśli opisujemy przymus zewnętrzny, wynikający z reguł, przepisów albo nakazów innych osób:
We have to be at school ten minutes before the first class. (takie są reguły obowiązujące w naszej szkole)
You have to take this medicine twice a day. (nakaz lekarza)
You have to stop when the traffic lights are red. (takie są przepisy ruchu drogowego)
I have to stop taking this medication. (lekarz mi to zalecił)
- konstrukcji need to, jeśli opisujemy potrzebę lub konieczność:
I need to take a nap now.
They need to know the exact date of delivery.

DON'T HAVE TO, DON'T NEED TO, NEEDN'T

Aby wyrazić brak przymusu lub konieczności, używamy:

- konstrukcji don't have to:
You don't have to bring any food.
She doesn't have to help with the housework.
- konstrukcji don't need to:
You don't need to do the shopping today.
- konstrukcji needn't:
You needn't tell your sister about it.
She needn't be afraid of me.

NEEDN'T + HAVE + PAST PARTICIPLE

R

Wyrażając opinię, że to, co ktoś zrobił, było niepotrzebne, używamy needn't + have + past participle:

My parents needn't have worried about me because I was perfectly safe. – Moi rodzice niepotrzebnie się o mnie martwili.

Struktura needn't + have + past participle ma inne znaczenie niż struktury didn't have to / didn't need to:

She needn't have put on elegant clothes.

(ubrała się elegancko, choć nie było to konieczne)

She didn't need to put on / didn't have to put on elegant clothes.

(nie było to konieczne, więc nie ubrała się elegancko)

SHOULD, OUGHT TO

Wyrażając powinność lub udzielając rad, używamy should, shouldn't, ought i oughtn't to (które kładą słabszy nacisk na powinność niż must):

I think everybody should help their elderly parents. (powinność)

He shouldn't eat so many sweets. (moja rada)

You ought to treat him with more respect. (powinność)

OUGHT TO / SHOULD + HAVE + PAST PARTICIPLE

R

Wyrażając żal lub krytykę, że coś nie zdarzyło się w przeszłości, lub udzielając rad odnośnie przeszłości, używamy ought to / should + have + past participle:

I ought to / should have asked her to dance.

(nie poprosiłem jej do tańca i teraz żałuję)

You ought to / should have paid off your debts last year. (to źle, że nie spłaciłeś długów – krytyka)

MUSTN'T, CAN'T/COULDN'T

Mówiąc o tym, czego nie wolno robić, używamy:

- mustn't i can't – w odniesieniu do chwili obecnej lub ogólnych zakazów, przy czym mustn't wyraża bardzo silny zakaz:

You can't/mustn't drive faster than 50 km/h in built-up areas.

- couldn't – w odniesieniu do przeszłości:

When I was a teenager, I couldn't stay out as late as I wanted.

COULD/MIGHT + HAVE + PAST PARTICIPLE

R

Wyrażając irytację, że ktoś czegoś nie zrobił w przeszłości, używamy could/might + have + past participle:

They could/might have informed us about the meeting earlier.

CAN, COULD

Mówiąc o umiejętnościach posiadanych obecnie lub kiedyś, używamy can, can't, could i couldn't:

I can use chopsticks quite well.

He can't drive a car.

When I was ten, I could sew, but I couldn't knit.

CAN I COULD Z CHASOWNIKAMI STATYCZNYMI

Opisując zdarzenia lub stany za pomocą czasowników statycznych (see, hear, taste, smell, understand, remember) używamy can, can't, could, couldn't.

Tego typu zdania tłumaczymy na język polski z pominięciem czasownika modalnego:

Can you see him? – Widzisz go?

I can't remember what she said. – Nie pamiętam, co powiedziała.

I could hear him humming the song. – Słyszałem, jak nucił piosenkę.

To be honest, I couldn't feel any pain. – Mówiąc szczerze, nie czułem żadnego bólu.

BE ABLE TO

Mówiąc o możliwości wykonania jakiejś czynności lub posiadanych umiejętnościach, używamy struktury be able to. Można ją stosować we wszystkich czasach.

W czasie teraźniejszym Present Simple jest ona używana wymiennie z czasownikiem modalnym can (czasownika modalnego can używa się jednak dużo częściej):

I'm afraid I am not able to do it. = I'm afraid I can't do it.

CAN A BE ABLE TO

W czasie przeszłym Past Simple istnieje różnica pomiędzy was/were able to oraz could:

Unfortunately, I wasn't able to finish the report yesterday. – Niestety nie byłem w stanie skończyć wczoraj raportu. (konkretna sytuacja w przeszłości)

I couldn't swim very well when I was a child. –

Jako dziecko nie umiałem dobrze pływać.

(ogólna umiejętność w przeszłości)

W czasie przyszłym stosuje się tylko strukturę be able to:

I won't be able to give you a hand tomorrow, I'm afraid. – Obawiam się, że nie będę mógł ci jutro pomóc.

Be able to stosowane jest także we wszystkich innych strukturach gramatycznych:

You should be able to pass your driving test with flying colours.

I remember not being able to walk after my surgery.

CAN, COULD, MAY

Mówiąc o tym, co wolno robić lub przedstawiając prośbę, używamy:

- can i could (przy czym w prośbach could jest formą bardziej uprzejmą niż can):

Can/Could you do me a big favour?

When I was a child, I could go to bed later on Saturdays.

- may i can, jeżeli udzielamy pozwolenia lub chcemy przedstawić prośbę w jeszcze bardziej uprzejmy sposób:

You may kiss the bride now.

May/Can I leave a bit earlier today?*

WOULD LIKE, WILL, SHALL, WOULD

Wyrażając prośbę, propozycję lub zaproszenie, używamy would like:

I'd like two slices of smoked ham, please.

Would you like to join us?

Wyrażając prośbę do kogoś w sposób bardziej formalny i bezpośredni, używamy will:

Will you wait here for a moment, please?

Proponując, że coś dla kogoś zrobimy, oraz oferując lub prosząc o sugestie, używamy shall:

Shall I help you to unpack the suitcase?

Shall we stop here for a short break?

Shall używane jest także w języku bardziej formalnym i prawniczym do wyrażania postanowienia lub nakazu:

All candidates shall follow the instructions. – Wszyscy kandydaci mają postępować zgodnie z instrukcjami.

Opisując typowe zachowanie w przeszłości, używamy would:

As a child, I would always drink a glass of milk in the evening.

She won't be able to help you on Monday afternoon because she has her choir practice.

4 Zapisz w zeszycie poprawne tłumaczenia fragmentów podanych w nawiasach. Użyj właściwych czasowników modalnych.

- But do we have to go (czy musimy jechać) by car? How about the train? It's much faster than the car.
Shall I look up / check (Czy mam sprawdzić) the train timetable on the Internet or would you like to do (czy chciałbyś zrobić) it yourself? We should buy (powinniśmy kupić) the tickets fairly quickly.
- I don't think we should take (powinniśmy brać) too much stuff – it will be too heavy to carry. We don't have to take / need to take / needn't take (nie musimy brać) towels since we are going to stay in a hotel. I'm not sure about the hair dryer, though. Could you pack (Czy mógłbyś zapakować) yours, just in case?
- To be perfectly honest, I'd rather stay in a bed and breakfast or a cheap hotel. I tried staying in a youth hostel once, but I couldn't get used (nie mogłem przyzwycząć się) to sleeping with so many people in one room. I know I should be (powinienem być) more flexible, but ... I promise I will find something cheap.
- No, we can't/cannot go (nie możemy pojechać) for two weeks. What about the school and our English lessons? One week will be OK, I think, but we still have to inform (musimy zawiadomić) our teacher that we will be away.

ROZMOWA Z ODGRYWANIEM ROLI5 Które z akapitów z ćwiczenia 4 pasują do czterech kwestii w poniższym zadaniu?

Jesteś na kursie językowym w Anglii. Twoja koleżanka proponuje ci wspólną wycieczkę do Szkocji. Porozmawiaj z nią o tej propozycji. Poniżej podane są cztery kwestie, które musisz omówić.

Długość wycieczki d

Środek transportu a

Zakwaterowanie c

Rzeczy do zabrania b

- 4 It's not necessary for parents to arrange everything for their children.
Parents don't have to / don't need to arrange / needn't arrange everything for their children.
- 5 The sound coming from underneath the vehicle was deafening.
I could hear a deafening sound coming from underneath the vehicle.

- 7 Przeczytaj fragmenty rozmowy między koleżankami. Zapisz w zeszyte poprawne tłumaczenia fragmentów podanych w nawiasach. Użyj czasowników modalnych.

- a I think we ¹should choose (powinnyśmy wybrać) a class that is not too intense or physically demanding. Any kind of light fitness activity will be good for me. Aerobics, Pilates, Zumba®? Or maybe you ²? (możesz pomyśleć) of something else? It ³? (nie może być) swimming though because I hate water and water sports. But on the other hand, we ⁴? (nie musimy) go to the same class.
- b ⁵? (Czy byłabyś w stanie chodzić) at the weekend or during the week? Early morning would be ideal for me. But skipping our morning English class is out of the question – we ⁶? (nie wolno nam tego robić) it! So how about Saturday or Sunday morning? We ⁷? (będziemy musiały się przyzwyczaić) getting up a bit earlier at the weekend, but it ⁸? (nie powinno być) such a big problem. What do you think?
- c I know that they have two different payment options. You ⁹? (można płacić) as you go or there's a membership option. I think the membership option works out cheaper. ¹⁰? (Czy mam sprawdzić) that? Obviously, in that case, we ¹¹? (musiałybyśmy chodzić) at least once or even twice a week. We ¹²? (nie musimy decydować) now, but it's worth thinking about it.
- d Getting there by car might be a problem. When I went there with Robert last week, we ¹³? (nie mogliśmy znaleźć) a parking space for twenty minutes and it was quite expensive. In fact, we ¹⁴? (niepotrzebnie wzięliśmy) the car – I'm sure there is an underground station nearby. I ¹⁵? (powinnam była zapytać) our teacher – he lives close to the sports centre. I'll ask him tomorrow.

SPECULATING ABOUT THE PRESENT AND THE FUTURE | PRZYPUSZCZENIA ODNOSZĄCE SIĘ DO TERAŹNIEJSZOŚCI I PRZYSZŁOŚCI

Wyrażając przypuszczenie dotyczące tego, co ma miejsce lub nie ma miejsca w chwili obecnej albo będzie miało miejsce lub nie będzie miało miejsca w przyszłości, używamy konstrukcji must/might/may/can/could/can't + bezokolicznik bez to.

MUST

Must wyraża bardzo silne przekonanie (graniczące z pewnością), że coś ma miejsce:

Barbara must be really hungry. (jestem tego prawie pewien)

Being a teacher, you must have a lot of patience.

MAY, MIGHT, CAN, COULD

Might, may, can i could wyrażają przypuszczenie, że dane zdarzenie jest możliwe lub prawdopodobne, przy czym can używamy w odniesieniu do zdarzeń ogólnych, a could, might i may używamy w odniesieniu do konkretnych sytuacji:

A lawsuit can last for many months, even years.

This could be the book I'm looking for.

They might/may want you to explain it again.

MIGHT NOT, MAY NOT

Might not i may not wyrażają przypuszczenie, że coś nie ma lub nie będzie miało miejsca:

Lucy may/might not pass her driving test first time. (takie jest moje przypuszczenie, tego się spodziewam)

CAN'T

Can't wyraża bardzo silne przekonanie (graniczące z pewnością), że coś nie ma miejsca:

He can't be so silly as to do that. (to prawie niemożliwe)

MUST/MIGHT/MAY/COULD/CAN'T + BE + FORMA -ING

Wyrażając opinie lub przypuszczenia dotyczące zdarzeń, które odbywają się dokładnie w momencie mówienia, używamy konstrukcji must/might/may/could/can't + be + forma -ing:

This is not true! You must be joking! (jestem pewien, że żartujesz)

Sarah is not picking up the phone. She might be driving now.

You can't be taking their proposal seriously. (jestem tego prawie pewien)

1 Których form można użyć w następujących sytuacjach?

1 Podchodząc do domu koleżanki, widzisz zapalone światła w kilku pokojach.

Somebody can / must be in.

2 Masz bardzo dużo nauki przed egzaminem w poniedziałek.

I might not / can come to your party on Saturday.

3 Nie wierzysz w to, co opowiada ci twój kolega.

You can't / may not be serious.

4 Twój kolega z klasy jest bardzo smutny po sprawdzianie.

He can't / must have got the right answers.

5 Masz wątpliwości, czy warto szukać nowej pracy.

I cannot / might not change my job after all.

6 Widzisz, jak mały chłopiec potyka się i skręca kostkę.

He must / can be in terrible pain.

2 Jakie czasowniki modalne poprawnie uzupełniają dialog?

Ian: Hi, Dave. Have you seen Brian?

Dave: Yeah, I saw him in the computer room some time ago. He ¹may/might/could still be there.

Ian: No, he isn't. I've just come from the computer room.

Dave: I don't know then. Have you checked the gym? He ²may/might/could be there playing football with his friend.

Ian: No, they ³can't be there. The gym is closed today. But if they are playing football, they ⁴may/might/could be in the playground.

Dave: In the playground? You ⁵must be mad! It's pouring with rain!

Ian: OK, you ⁶might/may/could be right there. But where ⁷could he be? I've looked almost everywhere.

Dave: He ⁸may not / might not be at school then – perhaps he has already gone home. Ian ... Look! Over there! Crossing the road ...

Ian: No, it ⁹can't be Brian. He is much taller than that boy. I think I'll ask the teacher. She ¹⁰must know if Brian's class is still at school.

3 Przekształć zdania, używając czasowników modalnych: must, might, might not, may, may not, can, could lub can't tak, aby zachować znaczenie zdań wyjściowych. Zapisz odpowiedzi w zeszycie.

1 Perhaps it is going to rain later.

It may/might rain later.

2 I'm sure they're not at school now.

3 It's possible that the match will not start on time.

4 I'm sure she thinks I'm not very bright.

5 I know this isn't Robert – he's gone on holiday.

6 I'm certain the car keys are somewhere in the kitchen.

7 Perhaps the teacher will give us our homework back tomorrow.

4 Zapisz w zeszycie poprawne tłumaczenia fragmentów podanych w nawiasach. Użyj właściwych czasowników modalnych.

1 Chris has got two houses, a yacht and a helicopter – he must be (musi być) extremely wealthy.

2 She might/may want (Być może ona zechce) to have lunch with us tomorrow.

3 Patrick can't be (To niemożliwe, żeby Patrick był) fifteen years younger than his sister.

4 I'm afraid I might/may not have (mogę nie mieć) enough time to answer all the questions on the test.

5 They must think (Oni na pewno myślą) that it's the right thing to do in this situation.

6 We've just had a big breakfast. You can't be (Na pewno nie jesteś) hungry already.

7 Your new boyfriend is very knowledgeable – he must read (jestem pewna, że czyta) a lot of books.

8 Take an umbrella with you – it might/may/could rain (prawdopodobnie będzie padało) this afternoon.

9 The accused woman must feel (musi czuć się) relieved now that she has nothing left to hide.

OPIS ILUSTRACJI

5 Popatrz na zdjęcie. Które czasowniki modalne najlepiej uzupełniają jego opis?

There are two people in the foreground of this picture: an old man and a little girl. Just behind them, there is a group of other runners. They seem to be approaching the finishing line of some kind of a race. It ¹may / can / must be a competitive race because every participant has an official-looking race number on their chest. It ²must / can't / may be a marathon, though, because the runners don't look particularly tired.

All the people have wide smiles on their faces – they ³may / can't / must feel very happy about getting to the finishing line. I'm not sure, but the old man ⁴might / can't / must be the little girl's grandfather. All the other runners look much younger than the man. They ⁵must / could / can't be in their early or mid-twenties, but it's really difficult to say.

It seems to me that these people are running to collect money for some good cause in a charity event, or it ⁶may / can't / must be a school Sports Day competition. It ⁷may not / can't / might not be a school PE event, though, because the participants are of mixed ages, and include both children and adults.

Exercise 3

Suggested answers:

2 They can't be at school now.

3 The match may/might not start on time.

4 She must think I'm / I am not very bright.

5 This can't be Robert – he's gone on holiday.

6 The car keys must be somewhere in the kitchen.

7 The teacher may/might give us our homework back tomorrow.

SPECULATING ABOUT THE PAST | PRZYPUSZCZENIA ODNOSZĄCE SIĘ DO PRZESZŁOŚCI

Wyrażając opinie lub przypuszczenia dotyczące zdarzeń z przeszłości, używamy konstrukcji must/might/may/could/can't + have + past participle.

MUST + HAVE + PAST PARTICIPLE

Must + have + past participle wyraża bardzo silne przekonanie, że coś się zdarzyło:

He must have lived in France. His French is perfect.
(jestem przekonany, że mieszkał we Francji)

MIGHT/MAY/COULD + HAVE + PAST PARTICIPLE

Might, may oraz could + have + past participle wyrażają przypuszczenie, że coś się zdarzyło (w takim znaczeniu nie można użyć can):

The boss might/may/could have put off the meeting until tomorrow. (być może szef przełożył spotkanie)

CAN'T + HAVE + PAST PARTICIPLE

Can't + have + past participle wyraża bardzo silne przekonanie, że coś się nie zdarzyło:

He can't have paid £50 for this fleece. (to niemożliwe, że tyle zapłacił)

MUST/MIGHT/MAY/COULD/CAN'T + HAVE BEEN + FORMA -ING

Wyrażając opinie lub przypuszczenia dotyczące zdarzeń, które odbywały się w określonym momencie w przeszłości, używamy konstrukcji must/might/may/could/can't + have been + forma -ing:

I saw Chris running out of school. He must have been rushing home. (jestem pewien, że spieszył się do domu)

She might have been trying to cheer me up. (być może ona próbowała mnie pocieszyć)

You can't have been waiting for us for over two hours. (jestem pewien, że na nas nie czekaliście)

Poszczególne czasowniki modalne wyrażają różny stopień pewności:

They must be at school now. – Oni na pewno są teraz w szkole.

She must have learnt Italian as a child. – Z pewnością nauczyła się włoskiego jako dziecko.

They might/may/could be at school now. – Być może są teraz w szkole.

She might/may/could have learnt Italian as a child. – Być może nauczyła się włoskiego jako dziecko.

They may/might not be at school now. – Być może nie są teraz w szkole.

She may/might not have learnt Italian as a child. – Prawdopodobnie nie nauczyła się włoskiego jako dziecko.

They can't be at school now. – Na pewno nie są teraz w szkole.

She can't have learnt Italian as a child. – Z pewnością nie nauczyła się włoskiego jako dziecko.

Charles must have been cheating in the History exam the day before yesterday.

YES/NO QUESTIONS | PYTANIA OGÓLNE

Pytania ogólne to pytania, na które zazwyczaj odpowiadamy yes albo no.

Tworzymy je za pomocą czasowników posiłkowych (be, have, do, will) lub modalnych (can, should), które występują na początku pytania i poprzedzają jego podmiot:

Can I talk to you for a minute? → Yes, sure, no problem.

Do you fancy going to the cinema tonight? → No, I've got lots of homework to do.

Should we give Veronique a call? → Yes, that's a good idea.

Has the dog been disturbing you? → Not really, he's been quite good.

Zdanie oznajmujące przekształcamy w pytanie:

- za pomocą inwersji (zamiany podmiotu i czasownika miejscami):

Emma is a very diligent student.

Is Emma a very diligent student?

They have been arguing for a long time.

Have they been arguing for a long time?

He could show up any minute now.

Could he show up any minute now?

- poprzez dodanie czasownika posiłkowego na początku pytania:

She finds it hard to live on her own.

Does she find it hard to live on her own?

You answered all the questions very well.

Did you answer all the questions very well?

WH-QUESTIONS | PYTANIA SZCZEGÓŁOWE

Pytania szczegółowe rozpoczynają się od zaimka pytającego (who, whose, what, which, where, when, why, how), po którym występuje czasownik posiłkowy lub modalny poprzedzający podmiot.

- who (w pytaniach o osoby)

Who is that person leaning against the wall? → It's Anna's boyfriend.

- whose (w pytaniach o przynależność)

Whose necklace is it? → It's Sandra's.

- what i which (w pytaniach o rzeczy)

Zaimka what używamy w pytaniach o rzecz spośród nieograniczonej liczby rzeczy. Może on występować samodzielnie lub przed rzeczownikiem.

What would you like to do tonight? (spośród nieograniczonej liczby rzeczy, które można robić)
→ I'd like to go to the cinema.

What car does your father drive? (jest bardzo wiele marek samochodów) → He drives a Skoda.

Zaimka which używamy w pytaniach o rzecz/osobę spośród ograniczonej lub ściśle określonej liczby rzeczy/osób. Może on występować samodzielnie, przed rzeczownikiem lub przed zaimkami one/ones.

Which do you prefer to play: chess or draughts?

(są tylko dwie gry do wyboru) → Chess.

Which teacher in our school is the strictest? (w naszej szkole jest określona liczba nauczycieli) → Mr Jones.

Which one would you like: a red one or a blue one? (wybór spośród dwóch opcji) → A blue one would suit me fine.

- what type/kind/sort (w pytaniach o rodzaj lub typ)

What type of work would you like to do in the future?
→ I'd like to work with animals.

What kind of music is your favourite? → Jazz.

What sort of shoes are you thinking of buying?
→ Sandals.

- where (w pytaniach o miejsce)

Where did you leave your house keys? → On the coffee table.

- when (w pytaniach o czas)

When was the last time you saw your grandfather?
→ About two weeks ago.

- why (w pytaniach o przyczynę)

Why are you always so bad-tempered in the morning? → I guess it's because I don't sleep well.

- how (w pytaniach o sposób)

How do you get to school? → I usually cycle.

- how much i how many (w pytaniach o ilość lub liczbę)

How much money do you need? → About £20.

(w odniesieniu do rzeczowników niepoliczalnych)

How many people has she invited to her party? → Over ten. (w odniesieniu do rzeczowników policzalnych)

- how old (w pytaniach o wiek)

How old was your brother when he moved out?
→ Twenty-four.

- how far (w pytaniach o odległość)

How far is the nearest supermarket? → About 500 metres away.

- how often (w pytaniach o częstotliwość)

How often do you fall out with your boyfriend? → Not very often, fortunately.

- how long (w pytaniach o czas trwania)

How long can you hold your breath under water?
→ Not long, for about two minutes.

WH- QUESTIONS WITH PREPOSITIONS | PYTANIA SZCZEGÓŁOWE Z PRZYIMKIEM

W pytaniach odnoszących się do wyrażenia przyimkowego stojącego po czasowniku, przyimek należy umieścić na końcu pytania (w przeciwieństwie do języka polskiego, gdzie przyimek występuje na początku pytania).

Who are you waiting for? – Na kogo czekasz?

Which subject are you better at: Physics or Chemistry? – Z którego przedmiotu jesteś lepszy: fizyki czy chemii?

What did you and John talk about? – O czym rozmawialiście z Johnem?

SUBJECT AND OBJECT QUESTIONS | PYTANIA O PODMIOT I DOPEŁNIENIE

Pytania o podmiot to pytania, na które odpowiedzią jest podmiot zdania. Zwykle rozpoczynają się one od zaimków who, what, which albo whose. Pytania takie zachowują szyk zdania oznajmującego i nie używa się w nich czasowników posiłkowych do, does, did. Tworząc pytanie o podmiot, należy w miejsce podmiotu ze zdania oznajmującego wstawić zaimek pytający, a resztę zdania pozostawić bez zmian.

	podmiot	czasownik	dopełnienie
	John	flew	to Paris.
Pytanie o podmiot:	Who	flew	to Paris?	→ John did.
	Rob's luggage	has been lost	by the airline.
Pytanie o podmiot:	Whose luggage	has been lost	by the airline?	→ Rob's.
	This gadget	is	quite expensive.
Pytanie o podmiot:	What	is	quite expensive?	→ This gadget.

W pytaniach o dopełnienie odpowiedzią na pytanie jest właśnie dopełnienie zdania. Pytanie o dopełnienie tworzymy poprzez dodanie zaimka pytającego oraz czasownika posiłkowego na początku pytania lub zastosowanie szyku przestawnego (inwersji).

	podmiot	czasownik	dopełnienie
	Suzie	went	to the cinema with her friends.
Pytanie o dopełnienie:	Where	did Suzie go?		→ To the cinema.
Pytanie o dopełnienie:	Who	did Suzie go with?		→ Her friends.
	They	exercise	every day at 7 a.m.
Pytanie o dopełnienie:	How often	do they exercise?		→ Every day.
Pytanie o dopełnienie:	What time	do they exercise?		→ At 7 a.m.
	My sister	loves	Ed Sheeran.
Pytanie o podmiot:	Who	loves	Ed Sheeran?	→ My sister.
Pytanie o dopełnienie:	Who	does my sister love?		→ Ed Sheeran.

QUESTION TAGS | PYTANIA ROZŁĄCZNE

Pytania rozłączne (question tags) to krótkie pytania, które dodaje się na końcu zdania.

Pytania te tworzymy za pomocą czasowników posiłkowych (be, have, do, will) lub modalnych (can, should) oraz zaimka osobowego (np.: I, you, she):

*You like basketball, don't you?

*Anna can't cook very well, can she?

Po zdaniu twierdzącym pytania rozłączne mają zwykłą formę przeczącą, a po zdaniu przeczącym – twierdzącą:

Zdanie twierdzące	Question tag w formie przeczącej
Robert is very clever, You were annoyed yesterday, They love swimming,	isn't he? weren't you? don't they?
Zdanie przeczące	Question tag w formie twierdzącej
She didn't finish the letter, It won't take a long time, You can't tell me the truth,	did she? will it? can you?

INNE FORMY PYTAŃ ROZŁĄCZNYCH

R

Paul: You've just come back from holiday, haven't you?

John: Yes, it was great! Switzerland is beautiful. You went there last year, didn't you?

Paul: Two years ago, actually. We went skiing for a week.

John: Aha, I remember now. Your father is a skiing instructor, isn't he?

Paul: That's right. And he is a very good one, too!

John: I guess you can ski very well now, can't you?

Paul: Yeah ..., quite well. And what about you, John? Are you a good skier?

John: No, not really. It's not so easy to learn at my age, is it?

Paul: Oh, come on! At your age! You are not serious, are you?

John: Well ... I guess I probably need more practice. I might ask your father for a few lessons. You don't mind, do you?

Paul: No, of course not! As a matter of fact, I think he's just starting a new beginner's course. Let's call him right now, shall we?

John: Good idea. But ... wait, Paul. I still need to think about it ...

Paul: Oh, come on! There's nothing to worry about, is there?

John: OK, then. I guess it won't hurt to give it a try, will it?

DOPOWIEDZENIA SO DO I/NEITHER DO I

Jeżeli ktoś wygłasza jakieś stwierdzenie, możemy się do niego ustosunkować, używając wyrażenia So + czasownik posiłkowy/modalny + I (w języku polskim: ja też) lub Neither + czasownik posiłkowy/modalny + I (w języku polskim: ja też nie).

Jeżeli zgadzamy się ze zdaniem twierdzącym, używamy So:

A: I am tired. → B: So am I. (ja też)

A: I live in a small town. → B: So do I. (ja też)

A: I should go. → B: So should I. (ja też)

Jeżeli zgadzamy się ze zdaniem przeczącym, używamy Neither:

A: He didn't like the play. → B: Neither did I. (ja też nie)

A: She won't do it. → B: Neither will I. (ja też nie)

A: He wasn't hungry. → B: Neither was I. (ja też nie)

Gdy mówimy o osobach trzecich (nie o sobie), w konstrukcji tej używamy innego niż I podmiotu, odpowiednio zmieniając formę czasownika posiłkowego/modalnego:

A: They've been to Machu Picchu. → B: So has Peter. (Peter też)

A: He wasn't kind to us. → B: Neither were they. (oni też nie)

A: I don't like coffee. → B: Neither does my wife. (moja żona też nie)

COUNTABLE AND UNCOUNTABLE NOUNS | RZECZOWNIKI POLICZALNE I NIEPOLICZALNE

COUNTABLE NOUNS | RZECZOWNIKI POLICZALNE

- określają rzeczy, które można policzyć: a cat, five books
- występują zarówno w liczbie pojedynczej, jak i mnogiej:
This watermelon is absolutely delicious. These watermelons are absolutely delicious.
- w przypadku rzeczowników pospolitych oznaczających ludzi w większości mają taką samą formę w odniesieniu do rodzaju męskiego i żeńskiego (np.: journalist, student), chociaż niektóre przybierają różne formy w zależności od płci, np.: actor – actress, waiter – waitress, husband – wife, nephew – niece, uncle – aunt, hero – heroine, widower – widow,
- mogą być poprzedzone przedimkami a/an (a dress) lub the (the dress), liczebnikami (two dresses) oraz określnikami ilości, np.: some/any, (too) many, how many, a lot of, (a) few (patrz tabela poniżej).

Pytania	Zdania twierdzące	Zdania przeczące
Are there any tickets? How many tickets are there?	There are some tickets. There are (a) few tickets. There are a lot of tickets. There are too many tickets.	There aren't any tickets. There aren't many tickets. There are no tickets.

Liczba mnoga

Liczbę mnogą rzeczowników policzalnych tworzymy przez:

- dodanie końcówki -s (np.: plan – plans, girl – girls),
- dodanie końcówki -es w przypadku rzeczowników zakończonych na -s, -ss, -x, -sh i -ch (np.: bus – buses, dress – dresses, box – boxes, bush – bushes, watch – watches),
- dodanie końcówki -ies w przypadku rzeczowników zakończonych na spółgłoskę + -y (np.: country – countries, story – stories),
- dodanie końcówki -s w przypadku rzeczowników zakończonych na samogłoskę + -y (np.: day – days, boy – boys),
- dodanie końcówki -es w przypadku niektórych rzeczowników zakończonych na -o (np.: potato – potatoes, hero – heroes); wyjątki: pianos, photos, zeros,
- dodanie końcówki -ves w przypadku niektórych rzeczowników zakończonych na -f lub -fe (np.: knife – knives, half – halves); wyjątki: roofs, cliffs, chiefs,
- zmianę formy w przypadku rzeczowników nieregularnych (np.: man – men, woman – women, child – children, foot – feet, tooth – teeth, mouse – mice).

Niektóre rzeczowniki mają tę samą formę w liczbie pojedynczej i mnogiej (np.: fish, sheep, deer).

Liczbę mnogą rzeczowników złożonych tworzymy, dodając odpowiednią końcówkę:

- do drugiego rzeczownika, gdy rzeczownik złożony tworzą dwa rzeczowniki (np.: bedroom – bedrooms, pocket knife – pocket knives),
- do rzeczownika, gdy rzeczownik jest złożony z rzeczownika i przymiotnika (np.: washing machine – washing machines),
- do pierwszego rzeczownika, jeżeli rzeczownik złożony tworzą jeden lub dwa rzeczowniki i przymiarek (np.: sister-in-law – sisters-in-law, passer-by – passers-by). R

Niektóre rzeczowniki mają tylko formę liczby mnogiej i występują z czasownikami w liczbie mnogiej (np.: clothes, trousers, jeans, pyjamas, scissors, binoculars, outskirts, congratulations, goods, thanks):

My little cousin's clothes are filthy.

UNCOUNTABLE NOUNS | RZECZOWNIKI NIEPOLICZALNE

- określają rzeczy, których nie można policzyć: oil, rice, love
- następuje po nich czasownik w liczbie pojedynczej:
Petrol is becoming really expensive.
- mogą być poprzedzone przedimkiem the (the coffee) oraz określnikami ilości, np.: some/any, (too) much, how much, a lot of lub (a) little (patrz tabela poniżej).

Pytania	Zdania twierdzące	Zdania przeczące
Is there any water? How much water is there?	There is some water. There is (a) little water. There is a lot of water. There is too much water.	There isn't any water. There isn't much water. There is no water.

Do rzeczowników niepoliczalnych zaliczamy:

- nazwy ciał stałych, płynów, gazów, związków chemicznych (np.: iron, butter, oil, oxygen),
- rzeczowniki abstrakcyjne (np.: freedom, time, fun, health),
- nazwy uczuć (np.: love, anger, honesty, courage),
- nazwy chorób (np.: pneumonia, flu, measles),
- rzeczowniki zbiorowe (np.: furniture, luggage, jewellery),
- niektóre inne rzeczowniki (np.: accommodation, advice, equipment, homework, information, knowledge, money, news, progress, traffic, travel, weather, work).

Przed rzeczownikami niepoliczalnymi często występują policzalne określenia ilości, np.: a piece of bread/advice/information/luggage; a bottle of water/juice; a pair of jeans; a loaf/slice of bread; a game of tennis; a bar of soap.

COLLECTIVE NOUNS | RZECZOWNIKI ZBIOROWE

Rzeczowniki zbiorowe (np.: army, audience, class, committee, company, crew, crowd, data, family, government, group, jury, press, public, staff, team) mogą występować z czasownikiem w liczbie pojedynczej lub mnogiej. Zależy to od tego, czy opisywaną grupę traktujemy jako całość, czy jako zbiór pojedynczych jednostek:

The team has done a good job. (zespół jako całość)

The team are going to work hard this season. (każdy członek zespołu z osobna)

Niektóre rzeczowniki zbiorowe (np.: police, people) występują tylko z czasownikami w liczbie mnogiej.

The police are looking for a suspect.

QUANTIFIERS | OKREŚLNIKI IŁOŚCI

many, a few, much, a little	a lot, all, most, some, any
• (too) many (of), not many (of), few, a few (of) używamy przed rzeczownikami policzalnymi: (too) many / not many / few / a few pens • (too) much, not much, little, a little używamy przed rzeczownikami niepoliczalnymi: (too) much / not much / little / a little coffee	A lot (of), lots of, all (of), most (of), some (of), (not) any występują przed rzeczownikami niepoliczalnymi i policzalnymi w liczbie mnogiej: a lot of time / lots of time / most of the time / some time / all the time a lot of / lots of / most / some / all children We haven't got any tea/potatoes.
none	both	either, neither
None (of) występuje przed rzeczownikami w liczbie mnogiej, gdy mowa o więcej niż dwóch osobach lub rzeczach. Po none (of) może występować czasownik w liczbie pojedynczej lub mnogiej (często w mowie potocznej): None of the employees has received a bonus. None of the blouses fit her.	Both (of) występuje przed rzeczownikami w liczbie mnogiej, gdy mowa o dokładnie dwóch osobach lub rzeczach: Both girls are very intelligent. Both of us were disappointed.	Either (of) i neither (of) odnoszą się do dwóch osób lub rzeczy. Po either of lub neither of może występować czasownik w liczbie pojedynczej lub mnogiej: There are solid arguments for either decision. Neither of her sisters likes/like History.

W omówionych wyrażeniach of występuje:

- w wyrażeniach a lot of i none of, z wyjątkiem krótkich odpowiedzi:
How many of your classmates were at the concert?
A lot. – Wielu. / None. – Żadnego.
None of us felt like going home.
- zawsze przed zaimkami osobowymi: many / a few / all / most / some / either / neither / both of us/you/them
- przed przymiotnikami w funkcji dzierżawczej (przy czym w przypadku all i both przyimek of można pominąć):
many / a few / most / some / either / neither of my colleagues all / both (of) their children
- przed rzeczownikami poprzedzonymi the:
many / a few / all / most / some / either / neither / both of the questions on the test

POSSESSIVE ADJECTIVES AND PRONOUNS | PRZYMIOTNIKI I ZAIMKI DZIERŻAWCZE

W języku angielskim przynależność kogoś lub czegoś można wyrazić za pomocą przymiotników w funkcji dzierżawczej (my, her) lub zaimków dzierżawczych (mine, hers). Obie te formy tłumaczy się na język polski jednakowo, używając zaimków dzierżawczych (mój, jej).

Zaimek osobowy	Przymiotnik dzierżawczy	Zaimek dzierżawczy
I	my book	mine
you	your book	yours
he	his book	his
she	her book	hers
it	its book	its
we	our book	ours
you	your book	yours
they	their book	theirs

Przymiotniki w funkcji dzierżawczej występują zawsze przed rzeczownikami:

Did you meet her brother?

Zaimki dzierżawcze występują samodzielnie, bez rzeczownika:

This pen is mine.

Their bedroom is very cosy, but ours is much more spacious.

W języku angielskim do wyrażenia przynależności czegoś lub kogoś do danej osoby, zwierzęcia, rzeczy lub miejsca można użyć jednej z dwóch form dopełniaczowych (possessive): z 's lub z of.

W formie dopełniaczowej z 's w języku angielskim, odwrotnie niż w polskim, osoba, do której coś przynależy, występuje zawsze na pierwszym miejscu:

Anna's handbag

Tworząc formę dopełniaczową z 's:

- do rzeczowników w liczbie pojedynczej dodajemy 's: Pete's notebook
- do rzeczowników regularnych w liczbie mnogiej dodajemy ': his grandparents' car
- do rzeczowników nieregularnych w liczbie mnogiej dodajemy 's: these women's surnames
- do rzeczowników złożonych dodajemy 's: my mother-in-law's suitcase
- do imion lub nazwisk w liczbie pojedynczej kończących się na -s dodajemy ' lub 's (przy czym forma z 's występuje częściej): Thomas' sister lub Thomas's sister

Jeżeli coś lub ktoś przynależy do dwóch osób lub zwierząt, to 's występuje tylko przy drugim rzeczowniku:

Robert and Barbara's house – dom Roberta i Barbary (ich wspólny dom)

ALE: Robert's and Barbara's houses – domy Roberta i Barbary (każde z nich posiada własny dom)

Jeżeli z kontekstu wynika, o czym mówimy, to możemy pominąć rzeczownik określający posiadaną rzecz:

Whose car uses more petrol per mile? Tom's.
(wiadomo, że chodzi o samochód)

Formy z 's używamy:

- do wyrażenia przynależności do ludzi i zwierząt: the boy's toy, a bird's beak
- z określeniami czasu: Friday's press conference, two hours' break*

Formy z of używamy:

- do wyrażenia przynależności do rzeczy nieożywionych lub abstrakcyjnych: the walls of the building, the price of independence
- po wyrazach takich jak: end, top, bottom, front, back, middle, side: in the middle of the meeting
- gdy rzeczownik poprzedzony jest określnikiem (np.: this, that, any, a). Po of używamy wtedy zaimka dzierżawczego lub rzeczownika w dopełniaczu: Tom is a friend of mine.

What do you think of this new idea of Mark's?

Obu form możemy użyć, aby wyrazić przynależność:

- do grupy ludzi lub organizacji: the government's proposal / the proposal of the government
- do danego miejsca: America's natural resources / the natural resources of America

1 Jakie formy poprawnie uzupełniają zdania?

- I like our car much more than *their / theirs.
- Could you stop using my / mine lipstick instead of yours?
- Mike's / Mike and Mark's bedroom hasn't been tidied up for ages.
- Ours / Our neighbours had a very loud party in their flat yesterday.
- Her dress really suits me, but I'd rather borrow *your / yours.
- The meeting of tomorrow / Tomorrow's meeting has been postponed.

2 Przepisz zdania do zeszytu, przekształcając zaimki podane w nawiasach we właściwe przymiotniki w funkcji dzierżawczej lub zaimki dzierżawcze.

- 4 Jakie przymiotniki w funkcji dzierżawczej lub zaimki dzierżawcze poprawnie uzupełniają dialog?

Anna: Becky! Where are ¹my silver earrings? Have you seen them?

Becky: No, I haven't. But they're not ²yours! They're ³mine! I got them from Julie, one of ⁴my best friends, remember?

Anna: Julie? Yeah ... I know ⁵her sister quite well. They live in Blackpool Road with ⁶their grandmother, don't they? And they have two Siamese cats.

Becky: Actually the cats are not ⁷theirs. They belong to ⁸their cousin, Alexia, who visits them every now and then. And that big Labrador retriever that you can sometimes see is ⁹hers, too.

Anna: Do you think ¹⁰our parents will ever let us have a pet?

Becky: I wouldn't count on it. They'll say that the parrot was ¹¹ours and we didn't take a proper care of it. And Dad will probably remind us how many times ¹²its cage was not cleaned out and he had to do it himself.

Anna: Yeah ... You're probably right.

- 5 Które formy dopełniaczowe, przymiotniki w funkcji dzierżawczej lub zaimki dzierżawcze poprawnie uzupełniają opowiadanie?

Last summer ¹my / mine boyfriend invited me to his ² aunt's / aunts' wedding. I had never met her before and it was my ³ boyfriend's / boyfriends' decision, not ⁴my / mine, to accept the invitation. At ⁵the ceremony's / the beginning of the ceremony, when everybody was waiting for the bride and groom, I suddenly noticed three girls wearing dresses very similar to ⁶my / mine. ⁷Their / Theirs were a bit longer, but exactly the same colour and style. When I realised that my dress was practically identical to the ⁸bridesmaid's / bridesmaids' dresses, I didn't know what to do. Then one of the ⁹bride's and groom's / bride and groom's friends asked me to join the other girls. He thought that I was ¹⁰my boyfriend's aunt's / my boyfriend aunt's bridesmaid!

ODPOWIEDZI NA PYTANIA

- 6 Przeczytaj wypowiedź ucznia i zapisz w zeszycie poprawne tłumaczenia fragmentów podanych w nawiasach.

Do you think young people should start working while they're still at school? Why? / Why not?

In my opinion, the best time to start working is at the ¹end of school (koniec szkoły). While at school, ²our main/first duty (naszym podstawowym obowiązkiem) is to study and there is simply no time to combine studying and working. ³One of my friends (Jedna z moich koleżanek) started babysitting twice a week in the ⁴last year of school (ostatnim roku szkoły), just before the Matura exams. As a result, she didn't have enough time for revision and ⁵her marks/grades (jej oceny) were much worse than ⁶other students'/pupils' (innych uczniów). I believe when you're at school, studying takes priority over anything else. ⁷My parents' opinion/view (Zdanie moich rodziców) is similar to ⁸mine (mojego) and they have never expected me to work.

- 7 Które formy dopełniaczowe, przymiotniki dzierżawcze lub zaimki dzierżawcze poprawnie uzupełniają zdania?

Hi Mike,

I hope you're doing fine.

How is ¹your / yours new job? ²My / Mine is more challenging than I expected. At ³the day's end / the end of the day I am usually exhausted, but I guess I shouldn't complain. ⁴Our / Ours main building is in the town centre and everybody has ⁵their / theirs own office. And I'm learning a lot. The salary, though, is much lower than my ⁶sister's / sisters'. She has also just started ⁷her / hers first job. With my salary and ⁸her / hers, we can afford to rent a flat together and make ends meet.

And how are you feeling after the break-up with Molly? I know the decision was ⁹your / yours, but it's probably still a bit painful, isn't it? Are you still living at your ¹⁰parent's / parents' house or have you moved out? Living on ¹¹your / yours own can be really expensive (I know something about it!). But I guess that's the ¹²independence's price / price of independence.

Have you heard about ¹³Tom's and Jessica's / Tom and Jessica's change of plans? ¹⁴Their / Theirs expedition to Africa is now supposed to start in ¹⁵the middle of next year / next year's middle rather than in March. They say they need more time to get ready for their trip. I bet they'll be much better prepared than we were for ¹⁶our / ours last year!

Take care and I hope to hear from you soon.

Pete

ADJECTIVES | PRZYMIOTNIKI

Przymiotniki opisują rzeczowniki i zawsze występują przed nimi (an interesting book, a cuddly toy). Mają one taką samą formę w liczbie pojedynczej i mnogiej (an interesting book, interesting books). Mogą także występować z niektórymi czasownikami (np.: appear, be, feel, look, seem, smell, taste, become, get itd.) i ich miejsce jest wtedy po czasowniku (feel guilty, taste good, get dark).

Przymiotniki mogą także łączyć się z innymi częściami mowy:

- przedimkiem określonym the, tworząc rzeczownik osobowy w liczbie mnogiej odnoszący się ogólnie do grup ludzi, np.: the rich – bogaci, the poor – biedni, the great – wielcy, the unemployed – bezrobotni,

- zaimkami how lub what w zdaniach wykrzyknikowych:
What a stupid mistake!
How kind of you to help me!

What używamy z przymiotnikiem i następującym po nim rzeczownikiem:

What a crazy day!

How używamy tylko z przymiotnikiem, bez następującego po nim rzeczownika:

How awful!

- wyrażeniami so i such, wzmacniającymi znaczenie przymiotnika:

I was so disappointed with the test score.

She is such a modest person.

So używamy tylko z przymiotnikiem, bez następującego po nim rzeczownika:

I was so tired that I couldn't fall asleep.

Such używamy z przymiotnikiem i następującym po nim rzeczownikiem:

Beata and Iza are such good friends.

Istnieją także przymiotniki złożone z więcej niż jednego wyrazu, np.: a fair-haired boy, a blue-eyed girl, a well-paid job, a five-hour journey, a freshly-painted wall.

KONSTRUKCJA TO + BEZOKOLICZNIK PO PRZYMIOTNIKACH

Konstrukcji to + bezokolicznik używamy po następujących przymiotnikach:

- the first / the second / the third* itd. oraz the next i the last:

He was the first to come.

The German team was the next to qualify for the World Cup.

- przymiotnikach wyrażających uczucia, np.: happy, sorry, surprised, glad, pleased, sad, disappointed, amazed:

I'm glad to see you.

- too* + przymiotnik w stopniu równym:

This problem is too difficult to solve.

Exercise 7

- I can't understand why some children are afraid of dogs, while others can play with them for hours without a sign of fear.
- We started our tour in Samoens, which is a beautiful mountain village in the French Alps, and finished in Amsterdam, the capital city of the Netherlands.
- A: Do you know the Smith family who moved into our neighbourhood in March?
B: Yes, the parents are teachers and their three daughters go to school in a nearby town.
- There were a few people waiting when we got to the airport, but nobody knew why the plane was delayed.
- In the nineteenth century, a flood of immigrants from Eastern Europe entered the United States.
- At the end of an exhausting day, I went to the hospital to visit a very sick colleague.
- I used to eat breakfast at home in the morning before work, but now I need to get up at the crack of dawn, so I'd rather get an extra twenty minutes of sleep.

ADJECTIVE ORDER | KOLEJNOŚĆ PRZYMIOTNIKÓW

Jeżeli kilka przymiotników opisuje jeden rzeczownik, występują one w określonej kolejności. Im bardziej obiektywny przymiotnik, tym znajduje się on bliżej rzeczownika. Przymiotniki subiektywne (wyrażające opinię) znajdują się najdalej od rzeczownika. Kolejność przymiotników przed rzeczownikiem:

Opinia	Wielkość/Kształt	Wiek	Kolor	Narodowość/Pochodzenie	Materiał	Rzeczownik
	a big		black		leather	jacket
a clever		young		Japanese		boy
a comfortable	narrow				wooden	desk

COMPARATIVE AND SUPERLATIVE ADJECTIVES | STOPNIOWANIE PRZYMIOTNIKÓW

Przymiotniki (Adjectives)	Stopień wyższy (Comparative)	Stopień najwyższy (Superlative) jednosylabowe np.: clean short	dodajemy końcówkę -er cleaner shorter	dodajemy końcówkę -est the cleanest the shortest jednosylabowe, zakończone na -e np.: wide simple	dodajemy końcówkę -r wider simpler	dodajemy końcówkę -st the widest the simplest
jednosylabowe, zakończone na pojedynczą samogłoskę + pojedynczą spółgłoskę np.: big slim	podwajamy końcową spółgłoskę i dodajemy końcówkę -er bigger slimmer	podwajamy końcową spółgłoskę i dodajemy końcówkę -est the biggest the slimmest
dwusylabowe, zakończone na -y np.: pretty lazy	kończącą -y zmieniamy na -ier prettier lazier	kończącą -y zmieniamy na -iest the prettiest the laziest
dwusylabowe lub dłuższe np.: modest attractive	dodajemy more przed przymiotnikiem more modest more attractive	dodajemy the most przed przymiotnikiem the most modest the most attractive
nieregularne np.: good bad little far old	better worse less further (farther) elder (o członkach rodziny)	the best the worst the least the furthest (the farthest) the eldest (o członkach rodziny, np.: the eldest brother)

COMPARATIVES | PRZYMIOTNIKI W STOPNIU WYŻSZYM

Przymiotników w stopniu wyższym oraz słowa than (od/niż) używamy w celu porównania dwóch osób lub rzeczy:

Who is shorter, you or your brother?

Whose bedroom is cosier, your twin brother's or yours?

Po than używamy zaimka w formie dopełnienia:

She is more observant than me.

SUPERLATIVES | PRZYMIOTNIKI W STOPNIU NAJWYŻSZYM

Przymiotników w stopniu najwyższym używamy w celu wyrażenia tego, że ktoś lub coś posiada jakąś cechę w największym natężeniu (na tle innych). Przymiotniki w stopniu najwyższym zwykle poprzedzamy przedimkiem the. Po przymiotniku możemy użyć in albo of. In występuje z rzeczownikiem w liczbie pojedynczej odnoszącym się do miejsca lub grupy:

Little Harry is the youngest in our family.

Mike is the most agreeable person in our office.

For me, Charlie Chaplin is the funniest of all comedians.

WYRAŻANIE MAŁEJ I DUŻEJ RÓŻNICY

Chcąc wyrazić małą różnicę, używamy a little, a bit lub slightly przed przymiotnikiem w stopniu wyższym:

I hope my jokes are a little / a bit / slightly funnier than his.

Chcąc wyrazić dużą różnicę, używamy much lub a lot przed przymiotnikami w stopniu wyższym oraz by far przed przymiotnikami w stopniu najwyższym:

Travelling by coach is much / a lot cheaper than by train.

Julia is much / a lot more talkative than her sister.

This was by far the hardest exam this year.

STOPIEŃ NIŻSZY I NAJNIŻSZY

Przymiotniki w stopniu niższym i najniższym tworzymy za pomocą wyrażen less oraz the least:

This game is less competitive than we expected.

This game is the least competitive of all the ones we've seen so far.

She is the least competitive person in class.

STOPIEŃ WYŻSZY + AND + STOPIEŃ WYŻSZY

W celu pokazania, że jakaś cecha wzrasta lub maleje, używamy konstrukcji stopień wyższy + and + stopień wyższy:

It was getting darker and darker.

Petrol is getting more and more expensive.

Holidays abroad are becoming less and less popular.

THE + STOPIEŃ WYŻSZY, THE + STOPIEŃ WYŻSZY

W celu pokazania, że dwie rzeczy zmieniają się jednocześnie lub że jedna rzecz jest zależna od drugiej, używamy konstrukcji: the + stopień wyższy, the + stopień wyższy:

The older she becomes, the more beautiful she gets.*

The faster you are, the higher score you will get.*

TOO, (NOT) ENOUGH, AS ... AS

Porównując osoby lub rzeczy, możemy posłużyć się także następującymi wyrażeniami:

- too (zbyt):

This cake is too sweet for me.

The weather was definitely too hot for my liking.

- (not) enough (wystarczająco/niewystarczająco):

The water was not warm enough to take a bath in.

- (not) as ... as (tak ... jak / nie tak ... jak):

Robert is as clever as his brother.

Our new payment method is as convenient as the old one.

Our new teacher is not as patient as Mrs Smith.

My best friends

My three ¹*best* (good) friends are very different, but we get on very well together. Kathy is certainly ²*the most intelligent* (intelligent) of all of us – I think she's a genius. Her IQ is ³*higher* (high) than her much older brother's. But Kathy is also very shy and much ⁴*quieter* (quiet) than Celia, Fiona and me. Celia loves sport and she's ⁵*the fastest* (fast) long-distance runner in our school. She's not so good at team sports though – in fact, she's ⁶*the worst* (bad) basketball player I know. Strange, isn't it? And Fiona doesn't like sport at all. She's ⁷*the funniest* (funny) girl in the world and everybody likes her company. Recently though, she has become ⁸*more serious* (serious) about life and her future, perhaps because she is ⁹*older* (old) and ¹⁰*more mature* (mature) than us. My three friends are even ¹¹*closer* (close) to me than my own two sisters. I think life is much ¹²*easier* (easy) when you have nice people around. ¹³*The saddest* (sad) people I know are those who have no true friends.

- The next morning was even ¹*worse* (gorszy). First, she was woken up almost forty-five minutes ²*later than* (później niż) she had requested. Then, at breakfast, her fried egg was cold and the coffee machine was out of order, so she had to drink instant coffee, but the waiter rudely refused to acknowledge the problems. Your staff could certainly be ³*more polite* (bardziej uprzejma).
- First of all, her room was ⁴*much more expensive than* (dużo droższy niż) the rates you give on your webpage. Besides, the rate was supposed to be ⁵*lower* (niższa) because she was staying for two nights. And she ended up paying ⁶*twice as much* (dwa razy więcej) as she'd expected.
- My name's Maria Kowalska and I'm calling on behalf of my friend Teresa Nowak, who stayed at your hotel last weekend. She asked me to call you because her English ⁷*is not good enough* (nie jest wystarczająco dobry) to talk on the phone. My friend would like to complain about the quality of your hotel services. In fact, she has never stayed in ⁸*such a terrible/horrible* (takim okropnym) hotel before.
- She got a room on ⁹*the highest/top* (najwyższym) floor and the lift was out of order. So she had to climb six flights of stairs and nobody helped her carry her suitcase to her room. Then, the water was ¹⁰*too cold* (zbyt zimna) to take a bath in. And on top of that, the people in the other rooms on her floor were ¹¹*so noisy* (tak hałaśliwi) that she couldn't sleep until early in the morning.

- a My name's Robert Szewczyk and I've come to talk about my course. On the first day, I took a test and was placed into an intermediate group. But I think my level of English is ¹much higher (dużo wyższy) than that. I know that my test score ²wasn't / was not good enough (nie był wystarczająco dobry) for the advanced level, but I was quite nervous while writing it. I'm sure my test result is ³worse than (gorszy niż) my level of English.
- b I am also unhappy about the homework. I think we should be given homework more often and it should be ⁴much more difficult (dużo trudniejsza) than it is at the moment. For some students, it's ⁵the least favourite (najmniej ulubiona) part of the course, but some of us want to learn. The more I practise, ⁶the better (tym lepszy) my English will be.
- c When I enrolled on the course, I was told that my group would not have ⁷more than (więcej niż) eight students. But in my intermediate class there are sixteen students at the moment – that is twice as many as I was led to believe. I don't think it's fair. It was ⁸such an expensive course (taki drogi kurs) that we should be learning in ⁹much smaller groups (dużo mniejszych grupach).
- d I think the course would be ¹⁰much more useful (dużo bardziej pożyteczny) if there were more extra activities. ¹¹The simplest idea (Najprostszym pomysłem) would be a film evening, where we could watch English films with English subtitles. ¹²How strange (Jak dziwnie) that your school doesn't offer anything like that!

ADVERBS | PRZYSŁÓWKI

Przysłówki zwykle opisują czasowniki, imiesłowy czasu przeszłego, przymiotniki lub inne przysłówki:

He looked at me angrily. (przysłówek opisujący czasownik)

The window was completely broken. (przysłówek opisujący imiesłów czasu przeszłego)

I am extremely tired. (przysłówek opisujący przymiotnik)

My little brother walks incredibly slowly. (przysłówek opisujący inny przysówek)

Reguły pisowni:

- do większości przymiotników dodajemy końcówkę -ly (np.: bad – badly, strong – strongly),
- w przypadku przymiotników zakończonych na -le końcówkę -e zmieniamy na -y (np.: probable – probably),
- w przypadku przymiotników zakończonych spółgłoską + -y końcówkę -y zmieniamy na -i i dodajemy -ly (np.: hungry – hungrily, lucky – luckily),
- w przypadku przymiotników zakończonych na -ic dodajemy końcówkę -ally (np.: tragic – tragically, wyjątek: public – publicly).

Niektóre wyrazy z końcówką -ly nie są przysłówkami, ale przymiotnikami (np.: cowardly, elderly, friendly, lively, lonely, lovely, silly, ugly):

His elderly father lives in Boston.

Aby utworzyć od nich przysłówki, często używamy wyrażenia in a ... way/manner:

He looked at me in a friendly way.

Niektóre przysłówki zachowują taką samą formę, jak odpowiadające im przymiotniki (np.: early, fast, hard, high, late, long, low, near):

I felt pressured to make a fast decision. (przymiotnik)

The boy swallowed his food fast. (przysówek)

Niektóre przysłówki mają dwie formy, które różnią się znaczeniem (np.: hard i hardly, near i nearly, late i lately, high i highly):

Our team will be fighting hard to avoid defeat. (ciężko, z wysiłkiem)

There is hardly any coffee left. (prawie nie, ledwie)

She lives near my school. (blisko)

They lost nearly everything. (prawie)

I got home very late. (późno)

I haven't seen her lately. (ostatnio)

The clouds were high in the sky. (wysoko)

She is a highly effective chief executive. (bardzo)

TOO (NOT) ENOUGH

Przysłówków można również używać ze słowami too i (not) enough:

- too (zbyt):
You're walking too slowly.
- (not) enough (wystarczająco/niewystarczająco):
You're not driving fast enough.

COMPARATIVE AND SUPERLATIVE ADVERBS | STOPNIOWANIE PRZYSŁÓWKÓW

- Większość przysłówków stopniujemy poprzez dodanie more (stopień wyższy) lub the most (stopień najwyższy):
quietly – more quietly – the most quietly
- Przysłówki, które zachowują formę przymiotnika, stopniujemy tak jak przymiotniki:
hard – harder – the hardest
- Niektóre przysłówki stopniowane są w sposób nieregularny:
well – better – the best badly – worse – the worst much – more – the most little – less – the least far – farther/further – the farthest / the furthest

POSITION OF ADVERBS | MIEJSCE PRZYSŁÓWKA W ZDANIU

Przysłówki mogą występować:

- przed czasownikiem głównym:
He quickly shut the door.
- po czasowniku to be:
He is always cheerful and attentive.
- po czasowniku posiłkowym, ale przed czasownikiem głównym:
I have never seen it.
They are slowly recovering.
- na końcu zdania:
They listened carefully.
- na początku zdania w zdaniach z inwersją:
Hardly had I sat down when Tom called me.

CZŁOWIEK

What qualities in people do you most admire and value?

When I was younger, I was ¹particularly (PARTICULAR) impressed by people who were ²exceptionally (EXCEPTIONAL) good at sport and worked very ³hard (HARD) to achieve success. Two of my schoolmates became regional swimming champions and carried on competing ⁴successfully (SUCCESSFUL) until they were sixteen. Since primary school, my views have ⁵slightly (SLIGHT) changed. Now I look up to people who are able to adjust very ⁶fast (FAST) to a changing job market. I admire their determination and flexibility. Another quality that is very important to me is punctuality. I find it ⁷totally (TOTAL) disrespectful when people show up ⁸late (LATE) for parties or when we go out.

EVERY-, SOME-, ANY-, NO-

Zaimków nieokreślonych everybody, somebody, anybody, nobody używamy, mówiąc o ludziach, everything, something, anything, nothing – mówiąc o rzeczach, a everywhere, somewhere, anywhere, nowhere – mówiąc o miejscach. Występują one z czasownikami w liczbie pojedynczej:

Someone has just stolen my bike.

Nothing is the same without you.

Everybody/Everyone (każdy/wszyscy), everything (wszystko) i everywhere (wszędzie) występują:

- w zdaniach twierdzących:

Everyone in my office is really supportive.

They travel everywhere on a shoestring.

- w pytaniach:

Have you got everything?

Somebody/Someone (ktoś), something (coś) i somewhere (gdzieś) występują:

- w zdaniach twierdzących:

Somebody was trying to reach you on the phone.

- w pytaniach o charakterze propozycji lub prośby:

Can I get you something to drink?

Anybody/Anyone (ktoś/ktokolwiek, nikt), anything (coś/cokolwiek, nic) i anywhere (gdzieś/gdziekolwiek, nigdzie) występują:

- w pytaniach:

Have you travelled anywhere in Africa?

- w zdaniach przeczących:

There isn't anything more to do.

Nobody / No one (nikt), nothing (nic) i nowhere (nigdzie) występują w zdaniach przeczących:

Nobody wants to be treated like that.

These people have nowhere to sleep.

Zaimki nobody, no one, nothing, nowhere same w sobie stanowią przeczenie. Zdania, w których występują, mają konstrukcję zdań twierdzących. W języku polskim używamy wtedy podwójnego przeczenia:

Nothing is more elegant than a black suit. –

Nic nie jest bardziej eleganckie niż czarny garnitur.

There is nowhere to go running in my town. –

W moim mieście nie ma nigdzie miejsca do biegania.

EVERY, EACH

Zaimki every i each (każdy, każda, każde) występują zwykle z rzeczownikami w liczbie pojedynczej.

Every odnosi się do grupy osób lub rzeczy (gdy myślimy o nich jako całości):

Every student has to pass this exam.

(= All students have to pass this exam.)

Each odnosi się do poszczególnych osób lub rzeczy (gdy myślimy o nich jako oddzielnych jednostkach):

Each person in turn answered the question.

ANOTHER, OTHER, THE OTHER, OTHERS, THE OTHERS

Zaimek nieokreślony another (następny, kolejny, jeszcze jeden, jakiś inny) występuje zwykle w zdaniu z rzeczownikami policzalnymi w liczbie pojedynczej, z zaimkiem one lub samodzielnie:

Have another cup of coffee.

If you don't fancy this cardigan, try on another one.

One girl smiled at me, another just gave me a quick glance.

Another można użyć z rzeczownikami w liczbie mnogiej, ale tylko wtedy kiedy jest poprzedzone few lub liczebnikiem głównym:

They needed another two weeks to complete the task.

You'll have to wait for another few months.

Zaimka other (inne, inni) używamy z rzeczownikami policzalnymi w liczbie mnogiej lub zaimkiem ones:

I found the film captivating while other people thought it was too predictable.

These shoes are too tight. Could you bring me some other ones, please?

The other (ten drugi, ta druga z dwóch wymienionych) występuje zawsze z rzeczownikami w liczbie pojedynczej lub z zaimkiem one:

My two best friends are very different. One is very much into sport, but the other absolutely hates it.

My left shoulder hurts a lot, but the other one is absolutely fine.

Zaimek others (inne, inni) występuje zawsze samodzielnie, zastępując rzeczownik w liczbie mnogiej:

Some people are risk-takers, others like to play it safe.

You shouldn't expect others to do your chores.

Zaimek the others (pozostali, pozostałe, ci drudzy z określonej grupy) występuje zawsze samodzielnie, zastępując rzeczownik w liczbie mnogiej:

Half of my class wanted to skip school, the others opted against it.

Three out of ten candidates were very good.

The others didn't meet our standards.*

EACH OTHER, ONE ANOTHER

Zaimków wzajemnych each other i one another (się, siebie, sobie, nawzajem) używamy, mówiąc o wzajemnej relacji dwóch lub więcej osób, zwierząt lub rzeczy.

Each other zwykle stosuje się przy opisie relacji dwóch osób, zwierząt lub rzeczy:

My sister and I talk to each other every day.

His cat and dog constantly fight with each other.

One another zwykle stosuje się przy opisie relacji trzech lub więcej osób, zwierząt lub rzeczy:

The four research institutes started to cooperate with one another last year.

W praktyce zaimki each other i one another często stosowane są zamiennie.

ZAIMKI ZWROTNE I EMFATYCZNE

Zaimki zwrotne myself, yourself, himself, herself, itself, ourselves, yourselves, themselves (się, siebie, sobie) przyjmują formę osobową zgodną z podmiotem i występują w języku angielskim ze stosunkowo niewielką grupą czasowników:

Help yourself to the cake! – Poczęstujcie się ciastem.

Let me introduce myself. – Pozwól mi się przedstawić.

He promised himself not to do it again. – Obiecał sobie, że więcej już tego nie zrobi.

Nie każdy czasownik zwrotny w języku polskim jest czasownikiem zwrotnym w języku angielskim:

I feel a bit overwhelmed. – Czuję się trochę przytłoczony.

Try to concentrate on the task. – Spróbuj skoncentrować się na zadaniu.

You just need to relax for a few days. – Potrzebujesz tylko zrelaksować się przez kilka dni.

Zaimki emfaticzne myself, yourself, himself, herself, itself, ourselves, yourselves, themselves (sam, sama, samodzielnie) mają taką samą formę jak zaimki zwrotne. Używamy ich w celu podkreślenia, że ktoś wykonał jakąś czynność samodzielnie:

Mike cooked dinner himself. – Mike sam ugotował obiad.

I'll speak to him myself. – Sam z nim porozmawiam.

They should have invited us themselves. – Powinni byli sami nas zaprosić.

ZAIMKI BEZOSOBOWE YOU, ONE

Zaimków bezosobowych you i one używamy, odnosząc się do ogółu, a nie do konkretnej osoby. Mają one to samo znaczenie, przy czym you występuje częściej w mowie potocznej, a one w języku bardziej formalnym.

You can't smoke here.* – Tutaj nie wolno palić.

You have to work very hard to succeed.* – Trzeba bardzo ciężko pracować, żeby odnieść sukces.

One should always tell the truth.* – Powinno się zawsze mówić prawdę.

One may say that the our company's bankruptcy just a matter of time.* – Można powiedzieć, że bankructwo naszej firmy jest tylko kwestią czasu.

EITHER ... OR, NEITHER ... NOR

Zwroty either ... or (albo..., albo...) oraz neither ... nor (ani..., ani...) występują z rzeczownikami, czasownikami, przymiotnikami lub zaimkami osobowymi:

I'll buy her either a book or a toy.

My dog either sleeps or eats.

I like neither brown nor black.

I'll invite neither him nor her.

ROZMOWA WSTĘPNA

- 1 Które zaimki nieokreślone lub formy czasowników poprawnie uzupełniają wypowiedź ucznia?

ZDROWIE

What do you do to keep fit?

I think it's very important to keep fit and ¹everybody/anybody should try to stay fit and healthy. There was a time when I didn't do ²nothing/anything sporty, but now I try to do ³something/everything every day. Sometimes I play football or basketball with my friends or if nobody ⁴feel/⁵feels like team games, we just go for a short run. I think you can do sport ⁵somewhere/⁶anywhere, even at home. If there ⁶isn't/⁷is nothing else to do outdoors, you can always do some stretching exercises in your bedroom. Another thing that I do to keep fit is having enough rest. And for that, ⁷nothing/anything is more important than a good night's sleep. I'm sure ⁸everybody/⁹nobody would disagree that, in order to function well during the day, we need to sleep about eight hours a night.

ŚWIAT PRZYRODY

Would you call yourself a 'green' person? Why? / Why not?

I think I can consider myself 'green' ¹in some respects. I'm aware ²of environmental problems and I think everybody should feel responsible ³for our planet. Its future depends ⁴on us. It is, of course, difficult to translate such beliefs ⁵into everyday practice. I try to save electricity by not leaving appliances ⁶on standby. I also recycle all items that can be recycled. I object ⁷to plastic bags and always carry my own cloth bags while shopping. And I belong ⁸to the Go Green Club at my school.

PASSIVE VOICE | STRONA BIERNA

Stronę bierną w poszczególnych czasach gramatycznych tworzymy za pomocą odpowiedniej formy czasownika to be oraz trzeciej formy czasownika niosącego znaczenie (past participle):

Macbeth was written by William Shakespeare.

In our hotel, towels are changed on a daily basis.

Strony biernej używamy częściej w wypowiedziach formalnych i języku pisanym w następujących sytuacjach:

- jeżeli bardziej interesuje nas sama czynność niż jej wykonawca (który jest oczywisty, nieznany lub nieistotny):
My neighbour was arrested yesterday.
(jest oczywiste, że przez policję)
Her house was broken into last night.
(sprawca włamania nie jest znany)
Your room is being cleaned at the moment.
(nie jest istotne, kto to robi)
- jeżeli sama czynność jest ważniejsza od jej wykonawcy:
Posters will be exhibited during the entire conference.
You were given all the information yesterday.
- aby odsunąć od siebie winę lub odpowiedzialność za to, co się wydarzyło:
Mistakes were made.
- aby uczynić zdanie mniej bezpośrednim lub bardziej oficjalnym:
The changes have been proposed by the Ministry of Labour as part of their initiative to advance fairness in the workplace.
- jeżeli chcemy położyć szczególny nacisk na wykonawcę czynności. Dodajemy wtedy na końcu zdania wyrażenie by + wykonawca czynności:
This equation wasn't solved by you, it must have been done by your father.

STRONA BIERNA CZASOWNIKÓW Z DWOMA DOPEŁNIENIAMI

Z niektórymi czasownikami (np.: ask, bring, buy, give, hand, offer, pay, promise, sell, send, show, teach, tell) mogą występować dwa dopełnienia:

The head teacher has given all students (dopełnienie bliższe) special permission (dopełnienie dalsze) to leave earlier.

W takim przypadku stronę bierną możemy utworzyć, zaczynając zdanie od dowolnego dopełnienia (zależnie od tego, na co chcemy położyć większy nacisk):

Special permission to leave earlier has been given to all students by the head teacher. (nacisk na pozwolenie)

All students have been given special permission to leave earlier by the head teacher. (nacisk na osoby)

STRONA BIERNA CZASOWNIKÓW BELIEVE, CONSIDER, EXPECT, FEEL, HOPE, KNOW, REPORT, SAY, THINK, UNDERSTAND

Stronę bierną powyższych czasowników możemy utworzyć na dwa sposoby:

- podmiot (osoba) + strona bierna czasownika + to + bezokolicznik:

Paul is said to have an exceptional eye for detail.

- It + strona bierna czasownika + that + zdanie:

It is said that Paul has an exceptional eye for detail.

Porównaj poniższe zdania:

Everybody believes Robert will get promoted in an instant. (zdanie w stronie czynnej)

Robert is believed to be getting promoted in an instant. (zdanie w stronie biernej)

It is believed that Robert will get promoted in an instant. (zdanie w stronie biernej)

They report that five soldiers were killed in the operation.

Five soldiers are reported to have been killed in the operation.

It is reported that five soldiers were killed in the operation.

KONSTRUKCJA HAVE SOMETHING DONE

Konstrukcji have (w odpowiednim czasie) + dopełnienie + past participle używamy, mówiąc o czynnościach, które zostały dla kogoś wykonane przez inną osobę (np.: specjalistę lub fachowca):

One month ago, I had the engine replaced in my car. (zrobił to fachowiec)

I need to have my wisdom tooth taken out. (zrobi to dentysta)

Zdania z wyrażeniem have something done tłumaczymy często na język polski tak samo jak zdania opisujące samodzielne wykonanie danej czynności:

They will redecorate their house next year. (zrobią to sami)

They will have their house redecorated next year. (zatrudnią do tego celu fachowca)

W konstrukcji tej zamiast have możemy użyć get:

Did you have/get your hair cut?

I'm going to have/get my eyes tested.

Użycie get zamiast have czyni zdanie mniej formalnym.

KONSTRUKCJE HAVE SOMEBODY DO SOMETHING I GET SOMEBODY TO DO SOMETHING

Konstrukcji have (w odpowiednim czasie) + somebody + to do something oraz get (w odpowiednim czasie) + somebody + to do something używamy, mówiąc o tym, że zleciliśmy komuś jakąś pracę albo wtedy, gdy kazaliśmy komuś coś zrobić bądź przekonaliśmy kogoś, że ma jakąś pracę wykonać. W mowie potocznej częściej w tym znaczeniu używamy get zamiast have.

Uwaga: po get występuje bezokolicznik z to, a po have bez to:

We had the plumber fix the leaking tap in the kitchen. – Zleciliśmy hydraulikowi naprawę ciekącego kranu w kuchni.

We got the plumber to fix the leaking tap in the kitchen.

My mother had me go to the dentist. – Mama kazała mi pójść do dentysty.

My mother got me to go to the dentist.

I'm sure the teacher will have Beth rewrite the essay.

– Jestem pewna, że nauczyciel każe Beth przepisać wypracowanie.

I'm sure the teacher will get Beth to rewrite the essay.

STRONA BIERNA CZASOWNIKÓW HEAR, HELP, MAKE I SEE

W zdaniach w stronie czynnej po czasownikach hear, help, make i see używamy bezokolicznika bez to, natomiast w stronie biernej po czasownikach tych występuje bezokolicznik z to:

The teacher made me write the essay again.

I was made to write the essay again by the teacher.

Somebody saw the burglar escape through the window.

The burglar was seen to escape through the window.

World's First Skyscraper

The first skyscraper in the world was built in 1885 in Chicago, Illinois. People called it the Home Insurance Building. Initially, the Home Insurance Building had ten floors and was 138 feet tall. Constructors added two more stories in 1890. Before Americans built this first skyscraper, some people were worried about the elevators and they thought that they would fall. This changed when a man called Mr Otis discovered how to make elevators safe for everyone to use. Another man named William Le Baron Jenney found out how to use iron and steel to support the building when all other buildings at that time were made of bricks. Constructors finished the Home Insurance Building in 1885, but unfortunately knocked it down in 1931. Although it is no longer standing, everybody considers the Home Insurance Building the first skyscraper in the world.

It was called the Home Insurance Building.

REPORTED STATEMENTS | ZDANIA
OZNAJMUJĄCE W MOWIE ZALEŻNEJ

Przytaczając to, co powiedział ktoś inny, możemy zacytować jego wypowiedź dosłownie (mowa niezależna) lub przekazać jej treść pośrednio (mowa zależna).

Przytaczając wypowiedzi, najczęściej używamy czasownika say lub tell:

- say:
He said (that) he was in two minds about it.
- say + to + dopełnienie:
He said to me (that) he was in two minds about it.
- tell + dopełnienie:
He told me (that) he was in two minds about it.

W mowie niezależnej (direct speech) przytaczana wypowiedź nie ulega zmianie:

'I have no idea what you mean.' → He said, 'I have no idea what you mean.'

'I don't think it will make any difference.' → She said, 'I don't think it will make any difference.'

W mowie zależnej (reported speech) w przytaczanej wypowiedzi ulegają zmianie następujące elementy:

- zaimki osobowe i zwrotne oraz zaimki i przymiotniki dzierżawcze:
'I'm sure you haven't done your homework yourself.' → The teacher said (that) she was sure I hadn't done my homework myself.
- okoliczniki czasu i miejsca:
now → at that time / then
today → that day
tomorrow → the next/following day
next week → the week after / the following week four hours ago → four hours earlier/before yesterday → the day before / the previous day last week → the week before / the previous week here → there this → that/the these → those
'I talked to this woman three hours ago.' → Mary said (that) she had talked to that/the woman three hours earlier.
- czasy i czasowniki modalne:
'I work for a big company.' → Steve said (that) he worked for a big company.
'Beth is learning to drive.' → Steve said (that) Beth was learning to drive.
'I haven't done any housework.' → Steve said (that) he hadn't done any housework.
'I didn't invite Rick to my party.' → Steve said (that) he hadn't invited Rick to his party.
'My dog can do many tricks.' → Steve said (that) his dog could do many tricks.

W przytaczanej wypowiedzi nie ulegają zmianie czasy Past Perfect i Past Perfect Continuous, czasowniki modalne could, would, might, must (w znaczeniu pewności, ale nie przymusu/zobowiązania), should i ought to oraz zdania warunkowe drugiego i trzeciego stopnia.

Forma czasownika w przytaczanej wypowiedzi nie ulega zmianie również wtedy, gdy czasownik say lub tell jest użyty w czasie teraźniejszym lub przyszłym:

'The lecture is very informative.' → He says / has said (that) the lecture is very informative.

Forma czasownika w przytaczanej wypowiedzi nie musi ulec zmianie wtedy, gdy:

- przytaczana wypowiedź opisuje rzecz stałą, niezmienną i ogólnie przyjętą prawdę:
'Summers are usually moderately hot and humid here.' → He said (that) summers are/were usually moderately hot and humid here.
- mówimy o czymś, co jest wciąż aktualne:
'I have a splitting headache.' → Peter said (that) he has/had a splitting headache.

REPORTED QUESTIONS | PYTANIA W MOWIE ZALEŻNEJ

Przytaczając pytania w mowie zależnej, najczęściej używamy czasowników: ask, wonder, want to know, a w konstrukcji wypowiedzi zmieniamy te same elementy, co w przypadku zdań oznajmujących (czasy, zaimki osobowe i zwrotne, zaimki i przymiotniki dzierżawcze, okoliczniki czasu i miejsca). Dodatkowo przytaczane pytanie przyjmuje szyk zdania oznajmującego. Przytaczając pytania szczegółowe, zachowujemy zaimek pytający (what, who, how, where, when):

'Where are you going?' → He asked me where I was going.

'What did you think of the film?' → Matt wondered what I had thought of the film.

Przytaczając pytania ogólne, stosujemy if lub whether:

'Do you feel like going to the cinema?' → She asked if/whether I felt like going to the cinema.

'Have you heard the latest news about the accident?' → Robert wanted to know if/whether I had heard the latest news about the accident.

REPORTED ORDERS | POLECENIA W MOWIE ZALEŻNEJ

Przytaczając polecenia w mowie zależnej, używamy czasownika ask, tell lub order, odpowiedniego zaimka osobowego oraz konstrukcji (not) to + bezokolicznik:

'Stop fidgeting and listen to me!' → Our mother asked us to stop fidgeting and listen to her.

'Don't use your mobiles in class!' → The teacher told us not to use our mobiles in class.

R

Tell me about your last exam.

The last exam I took was a driving test. That was two weeks ago. At first, I wanted to take it in the winter, but my mum persuaded me ¹*to wait* (wait). She said in the spring I ²*wouldn't / would not need* (not/need) to worry about snow and icy roads. And she was right! I passed with flying colours! Even the examiner said I ³*seemed / 'd/had seemed* (seem) extremely confident and asked me how long I ⁴*'d/had been learning* (learn) to drive. He was surprised when I told him that I ⁵*'d/had had* (have) my first lesson only four months before. It wasn't a long time, but to be honest, over those four months I drove almost every day. My mum advised me ⁶*to buy* (buy) extra lessons from Adam, my driving instructor. And he suggested ⁷*meeting / that we (should) meet* (meet) at different times of the day so I could get used to different volumes of traffic. Adam was a really good teacher, I must give him a lot of credit for helping me pass. He praised me for ⁸*being* (be) a bright student, but he also warned me ⁹*not to become* (not/become) too cocky on the road. I took his words to heart and that's why the examiner said he ¹⁰*hadn't / had not seen* (not/see) such a young person driving so safely before!

INDIRECT QUESTIONS | PYTANIA POŚREDNIE

Pytania możemy zadawać w sposób bezpośredni lub pośredni. Pytania pośrednie brzmią bardziej uprzejmie. Zwykle używamy ich, prosząc kogoś o wyświadczenie przysługi lub chcąc zasięgnąć informacji. W języku angielskim pytania pośrednie mają sztywną strukturę zdania oznajmującego:

How much does the membership cost? → Could you tell me how much the membership costs?

What facilities are there? → Do you happen to know what facilities there are?

W przypadku pytań ogólnych używamy if lub whether:
Are there any discounts for students? → I'd like to know if/whether there are any discounts for students.
Does the ticket include entry to all exhibitions? → Would you mind telling me if/whether the ticket includes entry to all exhibitions?

W przypadku pytań szczegółowych pozostawiamy zaimki pytające (what, who, how, where, when):

How can I join the fitness club? → I wonder how I can join the fitness club.

Where is the nearest post office? → Can you tell me where the nearest post office is?

Przed właściwym pytaniem najczęściej stosujemy wyrażenia:

Are you sure, Can anyone tell me, Could you tell me, Do you (happen to) know, Do you remember, Do you think, Have you any idea, I don't know, I don't remember, I want to know, I wonder, I'd like to know, I've no idea, Would you mind telling me

Jeśli pytanie rozpoczynamy od wyrażenia I wonder, I don't know, I'd like to know, I want to know, I've no idea lub I don't remember, na końcu zdania stawiamy kropkę zamiast znaku zapytania:

I wonder / I'd like to know what time he's coming.

Exercise 1

Suggested answers:

- 2 Do you know how much the tickets cost?
- 3 I'd like to know what courses you offer.
- 4 I'm wondering what time the centre opens and closes on weekdays.
- 5 Could you tell me what facilities there are?
- 6 Would you mind telling me how I can join the leisure centre?

- 1 Przeczytaj pytania zadane przez osobę zasięgającą informacji o zajęciach sportowych w kompleksie rekreacyjnym. Przekształć podane pytania bezpośrednie na bardziej uprzejme pytania pośrednie, używając wyrażen z ramki. Zapisz odpowiedzi w zeszytce.

- 3 What courses do you offer?
- 4 What time does the centre open and close on weekdays?
- 5 What facilities are there?
- 6 How can I join the leisure centre?

- 2 Ułóż pytania pośrednie z rozsypanych wyrazów i zapisz je w zeszytce.

1 tell / film / the / you / when / me / starts
 Could you tell me when the film starts?

2 have / money / what / wonder / with / done / you / the
 I wonder what you have done with the money.

3 ticket / much / know / would / you / how / cost / single / a
 Do you know how much a single ticket would cost?

4 is / you / toilet / here / idea / any / whether / a / there
 Have you any idea whether there is a toilet?

5 know / you / surname / happen / his / to / is / what Do you happen to know what his surname is?

- 3 W czasie trwania ustnego sprawdzianu masz pewne wątpliwości dotyczące jego przebiegu. Używając podanych początków zdań, zadaj nauczycielowi pytania w opisanych sytuacjach. Zapisz je w zeszytce.

1 Nie jesteś pewien/pewna, czy powinieneś/powinnaś teraz zacząć.

I wonder if I should start now.

2 Nie pamiętasz, ile masz czasu na opisanie obrazka.

I don't remember how much time I've / I have got / I have for describing / to describe the picture.

3 Pytasz, czy mógłbyś/mogłabyś dostać trochę więcej czasu na przygotowanie.

I was wondering if/whether I could get/have some more preparation time.

4 Nie wiesz, od której kwestii powinieneś/powinnaś zacząć.

I'd like to know which topic I should start with.

5 Nie wiesz, czy możesz porównać dwa obrazki.

I was wondering if/whether I can compare two pictures.

DEFINING RELATIVE CLAUSES | ZDANIA PRZYDAWKOWE DEFINIUJĄCE

Zdania przydawkowe definiujące dostarczają informacji będących integralną częścią zdania (których pominięcie narusza jego sens):

*A blender is a machine which/that you mix things with.
This is the man who/that found your wallet the other day.*

Zdania tego typu rozpoczynają się następujących zaimków względnych:

- who lub that, jeżeli mówimy o ludziach:
*She is the woman who/that won the beauty contest.
Do you know the boy who/that brought me here?*
- whom jest zaimkiem używanym w odniesieniu do ludzi, ale tylko w języku bardzo formalnym. Używamy go bezpośrednio po przyimku:
Sarah is a girl with whom I have a lot in common.
- which lub that, jeżeli mówimy o rzeczach:
*Would you like to see the house which/that we bought?
The computer which/that you bought is overpriced.*
- where, jeżeli mówimy o miejscach:
*This is the place where office workers come for their lunch break.
It's best to immigrate to a country where people speak a language you understand.*
- when, jeżeli mówimy o czasie:
*Summer is the time when we can do a lot of things outdoors.
I lost my job at the time when unemployment reached its peak.*
- whose, jeżeli mówimy o przynależności:
*I was introduced to a man whose wife used to teach me French.
That's the boy whose dog has gone missing.*

Zdania przydawkowe definiujące nie są oddzielone przecinkami od reszty zdania.

Zaimek względny who, which lub that można pominąć, jeżeli nie jest on podmiotem zdania przydawkowego (tzn. jeżeli następuje po nim zaimek osobowy lub rzeczownik):

*This is the email (which/that) I sent to you on Monday.
Steven Spielberg is the film director (who) my mother likes best.*

Zaimka względnego nie można pominąć, jeśli występuje on w funkcji podmiotu zdania przydawkowego (tzn. nie następuje po nim zaimek osobowy lub rzeczownik):

*A copywriter is a person who writes advertising or marketing material.
She chose the play which featured an all-female cast.*

Jako zaimka względnego można też użyć what w znaczeniu the thing that/the thing which:

Dancing is the thing which/that our little daughter seems to enjoy most. = Dancing is what our little daughter seems to enjoy most.

NON-DEFINING RELATIVE CLAUSES | ZDANIA PRZYDAWKOWE NIEDEFINIUJĄCE

Zdania przydawkowe niedefiniujące dostarczają informacji, bez których zdanie główne zachowałoby sens, bądź stanowią komentarz do pierwszej części zdania:

My sister-in-law, who lives in London, is very well-read and intelligent.

They were late for the meeting again, which didn't go down well with the boss.

Zdania tego typu rozpoczynają się od tych samych zaimków względnych, co zdania przydawkowe definiujące (z wyjątkiem that):

Paul Jones, whose girlfriend goes to my school, has won an Olympic medal.

The silver ring, which I got from Chris for my birthday, is my favourite piece of jewellery.

Są one oddzielone przecinkami od zdania niosącego główną informację.

W zdaniach przydawkowych niedefiniujących nigdy nie opuszczamy zaimków względnych:

Las Vegas, where we went last winter, is a thriving city year round.

Only last year, when my best friend moved abroad, did I understand how much she meant to me.

PREPOSITIONS IN RELATIVE CLAUSES | PRZYIMKI W ZDANIACH PRZYDAWKOWYCH

Z zaimkami where i when nie stosujemy przyimków:

The office building where we worked before has been knocked down. – NIE: ~~The office building where we worked in before has been knocked down.~~

Zaimki where i when można zastąpić zaimkiem which z odpowiednim przyimkiem:

The hospital where / at which he was treated was very modern.

That was the year when / in which my grandparents met.

Przyimki w zdaniach przydawkowych możemy umieścić:

- na końcu zdania przydawkowego (częściej w języku potocznym i mówionym):
*The hospital (which) he was treated at was very modern.
This crate, which our puppy used to sleep in, seems very small now.*
- przed zaimkiem względnym (częściej w wypowiedziach formalnych i języku pisanym). Zaimka względnego nie możemy wtedy pominąć:
*The hospital at which he was treated was very modern.
This crate, in which our puppy used to sleep, seems very small now.*

5 Przeczytaj wypowiedź ucznia i zapisz w zeszycie poprawne tłumaczenia fragmentów podanych w nawiasach.

Some people believe that examinations have a negative effect on education. Do you agree? Why? / Why not?

I don't think there is an easy answer to this question. There are many examinations in our schools nowadays, ¹*which can be* (co może być) both good and bad. On the one hand, grades and examinations act as an incentive for revision. And students ²*who/that revise* (którzy powtarzają) before exams generally do better than those ³*who/that don't / (do it)* (którzy tego nie robią). Exams also give you some information about the gaps in your knowledge and the things ⁴*(that/which) you still have to / need to learn* (których w dalszym ciągu musisz się nauczyć). On the other hand, we know of many people ⁵*who/that failed* (którzy obtuli) their exams, did very badly at school and still became successful in life. Albert Einstein, ⁶*whose teacher* (którego nauczyciel) described him as a slow thinker, is a good example. Moreover, exams put too much pressure on students, ⁷*which causes* (co powoduje) unnecessary stress and competition.

ADVERBIAL CLAUSES | ZDANIA OKOLICZNIKOWE

ZDANIA OKOLICZNIKOWE CZASU

Zdania te wprowadzane są za pomocą następujących spójników: when (kiedy), while (podczas gdy), whenever (kiedy tylko, ilekroć), after (po, kiedy), before (zanim, przed), till/until (do, aż, zanim), as (kiedy), since (odkąd, od czasu kiedy), a także as soon as (skoro tylko), as long as (tak długo jak), by the time (do czasu) itd.

Jeśli zdanie okolicznikowe czasu występuje przed zdaniem głównym, oddzielamy oba zdania przecinkiem:

After I finished school, I decided to take a gap year.

Jeśli zdanie okolicznikowe czasu występuje jako drugie, przecinka nie używamy:

I decided to take a gap year after I finished school.

W zdaniach okolicznikowych tego typu nigdy nie używamy czasów przyszłych:

She won't move out until she gets a steady job.

– NIE: She won't move out until she will get a steady job.

ZDANIA OKOLICZNIKOWE MIEJSCA

Zdania te wprowadzane są za pomocą spójników where (gdzie), to where (dokąd) lub przysłówka wherever (dokądkolwiek, wszędzie gdzie).

ZDANIA OKOLICZNIKOWE CELU

Zdania te opisują cel podjętej czynności i wprowadzane są za pomocą konstrukcji to + bezokolicznik oraz spójników in order (not) to, so as (not) to, for, in order that, so that, in case.

- to + bezokolicznik:

I called the teacher to apologise for my son's behaviour.

- in order (not) to + bezokolicznik:

He craned his neck in order to see better.

- so as (not) to + bezokolicznik:

I drove at a steady 50 mph so as to save fuel.

He wore an apron so as not to get his shirt dirty.

- for + rzeczownik / czasownik + -ing:

He promised to help me prepare for my exam.

I use a video conferencing platform for communicating with my boyfriend.

- in order that / so that + zdanie podrzędne, zwykle z czasownikami modalnymi can, may, could lub might:

He lowered his voice so that Doris couldn't hear.

- in case (w razie czego, na wypadek czegoś) + zdanie podrzędne:

Take your coat in case it gets very cold.

- Iga Świątek, whose father was an Olympic rower, won the 2020 French Open.

ZDANIA OKOLICZNIKOWE SKUTKU

Zdania te opisują skutek zdarzenia/czynności i wprowadzane są za pomocą następujących spójników lub wyrażen: so (więc), as a result (w wyniku tego), therefore (zatem, dlatego), as a consequence, consequently (więc).

Po spójnikach i wyrażeniach: as a result, therefore, as a consequence, consequently stawiamy przecinek:
This method of production is expensive. As a result / Therefore / As a consequence / Consequently, it is not used.

ZDANIA OKOLICZNIKOWE PRZYCZYNY

Zdania te opisują przyczynę zdarzenia/czynności i wprowadzane są za pomocą następujących spójników lub wyrażen: because, since, as, because of, owing to, on account of, due to, the reason for/why itp.

- because/since/as + zdanie podrzędne:
I went to bed because I was tired.
As/Since it was his birthday, I bought him a present.
Because zwykle nie występuje na początku zdania, chyba że rozpoczyna bezpośrednią odpowiedź na pytanie Why?
Why didn't you come to the party? Because I had to study.
- because of / owing to / on account of / due to / thanks to + rzeczownik:
The poor visibility was because of / owing to / due to / on account of the fog.
- the reason for + rzeczownik / czasownik + -ing:
The reason for Tom's anger / Tom being angry was Ann's laziness.
- the reason why + zdanie podrzędne:
The reason why Tom was angry was Ann's laziness.

ZDANIA OKOLICZNIKOWE PORÓWNAWCZE

Zdania te wprowadzane są za pomocą spójników złożonych as ... as oraz so ... as (tak... jak):

I hope I can age as gracefully as she has.

Jeśli w pierwszym członie porównania występuje przeczenie, zamiast as ... as możemy użyć wyrażenia so ... as:

It's not so obvious as it might seem.

ZDANIA OKOLICZNIKOWE STOPNIA

Zdania te wprowadzane są za pomocą konstrukcji so + przymiotnik/przysłówek + that oraz such + (przymiotnik) + rzeczownik + that:

I was so busy that I haven't got round to calling him yet.

They were talking so loudly that we couldn't hear a word.

Emma has such an inquisitive mind that everybody thinks she'll become a scientist.

The little boy was such a chatterbox that I couldn't get a word in edgeways.

ZDANIA OKOLICZNIKOWE PRZYZWOLENIA

Zdania te wyrażają kontrast i wprowadzane są za pomocą następujących spójników lub wyrażen:

but (ale), although / even though / though (choć, aczkolwiek), despite / in spite of (pomimo), however / nevertheless (niemniej jednak), yet/still (mimo to, a jednak), while/whereas (natomiast, podczas gdy) itd.

- although / even though / though + zdanie podrzędne:
Although / Even though / Though Robert ran very fast, he lost the race.

Though jest często używane w języku potocznym i może występować na końcu zdania:

Robert ran very fast. He lost the race, though.

- despite / in spite of + rzeczownik / czasownik + -ing:
Robert lost the race in spite of / despite running very fast.
- despite / in spite of + the fact that + zdanie podrzędne:
Robert lost the race in spite of / despite the fact that he ran very fast.
- however/nevertheless + przecinek:

- I absolutely love Harry Styles, while my older sister adores Taylor Swift.

3 Jakie spójniki poprawnie uzupełniają tekst?

FOOTBALL

Some people watch football matches at home, ¹but I prefer watching them live at a football stadium. It's certainly a better option for me ²although/unless the tickets are very expensive. I don't earn much, ³so I have to be very careful with money. Some people say that ⁴when/if you are at a football stadium, you can't really see what's happening on the pitch. I can see their point, ⁵but I don't agree with them. Even ⁶though/when you can't see everything very well, it's still much more fun than watching a match on TV. And one more thing – you can ask players for autographs ⁷before or after the match. ⁸If/When you really want to see all the details, you can always record a match and watch it again on TV ⁹after/when you get back from a stadium.

ODPOWIEDZI NA PYTANIA

5 Przeczytaj wypowiedź ucznia i zapisz w zeszycie poprawne tłumaczenia fragmentów podanych w nawiasach. Użyj właściwych spójników.

Some people think voting in elections should be compulsory. What's your opinion?

I can see their point, ¹but I don't agree (ale nie zgadzam się) with them. Their argument is often that, if people do not vote, ²as a consequence / consequently / as a result (w konsekwencji) they have no right to complain about politicians and their actions. ³But in my opinion (Ale moim zdaniem), not voting is a kind of vote too – showing that you're against these particular politicians. In this case, ⁴even though / although you don't go (pomimo tego, że nie idziesz) to the polling station, you still take an active part in the election process. And one more thing – if voting was made compulsory, undecided people would vote randomly, ⁵while the lazy (podczas gdy leniwi) ones would just vote for the first candidate on the list.

ZERO CONDITIONAL | ZDANIA WARUNKOWE ZEROWEGO ST.

Zdań warunkowych zerowego stopnia używamy, mówiąc o faktach oraz sytuacjach, które są zawsze prawdziwe:

If/When you blow too much air into a balloon, it eventually bursts. – Jeśli/Gdy/Jak nadmucha się zbyt dużo powietrza do balonu, on w końcu pęka.
I get very nervous if/when I speak in front of many people. – Bardzo się denerwuję, jeśli/kiedy mówię do wielu osób.

FIRST CONDITIONAL | ZDANIA WARUNKOWE PIERWSZEGO ST.

Zdań warunkowych pierwszego stopnia używamy, mówiąc o zdarzeniach, które mogą nastąpić w przyszłości, jeżeli zaistnieją określone warunki:

If the weather is bad tomorrow, we'll stay at home and watch TV. – Jeśli jutro będzie brzydka pogoda, zostaniemy w domu i będziemy oglądać telewizję.
I'll tell you everything if you promise to keep it a secret. – Powiem ci wszystko, jeśli przyrzekniesz, że zachowasz to w tajemnicy.

SECOND CONDITIONAL | ZDANIA WARUNKOWE DRUGIEGO ST.

Zdań warunkowych drugiego stopnia używamy, mówiąc o obecnych sytuacjach lub stanach, których zmiana jest niemożliwa lub mało prawdopodobna, albo o czymś, co teoretycznie mogłoby nastąpić w przyszłości, ale jest mało realne:

Tom would play tennis much better if he was faster.
 – Tom grałby w tenisa dużo lepiej, gdyby był szybszy.
If they asked me for help, I would tell them what to do. – Gdyby poprosili mnie o pomoc, powiedziałbym im, co robić.

W zdaniach warunkowych drugiego stopnia po I, he, she oraz it można użyć zarówno formy was, jak i were. Formy were używamy częściej w wypowiedziach formalnych i w języku pisanym:

If he was/were more organised, he wouldn't leave everything until the last minute.

THIRD CONDITIONAL | ZDANIA WARUNKOWE TRZECIEGO ST.

Zdań warunkowych trzeciego stopnia używamy, mówiąc o sytuacjach, które mogły mieć miejsce w przeszłości, ale nie nastąpiły:

If you had told me you were coming, I would have picked you up from the airport. – Gdybyś powiedział mi, że przyjeżdżasz, odebrałbym cię z lotniska. (ale nie powiedziałeś mi o tym, więc cię nie odebrałem)
Renata wouldn't have immigrated to the UK if she hadn't married an Englishman. – Renata nie wyemigrowałaby do Wielkiej Brytanii, gdyby nie poślubiła Anglika. (ale poślubiła Anglika, więc wyemigrowała do Wielkiej Brytanii)

MIXED CONDITIONAL | ZDANIA WARUNKOWE MIESZANE

Konstrukcje występujące w zdaniach warunkowych drugiego i trzeciego stopnia można łączyć, tworząc zdania warunkowe mieszane.

Zdania warunkowe mieszane pierwszego typu

Używamy ich, mówiąc o sytuacjach lub stanach, które nadal trwają, a miały określone skutki w przeszłości:

If I spoke fluent English, the company would have offered me a job. – Gdybym mówił płynnie po angielsku, firma zaproponowałaby mi pracę. (ponieważ nadal nie mówię płynnie w tym języku, nie zaproponowano mi tej pracy w przeszłości)

If he were taller, he would have been selected for our school team last year. – Gdyby był wyższy, wybrano by go w zeszłym roku do naszej szkolnej drużyny. (ponieważ nie jest wyższy nadal/teraz, nie wybrano go do drużyny w zeszłym roku)

Zdania warunkowe mieszane drugiego typu

Zdań tych używamy, mówiąc o sytuacjach, które mogły mieć miejsce w przeszłości, ale się nie zdarzyły i ma to określone skutki w chwili obecnej:

Olivia would be much happier if she had decided to study law instead of medicine. – Olivia byłaby (teraz) dużo szczęśliwsza, gdyby (w przeszłości) zdecydowała się studiować prawo, a nie medycynę.

If we had left home half an hour earlier, we would be there now. – Gdybyśmy wyszli z domu pół godziny wcześniej, byłibyśmy teraz już na miejscu.

LINKERS | WYRAŻENIA ŁĄCZĄCE

Zamiast if w zdaniach warunkowych często używamy wyrażen: when (kiedy), unless (chyba że), providing, provided that, on condition (that) (pod warunkiem, że), as soon as (gdy tylko), as long as (o ile), suppose/supposing (przypuśćmy, że), but for (gdyby nie):

You'll understand everything when you read the letter.
– Zrozumiesz wszystko, kiedy przeczytasz list.

I won't lend you the book unless you promise to bring it back by tomorrow. – Nie pożyczę ci książki, chyba że obiecasz zwrócić ją do jutra.

I'll let you use my laptop providing/provided that / on condition (that) you don't change any settings.

– Pozwolę ci skorzystać z mojego laptopa pod warunkiem, że nie zmienisz żadnych ustawień.

We'll be there on time as long as you don't spend two hours getting ready. – Będziemy tam na czas, o ile nie spędzisz dwóch godzin, szykując się do wyjścia.

Suppose/Supposing you won the lottery, what would you do with the money? – Przypuśćmy, że wygrałbyś loterię, co zrobiłbyś z pieniędzmi?

But for your kindness, I wouldn't have got to work on time. – Gdyby nie twoja uprzejmość, nie dotarłbym do pracy na czas.

- 6 Zapoznaj się z zadaniem. Jakie formy czasowników w nawiasach poprawnie uzupełniają wypowiedź ucznia?

Popatrz na zdjęcia 1., 2. i 3. Planujesz swoje wakacje po zakończeniu roku szkolnego.

- Wybierz propozycję, która twoim zdaniem jest najlepsza i uzasadnij swój wybór.
- Wyjaśnij, dlaczego odrzucasz pozostałe dwie propozycje.

If I ¹had (have) to decide on the best holiday option, I ²d/would choose (choose) to spend my holidays working. In fact, I try to earn some money even during the school year. For example, if my neighbours ³want (want) to go away for a couple of days, I usually ⁴look after (look after) their two dogs. This way I always have some extra money on top of what I get from my parents. If I ⁵had to (have to) live only on my pocket money, I ⁶d/would find (find) it impossible to buy all the stuff I need.

I don't want to go on a camping holiday. You never know what the weather might be like and if it ⁷rains (rain) this year in July or August, nobody ⁸will enjoy (enjoy) sitting in their tent and getting wet. I'm afraid camping holidays are out of the question for me. In my opinion, a package holiday wouldn't be a good option either. It costs a lot of money and when you ⁹are (be) still a student, you ¹⁰need (need) to count every penny!

7 Na podstawie form czasowników użytych w każdym z poniższych zdań warunkowych zdecyduj, z jakim zdaniem warunkowym masz do czynienia. R

- If you had told us you were not coming, we wouldn't have waited (not/wait) for you yesterday.
- When it rains (rain), water leaks under the dashboard on the passenger side.
- If Ann had quit (quit) university last year, she would probably be miserable now.
- How would you feel if we asked (ask) you to relocate to a different branch of the company?
- Unless you leave our house at once, we 'll/will call (call) the police.
- If I were you, I 'd/would take (take) what he says about his adventures with a pinch of salt.
- The burglars might not have got in if you hadn't / had not left (not/leave) the door open.

I WISH, IF ONLY

WYRAŻANIE ŻAŁU WOBEC SYTUACJI WTERAŻNIEJSZOŚCI

Wyrażając żal wobec sytuacji mających miejsce w chwili obecnej i wydających się niemożliwymi do zmiany, używamy konstrukcji:

- I wish + Past Simple:
I wish you were here now.
I wish I didn't look like my twin sister.
Peter wishes he could speak Spanish better.
- If only + Past Simple:
If only I could play a musical instrument.
If only I had a brother.
If only she didn't live so far from here.

I wish i If only mają podobne znaczenie, ale If only jest bardziej emfaticzne od I wish – wyraża większy żal lub ubolewanie wobec jakiejś sytuacji.

Mówiąc o sytuacjach, które są uciążliwe lub denerwujące, ale możliwe do zmiany, używamy konstrukcji wish + would:

- I wish my boyfriend would buy me flowers more often.* (mój chłopak nie kupuje mi często kwiatów, a chciałabym, żeby to robił)
- I wish you wouldn't play video games every day.* (denerwuje mnie to, że codziennie grasz w gry komputerowe)

Konstrukcji tej nie stosujemy w odniesieniu do siebie, lecz do innych.

WYRAŻANIE ŻAŁU WOBEC SYTUACJI W PRZESZŁOŚCI

Wyrażając żal wobec sytuacji, które miały miejsce w przeszłości, używamy:

- wish + Past Perfect:
I wish I had met you much earlier.
Dorothy wishes she hadn't written that email.
- If only + Past Perfect:
If only I hadn't neglected her when she was ill.
If only they hadn't made such a dreadful mistake.

Jeżeli I wish i If only tłumaczymy na język polski jako „szkoda, że” lub „żałuję, że”, to dalsza część zdania ma formę przeciwną do oryginalnego zdania w języku angielskim: oznajmującą, jeśli w języku angielskim użyto formy przeczącej, lub przeczącą, jeśli w języku angielskim użyto formy oznajmującej:

- If only I hadn't told him about my plan.* – Żałuję, że powiedziałam mu o swoim planie.
- I wish you would try to understand my point of view.* – Szkoda, że nie próbujesz zrozumieć mojego punktu widzenia.

Exercise 8

Suggested answers:

- have failed her final exams
- she'd / she would have got a place at university
- 'd/had got a place at university, she wouldn't / would not have started working in a restaurant.
- If she hadn't / had not started working in a restaurant, she wouldn't / would not have had a famous film director as a customer.
- If she hadn't / had not had a famous film director as a customer, she wouldn't / would not have started talking to him.
- If she hadn't / had not started talking to the film director, she wouldn't / would not have impressed him.
- If she hadn't / had not impressed the film director, he wouldn't / would not have asked her to come for an audition.
- hadn't / had not asked her to come for an audition, Olivia wouldn't / would not have been successful at it.
- If she hadn't / had not been successful at the audition, she wouldn't / would not have got the main part in a film.
- If she hadn't / had not got the main part in a film, she wouldn't / would not have become very famous.
- If she hadn't / had not become very famous, she wouldn't / would not be very rich now.

INNE KONSTRUKCJE WYRAŻAJĄCE ŻYCZENIA

WOULD RATHER/SOONER, WOULD PREFER

Konstrukcji czasownikowych would rather/sooner i would prefer używamy do wyrażania życzeń odnoszących się do teraźniejszości lub przyszłości. Mówiąc o życzeniach/preferencjach podmiotu zdania w stosunku do samego siebie, używamy:

- would rather/sooner + (not) + bezokolicznik bez to:

Martha would sooner stay at home tonight.

I would rather not talk about it.

- would prefer + (not) + bezokolicznik z to:

I would prefer to study Italian.

He would prefer not to answer this question.

Mówiąc o życzeniach/preferencjach podmiotu zdania w stosunku do innych, używamy:

- would rather/sooner + dopełnienie + Past Simple:

Ann would rather her sister stopped borrowing her clothes.

I would sooner you didn't shout at me.

- would prefer + dopełnienie + (not) + bezokolicznik z to:

She would prefer us to leave in five minutes.

I would prefer him not to drive there.

HAD BETTER

Konstrukcji czasownikowej had better używamy do wyrażania życzeń odnoszących się do bliskiej przyszłości i mających często postać dosadnej rady, rozkazu lub nawet groźby:

- had better + (not) + bezokolicznik:

You'd better leave the dog alone.

You'd better not wake me up when you come back.

IT'S (HIGH) TIME

Konstrukcji it's (high) time używamy do wyrażania życzeń odnoszących się do teraźniejszości i niedalekiej przyszłości:

- it's (high) time + bezokolicznik z to:

It's high time to go to sleep.

It's high time for him to go to sleep.

- it's (high) time + dopełnienie + Past Simple:

It's high time we went to sleep. – NIE: ~~It's high time we go to sleep.~~

KONSTRUKCJA THERE IS/ARE

Konstrukcji there + be (w odpowiedniej formie) używamy, mówiąc o tym, że coś znajduje się (istnieje) lub czegoś nie ma (nie istnieje) w jakimś miejscu:

There is somebody at the door.
There are twenty girls in my dance group.
There isn't any cake left for you.
There aren't any keys on the desk.

Forma czasownika to be występującego po there zależy od następującego po nim rzeczownika:

There is a fountain in the middle of the garden. (l. poj.)
There are two new programmes on TV tonight. (l. mn.)

Konstrukcji tej możemy użyć w różnych czasach, zmieniając odpowiednio formę czasownika to be:

There have been several outbreaks of avian flu since 2010.
There weren't any complaints about the accommodation.
There might be more tea in the other pot. I'm not sure.

There + be (w odpowiedniej formie) często używamy z następującymi słowami/wyrażeniami:

- a lot of, many, much (dużo, wiele):
There is too much noise in here.
There are too many people in here.
- more (więcej):
There are more seats than passengers.
- some, any (trochę):
There is some justice in this world after all.
There isn't any butter in the fridge.
- enough / not enough (wystarczająco/niewystarczająco):
There will be enough time to finish it tomorrow.
There won't be enough time to finish it today.
- bound to be (na pewno będzie):
There is bound to be a long queue.

Exercise 7

Suggested answers:

- I wish / If only
I didn't / did not have to go to work tomorrow.
- I wish / If only
I hadn't / had not been impatient with my daughter the other day.
- I wish / If only my sister wouldn't / would not borrow my clothes without permission / would stop borrowing my clothes without permission.
- I wish / If only
I had more / enough time to read a newspaper every day.

KONSTRUKCJA IT IS

Konstrukcji it + be używamy:

- odnosząc się do rzeczy, czynności lub sytuacji:
I like your kitchen. It's very spacious. (it odnosi się do kuchni)
Why do you keep buying these magazines? It's a waste of money. (it odnosi się do kupowania czasopism)
Jill's friends didn't offer her any support when she needed it. It was very disappointing. (it odnosi się do sytuacji)
- mówiąc o godzinach, dniach tygodnia, datach, pogodzie lub odległościach:
It's half past three.*
It's Wednesday today.*
It's December 12, 2021.*
It was freezing cold yesterday.*
It's sunny today.*
It's about two hundred miles from here.*
- jako podmiotu w zdaniach, w których występuje bezokolicznik z to lub konstrukcja z that:
It was wonderful to see you again.*
It's a shame that your team lost the match yesterday.*
It was only yesterday that he made the decision to quit his job.* (only + that używamy tutaj dla wzmocnienia)
- jako podmiotu w zdaniach, w których występuje for/of + dopełnienie + bezokolicznik:
It was really hard for me to follow the lecture in French.*
It's very kind of you to let me stay.*
- w wyrażeniu it's worth (warto) + rzeczownik / czasownik + -ing:
I have a tablet and personally think it's worth the money.
The new series has very good reviews. It's definitely worth watching.
- w wyrażeniu it's no use (nie ma sensu) + czasownik + -ing:
It's no use crying over spilt milk.*
It's no use trying to influence his behaviour.*

THERE IS/ARE I IT IS

Często używamy konstrukcji there + be, mówiąc o czymś po raz pierwszy i wspominając, gdzie to coś się znajduje. Podając dalsze szczegóły, używamy it + be (w odpowiedniej formie):

There was a strange car parked in front of our house.*
It was a Ford or a Toyota.* (it odnosi się do samochodu)
There's a new language school in my town. It's very modern.* (it odnosi się do szkoły językowej)

1 Które wyrażenia poprawnie uzupełniają zdania: There's czy It's?

- 1 It's nice to see you again.
- 2 There's too much noise in here.
- 3 There's somebody at the door.
- 4 It's not very far from here.
- 5 There's a good film on tonight.
- 6 It's a pity that you've missed the party.
- 7 There's not enough time to finish the test.
- 8 It's strange to see the school so quiet.

2 Na podstawie podanych sytuacji ułóż pytania, używając there + be lub it + be w odpowiedniej formie. Zapisz odpowiedzi w zeszyty. Suggested answers:

- 1 Chcesz się dowiedzieć, ilu uczniów jest w klasie twojego kolegi.
How many students are there in your class?
- 2 Przed spotkaniem z przyjaciółmi w twoim domu, pytasz siostrę, czy będzie wystarczająco dużo jedzenia dla wszystkich.
Will there be enough food for everyone?
- 3 Pytasz przyjaciela, czy było mu trudno znaleźć pierwszą pracę.
Was it difficult for you to find your first job?
- 4 Wchodzisz do domu i pytasz brata, czy były jakieś listy do ciebie.
Have there been any letters for me?

3 Jakie formy there + be lub it + be poprawnie uzupełniają wypowiedź ucznia?

Could you describe your bedroom?

I like my bedroom very much. ¹*It is* quite small, but very cosy. In fact, ²*it's* much smaller than my sister's bedroom, but I wouldn't swap it with hers. ³*There are* two quite big windows in my bedroom, so ⁴*it's* very light. I've got a bed, a wardrobe, a small desk with a computer and two chairs. ⁵*There were* three chairs before, but I got rid of one and ⁶*there's* more space now. I love spending time in my bedroom. ⁷*It's* my favourite room in the house.

VERB PATTERNS | SKŁADNIA CZASOWNIKÓW

W zdaniach w języku angielskim często występują obok siebie dwa czasowniki. W zależności od tego, jaki czasownik stoi na pierwszym miejscu, drugi z nich może przybierać następujące formy:

- -ing, np.: admit, avoid, can't help, can't stand, consider, deny, dislike, enjoy, fancy, hate, imagine, like, love, miss, not mind, practise, prefer, start, suggest
I love watching westerns on TV.
- dopełnienie + -ing, np.: appreciate, approve of, like, insist on, mind, object to
He objected to my borrowing the book.
- to + bezokolicznik, np.: afford, agree, appear, choose, decide, expect, happen, help, hope, learn, manage, need, offer, plan, promise, refuse, seem, want, wish, would like/love/prefer
I learnt to swim when I was seven.
- dopełnienie + to + bezokolicznik, np.: advise, allow, beg, help, invite, order, tell, want, would like/love/prefer
Mark begged me to stay with him.
- bezokolicznik bez to, np.: can, could, might, must, should, had better, would rather, help, used to, be supposed to, be about to
I can go with you if you want.
You were not supposed to tell him about it.
The concert is about to start.
- dopełnienie + bezokolicznik bez to, np.: let, make
Let me show you how to do it.

Czasownik występujący po czasowniku help może przyjmować formę bezokolicznika bez to lub bezokolicznika z to:

Can you help me (to) hang out the washing?

Po czasownikach see, watch, notice, feel oraz hear drugi czasownik może przybrać dwie formy, które mają różne znaczenie:

- dopełnienie + -ing:
Zdanie opisuje wtedy tylko fragment postrzeganej czynności:
I saw them dancing the waltz. (widziałem tylko fragment ich tańca)
- dopełnienie + bezokolicznik bez to:
Zdanie opisuje wtedy całość postrzeganej czynności:
I saw them dance the waltz. (widziałem, jak tańczyli, od początku do końca)

Czasownik występujący po suggest, insist, demand oraz recommend może przybierać następujące formy:

- czasownik + -ing:
I suggest taking a long break.
- that + zdanie z should:
I suggest that she should take a long break.
- that + zdanie w czasie Present Simple:
I suggest that she takes a long break.
- that + zdanie w trybie łączącym (subjunctive) (tylko w stylu formalnym):
I suggest that she take a long break.

Czasowniki zmieniające znaczenie w zależności od składu

Niektóre czasowniki mają różne znaczenie w zależności od tego, czy użyjemy po nich bezokolicznika, czy formy -ing.

PHRASAL VERBS | ZASOWNIKI ZŁOŻONE

Czasowniki złożone składają się z dwóch elementów: czasownika oraz jednego lub dwóch wyrazów dodatkowych (przyimka lub przysłówka). Czasownik złożony może więc być dwuwyrazowy (np.: look up, take after, see off) lub trzywyrazowy (np.: come up with, look forward to, run out of).

Znaczenie czasowników złożonych jest często trudne do odgadnięcia na podstawie znaczenia samego czasownika, np.:

look – patrzeć, ale: look after – opiekować się look for – szukać
look up to – podziwiać go – iść, ale: go with – pasować go off – wybuchnąć, eksplodować go along with – zgadzać się

Ten sam czasownik złożony może mieć w zależności od kontekstu kilka różnych znaczeń, np.:

take off – zdjąć (ubranie); startować (o samolocie) pick up – podnieść; podjechać (po kogoś); polepszać się (o sytuacji)

Czasowniki złożone można podzielić na dwie grupy:

- czasowniki złożone nieprzechodnie (intransitive) – czyli takie, które nie mają dopełnienia bliższego:
Please, hurry up! We don't have time to spare.
 – Proszę pośpiesz się, nie mamy czasu do stracenia.
The car broke down on the motorway. – Samochód zepsuł się na autostradzie.
The plane took off on time. – Samolot odleciał punktualnie.

Inne popularne czasowniki nieprzechodnie to m.in.: calm down (uspokoić się), play up (nawalać, psuć się), get by (przeżyć, dawać radę), break up (rozejść się), find out (dowiedzieć się, odkryć), give up (poddąć się), cheer up (rozchmurzyć się), fall out (pokłócić się), hang out (spędzać czas), catch on (przyjąć się, zyskać na popularności).

- czasowniki złożone przechodnie (transitive) – czyli takie, które mają dopełnienie:
Please turn down the radio a bit. – Proszę, ścisz trochę radio.
Can you pick me up after school? – Czy możesz mnie odebrać po szkole?
I need to get down to work now. – Muszę zabrać się teraz do roboty.

Uwaga: część czasowników występuje w formie zarówno przechodniej, jak i nieprzechodniej, np.:

Cheer up! – Rozchmurz się!
*The news cheered him up. – Wiadomość poprawiła mu humor.
*The runner just gave up. – Biegacz po prostu się poddał.
*I can't give it up. – Nie mogę tego rzucić.

Czasowniki złożone przechodnie można dalej podzielić na dwie grupy:

- czasowniki rozdzielne (dopełnienie można wstawić między czasownik i przysłówkę):
Write down his email address.*
Write his email address down. (dopełnienie może rozdzielić czasownik i przysłówkę)
Write it down. (jeśli dopełnieniem jest zaimek, trzeba umieścić go w środku czasownika złożonego)
You don't have to take off your shoes.
*You don't have to take your shoes off. (dopełnienie może rozdzielić czasownik i przysłówkę)
*You don't have to take them off. (jeśli dopełnieniem jest zaimek, trzeba umieścić go w środku czasownika złożonego)

Inne popularne czasowniki rozdzielne to m.in.: fill in (wypełnić), call off (odwołać), turn down (ściszyć), give up (rzucić, zrezygnować z czegoś), cheer up (pocieszyć, dodawać otuchy), drop off (podrzucić), narrow down (ograniczyć, zawęzić), put up (przenocować), let off (puścić wolno, puścić płazem), blurt out (wypalić, powiedzieć bez zastanowienia).

- czasowniki nierozdzielne (dopełnienia nie można wstawić pomiędzy czasownik i przyimek):
Could you look after my cats when I'm away?
Could you look after them when I'm away? (dopełnienie musi zostać umieszczone po całym czasowniku złożonym, nie może rozdzielić czasownika od przyimka)
I ran into my ex-girlfriend yesterday.
I ran into her yesterday. (dopełnienie musi zostać umieszczone po całym czasowniku złożonym, nie może rozdzielić czasownika od przyimka)

Inne popularne czasowniki nierozdzielne to m.in.: look after (opiekować się), come up with (wymyślić, wpadść na pomysł), put up with (tolerować, znosić), get over (pokonać chorobę, dojść do siebie), keep up with (nadażyć, dorównać), look up to (podziwiać), dawn on (zaświtać w głowie), run into (wpadść na kogoś, przypadkowo spotkać), do away with (zlikwidować, pozbyć się), talk into (namówić), come down with (rozchorować się).

Gdy uczysz się nowego czasownika złożonego, staraj się oprócz jego znaczenia poznać także jego typ (tzn. czy jest czasownikiem przechodnim czy nieprzechodnim, rozdzielnym czy nierozdzielnym), aby umieć go poprawnie używać. Dobre słowniki angielsko-angielskie zawierają informacje o przechodniości i rozdzielnosti czasowników złożonych oraz pokazują przykłady ich zastosowania w zdaniu.

INVERSION AFTER NEGATIVE ADVERBIALS | INWERSJA Z PRZYSŁÓWKAMI PRZECZĄCYMI

Inwersję w języku angielskim stosujemy w języku bardziej oficjalnym, przeważnie pisanym, a jej celem jest podkreślenie efektu retorycznego zdania. Inwersja zwykle nie występuje w potocznym języku mówionym. W zdaniach z przysłówkami przeczącymi (never, rarely, seldom, hardly, barely, scarcely, no sooner), wyrażeniem only w połączeniu z określeniem czasu (only after, only by, only when, only if, only later, only then), zwrotami zawierającymi no lub not (under no circumstances, on no condition, on no account, at no time, in no way, not until, not only) oraz przysłówkiem little inwersji używamy, jeśli wyrażenia te występują na początku zdania. Dokonujemy wtedy zmiany szyku wyrazów w zdaniu:

I have never heard such a pathetic excuse. → Never have I heard such a pathetic excuse.

He didn't only behave rudely, he humiliated her in front of her friends as well. → Not only did he behave rudely, but he humiliated her in front of her friends as well.

They didn't know that the case was to be withdrawn. → Little did they know that the case was to be withdrawn.

NEVER/RARELY/SELDOM

Inwersja z tymi przysłówkami często występuje w zdaniach w czasie Present Perfect lub Past Perfect, a także z czasownikami modalnymi can i could:

Never have I encountered such joy among people living in such difficult circumstances.

Rarely could I mention the subject without having to explain it in detail.

Seldom had we had a chance to sit down and rest.

HARDLY / BARELY / SCARCELY / NO SOONER

Przysłówki te odnoszą się do wydarzeń, które występowały w przeszłości jedno po drugim (w bardzo krótkim odstępie czasu). Inwersja z tymi przysłówkami zwykle występuje w zdaniach w czasie Past Perfect, a także Past Simple (w przypadku no sooner).

W zdaniach z przysłówkami hardly, barely, scarcely używamy słowa when, a z przysłówkiem no sooner – słowa than:

Hardly had they started to settle down when the war broke out.

Barely had I regained my composure when a stranger broke into our house.

Scarcely had we taken our seats when the room was plunged into darkness.

No sooner did we sit down at the table than my sister began texting her friends.

ONLY

W zdaniach z inwersją only występuje w połączeniu z innymi przysłówkami. Najczęściej używanym czasem w takich zdaniach jest czas Past Simple. W zdaniach z only after, only by, only when i only if inwersja występuje w zdaniu głównym:

Only by holding to his seat with both hands did he manage to keep his balance.

Only if your parents agreed would I try to teach you to drive.

Only later did I realise I had told nobody where I was going.

Only then did I notice that my leg was covered with blood.

Jeśli po only na początku zdania występuje podmiot, inwersji nie stosujemy. Only oznacza wtedy „jedynie, tylko”:

Only Pete came to our rescue when we needed it most.

Only you saw how much time I needed.

WYRAŻENIA Z NO/NOT

Inwersję stosujemy też z wyrażeniami z no oraz not: under no circumstances (w żadnych okolicznościach, w żadnym wypadku), on no condition (pod żadnym warunkiem), on no account (pod żadnym pozorem, w żadnym razie), at no time (w żadnym momencie), in no way (w żaden sposób), not only (nie tylko), not until (dopiero):

Under no circumstances are you allowed to share your password with other people.

On no account must you lean out of the windows.

At no time were we made aware that we were in violation of any laws.

Not only did she play a flawless game – she won it!

W zdaniach z not until inwersja występuje w zdaniu głównym:

Not until it happened did I realise that it could happen to anyone at any time.

LITTLE

W zdaniach z inwersją przysłówki little na początku zdania ma znaczenie negatywne lub ograniczające:

Little did she understand what was going on. = She didn't really understand what was going on.

Little does the president realise the importance of his decision for the future. = The president doesn't really realise the importance of his decision for the future.

W zdaniach tego typu little używa się często z następującymi czasownikami: know, understand, realise, suspect.

SO MUCH, SO, SUCH + THAT

Inwersję stosujemy też w zdaniach ze spójnikiem so much + that lub konstrukcjami so + przymiotnik/przysłówek + that oraz such + (przymiotnik) + rzeczownik + that:

So much was she impressed with the city that she decided to move there.

So interesting was his speech about the negative consequences of power that I really want to read more about it.

Such was Tom's surprise that he was speechless for several minutes.

INVERSION IN CONDITIONALS | INWERSJA W ZDANIACH WARUNKOWYCH

Inwersję możemy także zastosować w trzech rodzajach zdań warunkowych. W każdym z nich pominięte wtedy zostaje słowo if, a samo zdanie brzmi dużo bardziej oficjalnie:

- zdania z should:

If you need any assistance with this process, please contact Customer Service. → Should you need any assistance with this process, please contact Customer Service.

- zdania z were:

If she were my child, I wouldn't tolerate that behaviour for an instant. → Were she my child, I wouldn't tolerate that behaviour for an instant.

- zdania z had:

If I had considered my options more carefully, I wouldn't have made such a bad decision. → Had I considered my options more carefully, I wouldn't have made such a bad decision.

Formy had not w zdaniach z inwersją nie można skracać:

If they hadn't made the changes they promised, I would have left the company. → Had they not made the changes they promised, I would have left the company. – NIE: Hadn't they made the changes they promised, I would have left the company.

OTHER EMPHATIC STRUCTURES | INNE WYRAŻENIA EMFATYCZNE

Aby wzmocnić przekaz zdania, używamy także następujących struktur:

- do/does/did + bezokolicznik bez to

Konstrukcję tę stosujemy w zdaniach w czasie Present Simple, Past Simple oraz w trybie rozkazującym:

I do love you. = I really love you.

He did promise to do some housework. = He really promised to do some housework.

Do come in and meet everyone. = I really want you to come in and meet everyone.

- zdania z what

Playing basketball makes me happy. → What makes me happy is playing basketball. / Playing basketball is what makes me happy.

(nacisk na podmiot zdania: playing basketball)

He loves parachuting. → What he loves doing is parachuting. lub Parachuting is what he loves doing.

(nacisk na dopełnienie: parachuting)

- It is/was ... who/which/that

Robert ate my lunch. → It was Robert who/that ate my lunch. (nacisk na podmiot zdania: Robert)

Robert ate my lunch. → It was my lunch that/which Robert ate. (nacisk na dopełnienie: my lunch)

- The problem / The main point is that ...

The problem is that we can't really afford this house.

The main point is that by using the same words you are not expanding your vocabulary.

- All/The only thing ... is/was + rzeczownik

All I need is some peace and quiet.

The only thing I feared was a car accident.

- All I do/did ... is was + (to) + bezokolicznik

All he does is (to) stare out of the window.

All I did was (to) give her an encouraging smile.

- zdania wykrzyknikowe z how i what

How nice of you to come!

How generous of him to pay for everybody!

What a fantastic surprise!

What delicious meals she prepares!

No sooner ¹*had* I started preparing for my driving test ²*than* I realised how challenging it was going to be for me. Not only ³*did* I have problems with the practical test, but I also struggled with the theory. I passed my theoretical test at the fifth attempt. ⁴*Only* then was I allowed to book my practical driving test. This turned out to be even harder! Little ⁵*did* I know that on top of driving independently I was supposed to answer two safety questions. It was this part of the test ⁶*that/which* proved to be my downfall on two occasions. The next three tests seemed to be going well until I committed one dangerous fault at the very end of each drive. ⁷*How* annoying! I was almost there. In the next test, I was failed for not completing one of the manoeuvres safely. Not ⁸*until* I took the practical test for the tenth time ⁹*was* I able to convince the examiner that I could drive safely and I was not a danger to other road users. All in all, it took ten attempts in six months to get my driving licence. ¹⁰*Had* I known it was going to be so difficult, I would have booked more driving lessons in the first place.

- A: Oh, no. I hate it when this happens.
B: What's that?
A: Well, I'm on this website and I want to download instructions for a game, but they're asking for my personal details, like my first name, surname, email address and ...
B: But that's normal these days. They're giving you something for free in exchange for your personal information so that they can then send you emails about their other products and they think maybe you'll buy them.
A: Yeah, I get that, but they're also asking for my postal address and date of birth. They don't need that to email me a file with instructions or other promotional materials.
B: Yeah, that sounds suspicious. Do you remember when I wanted to buy those programming books once? They asked me for a copy of my ID or passport. Now that was really weird.
A: You didn't give it to them, did you?
B: No, of course not. When someone asks you for too much personal information, you have to be careful so that they don't use this information for something illegal.
A: Yeah, that's true. Other things that you should never give away when shopping online or just downloading files are place of birth or marital status.
B: And nationality. Nobody needs to know that.
A: I think I'm going to try to find a different place where I can download these instructions.

B1: Hi, Shelly. Have you still got that checked shirt that you posted on your profile?
S: Yeah, I have. It's my brother's, but he only wore it once, so it's in good condition.
B1: OK, can I try it on anywhere?
S: Sure, just go inside the house and see if it fits you ...
G: Hi, Shelley. I've come here for the patterned dress.
S: Oh, yes, it's stunning – you're going to love it! It's made of cotton and has quite long sleeves, so you can get them shortened if needed.
G: Have you got any accessories to go with it?
S: Yes! I have a leather handbag and a belt that match. I got them second-hand, though.
G: OK, I'll take the dress, but I need to think about the ...

B2: Hi, are the trousers still available?
S: You mean the denim jeans? Sorry, I sold them earlier today, but I might have some khaki trousers if you're interested. I can go and check.
B2: No, thanks, that's not necessary. I only came for the jeans.
S: Oh, OK.
W: Hi, have you still got the sweatshirt from the post?
S: Yes, I have. That style is so trendy now. It's sold out in most stores.
W: Has it got pockets?
S: Yes, it has, and it's really comfortable. I also have a baseball cap that goes with it.

- 1 Can you please keep your dog inside?! It's been barking in your garden all day and night for weeks now. What if you just took it for longer walks in the park instead of keeping it in the garden twenty-four seven?
2 No, I can't go. I want to, but I can't. Just looking at the roller coaster is making me tremble. If only it was a bit smaller ... OK, I'll go. Wait, no ... I can't.
3 OK ... I'm just going to upload this photo. It's uploading, uploading ... Oh, no, it's just stopped! Now my phone's frozen and it's unresponsive. OK, let me restart and try again. Uploading, uploading. Argh, no! It's all frozen again!!!
4 Oh, I just love this film. I could watch it over and over again. This is my favourite part. Oh, look! Oh, no! This is so tragic.
5 Where is he? He's over an hour late! This is so out of character for him. He normally calls when he's late. And now he's not answering the phone. He always has his phone with him. Maybe I should call the police?

J: Are you having a bad day, Emma? You look really miserable.
E: Oh, it's nothing, Joe. I've just had an argument with my sister, that's all.
J: Oh dear, has she been wearing your new jacket again?
E: No, I hope not! But I'm really fed up with sharing a room with her. She's the untidiest person I know. You should see her side of the room – it's a mess. She never puts anything away.
J: Hm, you and your sister are very different, aren't you? I think you're probably the most organised and disciplined person I know.
E: I just like things to be in the right place and it drives me mad having a sister who's so untidy. I've tried to set a good example, but she doesn't care. Everybody thinks she's so easy-going and funny, but actually she's just lazy and selfish.
J: Is she like anybody else in your family?
E: Yes, my dad's exactly the same. He's terrible at keeping his things tidy and he drives Mum mad.

- J = Jane R = Rita
J: Rita! Your home is so tidy. Where is everything?
R: In the cupboards ... but I got rid of lots of stuff when I became a minimalist.
J: A minimalist?
R: Yes. My apartment is small and I had too much stuff. I was fed up with tidying up all the time. Then I read about the minimalists. They live a simple life with fewer things.
J: So you threw everything away?
R: Not everything! I gave away the clothes that I hardly ever wore, and I asked myself, 'How many pairs of black trousers do I need?'
J: Ha ha, yes, I see what you mean. You didn't get rid of that lovely blue coat, did you?
R: No, of course not. I don't often wear it, but I love it and it's special. But I gave away the matching hat and scarf. Really, I had so many things that I never used – clothes, books, gadgets. Now I have more space!
J: Hm, do you think I could be a minimalist? I suppose you have to be very careful about not buying new things at all. But I love buying new clothes. Do you think two or three times a year would be OK?

- R: Sure, or even once every two or three months would be fine to start with. But you need to simplify other things in your life, too. You need to decide what's important, and so now I only do the things that matter to me or that I enjoy. For example, what are you doing for the rest of today?
J: Well, I want to go to the gym, but first I have to meet Roger at that new café.
R: But Roger's so dull and boring. And he doesn't care about you – he just wants to tell you his problems.
J: I know, but I promised. I couldn't say no.
R: One thing about minimalists is that because they like to keep life simple, they say no more often.
J: Sounds great. Do you want to come and have coffee with Roger and me?
R: No, thanks!

- A: Now we've got this magnificent new Youth Centre, we need to think about who we invite to do the opening ceremony.
B: I thought a TV celebrity would be good – someone our young people aspire to be. Someone like that Zainab who won the baking competition.
A: OK, I agree that the person needs to be accomplished in some way, and someone that young people regard as a good role model. But I just think we should encourage our young people to admire someone for their achievements. We don't want to put some celebrity on a pedestal just because they've won a TV competition and made loads of money.
B: No, of course not. But having said that, being rich doesn't have to be a disadvantage. For example, how about the mayor? He's a charismatic local character as well as an extremely generous philanthropist.
A: Local is good, but I just don't think the mayor is someone that young people relate to. I think they're more likely to identify with someone who's a true visionary – someone like Greta Thunberg.
B: Greta Thunberg!! Hm ... I know – how about that local woman who set up a food bank in her garage? She's also in a rap band and so I think she'll appeal to young people on different levels.
A: Perfect – now what's her name ...?

T: Hi. Nice to meet you. I'm Tim.
R: Hi, Tim. I'm Riz. I'm your camp mentor. Have you done one of these tennis summer camps before?
T: Well, I was going to come last year, but something came up at home and I had to postpone until now.
R: Oh, well, better late than never! So, what's your main motivation for coming here? What do you want to achieve?
T: I really want to improve my game, but I think my main motivation is to make some good tennis contacts and find out more about tennis tournaments and how to get involved.
R: OK, that sounds like a good plan and I can help you with both those things. I think we'll start with a quick game before dinner. Let's meet here in half an hour. That way I can assess how your game needs improving.
T: Great. See you in half an hour.

- A: So, we've got three candidates for the scholarship funded by Vic B. He's a music producer, and he's funding a place for a black British student to come to the university.
- B: Sounds good. Tell me more.
- A: So Vic B is committed to tackling social injustice. It seems to me that he feels that black students have been discriminated against and he wants to give them opportunities they haven't had up to now. Apparently, he was a brilliant student at school, but no doubt he thought that he had few chances of going to a top university, so he never applied. He went into music instead and has had a very successful career.
- B: And now that he has the means, I suppose he wants to give back to his community. I think that's brilliant – we really need to improve diversity in this university. So, does one of the candidates stand out for you?
- A: Well, all three have ...

Good morning, everyone! I'd like to begin by thanking Blewbury County School for inviting me to speak at this important anniversary event, and to join them in celebrating one hundred years of excellence. For those of you who don't know me, I'm proud to be an ex-pupil of Blewbury County School. I don't quite go back to the beginning and, of course, there have been many changes over the years, but one thing that hasn't changed is the reputation that Blewbury County School has for producing well-rounded human beings, and for that we must thank the teachers. My teachers were great role models – they didn't just teach to high standards, but they always had time to talk to us and treat us as individuals. I'm a great believer in finding someone to look up to and taking inspiration from them, and I would like to tell you about the person who was an important role model for me. I would quite simply not be where I am today without the influence of this person. Very often, we choose a role model because we relate to them or because we can see ourselves reflected in that person. In my case, it was quite the opposite. Firstly, he was a man, and very different from anybody I knew. In my family, I'd say we were quiet and serious people, bordering on shy. Mr Levy was my drama teacher and he couldn't have been more different from the people I lived with. He was loud and funny and so charismatic. These are qualities you'd expect from a drama teacher, but there was also another side to him, a genuinely caring side. He had an incredible ability to notice any small signs that things weren't OK and do whatever he could to help, but in a really subtle way. I wasn't the only student who loved Mr Levy's classes. They were fun and brought out the actor in the shiest of students, me included. But what I now realise is that we weren't just acting – Mr Levy had a brilliant way of setting up activities that built up our confidence and dealt with all kinds of issues that come our way when we're at school: bullying, low self-esteem, anxiety and so on. Without a doubt, Mr Levy had a positive influence on our lives. In my particular case, he was instrumental in me becoming a journalist and ending up reading the news on TV. He saw something in me that I didn't know myself, and instilled in me a sense of self-belief. After spending my last year at school thinking that I should go to medical school like both my parents, it was Mr Levy who challenged me and asked me if it was what I really wanted to do. The rest, as they say, is history. Please find yourself a role model – they may change the course of your life in a very positive way.

- A: Have you got a minute? I wanted to talk to you about Grandma.
- B: Sure, is she OK?
- A: Yes, don't worry, she's fine. You know Grandma, she's always on good form. But I wanted to talk about what to get her for her special birthday.
- B: Oh, good. Do you have any ideas?
- A: Not really. That's why I wanted to talk to you. She's not interested in new things, is she?
- B: What do you mean?
- A: Well, she's really generous with other people, but she doesn't buy much for herself. She's always saying she's got everything she needs.
- B: OK, let's think about her interests. Does she still play golf?
- A: I think so, and tennis. She's a very active person. She used to do a lot of walking, but since her old dog Maisy died, she hasn't done so much. Anyway, she's energetic and active, so we could get her some sports equipment.
- B: What sort of thing?
- A: Let me think about that for a moment. A new cap? Or a water bottle?
- B: They're not very special, are they? What else could we get her?
- A: If we can't think of an object, maybe we should do something nice with her instead.
- B: Sorry, I don't quite follow. What sort of thing did you have in mind?
- A: Let me see. We need to think of an activity Grandma would enjoy. She's very sociable, so maybe tea in a nice hotel with the family?
- B: What if she's on a diet? She always seems to be.
- A: Oh, yes, you're right. Maybe we should get her a day in a spa. That could be a relaxing thing for her to do.
- B: Maybe, but I think Grandma prefers activities that you do outside.
- A: Oh, yes, that's true. Oh dear, this isn't easy. Hey, I've got an idea – we could get her a dog to replace Maisy!
- B: Really? It's a big responsibility.
- A: I know, but I think a dog would suit her perfectly. She's a real animal lover. I think she's been a bit lonely since Maisy died and a dog would keep her company. We could get a rescue dog. I think she'd love the idea of getting a dog that needs a home.
- B: I like the idea, but I think we need to discuss it with Grandma first. Getting a dog is a serious decision.

UNIT 02 MIEJSCE ZAMIESZKANIA

- 1 When I finished secondary school, I took a gap year and travelled to Argentina. I got a job building and renovating cottages for local families. During my time there, I rented a tiny room which was a living room, bedroom and kitchen in one. I had to share a bathroom with five other people, which wasn't a problem, but we always had arguments about whose turn it was to clean it.
- 2 As it was my parents' wedding anniversary last week, we spent the weekend in the expansive English countryside. We stayed in this enormous house that once belonged to an aristocratic family. Part of the building was extended and is now being used as a hotel and restaurant and the other, original part is a museum where you can learn about the history of the place.

- 3 Have a look at this brochure that's just come in the post. This house looks amazing, really modern. It's on that new estate that's being built in our town. They have a number of houses that are partially subsidised by the government to make them more affordable. Low-income families or single parents can apply for them.
- 4 I've just moved out of my parents' house and I'm renting my first place. It's nothing luxurious, just a tiny apartment at the bottom of a four-storey residential building and below street level. There are a few steps down to the front door, so it's a bit dark, but the rent is low, so I can't complain.

- 1
- A: Why is it so dark in here?
- B: Looks like the light bulb has gone.
- A: I'll go get a new one.
- B: I don't think we have any. I'll buy some when I'm out tomorrow.
- 2
- A: The sun is so strong. I can't see anything on the TV!
- B: Let me draw the curtains for you. Ugh, they're so dusty, maybe let's put them in the washing machine at the weekend.
- 3
- A: Did you hear that? Is someone knocking at the door?
- B: Why are they knocking? Is our doorbell broken?
- 4
- A: Would you like some tea?
- B: Sure, thanks.
- A: OK, I'll make a big pot.
- B: Oh, sorry, the teapot is in the sink – I wanted to wash it.
- 5
- A: It's so cold in here. Mum, could you please pass me a blanket?
- B: Here you are. I'll also turn up the heat on the heater.

- A = Architect B = Mrs Miller C = Mr Miller
- A: So, I now know what you want for the front of the house. Shall we go around the back and go over what you'd like there?
- B/C: Sure. Yeah.
- A: Wow! This is an amazing plot of land!
- B: Yes, we love it, too.
- A: When we talked on the phone, you mentioned splitting it into three distinct areas. Is that still the case?
- C: Hm ... yes, so we'd like to have an entertainment area, a vegetable patch, and ...
- B: ... a play area for the kids.
- A: OK, so in terms of the entertainment area, here's how I see it. You can add a beautiful conservatory with huge French windows that would open up into a nice cedar wood patio. A conservatory is great because you can use it in both summer and winter weather. And when you're not entertaining, it can just serve as extra indoor space – maybe a playroom for the kids?
- B: Yes, that sounds like a good idea. And we can use the patio for barbecues in the summer.
- A: Of course! We could get you some comfortable patio furniture and an outdoor heater for those chilly summer evenings.
- C: Where would you suggest putting the vegetable area?
- A: Well, we can build a gravel path from the patio to a vegetable plot right there in the left-hand corner. The kids' play area could be right opposite, in the right-hand corner, separated by a hedge. So this would make the children's area a bit more private. What do you think?

C: Yes, that sounds great.

A: There's a beautiful tree there, so we could use it to build a treehouse. We could also install a climbing frame, a swing and a sandpit.

B: And a bench for us.

C: Of course!

B: All of this sounds wonderful. So, what are the next steps?

A: I'll send you my notes and draw up the plans for you to ...

1 A: Is it possible to book a viewing for this Saturday?

B: I'm sorry, but the landlord doesn't allow visitors at the weekend.

2 A: Is council tax included in the rent?

B: No, it isn't, but all the utility bills are.

3 A: What's your notice period?

B: It's one month, but I'm sure we can negotiate the terms.

4 A: Do you need a deposit?

B: Yes, you will also need to pay one month's rent in advance and your estate agent's commission.

5 A: Is the rent negotiable?

B: Sorry, but my mortgage payments are fixed, so I can't negotiate.

6 A: What do your movers do with fragile items?

B: We always wrap them in bubble wrap and then place them in thick cardboard boxes.

The robots that will do the housework for you. Let's face it – not many people enjoy doing household chores. Actually, a recent survey claims that seven in ten people would be fine with a robot doing the work for them and seventy-three percent think their place would be cleaner if they had a robot. There already are robots that can mow the lawn or vacuum the carpet.

Forty-three percent of the people surveyed said that they hate folding the washing after it comes out of the dryer, but ... you've guessed it ... there's a robot for that! All you have to do is put the clothes away.

Now, wouldn't it be great if there was a robot that would make the dinner, and clear the table and load the dishwasher afterwards? All we'd need to do is switch it on and relax.

City dwellers! You too can have a vegetable garden with the minimum amount of space. All you need is a windowsill in a room, a balcony or a roof terrace that gets six or more hours of sunlight, and a few containers. At City Garden Designs, we can help you to create the garden that suits your lifestyle and makes use of the space you have available. All you have to do is make sure the vegetables have enough sunlight and remember to water them regularly. So why not take the opportunity to produce your own vegetables without the need for a large garden?

Hi, James here. Just to say it's your turn to water the allotment, so please don't forget. It hasn't rained all this week, so the flowerbeds are really dry. And don't forget the tomatoes! Last time you didn't water them and I had to cut off a lot of brown leaves. Um, you know we're supposed to share the allotment but quite honestly, I haven't seen you planting anything new for a very long time. You can't just enjoy the fruit and vegetables without doing any work. This is such an important time of year in the allotment and if you haven't got time, you need to tell me and I'll find someone else to share it. OK, let me know, but please go and water the allotment today.

1 Garden centres have reported an increase in sales of houseplants and, according to our research, it is people in the twenties to thirties age group who are buying the plants. This is largely down to the lack of garden space due to young people living in apartments in urban areas. You may think that the purchase of houseplants has risen because, in this digital age, they provide an attractive background for online meetings. But our research has shown that the main motivation is the pleasure people get from seeing them grow.

2 Hello. This is Andrew MacDonald, chair of the Urban Allotments Association. Thank you for asking about renting an allotment. They are in high demand – no surprise there because they are the best-kept allotments in the area. I've added you to the waiting list. Meanwhile, you can check out our website for photos of flowerbeds, fruit trees and a variety of vegetable gardens. We have running water and thanks to the location in our beautiful suburb, you can enjoy a wonderful view of the city while you garden. I'll be in touch when an allotment becomes available.

Blenheim is famous for its beautiful park, originally designed by Capability Brown, and the formal gardens surrounding the Palace. Come and experience the magnificent Palace and its gardens, now open to the public. With a family ticket costing just seventy-five pounds, this is the perfect day trip from London.

4 Today I'm reporting from the centre of Manchester, not usually known for its green areas. But the Urban Garden Project has been transforming our outdoor spaces and helping to make our cities healthy, attractive places to live. Over eighty percent of the UK population live in urban areas and the Urban Garden Project wants to provide spaces for the public to enjoy and explore urban nature. A community garden can bring a wide range of benefits – from connecting people with each other to growing fresh food. I asked ...

5 We've finally moved into a house with a tiny garden, and I can't wait to sit in the sun. But when did garden furniture get so expensive? All I wanted to buy was a table and two chairs. Of course, I wanted them to be comfortable, nice to look at and rainproof. Is that too much to ask for? When I saw the prices, I couldn't believe my eyes. I do not understand how garden furniture can be twice the price of a set of table and chairs for a dining room.

P = Presenter B = Bridgit

P: Moving house is known to be one of life's most stressful events, so why on earth would anybody put themselves through it more than sixty times? That's exactly what today's guest, Bridgit Daly, has done and she's here today to share her experiences and offer advice to those of you who are on the move. Bridgit, my first question is why? Sixty times??

B: Ha ha, yes, it's a bit crazy, isn't it? It's to do with my job. I love my work, but it does mean moving around a lot.

P: Well, you're certainly a removals expert. What have you learnt that you can tell our listeners to make moving house less stressful?

B: Well, I have to say that moving house is always chaotic – for at least a week, you won't be able to find anything. You just need to accept that. Want a cup of tea? The kettle will be in a box underneath several other boxes. Your favourite necklace? Who knows, but it will probably turn up eventually. No, my best advice is to get a recommendation for a good removal company. Not all removal companies are reliable – in my experience, they don't always turn up when they say they're going to, and on a few occasions, they haven't turned up at all.

P: Oh, that's shocking!

B: I know. But when you find a good one, you know that they'll deliver your stuff on time, in one piece and without anything disappearing. And when that happens, I put positive reviews all over social media so that other people can have a good experience like me.

P: Right, well that's a tip. We can't mention names on the radio, but make sure you look on social media and hire the company with the best reviews. So Bridgit, can you give us any tips on packing ...

P = Presenter M = Mike

P: Welcome to Job Talk. Today we're pleased to have Mike McDonald in the studio – Mike will never be out of a job so long as people want to move house. The tools of his trade are muscles and wheels – would you agree with that Mike?

M: Oh, yes, muscles and wheels! Those are the absolute basics you need to work for a removal company. But there's rather more to the job than being strong and knowing how to lift a piece of furniture. If you asked me to write a job description, I'd say that removals people are hard-working, punctual, organised and have excellent communication skills. We come into contact with a lot of people, some of whom are in a heightened emotional state. You do know that moving house is considered by many people to be the one of the most stressful life events, even more than getting divorced or having a baby!

P: Yes, absolutely. And having moved house recently, I'd go along with that. I have never felt so disorientated in my life, and I couldn't find anything!

M: That's a very common complaint! From my experience, most things turn up in the end, but the kind of things that get lost are bolts and screws for flat pack furniture and this can be tricky if furniture needs to be dismantled and assembled again on the same day. Other small things that go missing are TV remotes and phone chargers. And you'd be amazed at how many mirrors, wall clocks and photographs are left behind. I think it's because people are so used to seeing them on their wall that they don't even notice them.

P: Now you mention it, I haven't seen our kitchen clock since we moved! Do you have any other stories?

M: Well, a funny thing happened to us a few weeks ago actually. We were moving a family from London to Scotland – a big move. We emptied the house in London and filled two vans and sent the family on their way to their new home. As we were filling the final van with the remainder of their household goods, we found a cat asleep upstairs and thought the family must have forgotten it. I called them to see whether they wanted us to take it with us in the van – thinking that they would be delighted. Turns out it wasn't their cat! Good job we checked!

P: Oh, ha ha! I'm sure that happens a lot.

M: Yes, and it isn't quite as bad as the time we emptied the wrong house. We went to the right street in the wrong town! When we arrived, there were a couple of teenage children there – we explained we'd come to move the contents of the house and they didn't seem to be surprised, so we started loading the vans. By the time we got a call from the client in the right location, we'd cleared the entire first floor.

P: I can't believe the teenagers let you clear the house!

M: I know! They're lucky we weren't burglars.

The photo shows a family in their living room. On the right, there are two young children in a small blue tent. They're both girls and they have long dark hair. They look about three and five years old. The electric light is on, so maybe it's early evening. The children are watching or looking at something on their tablet. On the left, there's a woman, probably their mother. She is looking at her laptop. In the foreground, there's a sofa and a small rug and in the background, there are some long curtains and they're closed.

UNIT 03 EDUKACJA

1 A: Please, no running. You might fall and hurt yourself or someone else.

B: Miss, I left my lunch in the classroom.

A: OK, here, I'll open the classroom for you. Go and get it.

2 OK, everyone, we need to have football practice in here today as it's raining, and thunder and lightning have been forecast. Can you please take down these volleyball nets and then put up the goals?

3 A: I'd like to return this book and then take out these two.

B: OK, let me check. What's your last name?

A: Keats.

B: Right, so you can only take out one of these as you've exceeded your limit. Once you return the books that you have at home, you'll be able to take out more books.

4 A: Can I have the chicken curry, please?

B: Do you want rice with that?

A: Sure. And have you got any naan bread?

B: No, this isn't a restaurant!

A: So, do you understand why you're in here?

B: Yes, it's because I used a cheat sheet during a test.

A: You know that we treat cheating very seriously at our school. I've called your parents and your mother is on her way. Your teacher will join us, too.

A: Sir, nothing's happening when I press this button. Or when I move my mouse.

B: Let's try and restart the system.

A: I've already done that and it's still the same.

B: OK, why don't you move to another desktop and I'll see what I can do with this one.

1 A: Argh ... I've got so much stuff with me today ... I have PE and then gymnastics after school. I hate carrying it all around.

B: Why don't you just leave it all in your [beep]?

A: Oh, no! The tip of my pencil has just broken. Have you got a [beep]?

B: Sure, here you go.

A: OK, pack your books and see you all tomorrow. Whose turn is it to wipe the [beep] today?

B: Mine, sir.

A: I made a mistake. Have you got any [beep] so that I can write it out?

B: No, sorry, I haven't.

So, tomorrow is your algebra test. Remember to bring a soft pencil and a rubber. You can also use a [beep], but you need to bring your own.

Thank you for your interest in the Frederick Institute Personal Development course for teens. The course is designed for students aged thirteen to eighteen and is divided into five one-hour workshops, which can be completed online or in person at our centre in London. Our aim is to help our students find their strengths and weaknesses and improve their mental well-being. We begin each workshop by asking them what they have achieved recently and also what they have found difficult. During the workshops, we help students to change their behaviour if necessary. At the end of each workshop, students are given tasks to do at home before the next workshop begins. When they have completed the course, students get a certificate of attendance and we assess their situation and examine possibilities for next steps.

You'll soon be joining the workforce and if I have one piece of advice, it's to keep learning, keep developing your skills and especially stay up-to-date with online tools. Whatever career you choose to go into, part of the job is likely to involve working online. If you haven't started already, you need to develop your knowledge of technologies and learn advanced skills that you can list on your CV. This will show a future employer that you are thinking ahead to your professional life, and that you are a self-motivated learner. I've put a list of suggestions and links to training courses on the school platform. Speak to Mr Jones, head of the IT department, and he will help you to decide which skills you need to improve and suggest new skills you can develop while you still have access to the school's IT room.

For those of you who are lacking in motivation to use online tools, Mr Jones will encourage you to set yourself realistic goals.

I = Interviewer PJ = Professor Jaworska

I: Today we're very pleased to have Professor Jaworska with us. She's going to talk to us about her research into the role music can play in improving study skills. Professor Jaworska, you think that music and studying go together. Can you tell us more about that, please?

PJ: Well, first of all I have to say that some people find music to be a helpful tool for studying, while others find it impossible to concentrate with any background noise at all. In other words, music affects people in different ways. However, I do believe that some types of music can improve some of the essential skills for studying successfully such as concentration, motivation and memory.

I: So how does music encourage study?

PJ: According to the research we carried out at the university, music acts as a motivator when it's considered to be a reward. Imagine you have a long assignment or you're revising for an exam, and you have hours of study in front of you.

It's important to have regular study breaks, and listening to your favourite music during these breaks can motivate you to study harder. Of course, music can also improve your mood, and if you're feeling positive, you're more likely to have a successful learning experience. Our research found that when students felt worried or stressed, putting on music helped them to relax and work more effectively.

I: What kind of music works best?

PJ: In our research we found there was a place for different kinds of music, depending on the student's needs. For instance, if motivation and lifting mood is the priority, it's no surprise that faster more cheerful music works best, and if the aim is to calm down because you're feeling stressed, then you should choose slower, maybe even classical music. It also depends on the kind of task you're doing. If you're doing artwork, for instance, lively music may help, but if you're writing an English essay, music could be too much of a distraction.

If I said I had good memories of my school prom, I'd be lying. In fact, I'm not sure that anyone enjoyed it really. I spent a fortune on a dress that looked as if I'd borrowed my mother's wedding dress and dyed it pink, and my spray tan turned out much too dark. I thought it was really sweet the way my mum was so proud, though – I think she enjoyed it more than anybody. She took some photos as we were leaving, and I honestly can't believe I went out with my hair like that. The music wasn't bad, but I ended up spending most of the time in the common room chatting with my friends.

1 I wanted school prom to be a night I could look back on and remember how great high school was, and I wasn't disappointed. Some of my friends asked a girl to go to prom as their date, but if I'd gone with a girl, she'd have wanted to dance, and I hate dancing, so I didn't want that pressure. It was a great party, but I do regret wearing a red bow tie. I wish I hadn't listened to my mum – it was her idea. Each class had a photo taken for the yearbook and my classmates look cool in their suits, while I stand out with my ridiculous, red bow tie. My mum loves that photo.

- 2 Next on the agenda – school prom. I can hardly believe it's that time of year already, but I've called this staff meeting to set up a prom committee. Before I ask for volunteers, perhaps we can just think about anything we can learn from last year's event. On the whole, I don't think anyone would disagree when I say that it was a great success, but perhaps the pink theme was a bit too sweet for some of us. Oh, and we must make sure that the science lab is locked this year – we don't want any more explosions. I'd like to announce the date in assembly next Monday, so if ...
- 3 It's up to me to ensure everyone's safety and also to prevent anything from getting broken on the night so I have to restrict access to the science lab or the language laboratory. I wish we could keep everyone in the gymnasium where the DJ is, and the food, too. But last year, the girls spent most of the time in the changing room and the boys hung around outside by the bike stand. I think it's important to keep everyone together inside because otherwise the party never really gets started. There are usually a few parent volunteers around on the night, and that's a big help.
- 4 As a parent, I must say I'm over the moon to think that my daughter and son get to go to prom. If I'd had the chance to go, I think I'd have loved every minute of it – all the dressing up, and it's such a great way to mark the end of all those years of school. Quite emotional really. My husband and I volunteered to help last year, and we were going to collect tickets on the door as people arrived. But then the canteen couldn't cope with so many people at once, and we ended up serving food all evening. I don't envy the people who had to clean up afterwards – what a mess.

The photos show three different classroom layouts. Of these options, I'd choose option three, for example for my English classroom because the desks grouped together look as if they're easy to move. For some lessons you need to face the board, but for others, such as role play or discussion, it's better to be sitting around a table in groups. So the biggest advantage of number three is the flexible layout. In addition to that, when the tables are grouped together, four students can have easy access to a dictionary which can be placed in the centre. I wouldn't choose number one because it's OK for some lessons, but not others. The disadvantage of these chairs with writing tablets attached is that the tablets are small, and I don't think they could hold more than one book at a time. Another big problem is that these types of chairs usually have the tablets on the right and this isn't appropriate for left-handed students. I think the layout of number two is quite boring. I say this because it looks like the kind of traditional classroom that my parents had. In this layout, everyone is facing the board, but nowadays we don't need to face the board all the time. Another reason why it isn't my preferred option is that students at the back have trouble seeing the board and hearing the teacher. So, to sum up, although all the options have advantages, I would go for option three because it's the most adaptable arrangement.

- 1 I'm pretty new to this job, but I'm not sure how long I'll last. I'm constantly on my feet – I take orders and serve tables, but people can be really mean sometimes and they complain about everything. My salary is pretty low and the tips aren't great either, but I have a contract of employment, and I get holiday and sick pay!
- 2 I've taken on this job to help pay for uni – I'm studying to become a doctor, so fees are really high. I've always been quite fit and have completed a few courses that allow me to teach others. I currently teach boxing and step aerobics. It's just a few hours here and there and hopefully, once I pay all my loans, I'll be able to stop doing this.
- 3 My job is quite physical and requires a lot of strength and stamina. But I really enjoy it as I can create people's dream homes. There's nothing really that I can't do. The only problem is that I can only work when the temperatures are above zero degrees, so if the winter is really cold, I'm usually out of work.
- 4 Everyone these days wants to have an online presence and I can make that happen for them. I work on a freelance basis, so I can choose how much and when I want to work. At the moment, I'm working more than forty hours a week as I get a lot of requests. The pay is good, so I can't really complain.

Did you know that your position in the family's birth order can determine your future occupation? Birth order may affect our personal traits and those usually have an impact on our interests and, consequently, our chosen career path. Studies show that as first-born children are usually quite ambitious, they tend to go for careers that are very demanding, like in scientific fields or the aerospace industry. First-borns also end up having more lucrative jobs than their younger siblings. Middle children, having to compete against their older and younger siblings, often aim for high-powered positions that involve looking after or running an entire business. This includes executive jobs, like a CEO, for example. The youngest kids in the family are often said to be quite sensitive, so tend to steer towards artistic professions, often related to music, for example. They're also more inclined to take on glamorous jobs, like a performer on the stage. Those who grow up without any siblings are usually regarded as perfectionists, so they pursue technical jobs or positions in publishing which require great attention to detail. They're also the most likely to end up doing freelance work.

P = Presenter JM = Jenna Moris

- P: Today in the studio we have Jenna Morris who's a recruitment consultant. Jenna, what are your top tips for people, especially young people, who are looking for their first job?
- JM: Well, this goes without saying, but the first thing you need to do is find the job that you want. This means looking through online adverts or registering with a job centre. Don't let the fact that you haven't got much or any experience stop you from applying for the position that you dream of.
- P: OK, let's say we've found our dream job, what next?

JM: Carefully read the job description and then write or update your CV so that it covers all the things in the advert. Don't send a generic CV – it has to be tailored to the position you're applying for. You need to show that you're a suitable candidate for that particular job. Apart from including the obvious things like personal details and education, make sure you mention any other qualifications and training courses. List all of your skills, including knowledge of foreign languages and computers. And if you've ever worked as a volunteer then make sure you also include that. Some jobs require references, so make sure you ask someone if they would be your referee.

P: Great advice. And then what?

JM: Then you need to send all of your documents to the recruiter. These days it's all mostly done by email, so include a covering letter and make sure you attach your CV to the email! You won't believe how many times I've seen 'Please find attached my CV,' and ... there's no CV.

P: What about the interview process?

JM: Before attending any interview, research the company as best you can. That's always useful, as you may be asked questions about it by the interviewer. And once you pass the interview, all that's left is to sign the contract.

It's a shame you weren't at school last Wednesday, you missed a really good lecture. A careers adviser came in to talk to us about jobs and gave a load of useful tips. He talked about how to start your own business and said that you need to be good at managing a team. I don't like dealing with people, so I no longer think running my own business is for me. Anyway, Janet Brown asked how she could become a bus driver, and he gave her some good advice. I didn't realise you could earn over 30,000 euros a year as a bus driver! Not a job for me either – I hate traffic. Let's meet up and I can tell you more about it.

A = Amy J = Joe

- A: You're lucky you don't have to make decisions about getting a job next year.
- J: What do you mean? Of course, I do.
- A: I thought you were going to stay and work in your family business.
- J: Well, I might do that one day, but I want to have other experiences first. I want to work abroad, improve my languages and see new places.
- A: Sounds good. Where do you want to go?
- J: I'm not sure – not Latin America or Asia or anywhere too far, but maybe France or Spain, I'd quite like to work in the tourist industry – I think there are more job opportunities.
- A: Oh, what sort of thing?
- J: Oh, just temporary jobs – serving tables in a restaurant, maybe working for a travel agency, that sort of thing.
- A: But what about your parents? Don't you think they expect you to get a decent job? I mean you're studying business – aren't you supposed to start your own business or take over the family business?
- J: Yes, I think that's the plan, but for the next few years I think I need to learn some useful skills for my future career – marketing, communication and customer service skills for instance. I want to learn how to deal with people and how to work in a team. I've never had a job and I don't want to go to work in the family business until I've tried other jobs. What about you? Any plans?

A: I don't know. My head and my heart say different things. My head says I should go to teacher training college – I mean I'm studying history. What else can I do? And my heart says I want to follow my dream of creating great works of art.

J: You're so talented – can't you do both?

A: I think I'll have to. It's impossible to earn a living from art. It will have to be a hobby for a while.

I = Ivy S = Sam

I: Are you going to take that call?

S: Not right now, no. I'm in the kitchen having my lunch.

I: Well, at least close the door – that phone's been ringing for the last half hour and I can't concentrate.

S: Look, I know it's not easy working together in such a small space. But everyone deserves a break from their desk, even when the desk is in the living room.

I: I know, but I work to tight deadlines and when I have a job to finish, I don't have time for breaks. You're just lucky you do a nine-to-five job.

S: Aargh! Nine to five? I haven't done a nine-to-five day since I stopped going into the office. More like eight to six. But my job requires a lot of brainpower and my brain needs a break from time to time.

I: What I do isn't exactly menial work either, but I can manage to keep going without a lunch break. Ooh, er ... can I have one of your sandwiches?

Text 1

A: Are you still doing personal training?

B: Yes, I have to fit it in at weekends and evenings because that's the only time people can make it. Why? Do you want to sign up for a few sessions? You could do with toning up.

A: Ha ha, tell me about it! We spend too much time hanging around twiddling our thumbs now that robots have taken over on the shop floor. A day's work used to feel like a workout, but not anymore. I wonder how people would feel if they knew their cars were being constructed by robots.

B: So long as it means they pay less for a new car, I don't think they care. But to go back to personal training, I've got a few hours free this weekend.

A: Oh, I'm doing overtime – a big order's come in. How about this evening?

B: I can't. I'm doing the night shift.

A: Oh dear, this job isn't great for maintaining a healthy work-life balance, is it? Oh, well, next week? Time for tea break!

Text 2

A: You've worked in different places around the world – which country do you think has the work-life balance right?

B: Sweden, no doubt about it. In my experience, the working conditions are excellent, and provided you get the work done, you can pretty much set your own working hours. It's not like that in the United States. Americans usually work really long hours but in a very different way.

A: How do you mean?

B: Well, I found that in Sweden, people often pack up around three o'clock in the afternoon, especially if they've got children to pick up from school. Where I worked in the US that would be considered taking half a day off, but somehow the Swedes I knew got the work done because they didn't spend time chatting or hanging around having cups of tea and coffee.

Text 3

Hello, everyone, and thank you for listening to my Life Skills for Teens podcast. I'm sure all you students out there work hard at school, and no doubt you'll end up with the right qualifications for your chosen career path. But it is my strong belief that whatever career you decide to go into, you're going to need life skills as well as academic qualifications. In this series of podcasts, our aim is to help you to communicate well, think creatively, contribute brilliantly to teams and bounce back from disappointment. I feel employers are increasingly demanding these so-called soft skills or life skills today. What is more, there is a growing amount of evidence that they also increase physical and mental fitness. Each week we take a different skill set and unpack it for you. Today we're looking at organisational skills in the workplace. Being organised doesn't just mean having a tidy desk, although I would say it's a good place to start. You may well find yourself in a job where you combine working from home with working in an office or a laboratory or a warehouse – whatever the location of your workplace, I'm of the opinion you'll be more efficient if you have everything you need to hand. Whether the tools of your trade are physical or virtual, I believe keeping them tidy will save essential time and give a good impression to anyone working with you. An organised workmate has much more to offer than a colleague who wastes time looking for a document, a pen, a hammer or the relevant instructions. If you're on top of things, you'll be more reliable, you'll work well under pressure and you'll work well in a team. An essential element of organisational skills is time management. Some of the cleverest people I know have had low marks for assignments because they can't keep to deadlines. Are you someone who can't even begin a job before it's almost time to finish it? It's time you got real. You need a timetable! Draw up a plan, setting yourself regular but achievable goals, and stick to it. At the end of this podcast, you'll find a list of links to online time-management tools and apps that I've found useful. At this point, I just want to say something to you, creative people out there. It's wonderful to have a creative mind, and the ability to dive into a difficult problem and emerge hours later with a perfect solution. But when I hear people saying they're too creative to be tidy, my response is that you'd be even more brilliant if you got organised. Even a creative mess is a mess, and if you want to make your creativity more productive, the same rules apply to you as everyone else. Next week, we'll be looking at behavioural skills, including how to have a positive response to negative feedback.

A = Student A B = Student B

B: What sort of skills do you think we need?

A: To be organised.

B: Yes ... But I also think it's important to have leadership skills.

A: I agree.

B: OK ... and ... er ... you need to be a good communicator in German.

A: I can sing in German.

B: Right ... um ... I don't really have much experience of doing activities with kids. How about you?

A: I write quizzes.

B: Really ... er ... let's not forget that it's a big responsibility taking kids on excursions.

A: You're right.

B: Yes ... um ... Do you mind working at the weekend?

A: Not really.

A = Student A B = Student B

B: Have you seen the ad? Do you think we could do this?

A: Sure. I think we'd be excellent team leaders.

B: Me too! What sort of skills do you think we need?

A: Well, for a start, to be a team leader you need to be organised. People tell me I'm an organised person – my teachers always say that's one of my strong points.

B: In that case, I'm sure you are. But I also think it's important to have leadership skills.

A: I agree. Don't forget I'm in a band and I organise all the rehearsals and gigs. I think that shows that I've got leadership skills. I also think I'm a good communicator – my music blog has 2,000 followers and I always answer their questions and comments.

B: But you need to be a good communicator in German.

A: Don't worry, I can sing in German! What I mean is, at least I'll be able to entertain children!

B: I don't really have much experience of doing activities with kids. How about you?

A: Well, I sometimes have to entertain my three cousins. I'm quite good at writing quizzes. Didn't you run an after-school gaming club for a while?

B: Oh, yes, you're right.

A: In that case, you do have some experience.

B: Let's not forget that it's a big responsibility taking kids on excursions.

A: You're right, but I think the main thing is that we'll be responsible for their safety and that's no problem – when I did my lifeguard course, I did some first-aid classes. I think I could deal with a minor medical situation.

B: But could you do it in German?

A: Surely we could speak our own language if there was a medical emergency.

B: I was joking. What about the hours? Do you mind working at the weekend?

A: Not really. We'll be on camp, and when you're away from home, weekends can be very boring.

B: Oh, yes, I see what you mean. OK, mein Freund, let's apply.

UNIT 05 ŻYCIE PRYWATNE

This is my favourite photo of my family. I'm the old chap in the middle and the lovely lady sitting next to me is my wife Lucy. We're celebrating our forty-fifth wedding anniversary this year! We have two sons: Jacob, who's on the left side of the picture, and Henry, sitting on the far right. Both of them are married to the women sitting next to them. Jacob's wife is Reiko, and they have twins, Royce and Jemima. Caroline is Henry's wife, and they have a son called Conrad.

A: OK, guys, why don't you pick up the toys and then we can do some painting.
B: No, no cleaning.
A: Yes, please, clean up because your mummy won't be happy when she sees this mess.
2
A: Didn't I say no screens after 9 p.m.?
B: But, Daaaaa! I'm not a child.
A: These are my rules and as long as you're living under my roof, you do what I say. And I say no screens after 9 p.m.!

- 3
A: So, how have you been feeling?
B: Well, not that great. I've been really tired, and I can't wait for this baby to come out.
A: Not long now. You have two weeks till your due date, right?

A: Daddy, I've made this card for you.
B: And I made this present. We hope you have a great day!

We are gathered here today to say our final goodbye to Richard, and to express our love and admiration for him. We are also here to give support to those who have been affected by his sudden death.

- Lily Mardi Gras means 'Fat Tuesday' and it marks the end of the carnival season and the start of Lent. In the UK, it's called Shrove Tuesday. It is celebrated on the Tuesday before Ash Wednesday and dates back to the ancient times. During Mardi Gras celebrations, there are festive carnivals in the streets of New Orleans, Rio de Janeiro, Venice and other cities around the world. People also throw parties in their homes to commemorate this event.
Adam In Poland, one of the celebrations before Lent is Fat Thursday. It's observed six days before Ash Wednesday and for some people it's the last day when they eat fatty or sugary foods. Traditionally, after that, many people used to fast for forty days. On Fat Thursday, people eat traditional Polish doughnuts, which are deep-fried, and filled with rosehip jam and have a sugary glaze with some candied orange peel on top, although some people also like a cherry filling and icing sugar instead.

Mia Here in the States, Thanksgiving is quite an important holiday which we observe on the fourth Thursday in November. However, our neighbours in Canada celebrate it on the second Monday in October. Its origins lie with when the Pilgrims celebrated their first harvest. Even though Thanksgiving started out as a religious holiday, it's now also a secular celebration. People from all across the US meet at family gatherings and give thanks for what they have and for what happened throughout the year. Thanksgiving also marks the start of the festive season.

- 1 I really enjoyed this webinar as it covered a lot of things that I found relevant to me. I recently broke up with my boyfriend because we argued all the time. He was jealous of my friends and me spending time with them. Wendy's webinar confirmed that it was the right thing to do.
2 As the advert for the webinar mentioned the generation gap, I thought it would be useful. I've recently been having some problems with my parents. I feel they are a bit too controlling. I know they mean well, but they check on me all the time. Wendy's webinar showed me that I need to discuss some limits with my parents as they keep crossing personal boundaries.
3 The webinar was so helpful! Just two years after my mum broke up with my dad, she remarried and I'm not getting along with my stepdad. He fell out with my dad and aunt. He says I push the limits, but that's not true. I learned from Wendy's webinar that you can't get on well with everybody and sometimes it's not worth trying.

Hi Ben, just calling to say I can't come with you tomorrow. My bike still hasn't been fixed and I don't know when I'll get it back. I'm really sorry – I was looking forward to trying out that new cycle route with you. The bike repair shop just said that they've been super busy. I asked them to lend me a bike, but they wanted me to pay a deposit of fifty pounds and I don't have fifty pounds. Anyway, I think it's a bit rude. I wondered whether Martin might be free to go with you instead – message me if you want his number.

- 1 If you asked me what I like doing in my free time, I'd say anything so long as it's outdoors. I don't care what the weather's like, I have to be outside. If I'm on my own, I go cycling or jogging, but if a friend is free to join me for a walk, then that's absolutely fine. I enjoy spending time with people and walking at the same time. I'm not like some people who have to do a certain number of steps or go faster than last time. I think they miss the point.
2 Do you feel as if all you do is work and sleep? Well, we're here to help you to free up your time so that you can have a life outside of work. Everyone needs to switch off from the office, spend time with friends and family, and refresh their mind. In one two-hour online course, we'll give you the tools to be more productive at work so that you can use the extra free hours for relaxation, learning and socialising.
3 Welcome to Life's too short! In today's podcast, I'm reporting on the best courses you can do in your free time. I call myself a life-long student – I like to be learning something and at the moment, I'm learning to play the ukulele. I recommend it! Other good courses I've done are Spanish conversation, creative writing, dancing the tango and beginners badminton. The best thing about doing courses? You meet fantastic people and learn so much more than the subject you're studying. Life's too short not to be learning.

- 4 Hi, Rani, just calling to say that I'll pick you up at eight o'clock. I'm really excited about the next few days. I love the idea of spending the day on the river and the nights playing the guitar around a camp fire. Don't forget to bring your sleeping bag. I've got everything else we need for camping and I'm really looking forward to the kayaking and swimming. Ooh, I hope the other people are nice and friendly and not too super-fit! Anyway, see you tomorrow.
5 Do you know what I hate? I hate it when people try to organise my free time. My free time is just that – free. I don't find it relaxing to have to fill every spare moment of my life with activity. My ideal day off is reading, sleeping and cooking a nice meal that I can share with my friends. I find people who do exercise because they think they're out of shape, or run around sightseeing or having cultural experiences all the time, absolutely ridiculous.

- 1 Do you remember Bill and Emma? They're going to celebrate their twenty-fifth wedding anniversary with a big party next weekend. I wonder what the secret to their success is.
2 I'm not really sure why Tim and Tina have separated. I know they went through a rough patch after they fell out over football, but that was months ago. Maybe they've just drifted apart.
3 I've always looked up to Sally, and she used to look up to me. But these days I get the impression that she just takes me for granted and doesn't value anything I do or say. It's ruining our friendship.
4 My mother's amazing. Not only does she have a very demanding full-time job, but she also looks after her elderly mother who is completely dependent on her. I hope I can do the same for her when the time comes.

- M = Maggie White A = Angela P = Dr Mary Pitt
M: Good afternoon. I'm Maggie White, and this is Saturday Q&A Live. We're very excited to be teaming up with relationship expert Dr Mary Pitt for this week's theme, How to end a relationship. Dr Pitt is the author of Be Kind When You Say Goodbye, which has been top of the non-fiction bestsellers since its publication one year ago. As usual, we have a panel of young people who have prepared questions. Let's start right away with this one from Angela.
A: Hello, Dr Pitt. My friend wants to end a relationship, but she's afraid of the hurt and anger it will cause to her boyfriend. My question is this: Is it possible to have a good break-up?
P: That's a good question. You know, sometimes, two people come to a mutual agreement that the relationship has come to a natural end. Maybe your friend's boyfriend has come to the same conclusion, which makes the breakup easier. However, that doesn't happen very often. The majority of break-ups are instigated by one partner and are not welcomed by the other. So it's up to the person who is driving the split to make it as painless as it possibly can be for the other person.

M: That can't be easy.

P: No, it isn't. If someone has a broken heart, there's nothing you can do to mend it. Only time will do that. But if you're the person who's leaving, there are some guidelines you can follow to soften the blow and minimise pain and heartache. In other words, you can either crash out of a relationship and cause maximum emotional distress and damage, or you can remember what you liked about the person, and the reasons why you were together in the first place and put an end to it respectfully. Relationships come to an end for a wide variety of reasons, among which are personality differences, cheating or simply the day-to-day stresses of dealing with your studies and exams. But whatever the reason, it is one of the most difficult things we have to do. Once you acknowledge that it will be painful, you can prepare yourself for the after-effect. There's no right or wrong time to break up, but once you've decided, do it as soon as you can, and do it in person. Your friend seems to have made the decision, so she should get on with it so that they can both move on. She should think about what she's going to say – it's important to be honest but not to be unkind. In general, people want to know why they're being left, but that doesn't mean you need to go into hurtful detail about all their faults. She should make a clean break – it's best not to see one another for a while. Your friend needs to set clear boundaries even if they make up with each other and become friends again further down the line. Well, I hope I've answered the question and shown you that whereas it may not be possible to have a good break-up, there are ways your friend can make it less traumatic for everyone involved, including herself.

A = Student A B = Student B

A: The picture shows a man asleep on a sofa. There are two children drawing a moustache on his face. I can't be sure, but they look as if they are six or seven years old. It looks as if they're in a living room. The curtains are drawn, but it can't be late at night because the two children are young, and they don't look as if they're ready for bed. I'd say the man is having an afternoon nap. The girl is drawing on the man's face, and the boy is watching and smiling.

B: How do you think the people are related to one another?

A: I'd say the children are brother and sister. They must know the man well. For instance, he could be their father or uncle or stepfather.

B: Why do you think the children decided to paint the man's face?

A: Maybe the children were bored and looking for something to do. Maybe the man was looking after them when he fell asleep, or else the man could be pretending to be asleep.

B: What do you think the man is going to do when he wakes up?

A: I'd say he knows what the children are doing and when they've finished, he's probably going to look in the mirror and pretend to be shocked. It's difficult to say if the pen is a permanent marker or not.

B: How do you think the children are feeling?

A: The girl is concentrating on drawing the moustache while the boy looks like he's amused. I imagine they're having a fun time and they're probably looking forward to seeing the man's reaction.

UNIT 06 ŻYWIENIE

1 We haven't got any sparkling. I'm afraid, but I can get you some still or tap.

2 Mm ... My favourite is this Belgian one and the Swiss one. But the dark one is too bitter for me.

3 The recipe says that we should use orange or yellow ones for the salad, not green ones.

4 Sorry, we've run out of wholemeal, we only have this kind from France, but it tastes great with butter.

5 Do you want the natural variety or the one with fruit? Or maybe one of these drinkable ones?

6 Our chef can make an omelette or make them scrambled for you. So, what would you like?

A: So, how's your steak?

B: Mm, well, don't get me wrong, it's tasty, but I can't bite it. I'm not sure if it's the best piece of beef.

A: Excuse me, waiter?

B: Yes, what can I do for you?

A: Well, I've just cut into this chicken and it's all pink inside. I don't think it's been cooked enough.

B: I'm so sorry, I'll ask the chef to make you a new one.

A: Oh, no! My mouth is burning. Pass me some water, please.

B: Here you are. Looks like I've added too many of those chilli peppers to this curry. Sorry ...

A: How much is the mackerel?

B: It's twelve pounds ninety-nine per kilo. We've just caught it – it's come straight off the boat.

A: OK, I'll take half a kilo, please.

B: It's really oily – so healthy for you!

Hi, everyone, welcome back to the second part of your training. So, you've already learned about all our policies, how to handle food and hygiene. Now, I'll talk you through how we set a table. So, we always start with a clean and ironed tablecloth. In our restaurant, we always use white tablecloths. Then you put the dinner plate in the middle and arrange everything else around it. The soup bowl goes on top of the dinner plate. Then place the fork on the left of the plate and the knife on the right, with the spoon next to it. The dessert spoon and fork go horizontally above the dinner plate and facing opposite directions. Don't forget the bread plate, which should be placed above and to the left of the dinner plate. The butter knife goes diagonally across the bread plate. We always serve coffee after dinner, so don't forget the cup and saucer and a teaspoon. The water glass goes in the upper right corner. Last, but not least, don't forget the napkin, which we always place on the outer left-hand side. Would anyone like me to repeat anything? No, OK, it's time for you to set your own table ...

A: Hi, there. I've come to collect my order.

B: What's the name?

A: Natalie Saunders.

B: Natalie Saunders, hm ... I haven't got that here. Did you order over the phone or online?

A: Online.

B: Ah, OK, here it is. Sweet and sour chicken with fried rice?

A: Yes, that's correct.

B: Would you like a bag for that?

A: Next, please!

B: Have you got any of the spaghetti and meatballs left?

A: No, just the fish. You have to come earlier.

B: I had to go to the library today. OK, I'll just have the pudding then.

A: Are you sure?

B: Yes, there isn't much time left anyway and I can't be late for my next lesson.

A: I'll have the fish and chips and a diet cola, please. Table twenty-seven. Are you showing the Liverpool–Chelsea game today?

B: Yes, it starts in fifteen minutes. Is there anything else?

A: Maybe some chicken wings as a starter.

B: OK, that's sixteen pounds ninety-nine. I'll bring you your food shortly.

A: Let's order here. I've never had food from one of these and I've read they're only here at the weekend.

B: But we've been sightseeing for hours. I want to sit down.

A: We can sit on these benches, like everyone else.

B: But it's cold!

A: Stop complaining. What do you fancy?

A: Good afternoon, have you got a menu?

B: No, just what's on the board behind me. We do teas, coffees, hot chocolate, cakes and sandwiches.

A: Hm, what would you recommend?

B: The ham and brie sandwich is our speciality.

A: OK, I'll have that and a black coffee, please.

B: Here's your coffee and I'll bring the food to your table.

A: We have an hour until the film starts. I don't want to buy food at the cinema as it's so expensive.

B: Well, let's get something here. They have great burgers and chips.

A: Sounds good. I'll also have a milkshake. Can you just sit at the table next to the window so nobody else takes it and I'll get our food?

A: Did you manage to eat lunch?

B: No, I just rushed here from the office.

A: OK, well, let's order something when the train departs.

B: The chicken salad looks good, but it's so expensive. It's much cheaper at the train station.

A: Yeah, I know what you mean. The pasta salad is also very expensive. Next time we should just get some food before we board the train.

- 2
A: Look at all this food. Doesn't it look amazing?
And you can just take what you want.
B: I know, the food looks great, but look at the cutlery and the plates. They're all dirty. And nobody has come and asked us what drinks we want.
A: You're right. The service isn't great.
B: I'm definitely not leaving a tip.
3
A: Hm ... I'm not sure what to get.
B: All of the flavours taste great, but we now have this charcoal coconut one which comes from the Philippines. It's very rare here.
A: OK, I'll try a scoop of that and a scoop of the chocolate one.
B: Any sprinkles on top?
A: No, thank you. But can I have a coffee, please?
4
A: Hello, welcome to our restaurant. Have you been here before?
B: No, we haven't.
A: That's OK. I just wanted to let you know that all the dishes are meat-free. At midday, we have a starter, main course and dessert for nineteen pounds ninety-nine. Here's the menu for that.
B: OK, thank you. What are your specials?
A: Well, we have a few pasta dishes tonight. We have a spinach lasagne and vegetarian spaghetti.

Good morning, everyone. OK, sit down please. Today we're going to look at why it's important to eat a variety of different fruits and vegetables. You may have heard that a healthy plate of food is one that has food of many colours on it, but is that just a way of making it look better? Not at all. It's not only more interesting to see a balance of different colours on your plate, but this variety will ensure you get all the multivitamins and minerals your body needs. So where do these vitamins and minerals come from? Let's start with so-called white fruit and vegetables: I'm talking about bananas, cauliflower and ginger. These help to boost your immune system – if you eat these, you can fight viruses and other illnesses more effectively. Are you with me so far? Good. So, red fruit and vegetables like tomatoes, strawberries, cherries and red peppers are good for your heart. Here's an easy way to remember that – you just need to think of a red heart. Orange and yellow food is good for your bones and your eyesight, and are also high in vitamin C. OK, can anybody tell me why vitamin C is so important?

- A: Next on the agenda is the question of cookery classes. What are your thoughts?
B: My feeling is that there is no room for cookery lessons on the timetable and it doesn't need to be part of the curriculum. We can offer cookery classes in after-school club. I've already spoken to a local cookery school who can make a teacher available twice a week. I'd suggest having a beginners' class and a more advanced class.
C: Personally, I feel quite strongly that cookery classes should be part of the school curriculum. As both a parent and a teacher, I feel it is essential for children to learn about nutrition and how to recognise a healthy diet.

Most of the children in my classes have no idea that popcorn starts off as a plant, or that chocolate comes from cocoa beans. They can't tell the difference between cauliflower and spinach, and they would be very surprised to learn that apple pie starts off as flour, butter, sugar and apples. They've only ever seen a pie come out of a packet.

- A: OK, well, I think we should take a vote. All those in favour of ...

Recipe of the day is ratatouille, a typical Mediterranean dish. So, you're going to need the following ingredients: two large courgettes, one aubergine, an onion, two red peppers, some garlic, two tins of tomatoes and a handful of grated cheese. First, slice the vegetables finely and put them in a baking dish. Next, add garlic, salt and pepper and two large spoons of olive oil. Finally, spread the tomatoes over the vegetables and put the dish into the oven. After thirty minutes, take it out and sprinkle the cheese on top and put it back in the oven for the same time again. Take it out and let it cool for fifteen minutes, then eat with plenty of fresh crusty bread. All you need now is a lovely sunny day to complete the Mediterranean vibe. Join us next week for meatballs in tomato sauce!

When I was a schoolboy, we didn't use to eat the kind of ready meals I see my grandchildren eating now. Of course, when both parents work outside the home in full-time jobs, you don't always have time to cook from scratch. That takes time. But I think we've gone too far the other way now – children think food comes from the freezer or the supermarket shelf, and they don't know how to make the most basic dishes. I'm grateful to have had cookery lessons at school – it gave me a passion for cooking that I've taken through my adult life. Being able to cook means that you have more control over what you put into your body and I became more adventurous about trying new things. When I first left home and lived in a house with other people, I put my cooking skills to good use – people loved my meals, and that encouraged me to experiment and since then I've always had a passion for cooking. I've had a great career as a lawyer, but I can thank my cooking skills for making me so popular with my friends.

My new podcast is all about comfort eating. Interviews with a different famous person each week will uncover their deepest food secrets and reveal the snacks they find tempting and those that get them through tough times. You'll find out which celebrity finds doughnuts hard to resist, and can't stop at one, because they remind him of the treats he was given as a little boy. Or the top photographer who snacks on cream cheese and biscuits while she's working and says they help her cope with mood swings. One news presenter says chicken broth is her comfort food because it takes her back to her grandmother's house and says that this link with the past makes the present feel less frightening. Join me every Friday morning for some very personal comfort eating stories.

- 1 It is well documented that meditation and mindfulness increase happiness and reduce stress. For me, baking has the same effect. Baking requires your full attention – you have to measure, mix, roll out pastry or dough, calculate timing and temperature. The act of following step by step instructions is bound to keep you in the moment. But it isn't just the process that has psychological benefits, it's the altruistic nature of baking. At the heart of baking for others is the act of giving. It's a gesture that can communicate feelings, whether the situation requires thanks, sympathy, appreciation or simply love.

- 2 I live in New York and many of my American friends are from Chinese backgrounds. Their dumplings, noodles and spring rolls have become familiar to me over the years and I never refuse second helpings of those delicious pork ribs. Other friends from Italian backgrounds serve up generous portions of macaroni and spaghetti, equally delicious. My own identity is closely connected with my traditional family meal of rice and beans. When I eat that simple dish, I feel proud of my Hispanic heritage, and when I haven't tasted it for a while, I feel the need to see my grandparents – that dish feeds my soul and reminds me of home.
3 Here are a few tips for how to regulate your emotions and avoid mood swings by eating the right thing at the right time. Tip one is to avoid skipping meals – unless you eat regularly, your blood sugar levels may drop too low. Tip two, avoid sweet snacks. Biscuits and sugary drinks will trigger a sugar rush, followed by a rapid fall in blood sugar levels. Opt for slow-release energy foods, such as pasta, rice, cereals, nuts and seeds. Tip three, vary your fruit and vegetable intake otherwise you won't get the minerals and vitamins you need. And a final tip – try to avoid caffeine and stay hydrated. Drinking sufficient fluid will keep your powers of concentration high.
4 I admit it – I'm a chocoholic. I have plenty of self-control – I can skip meals if necessary; I can resist doughnuts, ice cream, custard tarts, even waffles with whipped cream (although that is challenging), but chocolate defeats me every time. I began to wonder why I suffered such a lack of willpower over chocolate, and decided to do some research. I was aware of the origin of chocolate being the beans of the cacao tree, and I find that thought reassuring because it's a natural product. What I learnt was that chocolate also contains naturally occurring feel-good chemicals which can produce the kind of feeling of excitement you get when you're in love. The quantities of these substances in chocolate are very small, though.

I can see three different posters for advertising Stop Food Waste Day. Of these three options, I like number three best because it has a bigger impact than pictures one and two. The first reason I say this is that the poster shows somebody throwing four doughnuts away, even though there's nothing wrong with them. In other words, poster three shows food being wasted for no reason, and that's the point of Stop Food Waste Day – to remind people to stop buying more food than they need. Secondly, poster three shows an image of a kitchen that people can easily relate to. In my view, poster two is less effective because it shows two lorries emptying rubbish onto a rubbish tip, but the message isn't very clear. The disadvantage of poster two is that it doesn't show food waste very obviously. In addition to this, I believe that people will find this image difficult to relate to their everyday lives. The main reason I definitely wouldn't choose poster one is that the dustbin is full, but mostly with containers. For instance, you can see plastic bottles and cans, but not much food. Furthermore, the containers are mostly empty and so this image illustrates plastic waste rather than food waste. To sum up, although all of the posters are attractive, poster three is the one that makes you think.

UNIT 07 ZAKUPY I USŁUGI

A: Oh, this dress is just gorgeous.
B: Yes, it is. It just came in today.
A: And it doesn't even look used.
B: No, look, it still has the tags on.
A: I'll take it. It's such a good deal.
A: Dad, are we done yet? We've been here for an hour now.
B: No, there are still some things on the shopping list. We need to get some food for Scruffy. So, which aisle is that?
A: Maybe we should ask someone. Excuse me, where's all your dog stuff?
C: It's in that far left corner over there. Just next to the frozen foods section.
A: Excuse me, do you have washing machines here?
B: Yes, we do, but I'm new here, so let me just check the directory for you. OK ... so, that would be on the fifth floor. According to this floor plan, just past kitchenware.
A: Great, thank you.
B: Just take the lift as the escalator is currently out of service.
4
A: Good morning, how can I help you?
B: I'm looking for some body wash and lotion for sensitive skin. Everything seems to irritate my skin.
A: Well, we've got this line especially for people with sensitive skin. Why don't you just try the wash for now, and then if you're happy with it, get the lotion.
B: OK, that sounds like a good idea. I'll take it. And can I also have a toothbrush?
A: Let's go in here, maybe they'll have something for my mum's birthday.
B: Oh, I love this shop. I buy all my presents here. Last time I was here, they had some lovely ceramic cups. I got four of them.
A: I know! You gave me one for Christmas. What do you think of this necklace?
B: It's beautiful. I'm sure your mum would love it.
A: OK, I'll get it.

- 1
A: OK, I haven't got much time. We have to be in and out in thirty minutes.
B: Sure, you know I hate shopping. Where are the trolleys?
A: Over there. We need a pound coin to use one.
B: Well, I have a few pennies. And this five-pound note.
A: Great, but that's not going to help.
A: Daddy, it's the end of the week ... time for my pocket money.
B: Sorry, I forgot. Let me check my wallet to see if

- I have any change. Mm ... no, nothing here.
C: Let me check my purse. Oh, yes, I have some coins. So, here you go.
A: Thank you, Mummy. I'll keep this in my moneybox.
A: So, yes, I'd love to rent this flat. How can I pay for the deposit and first month's rent? Is cash OK?
B: Well, we used to take cheques, but we had some problems with them, so a bank transfer would be best.
A: Sure, I can do that.

- SA = Shop assistant G = Girl
SA: Hi there, how can I help you?
G: Hi, I bought this tablet online and I've been pretty dissatisfied with it from the start.
SA: So, what's the problem?
G: Well, there've actually been a few. First of all, when it arrived, the box was slightly squashed at the corner. I mentioned it to the delivery guy, but he said there shouldn't be a problem with the product. But when I opened it, the screen was slightly cracked on the corner. See ... right here.
SA: Mm ... yes, I can see that. You should have insisted on completing the 'damaged packaging form' and getting it signed by the courier.
G: I also ordered a case, a mouse and a keyboard, but the case was missing and the keyboard had several scratches. I have it with me. Look.
SA: Well, that's not good. I'm very sorry about this. Well, we could either give you a refund for the tablet, case and keyboard or we could send you a replacement for all of them.
G: I think I'd just like to return these and get a refund.
SA: OK, no problem. We can do that for you. And, once again, I'm very sorry about this.

So, we've explored the design aspects of TV adverts and I think we all agree that attractive design is a good place to start. But the secret to a really great TV advert is making it memorable, and if you can get an emotional reaction from the viewers, then you've succeeded in making your advert stand out. I'm sure we can all remember adverts that have cute or funny babies in them, or lovable pets – dogs are the favourite, especially if they've got big ears and huge brown eyes. But just the cute baby or dog is not enough – the message must be clear, otherwise the viewers will remember the baby or the dog, but not the product. Last Christmas, there was a TV advert that attracted a lot of attention. The star was a very funny little girl who was so good that she could have won a competition with her dance routine. On social media, the advert had 13.7 million viewers, but the problem was that it didn't affect sales. People remembered the girl, and they remembered the dance routine, but nobody knew what they were selling.

- B = Becky M = Max
B: OK, everyone. As you know we got the contract to advertise a new brand of shampoo and now we need to decide whether we need a famous person for the advertising campaign. Max, I think you're quite keen. Can you tell us why?
M: Thanks, Becky. Yes, although I understand it can be very expensive to use famous people, I still think it's a good idea. There are plenty of statistics to show that this way of advertising hair and beauty products works well. If you get the right person and put their face all over the media and on a few billboards in good locations, sales will go up. However, unless we can get the right celebrity, it can do more harm than good. Let's take a look at this graph. The celebrities' names are on the left, and you can see how the sales rose and kept rising for all products, except this one. After starting really well, the sales figures dropped dramatically. What happened? Well, it was unfortunate. The actress's new movie was a flop, her TV series got cancelled and then she had some personal problems. The sales of that shampoo died.

B: That's very sad for everybody involved. So, who do we think is the right person for this brand? Over to you again, Max.
M: Well, I think we need to consider two questions: who are the customers we want to attract, and what sort of person would they identify with?
B: Right, well, the target market is young people, fifteen to twenty-five, so we need someone in their early twenties. Of course, as you know there are thousands of shampoo brands on the market, and it's hard to create an advertising campaign that isn't identical to all the others. That's why it's so important to find the right person. Does it have to be a woman?
M: No, if we found the right person, it wouldn't matter whether it was a man or a woman. Do you have anyone in mind?

- M = Maria N = Nick C = Customer
M: No! You're joking!
N: It's true. Ask Anna – she's the one who saw them ...
C: Excuse me.
M: Can I help you?
C: Um, yes, please. I'd like to try this on but in a large.
M: Oh, sorry, we don't do that style in a large. Have you tried Maggs Mode? They have lots of styles for the larger figure. I mean, you know, different sizes.
C: Are you sure you don't have a large? I looked on your website and it's very clearly advertised in all sizes from extra small to extra large. I believe it's new in.
M: Oh, just a minute, I'll have a look. Oh, you're lucky, there are just four left. There should be one out – if you go over there it'll be on the bottom shelf.
C: I've looked through everything over there and I couldn't find one, which is why I'm asking you. Is your manager around?
N: Yes, I'm the manager, can I help you?

- Text 1 D = Dan SA = Shop assistant
D: Excuse me, is this the right place for exchanges?
SA: Yes, I can do that for you. What would you like to exchange?
D: A pair of shoes.
SA: Oh, we don't exchange shoes. Sorry.
D: But they haven't been worn at all. When I got them home, I realised they were the wrong size.
SA: Didn't you try them on?
D: Yes, of course. I tried them on and then the shop assistant went to the storeroom to get a fresh pair. She told me the ones I tried on were display models and so I was happy to get a new pair. But she must have put the wrong size in the box.

SA: Can you remember who the assistant was?

D: Not really, it was two weeks ago. It was a young woman, but apart from that I'm not sure. But look – you can see they haven't been worn.

SA: Hm, just a minute please, I need to ask my manager.

D: OK, but how long ...

Text 2 P = Paul H = Helen

P: Oh, this is annoying.

H: What's the matter?

P: I'm trying to find out about setting up a savings account. On the whole, I'm happy with my bank, but their online service isn't as good as you'd expect from a big international bank.

H: Have you downloaded the app?

P: Yes, and that's fine for the usual transactions – checking your balance and transferring money. I thought it would be easy to set up a new savings account on the app, but it says here that if you want to do anything like that, you have to go to the branch in town and speak to someone, and I don't have time for that. Maybe I should change to one of the online-only banks. Do you know any good ones?

H: Well, banks are like any service providers. You need to shop around and choose the one that suits your needs. What are your priorities?

P: Well, I want to be able to do everything on my phone, including finding out information about setting up a new account.

H: OK, let's google some online banks.

Thank you for inviting me to come and speak to you about your forthcoming internship in retail. I'm here to give you some tips on how to make the most of your placement.

First, a little bit about myself and my own experience. I've been working in the retail sector for over twenty years now. My career started with a Saturday job in a local clothes shop and then, when I left school, I got a full-time job in a department store, and after a few years I became their personal shopper. I loved providing a personal service to shoppers, and it turned out that I was quite good at consumer relations. I still do this but for a range of different stores, and I combine that with training new staff and interns like yourselves.

As you come into the profession as interns, I wish I could tell you that retail profits were high and that shopping centres were buzzing, but the reality is that we're fighting for survival at the moment in this age of online dominance. Why am I telling you this? I'm certainly not trying to put you off! On the contrary, I want you to know that this is a great time to start working in retail because the challenges and opportunities for creative minds are enormous.

OK, let's look at a few specific examples of the kind of skills you can work on during your retail internship. I'm sure you agree that in life first impressions count for a lot, and in retail it's no different. When you walk into a store, what usually happens? An assistant gives you a few moments to browse and then approaches you and says, 'Can I help you?' It's exactly what you expect, and it's polite and helpful. But how about if the assistant asks your name and offers to put your shopping bags in a safe place for you? Immediately, the assistant creates a personal bond with the customer, and the customer feels special.

Take a couple of other typical phrases – 'I'm sorry, we're out of stock' or 'I'm afraid we don't have that model in your size'. Don't ever leave it there. Your job is to give the customer the impression that you're going to move heaven and earth to find the product they want, or failing that, an alternative that you'll convince them is even better than what they wanted in the first place. Each time you recommend a substitute and manage to persuade the customer that it's what they wanted anyway, you avoid missing out on a sale. Every sale counts when you're hoping to make a good impression as an intern. Don't ever believe that being a shop assistant is not a highly skilled job. Anybody can be a shop assistant, but only the really proficient ones do excellent business. Whether you're selling beauty products, electrical goods or second-hand furniture, the role of a retailer is to convince the customer that you're passionate about what you're selling, and that you know everything there is to know about it. Good luck, everyone!

Congratulations on winning Personal Shopper of the Year. In this challenging time for shopping centres everywhere, you have managed to increase retail profits. You are a highly skilled worker, who is always willing to move heaven and earth to improve your customers' experience. Your manager has this message: thanks for never missing out on a sale. You know how to create a personal bond with your clients, and once they meet you, they don't feel the need to shop around anywhere else. If there were more service providers like you, shopping centres would soon be buzzing again.

A: I'm worried about Emma. She's been so miserable lately. Why don't we take her out for a surprise shopping trip?

B: I'm not sure. Why do you think a shopping trip's a good idea?

A: It might cheer her up and you know how much she loves buying clothes. We could get the bus into town and perhaps we could go round that new shopping centre.

B: I don't know. It's always so crowded. Why don't we stay in the high street?

A: OK, why not? There are plenty of good shops there too, and actually Emma's favourite shop's got a sale on at the moment.

B: If we're staying in the centre of town, I wouldn't mind doing a bit of shopping – I need some new shoes. Where do you think I should go?

A: Ha! You're asking the right person! There are at least three or four good shoe shops in the high street. If I were you, I'd try Jones.

B: OK, that sounds great.

A: How about having lunch afterwards? We could go to one of those fish restaurants near the river. It's not far to walk from the high street.

B: I don't think that's a very good idea. Aren't they rather expensive?

A: I think most of those places have cheap lunch menus. It's really popular at lunchtime – should I book a table?

B: Good idea.

A: Why don't you call Emma and tell her we're coming to get her for a surprise day out? Then I'll book lunch.

B: That sounds like a good plan.

UNIT 08 PODRÓŻOWANIE I TURYSTYKA

Welcome aboard the Canadian, a transcontinental service taking you from Toronto to Vancouver. Our journey will take four days and four nights. If you've booked the sleeping car, then please move to the rear. Economy class is at the front. Please check your ticket for your compartment number. We encourage you to visit the dining car where we serve breakfast, lunch and dinner, and snacks throughout the day. Please, use caution when placing your belongings on the luggage racks. On behalf of the Canadian, we hope you have a great journey!

1 Good morning. Flight number AC801 to Toronto is ready for boarding. We will be boarding families with young children and those who require assistance in the first instance. Please have your passports open on the photo page and your boarding passes ready. If you have oversized hand luggage, we will put it in the hold for you.

2 A: Mum, look, here's the tablet I've been saving for. It's so much cheaper than on the high street.

B: Yes, because you don't pay any taxes here.

A: Should I get it?

B: Well, you've been saving for months, so why not? But decide quickly as we need to get to the departure lounge as soon as possible or we'll miss our flight.

3 A: Hi there, booking confirmation and passport, please.

B: Here you are.

A: So, you're flying to Melbourne via Singapore?

B: Yes, that's correct.

A: How many pieces of luggage have you got?

B: Two suitcases and a backpack that I'd like to take on board with me.

A: OK, here's your boarding pass and luggage tags. Please, be at the gate 45 minutes before the scheduled departure. The time is here on your boarding pass. You can proceed to security now.

4 A: Excuse me, I think you're sitting in my seat. I'm 23A, that's the window seat. I guess yours is the aisle seat.

B: I thought this was 24A. I asked for a window seat.

C: Actually, sir, your seat is over there. That is row 23.

A: Oh, I'm sorry.

C: Please take your seat and fasten your seat belt. We're about to take off.

1 A: Excuse me, how can I get to the beach?

B: Just go straight on and then turn right into Park Crescent. Take the second turning on the left. That will take you to Bayside Street. When you reach the north part of Park Crescent, turn right. Walk straight on until you see Beach Avenue. Go to the end of that road until you see the beach.

2 A: Excuse me, I think we've got lost. We're looking for the hotel.

B: Just drive straight on until you get to Park

Crescent. Then turn left and follow the road until you get to Summer Drive, which will be on your left. Turn there and go along that road until you reach the roundabout. Take the first exit, which is Bank Drive. Immediately turn left into River Drive. The hotel will be on your right.

1 Chris and I are going backpacking next week. We want to tour the country and visit as many places as possible. We've booked all our train tickets, but we'll also have to hire a car in some places. As for accommodation, Chris wanted to stay at campsites, but I do like my home comforts, especially after a whole day of sightseeing. We're travelling on a budget, so we booked the cheapest room with breakfast provided.

A: Reception, how can I help you?

B: Hello, I'd like to make a booking. I'm looking for a double room for a week from the ninth of January.

A: I'm sorry, but I haven't got any available for that time. I can offer you either two single rooms or a twin room.

B: I'll take the twin one then.

A: I have a large twin room which is located in the new part of the hotel. I'm sure you'll love it.

A: I can't believe you didn't book a room for us. We could be checking into a hotel now, enjoying all the facilities and not spending the night in the wild!

B: Don't worry, it's going to be great. And you can't get a better view than from the top of this hill. Just pass me that pole, please. We're almost done.

A: At least, you've packed our sleeping bags.

B: Hm ... I thought you packed them ...

A: Are you kidding me?

B: Ha ha, don't worry. I have them. Now, help me raise this. On three. One, two, three ...

1 I really want to go to a warm country and stay at a large resort. I just want to pay for the holiday and not worry about money when I'm there. I could eat and drink everything I want, use all the facilities and not have to pay for anything. I don't mind going on some trips and doing some activities, but lying on the beach would be my priority.

2 We've been touring Europe for two weeks now and yesterday we arrived in Gdańsk. We've got a guide booked for today, so we'll be seeing all the sights in the Old Town. We've told him that apart from seeing all the tourist attractions, we also want to see things off the beaten path.

3 My friends and I are going to Scotland. It's going to be rough. We haven't got much money, so we'll be sleeping in tents and cooking our own food on the fire. But it can't be any worse than a holiday farm I stayed at when I was at summer camp once. There were eight people in a room and the beds were filthy!

1 The last time I saw somebody off at an airport was two years ago.

2 My grandfather used to be able to ride his motorbike without a helmet.

3 I'm not very good at giving people directions to city landmarks.

Text 1 W = Wojtek M = Maya

W: I'm going to London next month to do a course.

You were there recently. What do you think is the best way to get around the city? I was thinking of getting a bicycle.

M: Well, it depends on where you're living and where you have to go for your course. A bicycle's fine if you don't have to travel too far, and I was thinking of doing that too, but in the end, I hired e-scooters. You can hire them easily, but make sure you read the instructions and rules. They may be a bit different than they are in Poland, and you could get a higher fine, for £300, if you do something wrong. The speed limit's higher – around twenty-five kilometres per hour, or fifteen point five miles per hour. You know they work in miles, not kilometres there.

W: Oh, yes. I must remember that. Where can you ride them?

M: On roads and in bicycle lanes. You used to be able to drive on pavements, like you can in certain places in Poland, but there have been some accidents and now it's forbidden. Oh, and I always wear a helmet when I ride an e-scooter. By the way, have you had your eighteenth birthday yet?

W: No, not for another five months.

M: Oh, you can't hire one then. You're five months too young! It's not like in Poland where the minimum age is ten.

Welcome to a new episode of Travel Tales. What better way to get to know a city than exploring on foot? But how much do you really learn about the city from these tourist walking tours? Today we're reporting on a walking tour with a difference. Our destination is the beautiful historic city of Prague, capital of the Czech Republic. If you're lucky enough to find yourself in Prague, the old town square and Charles Bridge with its statues of Catholic saints are top tourist destinations, but there's an alternative tour on offer and it isn't your usual sightseeing trip. Instead, a homeless person is hired to be your guide. They will take a less touristy route and not only will you see the important historic buildings, but you'll also visit small side streets, less well-known neighbourhoods and the hidden side of the city. You pay the equivalent of ten euros for a tour, and after the guide's fee has been paid, the rest of the money helps to provide support for homeless people in Prague. Tours like this one have been so successful that other cities in the Czech Republic have organised similar projects. In fact, you can find comparable tours set up to support people without homes in other European cities too, including Berlin, Barcelona and London.

Text 3 L = Lucy T = Tim

L: Are you into walking?

T: Not really. Because I live in the town centre I have to drive out to the countryside if I want a walk.

L: I live in the centre of town too, but I still go for a walk every day. I just walk out of my house and put one foot in front of the other. It's called an urban walk.

T: That's not very interesting, though, is it?

L: I love urban walks, especially since I discovered this new app. It gives you a purpose for walking in town. So, you have to choose your town, and then they give you a street name, and photos of doors with different numbers on. You have to find the doors in the photos and tick them before moving onto the next one. It's a simple idea, but I promise you it makes a walk so much more interesting, and you discover places you wouldn't normally know about.

T: Sounds intriguing. Tell me more about how it works.

R = Richard J = Joanna

R: I've been thinking about where to go on holiday, but everywhere's so expensive.

J: What did you have in mind?

R: Well, I wouldn't mind somewhere quite far away with interesting places to visit and picturesque beaches – that sort of thing. I suppose long-haul flights must be a bit of a hassle, but so long as you're nice and tired, you can just sleep and wake up somewhere completely different.

J: So basically, you want some exotic far-flung destination but on a shoestring. Good luck with that.

R: I was thinking of South America – I like the sound of Ecuador. I know someone who went there and said it was fascinating – I think they had problems going through passport control, but I can't remember the details.

J: Yes, that was me and it wasn't Ecuador, it was Lima in Peru! They stopped me and searched my suitcase. It was a bad start, but the rest of the trip was amazing. Have you been to Machu Picchu?

R: No, of course I haven't – I've never been outside Europe.

J: So, what's your budget?

R: The flight from London to Quito is going to be around six or seven hundred pounds, and I was hoping I could manage on eight hundred pounds for accommodation, food and travel.

J: Sounds doable to me unless you need to take domestic flights. Ecuador's not the biggest country in South America, so you should be OK taking public transport to get around. How exciting!

G = Giles M = Monica

G: Did you catch the final of the Race Across the World on Sunday? It was so exciting.

M: Race Across the World? What's that – some sort of car rally or something? Or is it a new super hard marathon?

G: You don't know Race Across the World? You don't know what you're missing. Everybody's watching it. It's a travel competition on TV based on getting from one destination to another with no phones or other technology and very little money. Oh, and you can't take a flight.

M: Sounds interesting. I don't know how I missed that – you know I'm a travel fanatic. Do they literally travel across the world?

G: Not all the way across the world, no. In the first series, they had to get from London to Singapore because that's the furthest point from the UK that you can get to by road and rail. It's 12,000 miles and they had to do it in fifty days.

M: Wow, that sounds like an amazing trip. I'd need to look on a map to see how they can do it by road and rail. Isn't Singapore an island?

G: It is, but it's attached to the mainland by a bridge.

M: Ah, right. So how much luggage can they take?

G: They all have backpacks – I suppose you could take a tent if you wanted to carry it. They were given a world map and money belts containing the price of a single flight from London to Singapore each in cash. That's £1,329 – not much when you think of the distance they have to cover. But if they win, they get £20,000.

M: Each?

G: No, to share. I mean, it's not that much, but I think people do it for the adventure more than the prize money.

M: I don't know if I'd do it – it really is a holiday on a shoestring, isn't it? But on the other hand, there's something quite appealing about the idea of living out of a suitcase and not knowing where you're going to wake up the next day.

G: More like living out of a backpack. But I know what you mean – maybe we should apply to go on the next series. You need to watch the first series – honestly, you'll be blown away by the breathtaking sights.

M: I can imagine. I can imagine they must have gone through places like Turkey and India, where there are so many places of natural beauty and historic sites, too. Wow. I will watch it – it's the sort of thing I love, seeing new places and dreaming of going there. But this is a TV show – I'm guessing things go wrong, otherwise it would be very boring TV.

G: Oh, sure. It's really hard and all sorts of things go wrong. They get lost, they lose their money or an important document, they need first aid – they also have to deal with language barriers. But then wonderful things happen too, like they hitchhike and get a ride with someone who invites them to their home. That sort of thing.

M: Let's apply!

G: Ha! We'd probably end up hating one another! Watch it first, and then we can think about it. I'd have to get my passport renewed first!

This picture shows a group of tourists on an organised tour with a tour guide. The tour guide is a woman who looks as if she's in her twenties, and the tourists look as if they're in their sixties and seventies. They seem to be in a city centre and they're standing on a zebra crossing. Most people in the group are wearing yellow caps, and some of them are carrying umbrellas because it's raining. The tour guide is pointing her yellow flag in the air, but we can't see what she's pointing at.

- 1 Yes, I'd love to be a tour guide because there are so many interesting historical places to show visitors and I know quite a lot about the history and architecture of my city. I think I have some of the qualities of a tour guide, for instance, I'm very fit and that's good because you have to walk a lot. Also, in my opinion, a loud voice is an advantage and I've certainly got one of those!
- 2 It depends. When I'm on holiday I like to be independent and do sightseeing on my own so that I can make my own decisions. For instance, I can stop and take photographs or have a drink whenever I like. However, when I'm in a place where I don't know how to get around a city, or I want to learn something about the history or architecture, I sometimes join a group with a guide.
- 3 Personally, I don't think it's a good idea to go sightseeing when it's raining because it's difficult to look at your phone and follow the directions or read any information when you're holding an umbrella. Also, it seems to me that everything looks better in the sun. However, it isn't a good idea to go sightseeing when it's very hot, either. In fact, my favourite type of weather for sightseeing is around twenty degrees and sunny. My dream is to go to cities like Barcelona or Venice in winter when the temperature is cool and there are fewer tourists.

UNIT 09 KULTURA

A: Hi, Alex! I was just about to buy tickets for the play, but my Internet's down.

B: Don't worry, we can go to the box office tomorrow.

A: No, they're selling out pretty fast, so we need to book tonight. Can you do it?

B: Sure, let me find the website. OK, I've got it. Looks like there are lots of tickets left. Where do you want to sit?

A: Well, my mum said that box seats are the best because they're quite private, but they provide obstructed views, so I don't want that. I think I'd prefer to sit in the gallery. It's quite high up, so we'd get to see everything.

B: I think that's too far away. You know my eyesight isn't the best, so I wouldn't see the stage. I'd rather sit in the stalls, but not next to the aisle as I don't like people walking past me all the time.

A: Oh no, but that's ground level. I'd need to tilt my head back all the time.

B: Then what about the circle? That sounds like the best option for both of us.

A: OK, good idea, please book our seats there then.

1 A: I've always loved his work, but these paintings are ... well, how do I put it?

B: Awful?

A: I didn't want to say that, but yes, this is nothing like his previous stuff. My little niece's drawings are better.

B: I was definitely expecting more from him.

A: So, what did you think?

B: Well, after queuing at the box office for so long, I thought it would be a bit more exciting.

A: What do you mean?

B: I almost fell asleep! And I don't think the acting was strong. I've definitely seen better movies.

A: Wow, that was just great!

B: I know! I loved everything about it. And the lead singer was excellent.

A: Yes, I can't wait to go to another live event like this. And I'll never forget this one.

1 A: I can't believe you managed to cover this story!

B: I know, I was really lucky. I was just in the right place at the right time. I thought I'd just manage to write a column for the website, but now we have this.

A: It looks great. Some bits might probably end up on the cutting room floor, but I'm sure the rest will make for great viewing.

A: Hold on, I just want to have a look at the magazines. I wonder if the latest issue of my favourite one is out. OK, yeah, here it is.

B: You like that?

A: Yes! It's my favourite lifestyle magazine. There are some really interesting articles here, some quite serious ones on psychology or culture too, but I mostly like the shorter sections about what celebrities are up to.

3 Everyone thinks that my job is really easy, but it takes a lot of preparation before I can go out to the people. I do plenty of research about my subjects; it's sometimes almost like an investigation. And I get advice from experts before I give my own advice. The interview part in front of a live audience is probably the only easy part.

A: I don't think we can go ahead with this today.

B: What do you mean? You need to address that leak about ending the streaming service. Subscribers want an explanation.

A: OK, but tell the journalists that I'm only taking pre-approved questions and no phone-in questions from the public.

On my podcast today, I want to tell you something that you may be shocked to hear. I really hate the news. I know that sounds strange because how can you hate the news? What I mean is I hate how it makes me feel. When I see a journalist reporting from a disaster zone, I just want to switch off. Why? Because I feel very small and very helpless. I know I shouldn't say this, but I really only want to hear the good news because there's nothing I can do about the bad news. How do you feel about bad news? Please write your comments below.

This is the news at ten o'clock on the sixth of July. Today was the first day of summer sales around the country and people came out in force. At nine o'clock this morning, the pavements of Oxford Street in central London were already crowded with sales lovers carrying bags full of bargains. There were reports of minor injuries when the crowds surged into stores at opening time, pushing one another out of the way. At the end of day one of summer sales, several department stores reported their best day of sales for years.

1 I've been a newspaper journalist for a very long time and I've seen many changes in how the news is reported. One thing that hasn't changed is that news reporters have to keep ahead of the news and report it while it's still happening. However, when I was a young reporter, no one had cameras on their smartphones and the only way to get the news was for a reporter to travel to where it was happening. This guaranteed the facts were reported in a professional and objective way. In the present digital age, anyone can create a blog and put an opinion out into the world, where it can go viral without any fact-checking or editing.

2 Hi, Mum! Just calling to say I went to the newsagent, but they didn't have your paper. Sorry. Do you want me to get a different one? I thought I could get The Days, but the headlines were all about the royal wedding and I know how you feel about all that, so I didn't bother. The Paragraph has a big article about that mystery illness affecting cats – I thought you'd be interested in that. Shall I get The Paragraph? Text me!

3 A recent survey into how adults and teenagers access news content found that TV is still the most popular way to get news, with seventy-five percent of people watching news channels. The next most popular platform is the Internet, with fifty percent of adults using social media to keep up with the latest news. Forty-nine percent of adults combine print with newspaper websites and apps.

- 4 It's nine o'clock and here are the news headlines. Recent figures released by the Global Health Bureau show that sixty percent of the world's wealth is now owned by one percent of the population. World leaders are demanding an immediate report into why this is happening.

In Florida, preparations are going ahead for the launch of a rocket carrying two junior astronauts to the International Space Station. Captain Barbra Hernandez said that she was looking forward to this once in a lifetime experience.

Finally, temperatures continue to be ten degrees above average for the time of year in Central Europe. Scientists believe that global warming is the cause.

- 5 On my podcast today, I want to tell you how angry I am about TV news. Presenters do a great job – I could never remember all that information or pronounce all those difficult names. But please, please, please ... stop interviewing politicians! They never answer a question. It's a total waste of time listening to them, and they're all the same. Instead, let's have some people who are experts in the topic, but get rid of politicians.

To continue my series of customs and traditions from around the world, I want to tell you about one highly unusual custom that combines two of my favourite things – Christmas and books. For me, it is the best Christmas tradition I've ever come across. Records show that Jalabokaflad, which translates as 'Christmas book flood', started during World War II, when most things were rationed in Iceland, but not paper. How imaginative of the Icelanders to give books as gifts at a time when it was difficult to get hold of other goods. No doubt this has helped to turn Icelanders into bookaholics, with books featuring prominently on everyone's Christmas list. In fact, according to a 2013 study fifty percent of Icelanders read more than eight books a year. I can't imagine anything more wonderful than curling up on a cold December evening with a good story.

Text 1 P = Presenter T = Tom

P: We're delighted to have art historian Tom Browne with us today. Welcome to the programme Tom.

T: Thanks, it's great to be here.

P: Tom, tell us about your latest book How To Read Art from the Past.

T: Right, well, the idea is to show how to interpret portrait paintings and understand them better. There are all sorts of signs and symbols in paintings that give the cultural background to the time when they were produced. For example, if you know where to look, a portrait gives information about who the people are, whether they're married, royal, religious and so on. Sometimes the artist conveys this information through the design and colour of embroidery on fabrics, but equally everyday objects included in the painting can have special meaning. By decoding the details, we can learn what was important to the people and the times they lived in.

P: Fascinating! Perhaps you could talk about a famous painting that we all know and unpack the symbolism for us.

T: Well, yes, let's consider a real masterpiece from the fifteenth century ...

Text 2 R = Reporter W = Woman M = Man

R: It's the twenty-first of June, summer solstice, and it's four o'clock in the morning. We're reporting from the ancient stones of Stonehenge where a crowd of revellers are preparing to watch the sunrise. It looks to me as if they're dressed to take part in a scene from Game of Thrones! I'm loving this festival atmosphere! Hello, nice drums. Can you tell us why you're here?

W: It's an age-old tradition! We're always here in June to celebrate light, life and nature. We sing and dance to show our appreciation of nature and to pray for a good harvest.

R: Hello there. I love your white robes and headdress.

M: Thanks. These are traditional druid robes, and my headdress is made of special herbs that we call 'the herb of the sun'.

R: And all this singing and dancing and dressing in robes – is this a tradition that goes back to the early days of Stonehenge?

M: Stonehenge is still a bit of a mystery, but some archaeologists believe Stonehenge was built for the summer solstice, because the sun rises perfectly in line with the stones, and shines into the circle. We're just keeping the traditions alive.

Next in our series on museums of the world, we enter into the wonderful space created by the Museum of International Folk Art, located in Santa Fe, New Mexico. The museum was founded in 1953 by a wealthy philanthropist, Florence Bartlett, who recognised the power of traditional folk art to create a common bond between the peoples of the world. She felt that this was important following World War II, when industry and factory-made goods were becoming more widespread. As people were now buying more mass produced goods, she believed that it was increasingly important to enjoy and celebrate handmade art.

The museum exhibits a wide and fascinating range of handicrafts including masks, textiles, pottery, jewellery and embroidery. The objects have come from all around the world, and one of the aims of the collection is to highlight the connections between art and deep-rooted traditions in the past, present and future. Traditional pottery from South America tells the story of how ancient tribes lived their everyday lives while bead necklaces from Africa can tell you whether the woman wearing them is married or not. Polish wood carvings tell us about the wonderful Polish Christmas traditions that are still very much alive today, and wooden Mexican dance masks and headdresses are still used in rituals and festivals that hold an important place in the Mexican calendar.

A particularly striking exhibition was dedicated to the arts of survival: in other words, how folk artists helped their communities recover after an extreme event, such as the Haitian earthquake and hurricane Katrina. Artists produced paintings, carnival masks and textiles incorporating elements of the events into their art, and the money made from selling them helped to rebuild the lives of the disaster victims and revive the economy.

Looking to the future, an upcoming exhibition will showcase pieces made by prisoners including a mural created by young offenders. The idea behind the exhibition is to explore the ways art can stimulate progress and positive change.

This wonderful museum expands the understanding of folk art and I believe that it genuinely encourages dialogue about traditions, cultural identity and community. The good news for all who can't visit the museum itself is that the exhibitions and collections are available online. To my mind, it greatly adds to the museum's ability to appeal to the public. Still, judging by the statistics, the online feature that appeals most to the users is the series of weekly blog posts where people write about their favourite folk art piece. For those of you who believe, as I do, that folk art is the key to understanding the cultural lives of communities around the world, I can't recommend it highly enough.

I can see three photos that could be used to advertise the school photography competition using the theme of The Great Outdoors. Of the three options, I think I'd choose photo one because it is more interesting than the other two. What I mean is that the great outdoors doesn't have to be a landscape, but it can be something more mysterious and imaginative. Secondly, I think this photo is the one that is most likely to inspire people to enter the competition. The reason I've rejected photo two is that it shows a typical landscape with farmland in the foreground and mountains in the background. There is nothing unusual about this landscape and so I don't think it will encourage people to take part in the competition. I quite like the idea of a hand holding up a frame, but as the image inside the frame is ordinary, I wouldn't choose this photo. Finally, I wouldn't choose photo three either, because it suggests a selfie rather than the great outdoors. Although I love the colours and the location, the competition isn't about people, and that's the reason I wouldn't go for this one.

A: What are the pros of having photography or art competitions in school?

B: In my opinion, there are plenty of advantages of having photography or art competitions in school. The main advantage is that it's important for people to have some creativity in their lives: it's good for the mind and can also be relaxing. One reason I think competitions are good is that they give people motivation to do creative activities, and this can be a good balance for the more academic school subjects. For people who are talented at photography or art, and would like to pursue a career in the arts, competitions are a good way to show what they're capable of doing. Furthermore, winning competitions can help them to get a place in art college or university.

1 A: What are the advantages of joining photography clubs, art clubs or book clubs?

B: The main advantage of joining a club is that you can exchange ideas and recommendations with other people, and encourage one another to do more photography, art or reading. You will have opportunities to discuss different experiences and opinions when you meet, and to my mind, this is another benefit of getting together with people who share your interests. Another advantage of meeting other people with similar interests is that you can learn from one another and also see things from a different point of view. Finally, when you join a club, you connect with people who have something in common with you and you may make new friends.

A: What are the drawbacks of devoting more time at school to arts subjects like art, music and drama?

B: The obvious disadvantage to devoting more time in the school timetable to art, music or drama is that this would take time away from other academic subjects. There is a lot of pressure on students to pass exams in the main academic subjects and this leaves little time for arts subjects. For this reason, some people may think that art, music and drama should be after-school activities. In my view, if you're interested in art, music or drama, it's better to have them as hobbies. If these subjects are taught at school, you may have less freedom to express yourself, and this could make them less enjoyable than if they're hobbies.

1 I'd been out of shape too long, so last year I took up weightlifting. I train three times a week and it's really helped me get fitter. I used to be out of breath after running a few metres to catch the bus, but these days, I haven't got any issues doing that. I'm far from being a professional, but I might take part in a few competitions next year.

2 I got involved in kids' baseball when I was still in college. A friend of mine worked for the club and asked me if I was interested in taking on training the Little League. I agreed and have never looked back. I really enjoy training the next generation of young athletes, making sure they stay motivated and never give up.

3 I don't think I've ever missed a home game and I've been to more than half of the away games. When I watch the games, I feel like I'm part of the team and that all the other people in the stadium, supporting the same team, are my family. I'm not a very sporty person myself, but jumping up and down in the stands and cheering on my team definitely helps me burn some calories.

4 I'd always enjoyed watching football, so this was a good way to be right in the middle of the games. I first had to do a four-week course before I could work in my first tournament. My first game was terrible as the fans booed me when I gave out yellow cards. But this is a good way to stay fit as I'm running around the field with the players all the time.

D = Doctor R = Receptionist

D: Have I got time for a break? I really need a cup of coffee.

R: Your next patient is at half past. A mother and her five-year-old daughter. The child has an ankle injury. The mother said something about a trampoline.

D: Ah – no doubt she either fell off or twisted her ankle. Do you have any idea how many children injure themselves on trampolines? I'd say a good fifty percent of the children I see in this surgery have injuries involving a trampoline.

R: That's shocking. But you know, we encourage parents to get into sport and exercise and off their devices, don't we? And trampolines are a really popular way for children to get exercise at home. I've got one, and my children love it. Of course, they're always covered in bruises! I guess I've been lucky that they haven't broken anything yet. The thing is I don't have time to watch them the whole time.

D: Well, apparently, a third of injuries occur when an adult is there so that's not the way to prevent accidents. But there are some really simple guidelines I always tell parents when they bring in their injured kids. The first one is this – three quarters of injuries happen when there are multiple children on the trampoline. Parents should only allow one child at a time on there.

R: Oh dear, there are usually at least three at a time on our trampoline! But I don't think children under about seven should be allowed to use the trampoline – they're too young to use it safely.

D: I agree – in fact, parents shouldn't let children under six years old on a trampoline – their muscles and bones aren't developed enough and under sixes account for around thirty percent of trampoline injuries, especially broken arms and legs.

R: Well, that's good advice – now go and get your cup of coffee, Doctor. You've got five minutes.

D = Doctor R = Runner

D: How's your back today?

R: Not too good, but a bit better than right after the injury, I think. I'm doing my exercises and stretches, and they seem to help.

D: OK, keep doing the exercises, but we need to make sure you don't lose fitness.

R: When do you think I can start running again? It's been almost two weeks already.

D: Yes, I know. But I'm afraid you are going to have to wait for a minimum of another four weeks.

R: But that's about six weeks altogether! What about walking?

D: Even walking is not the best thing for you to do at the moment. The best way for you to keep up your level of physical fitness without hurting your back is to do swimming.

R: But swimming really isn't my thing! I'm hopeless at it. Can't I work out at the gym?

D: That's not a good idea at the moment. You need to avoid doing anything that puts a strain on your back. Instead, you need to do exercise that relaxes your muscles, and swimming is ideal.

R: How about yoga?

D: Yes, some gentle yoga is fine, but swimming is the perfect way to keep fit while you recover. It's low impact and can keep you moving while not adding to the pain.

R: OK, I'm sure you know best. But swimming is so boring.

D: It's true, swimming can be boring, but we'll make a plan and each day you'll have a different goal. It's important to have a plan with plenty of variety in it so that you don't lose motivation, and also so that you strengthen all your muscles, including your back.

R: But what about my leg muscles? I don't want to lose any strength, otherwise I won't be able to run the half-marathon at the end of the month in Brighton, not to mention the London Marathon.

D: Well, you may have to pass on the half-marathon, but we've got three and a half months to get you ready for London, but my job is to make sure you don't get injured. So, let's take a look at this swimming plan and get you started.

If she is to succeed in getting her third gold in a row, Penny Johnson needs to run the race of her life. The defending champion is up against the ex-champion in lane five and the fastest woman in the competition so far in lane seven. Which of these formidable athletes will create history tonight? The women's one hundred metre final. Look out for Penny Johnson in lane three. She got off to a good start, but Brookes and Osman are right there. Osman is coming up – she's level with Johnson. Oh, Osman is ahead now, it's going to be Osman! That was so close, but Johnson did not get to defend her title. She's broken down in tears and Emma Brookes is comforting her. She's done so much for parasport, but today the gold goes to Elif Osman, who has set a new personal best. What a performance!

1 As we are a few days away from the Paralympic Games opening ceremony, let's refresh our memory of how they started. It was after the end of World War II, when sport offered a fantastic method of treatment and rehabilitation for injured soldiers. At the Rome 1960 Paralympics, the programme included just eight parasport events. There are now twenty-two Paralympic summer sports – an increase of nearly 200 percent. Rowing was added to the programme in 2008. Canoe and triathlon made their debut in Rio 2016 while at the 2020 Tokyo Games badminton and taekwondo were added, replacing sailing and seven-a-side football.

2 I'm delighted to come to your school and tell you about my life as a wheelchair tennis player. One month after graduating from high school, I was in a motorcycle accident and have used a wheelchair since then. I thought I would never play tennis again, but I managed to channel my energy into tennis training sessions, and when I found out I could compete at a high level, I realised that my disability would not hold me up. Around fifteen percent of people across the globe have a disability – that's one billion people. If I can inspire just a few of them to take up a sport, I will be happy.

3 Plans have finally been approved for a unique new sports centre on the northern outskirts of Banbury. The Northfield Sports Centre will be the first one hundred percent fully inclusive sports centre in town and will be open to all ages and abilities. The gym will provide cutting edge equipment that can be adapted to different abilities, and facilities include a sports hall, a dance studio, a Spinning® studio and a café. When the centre opens in autumn, they plan to host a week-long sporting event open to the public. Dates to be announced later. The centre aims to provide opportunities for people to enjoy exercise and live healthy lives, whatever their physical ability.

4 My great passion is playing wheelchair squash up to youth championship level. In my last podcast, I considered the advantages of competitive sports for young people, and today I'm looking at the downsides. I think the biggest disadvantage is that staying on top form requires many hours of training. I recently retained the title of regional youth wheelchair squash champion for the second year running, and I know that reaching the top and staying there requires a huge time commitment. It's an impossible challenge to find time for sport and schoolwork, and forget free time for socialising! So, what should I do? Give up squash? Tune in to next week's podcast to find out.

- 5 The theme of my presentation this afternoon is gender equality in the Paralympic movement. Most of us would agree that people with disabilities spend a lifetime fighting discrimination, so I was not really expecting to find that there is still a significant gender imbalance in Paralympian sport. Although the statistics show some improvements, progress is slow. In the 2020 summer games in Tokyo, forty-two percent of the participants were women. Female participation in the 2018 Winter Paralympics was much lower – only twenty-three percent. In fact, nineteen out of the forty-nine countries taking part in those particular winter games didn't send any women athletes at all! In this presentation, I will explore the reasons for this ongoing gender inequality and discuss some ideas on how to improve the situation.

- A: A lot of students in our school are keen on sports. Don't you think it would be great if we could have more sports equipment in the gym?
- B: Yes, sure.
- A: I thought we could help raise some money towards it. How about organising a sports event and selling tickets for it?
- B: Good idea. What kind of sports event are you thinking of?
- A: I was thinking of a football match because it's a popular sport and most people understand a game of football. Also, team sports are more exciting for the spectators because they can support one of the teams. In fact, we could have students playing against teachers. It would be fun and I think people will support it.
- B: I agree, but it's going to be difficult to find a football pitch.
- A: You're right, but if the game is going to be students against teachers, we could do it on the school football pitch. There's plenty of space for people to sit and watch, and they can park in the school carpark.
- B: I think it's unlikely that the school football pitch will be available. It is always busy.
- A: I see what you mean, but we can be flexible about the date and time.
- B: OK, good point. How much do you think we could charge for tickets?
- A: I'm not sure. We want to get as much money as possible, so I was thinking of ten pounds a ticket.
- B: Really? I'm not sure people will pay ten pounds. It's too much.
- A: You're right. If they're too expensive, nobody will buy them, so maybe it's better to sell them for five pounds instead. If we get 200 people, that's 1,000 pounds. Is that everything?
- B: Well, there are a couple of things. What if people get hungry or thirsty?
- A: That's a good point. We could make some extra money by buying cans of drink and snacks and selling them at a profit. Or we could just get some drink and then ask people to donate the food – simple things like sandwiches, cakes, crisps, that kind of thing.

- B: That's all fine, but what if it rains?
- A: I see what you mean. Nobody will come if it rains so we should be ready to change the date if necessary.
- B: That sounds like a good plan.

UNIT 11 ZDROWIE

- 1
- A: So, how can I help you today?
- B: I haven't been feeling well for the last few days. I have a high fever and muscle pain – it hurts to move and I haven't been able to sleep because of it. I'm also shivering all the time and go from feeling chilly to feeling hot.
- 2
- A: What have we got here?
- B: Well, I was baking and I accidentally grabbed the hot baking tin from the oven. I put cold water on it, but I now have a blister and it's all red. It really hurts, too.
- 3
- A: What's brought you here today?
- B: I've got this thing on my arm. It's really painful and swollen. I noticed it this morning. I wonder if it could be from a mosquito?
- A: Hm ... I'm afraid it looks infected and it seems like you've been scratching it.
- 4
- A: Hello, this is TeleHealth, Doctor Ross speaking. How can I help you?
- B: Hello, I'm calling as I've been feeling sick for the last two days. I vomited a couple of times, too. And I've had stomachache and diarrhoea.
- 5
- A: So, what's the matter?
- B: Well, I've been sneezing for the last few days, and my eyes have been watering, especially when I go out. My throat feels tight when I breathe and I have a runny nose all the time.

- 1 My six-year-old son has been getting an itchy rash on his hands and legs on and off since he was a baby. Sometimes it gets so bad that the skin cracks and causes bleeding. We've tried various ointments, both over-the-counter and prescription ones, but nothing seems to be helping. We're seeing a new doctor tomorrow, so hopefully she'll help.
- 2 Last year we noticed that my sister started having a massive fear of germs. She started washing her hands several times an hour, she kept cleaning all the surfaces all the time, and even started wearing gloves. She tried psychotherapy, but she didn't respond well to the treatment, so she got referred to another specialist.
- 3 Yesterday I had a sudden pain on the right side of my abdomen. That pain quickly moved to the other side. I took a painkiller, but the pain only got worse. I then had some nausea and vomiting. I suppose it might be my appendix, so I'd better call an ambulance.
- 4 I've just made an appointment with a specialist as I woke up with redness and pain in my eye. It feels like there's something in there and it's really irritating. It's also itching a bit and I have tears around the eye all the time. I tried some eye drops, but they haven't helped.

C = Cole J = Jade

- C: Jade, you seem to lead a healthy lifestyle. What do you think I should do to become healthier?
- J: Well, it depends on what your goals are.
- C: I basically want to be in good health for many years to come, follow a sensible diet and, at the same time, lose some weight.
- J: Those are great goals to start with. Now, as you know, I'm not a doctor, so your best bet would be to consult a health-care professional. Actually, having regular check-ups should be part of your health routine. There are also some other lifestyle changes that you can make.
- C: Are you going to tell me to exercise regularly?
- J: Ha ha, how did you guess? That's really important, especially if you're out of shape. Make sure you also get at least eight hours of sleep a night and not just take a nap here and there after playing video games all night.
- C: You think I do that?
- J: Are you trying to tell me you don't?
- C: OK, OK, what else?
- J: Reduce the amount of high-fat and processed food that you eat. Generally, you shouldn't eat unhealthy food.
- C: Well, that's great advice. I'm going to make an appointment with my doctor and then ...

A = Annie M = Mum

- A: Mum, can you drive me to school, please?
- M: I don't believe it, Annie! How can you miss the bus every single day?
- A: I don't miss it every day.
- M: Three times this week! You know what the problem is – you go to bed too late.
- A: Uh, this again.
- M: Yes, this again because it's true. How do you expect to get up in time for the bus when you go to sleep so late?
- A: It's not my fault if the bus comes early.
- M: So how does your brother manage to get the bus every day? I'll tell you how – he gets up on time, he doesn't spend half an hour in the bathroom and he goes to bed at a reasonable time in the evening.
- A: I can't believe you're comparing me with a twelve-year-old boy! He can go to bed early because he doesn't get as much homework as I do.
- M: Ha! Are you trying to tell me that you're doing homework until the early hours of the morning? I know you better than that.
- A: OK ... well ... so what if I watch an episode of my series before I go to sleep. I need to relax like everyone else and I think it helps me fall asleep.
- M: You'd be better off reading a book. All the experts say that you get a better night's sleep by putting screens away at least an hour before going to bed.
- A: But I sleep really well. I just find it hard waking up. Anyway, shall we go?

Welcome to my healthy lifestyle podcast. So many people have trouble sleeping, and yet seven to nine hours of sleep per night is essential for our overall health and well-being.

Regular sleep can prevent you from developing chronic illnesses and also keep your brain healthy. If you're lacking in sleep, a few changes to your diet could make a difference, so today I'm looking at the best things to eat and drink before you go to bed.

You may think that chamomile tea is for old people, but everyone can benefit from the relaxing qualities of this herbal drink. Lavender tea has similar calming qualities and is just as good at reducing stress and promoting sleepiness. You should avoid eating late at night, although funny enough you can eat nuts! Almonds and walnuts contain the hormone melatonin, which may help you sleep, and nuts don't have any side effects. Next on the list is ...

Text 2 D = Daniel L = Liz

D: What's the matter with you? Can't you keep still? You're ruining the film.

L: I can't help it. I have to move my legs.

D: Oh, why? Have you got a rash or something? Is it an insect bite?

L: No, it isn't like that. It's a condition – I just can't stop moving my legs. I usually get it when I'm tired.

D: Oh, right – I've heard of restless legs. What is it exactly then? Is it pain in your muscles?

L: Not really. It's hard to explain. I don't have a pain in my legs exactly, but my legs feel uncomfortable and I have to move them.

D: And after you move them, do you feel better?

L: Only for a short time – the only thing that stops it completely is if I sleep deeply. It only happens in the evening or at night. I don't get it in class or anything.

D: Have you been to the doctor's about it?

L: Yes, I have. They took a blood test, but it was normal and they just told me to take regular exercise and go to bed early. There isn't a cure for restless legs syndrome and nobody really knows why it happens.

Text 3 D = Dr Barcelo J = Julia

D: Hello, Julia. What can I help you with today?

J: Hello, Dr Barcelo. I'm here because I'm not sleeping very well and I feel terrible.

D: I see. How long has this been going on?

J: For about a month. It started soon after the beginning of term.

D: And before that you were sleeping OK?

J: Yes, very well. I've never had a problem sleeping before.

D: OK, well perhaps something happened one month ago to cause you stress and upset your sleep. Have you any idea what that could be?

J: Yes, I started revising for exams.

D: OK, as I thought, your stress levels have probably risen.

J: Yes, I'm really worried – do you think it's something serious?

D: Well, before I decide on a diagnosis, we need to look at your overall well-being and any recent changes in your lifestyle that may be making the stress even worse. How's the revision going? Are you working late into the evening?

J: Yes, I have to, and then I find it hard to switch off. I'm getting a lot of headaches.

D: Are you drinking plenty of liquids?

J: Oh, yes, I drink tea and coffee all day.

D: OK, well, I think the problem could be caffeine. I want you to eliminate black tea and coffee after noon. Drink water or herbal tea, but you must give up drinking caffeine except in the morning. Let's start with that and then ...

C = Charlie L = Lucas

C: Hi, Lucas. Do you have any news of Martin – how's he getting on?

L: Yeah, I spoke to him a few days ago. Poor guy – still in hospital. I think he's been in a lot of pain.

C: Well, the guy who kicked him was twice his size! That was shocking behaviour!

L: True – but you know, Charlie, I reckon he wouldn't have fallen so badly if he'd been wearing the right footwear. Do you remember? He'd left his football boots at home, so he was wearing a pair he found in lost property.

C: Oh, no! I didn't know about that. That's crazy! You can't play an important game without the right kit. You know what I thought – that day Martin arrived a bit late, didn't he? And before the match he was quite stressed. When he fell, my first thought was he hadn't warmed up properly. I didn't see him doing any stretches or anything.

L: Or maybe it was just bad luck. Any one of us could get injured at any moment and that team from Banbury are tough opponents. But Martin's played brilliantly all this season. I'm not particularly looking forward to this weekend's game without him.

C: I know. I just hope the fracture heals OK and the rehab works. I remember when it happened, coach came on with his little first aid kit and soon realised Martin needed more than a bandage and a pack of ice. Thank goodness the ambulance didn't take too long.

L: It was so dramatic. He's bound to have a nice big scar on his leg, isn't he?

K = Karen M = Martin

K: Hey, Martin! How are you today? You look a bit under the weather.

M: Oh, hi, Karen. Actually, I do feel a bit down. I've been on crutches for three weeks now and all I want to do is get back to normal and walk without them. The doctor now says it may take another three weeks of rehab before I can put any weight on that leg.

K: Oh, that's disappointing for you. You really broke your leg badly, didn't you?

M: Yes – the last X-ray showed that the fracture was worse than they thought. But they say it's healing – it'll just take more time. I really miss playing football.

K: You know what, I really feel for you and I'd hate to be in your place. I've never broken anything, but I did sprain my ankle once, and I remember I nearly passed out with the pain.

M: How long did it take to heal?

K: A few weeks – I saw a physiotherapist three times a week, and then it was fine. But listen, if you're feeling down, I think you need to watch this documentary I watched recently. This woman's story would give you some strength. She certainly inspired me.

M: OK, tell me more.

K: It's about an Australian woman who was training to be an Olympic cross-country skier, but while she was cycling in the mountains, she was hit by a truck and almost killed. She had a broken back, a broken neck, five broken ribs, a broken arm, a broken collarbone, several broken bones in her feet, massive blood loss, internal bleeding ... oh, it's incredible she survived.

M: So why do you think I should watch the documentary? It sounds really depressing.

K: Well, of course it's pretty hard to listen to her story and how she felt when she came round from the accident and they told her she would never walk again. I mean, she was an athlete!

M: Oh, goodness, I'm already feeling guilty for complaining.

K: No, I'm not trying to make you feel guilty. I just think the story of how she recovered through strength of character is really uplifting.

M: So, does she recover completely from her injuries?

K: Not completely, but better than expected. At first, when she went home in a wheelchair, the consultant told her she might get depressed when she realised that life would never be the same again. And she did, but once she accepted that her life had changed, she felt free to reinvent herself and eighteen months after she'd left the spinal unit in the hospital, she qualified as a pilot instructor.

M: What? That's incredible.

K: Anyway, I've told you the whole story now, but it's still worth watching the documentary because she's a great speaker – even though the topic is heavy and tragic, there are bits of it that make you laugh out loud.

A

A: Tell me about the last time you went outside for a walk or for exercise.

B: It was last weekend. I hadn't seen my friend for ages, so we met at the park so that we could do some exercise. When I arrived, Lisa was waiting for me. We've known one another since primary school. To begin with, we jogged around the park, but after a while I got a pain in my leg, so we decided to take it easy and just walk and chat. We didn't notice the weather was getting worse and, suddenly, it started to rain. We ran to a café and, in the end, we stayed there. We decided that it was better for our health and wellbeing to relax and enjoy ourselves.

B: Tell me about the last time you left home very early in the morning.

A: It was one day last summer. It was extremely hot, so I decided to go out for my daily bicycle ride earlier than usual. In fact, I left home at around 6 a.m. and cycled to the hills. I've been cycling regularly since I injured my ankle and gave up running. It's always been my favourite way to keep fit – cycling is so good for the lungs. When I arrived at the top of the hill, I was out of breath, so I stopped for a while. When I finally got home, it was getting hot, so I had a cold shower and drank lots of fluids. I felt great.

A: Tell me about a time when you did something that was good for your health.

B: I've always had quite a healthy lifestyle, but I don't like vegetables, so a few weeks ago I bought a book about which food is rich in vitamins. Of course, I found out that vegetables are important in a diet, so I decided to find some recipes that make vegetables more delicious, and I found a website called Twenty-five ways to make vegetables tasty. This has changed my life! I've tried several recipes and the best thing about them is that you don't even realise you're eating vegetables. At first, I didn't notice any difference to my health, but after a while I started to have more energy, and my skin looks better.

- 1 I work a lot indoors, in a laboratory, where I carry out experiments using different substances.
- 2 I'm really interested in the history of humans, our origins and our cultural and linguistic development.
- 3 I'd really like to learn more about why earthquakes, landslides and volcanic eruptions happen.
- 4 I spend my day collecting and analysing data, like sales, losses and revenue. Then I make predictions about the future.
- 5 I'm into learning about the origins of humans by excavating sites of interest and examining bones and other artefacts.
- 6 My job entails studying people and their lives, and interactions between different members of society.

- 1 I'm a vlogger and make instructional videos, so I use it all the time. I just clip it onto my laptop, turn it on, and it works right away. I can also stream live videos as it connects to the Internet. I could use the built-in one for this, but the quality isn't as good. The only problem that I have with it is that the lens gets dirty easily and I have to clean it all the time.
- 2 I'm doing a digital art course at the moment, so I use it mainly for that. I have a special pen that allows me to draw on the screen. And several drawing apps, of course. I also sometimes stream films on it or listen to music. But the battery life is very short, so I have to charge it very often.
- 3 My grandkids got this for me a few years ago. They download songs onto it from their laptops so that I can then listen to them. I know most people just listen to music on their smartphones, but I haven't got one, so I use this. It just hasn't got enough storage space, so I can have only a few albums at a time.
- 4 I'm a teacher, so I use it all the time. I actually have two of them, one that uses ink and a laser one. They're both wireless, so I can use them from my phone. They can also scan, but I hardly ever use that function. What I don't like is that it's hard to get the paper out when it's blocked inside.

- 1 [dialing a number, connecting, busy signal]
 - 2 Yes, I can hear you now. OK, so you'll pick me up at six? Hello? Can you hear me? Is anyone there?
 - 3 Oh, no! My phone isn't working again. Have you got a charger that I could borrow?
 - 4
- A: Wow, can you stop that, please? It sounds terrible!
B: What do you mean? I like it.
A: Nooooo! Please turn it off!

- 1 Oh, no! This plug doesn't seem to fit into this socket. I think we need an adapter. Have you got one by any chance?
- 2 I can't connect the printer to the socket. The cable's too short. Have we got an extension lead? That will do the trick.
- 3 Hello? Hello? Can you hear me? Sorry ... I can't hear you. It doesn't look like I have any reception here. Could you please call me back?

- 4 My documents are not responding. And when I click on something, nothing happens. Oh, I've just got a prompt saying that I need to upgrade my software.

Hi, Amy. I know you're really busy, but can you call me when you get this? I want to ask you about Sam. He's acting really strangely. You know he's usually really kind and thoughtful – well, I sat next to him at lunch yesterday and I was telling him about my cat. She's really sick and I'm worried about her. Anyway, he didn't say anything, but he kept looking at his phone, and then he started texting. I mean, it's rude, isn't it, and more to the point, it's not like him. I hope he's all right. Call me.

On Phone Talk today, we look at where phones go to die. Imagine the scenario – you've decided to replace your old phone and invest in a brand new handset, even though the old one is still working fine. You've offered it to your friends, siblings, even your parents, but they prefer something more up to date. What should you do with it? The worst option is to throw it away – at least take it to a recycling centre. But by far the best option is to donate your phones to a charity. They will sell the phone for parts and use the money for good causes.

- 1 Oh, er ... I'm calling to ask if you've found my phone. I left it on the twenty-four bus this morning – that's the twelfth of October. I was sitting at the back on the right-hand side next to the window. It must have fallen out of my pocket. The phone's a smartphone XRX and the case is black. The screen is cracked from the top left-hand corner to the bottom right-hand corner, but it still works. If anybody handed it in, can you please contact Jack on 0 7890 124 ...
- 2 Today I want to tell you about a new mobile language learning app. It focuses on real conversations and whatever your level, you can improve your language skills in just two months, with or without an online tutor. Gaming technology makes revision activities interactive and fun, and recent breakthroughs in mobile app technology mean that your learning programme is personalised. This app is the first of its kind to use virtual reality games for language learning. It will transform your learning experience.
- 3 My parents don't understand why they never hear my phone ring. They've both got silly ringtones – my dad's got something by the Rolling Stones and my mum has a disco tune. It's so awkward when you're out with them and their phone rings. I pretend I'm not with them. I'd rather have my phone on vibrate – I hardly ever speak on it anyway, except to my parents. Most of my friends are like me – we prefer to message one another and I always know when a message has come in because I feel it on my smartwatch.
- 4 Hi, you've got your phone switched off again. I hope you're not avoiding me. Can you please call me back or at least text me and tell me when you can call me? Maybe your phone has died completely. I know you were having issues. You really need to replace it – how old is it anyway? At least five years. Please put your phone on or call me or get an upgrade or a new phone and join me in the twenty-first century.

- 5 The Minister for Education has announced that he will not put a ban on mobile phones in schools. However, head teachers can ban mobile phones in individual schools if they wish. He added that if a head teacher chooses to put a ban on mobile devices in their school, they will have the full support of the Ministry for Education. Asked why he was against a national ban, the Minister replied that pupils may need their mobile phone if they are involved in after-hours school activities or school trips and so a total ban would be inappropriate. He added that his preference was for educating children in how to use their mobile phones responsibly.

In a recent study, an international team of scientists gave 250 mice a boosted dose of the protein SIRT6, which resulted in a thirty percent increase in life expectancy over normal mice. Furthermore, the study found that not only were the mice better able to overcome a variety of life-threatening diseases such as cancer, but researchers also thought that the mice appeared more youthful and energetic, and less frail. SIRT6 could potentially be a useful tool for treating human diseases provided it can be activated in humans. Currently, the average life expectancy in Europe is just short of 80 years. The leading researcher said that one day SIRT6 may work in humans, and if so, life expectancy could increase to 120 years.

Text 1 S = Sarah T = Tom

- S: I've just been reading an article on various companies that are doing research into how to reverse the ageing process. Not sure I want to live forever actually.
T: Ha! It depends, doesn't it? If you could stay young and fit, that would be OK.
S: Yes, but I don't think you get to choose which age to stay at. If you did, which age do you think you'd choose?
T: Mm, maybe thirty. You're old enough to know what you want, but still young, if you see what I mean. Anyway, this is ridiculous – it's never going to happen, is it?
S: Well, according to this article, they've managed to switch off the genetic switch that causes ageing.
T: Really?
S: But only in worms.
T: Oh! How on earth can you tell the difference between a young and an old worm? Still, I suppose it's a start.
S: Exactly, and research into genetic engineering is a pretty hot topic in science. Numbers don't lie. There's more and more money going into it right now.
T: Well, good luck to them. We should try to live long enough to be around when they discover the secret to living forever.

Text 2 D = Dr Cruz J = Julian

- D: Good morning. Thank you for coming here today. As you know, we're examining the benefits and potential age-reversing effects of taking regular cold baths.
J: Yes, I'm very interested in your research, Dr Cruz. I'm fascinated by the idea that in spite of all the technological and scientific advances of the twenty-first century, something as simple as bathing in cold water could be the key to longevity.

D: Well, we're not claiming that at the moment, far from it. The aim of this study is to establish whether there are benefits or whether this is a myth that needs debunking. If there are benefits, then how significant are they? Are we looking at improved skin and hair, or as claimed by some, do cold baths have an effect on the human body at the cellular level? Scientific studies into the psychological benefits have already been conducted, and now we want to focus on any physical changes. This involves you sitting in a bath of ice for a few minutes in a laboratory setting while we measure any physical changes, and then comparing data with a control group who have not had an ice bath.

J: Right. Sounds, um, great. So, do we start straight away?

D: First, I need you to read and sign a few documents ...

Text 3

Thank you for inviting us to your school today. We are looking for the scientists of the future who can carry on the important research that we started in the early nineties in our company. We'd like to tell you a little about our research projects and outline the opportunities we can offer those of you who are interested in working in this exciting scientific field. We specialise in the field of ageing and age-related disease. Our main area of interest is uncovering the mysteries of the ageing process in order to understand why and how an organism ages so that we can reverse that process.

You may have heard that we are looking for a way to genetically engineer humans so that they live forever – well, this may happen one day, in fact, almost certainly, but for now our main aim is to help people live longer and healthier lives. Our priority is to examine illnesses that can be fatal, such as cancer, and use state of the art technology to examine people, as well as new medicines and ground-breaking therapies to treat them.

The work is varied. In our laboratories, we conduct experiments on internal organs, the skin and the brain, and then we analyse data and share our findings with our partner companies. We collaborate with young start-up companies as well as more established organisations because we believe that it's only working together that we can make a difference to people's lives. We employ biologists, gene therapists, technologists, engineers, pharmacists and more. We consider ourselves to be scientific explorers and we expect our employees to be open to new ways of thinking.

If you're interested in working in this field, we have six- or twelve-month internships to offer you. If you are looking for something more long-term, we will fund you through a three-year university course and there will be a job for you at the end of your studies.

We are incredibly passionate about having a diverse and inclusive workforce. Firstly, we hope to attract people from different backgrounds, cultural and economic, and this is why we've set up grants and internships to encourage more of you to pursue careers in science, technology, engineering and maths, or S, T, E, M – STEM subjects, as you probably know them. Secondly, we promote gender equality and one of our aims is to ensure that women are well represented in science.

I do hope we've sparked your interest and that you're tempted to join us in this exciting scientific field which offers so many opportunities for exploring ways to reduce mortality and improve people's quality of life. We will be here for the rest of the afternoon, and so please come and speak to us and find out more about what we do, how we work, and how you may fit into our organisation.

I can see two posters advertising a talk about the negative effects of social media. I think I'd choose option two because it has a bigger impact than picture one. Firstly, the colours are attractive and this is a good feature of a poster because it makes people notice it and want to know more about it. In other words, the first impression is important. The title also helps to make the topic of the talk become obvious. Secondly, the image appears to show both men and women, and this is good because it suggests that social media can be a problem for anybody. In my opinion, picture one is not suitable because it shows a girl who is upset and this suggests that social media problems only affect girls. What's more, she seems to be in a school and so people might think that the problem is connected to her schoolwork or school life.

B: In your opinion, does social media have more good points or bad points?

A: If you ask me, I think social media is fantastic because it enables people to communicate easily with other people. In addition to that, social media is the perfect way to keep up to date with people you don't see every day. For instance, if you're not at home, you can send photos, videos, voice messages and so on to stay in touch with your family and friends. On the other hand, there are people who use social media to hurt others because they can be anonymous. What I mean is, social media allows people to post messages without showing their true identity and this is a problem. To sum up, I believe that social media is mainly a good thing, but a minority of people use it in a bad way.

B: Do you think it's the parents' job or the teachers' job to teach children how to use social media responsibly?

A: That's a good question. In fact, I believe that both parents and teachers have a role. First of all, parents can talk to children at home and explain to them that words have consequences. For example, a parent could show a child a comment that has had a bad effect on them personally. The reason I say this is that a personal story is more powerful than a story about somebody they don't know. Secondly, I think that school pupils should learn how to use social media responsibly at school. In my view, teachers could teach online behaviour in IT lessons because I think it is as important as technical knowledge. In conclusion, I think parents and teachers should share the job of teaching young people how to use social media responsibly.

A: People who write harmful content on social media should be banned. Do you agree? Why? Why not?

B: That's a difficult question. On the one hand, yes, I think that people who write extremely offensive comments should be banned because this kind of language is unacceptable in any situation. If somebody made these rude and aggressive comments to another person face-to-face, there would be consequences. But I think that the kind of person who posts harmful comments anonymously is unlikely to say the same things to people face-to-face, and this is why I think they should be banned from social media. However, there is a different way of looking at this question. Who decides whether the comments are offensive or not? Some people would say that banning people takes away freedom of speech. To sum up, this is a complex problem and there isn't an easy answer.

UNIT 13 ŚWIAT PRZYRODY

1 ... we should expect temperatures below zero tonight and tomorrow. It's going to be frosty in the morning with heavy snow throughout the day. Avoid driving unless absolutely necessary. There's bound to be ice on the roads. By the end of the week, we should expect some chilly days ...

2 ... the sudden warm weather has brought on some thick fog. Please be cautious when driving as there's low visibility at the moment. It's also going to remain cloudy throughout the day with light showers in the forecast for later in the afternoon. We can also expect a foggy morning tomorrow and a maximum temperature of ten degrees Celsius.

3 ... Due to the high temperatures and dry conditions, we advise everyone, especially children and the elderly, to stay indoors. Daytime temperatures are forecast to be fifteen degrees higher than the average for this season. This heat isn't normal for this time of the year, so please stay safe. It will turn cooler by the beginning of next week.

4 ... A severe weather warning has been issued for most of the northern region. A cold front will bring heavy rain, storms, thunder and lightning. We're going to see around ten millimetres of rain per hour. Heavy winds are also in the forecast.

Mostly As – It looks like you're on the right track when it comes to protecting the environment and preventing global warming. Maybe you could tell some of your friends who aren't doing anything for the environment how important it is to preserve the Earth for future generations?

Mostly Bs – You're almost there, but it looks like you could do a bit more to be green. Make sure you recycle all of your paper, glass and plastic, and switch off the lights whenever you leave a room so that you don't waste energy. These small things can make a big difference.

Mostly Cs – You could try a bit harder. We're using up our resources too quickly and soon we'll end up with nothing. So it's important that you stop damaging the environment. Making simple steps, like cutting down on using plastic bags or walking to school, can make a significant difference.

1 Every time I go shopping, I can see people with their trolleys full of things and I often wonder if they really need them all. I also know people who are constantly buying the latest devices as soon as they come out even though they don't need to replace their older versions, which aren't actually old – they're just not the latest model. This behaviour benefits the economy, but it has a negative impact on the planet. Considerable amounts of the Earth's natural resources are used to make the things that we buy. Some consumers are already aware of this and tend to buy fewer things, and they choose goods that are eco-friendly, but green consumerism needs to be promoted more.

- 2 If you've ever seen jewellery made from ivory, it's highly likely it came from illegal sources. The same applies to sunglasses or ornaments made from a gorgeous yellow tortoise shell. These illegal activities of hunting and killing animals are huge contributors to some species becoming extinct. They also change the variety of wildlife in a given area. Animals in their natural habitats should be left alone as soon as some might disappear forever.
- 3 Did you know that not everything that you recycle is actually recycled? This is why it's important to only buy things in packaging that you're sure can be recycled or that will break down, or biodegrade, very quickly. This means that nothing will be left behind and landfill sites won't be overfilled. So, what can you do to ensure you're buying the right kind of products? Well, first of all, ask yourself if the product does actually need packaging? Do the apples that you're buying need to be in a plastic bag? Does the lettuce need to be in a disposable container? Next time you shop, bring your own reusable bags and containers and avoid purchasing pre-packed food.
- 4 I've recently attended a talk on pollution and even though there wasn't much new said about the sources of pollution in our cities, like traffic, factories and so on, there was one thing that really stood out to me. It was a mural in Warsaw that was created with special paint that reduces the amount of pollution in the air. One mural is as effective as 780 trees. Even though this is a great idea, I still think people should do everything they can to reduce their contributions to polluting the environment by, for example, trying to find alternative sources of transport that don't emit fumes into the air that we breathe.

- 1 The water has been pouring through the doors and windows. I can't see the floor in my house. We've been using sandbags, but that hasn't really helped, especially when the river overflowed. The destruction will be enormous. The prime minister has called this a state of emergency. I'm not sure how we're going to recover from this.
- 2 We haven't had any rain in over sixty days and temperatures have been over thirty-five degrees Celsius. This poses a serious threat to all inhabitants and animals. There's also a high risk of fire in the region. We've been asked to evacuate, but at the moment everyone is staying in their houses and hoping for the best.
- 3 We were skiing when we suddenly heard a really loud noise. It was almost like thunder. Then we saw the snow coming down the mountainside. There was no warning. My friend and I managed to jump to the side and fortunately, it missed us. Reports later said that there were several victims with broken arms and legs.

- 4 We'd done lots of training on what to do when it happened, so I felt quite comfortable. But when the ground shook, I had no idea what to do. I panicked, but then someone said to hide under a table, so that's what we did. After a few minutes, it all stopped and the rescue services appeared.

- A: I'm thinking of going to a talk on deforestation. Do you fancy coming? The speaker's a rich entrepreneur who's using her millions to purchase farmland and put back the trees that were cut down for animal farming and then sometimes used in industry or construction.
- B: Yes, I'd like to know more about that. I think we all have to face up to the fact that wildlife conservation is even more important than we thought.
- A: She's going to talk about trees and all the ways we rely on them – how they provide us with food, fuel, medicine and construction materials. Trees protect us from storms; and they also protect the earth underneath them. Without trees, other plants and animals would be lost for ever.
- B: That's true. Did you know that in the UK, oak trees feed and protect about 2,300 other species?
- A: Wow, that's amazing. Apparently, there are 58,500 types of tree in the world, but between a third and a half of them are at risk of becoming extinct.
- B: That is shocking.
- A: Thousands of types of tree are in danger of extinction, especially in Asia and South America. The worst situation is in Brazil, where one in five tree types are at risk and in the last year, over 10,000 square kilometres of rainforest has been cut down there. No wonder temperatures and sea levels are rising. It's just not sustainable.
- B: You should do a talk on trees – you seem to know a lot about them.

- A: Have you ever planted a tree?
- B: No, not yet, but I'm thinking about it. In fact, I was listening to this environment podcast and it made some interesting points about replacing trees that have been cut down. It said that we should plant trees because they're good at taking CO₂, that is carbon dioxide, from the air and storing it. But according to this podcast, planting trees is not enough. There are more important ways to stop climate change.
- A: What, like decreasing our use of fossil fuels and increasing ways to save energy?
- B: Exactly!
- A: Well, I guess we could start by planting a tree.
- B: So, that's the other thing they were saying on this podcast. It's not good enough to plant any tree – you need to plant the right kind of tree in the right place and in the right way, and then look after it.
- A: OK, that makes sense. If we plant a tree, at least we know we're doing something.
- B: Exactly, so first we have to choose the right type of tree and I think the way to do that is to check the species that are already growing naturally and go for one of them.
- A: So, we need to decide where we're going to plant it first then.

B: Yes, let's say in your garden. There's more space than in mine, and I think you have to leave at least two metres from the next tree or bush.

A: OK, I guess some species grow pretty big over the years. Some bushes in my garden are more than a metre wide.

B: Exactly – we need to think about how high it's likely to grow but also how wide. That will depend on what kind of tree we plant. I think there's a chestnut tree in your garden already and they're perfect because they live for hundreds of years – imagine the amount of carbon dioxide it would take out of the air.

A: Great, so let's plant a chestnut tree.

B: Right! When we plant it, we need to put it in the ground carefully so that we don't damage the roots. The hole needs to be deep enough, but not too deep.

A: OK, and then I suppose we need something to support it and something to wrap around it.

B: That's right. OK, let's go and ask your parents.

Travel missions to Mars may be only a decade away, but if humans do make it there, what will they eat? One of the major challenges of setting up a permanent base on the red planet will be generating a supply of food. We now know that there is water on Mars, but water is just one of many things that are required to support sustainable agriculture and feed people. Mars only gets half the sunlight we get on Earth, and the average temperature is minus sixty degrees Celsius. Earth's soil is humid and rich in nutrients and microorganisms that support plant growth whereas the surface of Mars is dry and full of chemicals that are poisonous to humans. Plants that have adapted to conditions on Earth will not grow well on Mars. So, there's a long way to go before space farming can support a colony on Mars, but I have no doubt that it will happen one day. Space farming techniques are already being tried out on the International Space Station with their space garden known as Veggie.

- 1 It's that time in the programme for fantastic facts. Today our fantastic facts take us into space. Two spacecraft, Voyager 1 and 2, were launched from Florida way back in 1977. They are the first man-made objects to leave our solar system. No other spacecraft has travelled as far. And they've been sending back images from billions of kilometres from home. They've explored all the giant planets of our outer solar system: Jupiter, Saturn, Uranus and Neptune. But where are they now? Voyager 1 and 2 are around twenty billion kilometres from the Sun exploring the bubble around the Sun known as the heliosphere. My favourite fantastic fact – the spacecraft are carrying spoken greetings from Earth people in fifty-five languages in case they encounter life out there. I hope they do!
- 2 News now from the Earth's orbit. No, aliens have not made contact from a neighbouring planet! We're talking about the International Space Station, which has been damaged by space junk, or debris. A piece of space junk has collided with a robotic arm, but astronauts on board say that the arm's performance has not been affected. Space junk is a growing problem for the International Space Station with the increase in the number of small satellites being launched and other objects floating in space. This results in more than 27,000 pieces of debris orbiting the Earth, some of them tiny, but at speeds of 40,000 kilometres per hour, they could do serious damage.

- 3 Does anyone else think it's a problem that billionaires are competing to see who can set up the first space tourism company while here on Planet Earth forests are burning, floods are happening where they've never happened before, while other places are experiencing drought, ice caps are melting, coral reefs are dying and species are disappearing from the natural world at an alarming rate? Shouldn't they be helping to save their home planet before trying to leave it? I'd like to think that when they look back at our beautiful planet Earth from the edge of space, they may have the same reaction as the astronaut Michael Collins from Apollo 11. He described it as tiny, shiny, beautiful, fragile and home. Maybe they'd change their mind about how to spend their billions.

- 4 I need to speak to you. I saw something in the sky and I'm not sure what it was. It was last night, around midnight, and I was just looking out of the window and I saw this light moving slowly across the sky. There was a new moon, so the sky was really dark, but this light was bright, and at first, I thought it was an aeroplane, but it wasn't moving like a plane. I know that last time I thought I saw a UFO it turned out to be Venus – I didn't know Venus was so bright and so low in the sky. But this one was moving slowly, so I don't think it could be a shooting star, either. In the end, it just disappeared over the horizon. Do you think it could have been the International Space Station?

- 5 Does anybody remember Mir, the forerunner of the International Space Station? Russia launched Mir's core module back in 1986 and then added five further modules over the next few years. It was by far the largest spacecraft in orbit at that time and was visited by over one hundred cosmonauts and astronauts from thirteen different countries. It was the scene of historic reunions, acts of unbelievable courage as well as moments of sheer panic. It also set many records including Russian cosmonaut Valeri Polyakov's fourteen-month stay. Can you imagine? That's 437 consecutive days in space – the longest ever. After fifteen years and 86,000 total orbits, it was time for Mir to retire. In a controlled descent, the 134-ton structure re-entered the Earth's atmosphere in a spectacular shower of burning debris, which splashed harmlessly into the South Pacific Ocean.

B: So, you have chosen to organise a Bee Day. What exactly are you planning?

A: We want to organise a Bee Day so that people can get to know bees a bit better, and we can inform people about how to protect the bee community. We have invited a local beekeeper, who will explain how important bees are and list simple things we can do to help create a more bee-friendly environment. For example, by growing the right plants in your garden.

B: That sounds good, but I'm not sure people are very interested in bees.

A: Well, that may be so, but it's our job to make them interested.

B: And how will you do that?

A: We've thought a lot about how to present our ideas. The main focus will be a multimedia presentation by the beekeeper. As well as our guest speaker, we will have other presentations by students, show videos of bees in action and set up a poster exhibition with information about how to support bees.

B: That sounds very interesting. So, how will you get people to come to your Bee Day?

A: That's not a problem. I have several ideas for promotion. We'll put up a few posters at school – the teachers have also promised to mention the idea in class – and we'll post about it on social media. In fact, our beekeeper guest has several short, dramatic video clips illustrating the issues and we could post some of those. They are sure to get people's attention. Also, the beekeeper has offered to run a one-day beekeeping course for one student and that will be the main prize for winning the bee quiz we are going to hold.

B: What about if your beekeeper couldn't come for some reason?

A: That's not something I'm worried about. I'm sure another beekeeper would agree to come instead. The fact is that beekeepers are all passionate about what they do. They want young people to understand how important bees are. I suppose another potential problem is that the screen, projector or the Internet doesn't work, but we are used to that in this school! We will still have the poster exhibition and a very interesting speaker. So, we should be all right.

B: OK. It sounds as though you've thought of everything.

I'm now standing in the middle of the town centre. As you can see, there's nobody here at the moment, but just a few hours ago, we had an angry mob of protesters occupying the main square and demonstrating against the newly-elected president. What started as a peaceful gathering soon turned violent. The police weren't able to take control of the protesters and the military had to intervene. After the intervention and multiple arrests, the remaining civilians surrendered and the situation is now under control.

British prisons as we know them originated in London in the late eighteenth century. A philosopher called Jeremy Bentham introduced the idea that criminals could be imprisoned as a form of punishment. Up until then, prison was used for criminals waiting to go on trial. He wanted to design a new type of prison where guards could spy on the prisoners without them knowing – that never happened, but the concept of using prisons as a form of punishment did catch on. By the nineteenth century, people found guilty of various crimes were locked up in prison and often forced to do hard labour and live in bad conditions. The hope was that they would never commit a crime again for fear of returning to prison. In fact, the reality is that prison appears to have the opposite effect. Time inside a prison seems to cause too many people to become even more involved with a life of crime, not less. In spite of this, imprisonment continues to be one of the most common forms of punishment worldwide.

- 1 The riot that broke out at 7.30 p.m. yesterday evening at Rochester prison has been brought under control after security teams were called in to deal with the situation. The prison service reports that a small number of prisoners of the west wing of the prison were involved in setting fire to some furniture, but there was no risk to the public. The offenders were refusing to follow orders and had attempted to cause damage to the wing. A spokesman from the prison authorities made it clear that those responsible would be identified and punished.

- 2 On TV reviews today, I'd like to recommend a new comedy drama, Back to Life. The main character, Miri, has just come home after spending eighteen years in prison. At the beginning of the series, we don't know what crime she committed, but the story develops as Miri tries to learn how to live at home again and find a place for herself in society. The character of Miri is very different from the angry ex-prisoner that we usually see on TV. Her experience of post-prison life as it is shown in this series is both extremely amusing and at times rather sad.

- 3 Hello, Mum. You must be at work. I just wanted to tell you about my new job. I'm going to be teaching English in a prison. I know! Actually, I'm quite excited because I think it's fantastic that prisoners get the chance to get an education. I'm sure the days can be very long and boring when you're in prison. It's going to be a challenge, but I feel as if I'll be making a difference to these people's lives, and I'm really pleased about that. You know what I'm like – always trying to help people! OK, I have to go. I'll tell you more when I see you.

- 4 I'm here today to talk to you about careers in the prison service. If you're the kind of person who is interested in making a real difference to the society we live in, then becoming a prison officer may well be the job for you. The statistics are shocking: nearly half of UK offenders commit another crime in the year following their release from prison. For short sentences of under a year, it is as much as sixty-five percent. Working with offenders so that they do not go on to break the law again and helping them to become better citizens is good for the prisoner, their family and the community they come from.

- 5 If you ask me, it's time we made some changes to the way our prisons are run, and I think we have a lot to learn from the Scandinavian prison service. Prison officers have to train for three years there, learning communication skills and the ability to deal with conflict without using force. Prison officers are more like social workers. In prison, offenders keep their human rights including the right to vote, and they have access to the same high level of education and medical care as free people. I agree with one Norwegian officer who suggested that treating someone like a monster will make them behave like one.

P = Presenter J = Jordan

P: We're coming to you from our studios in Central London and we're talking to a group of teenagers about their campaign to end child food poverty and provide free meals for financially struggling families. Jordan, tell us more about your voluntary work.

J: Yeah, hi! We're based in South London and during the school holidays a group of us has been helping out in a food bank. We pack boxes and deliver food parcels to low-income families. During the school holidays, it's even harder for families who rely on free school meals during term time. In the UK, nearly one million children qualify for free school meals, but in the holidays this becomes a problem, and that's why the food banks started up. As well as the food we distribute, there are some local businesses – cafés and fast-food restaurants – that have offered free meals for families in need.

P: That's good to hear. Has the problem got worse?

J: Families have been badly hit by the downturn in the economy in the last few years. The gap between rich and poor has widened as a result of a decrease in government spending. Things are particularly difficult in cities where a combination of low income and rising housing costs makes it hard for families to manage.

P: Well, it's great to see you're doing what you can to help. Thanks for speaking to us today. If listeners would like to donate ...

P = Presenter G = Gus

P: Good afternoon and welcome to Teens and their Money, the programme where we invite the economists of the future to share their thoughts and ideas with us. Our first guest today is seventeen-year-old Gus. He's in his final year of school and he's hoping to gain a place at the London School of Economics. Hello, Gus, and thanks for joining us.

G: Hello. Thank you for having me.

P: Gus, I think you want to tell us about a new model for the economy. You think this new model is more suited to the modern world than the more established ones, which are no longer fit for purpose.

G: Yes, I'd like to talk about an economic model called Doughnut Economics, an idea that was first developed by Kate Raworth, an academic from Oxford University. Her aim was to come up with a framework for an economy that would work better for everyone and would get away from the current model, which is largely based on making as much profit as possible. When profit is the main aim, the gap between rich and poor is bound to get bigger and tackling climate change will not be a priority.

P: That sounds interesting. Can you tell us more about that?

G: Sure. Basically, Kate Raworth believes that the challenge for economists of the 21st century is to create a healthy economy that provides the population with what they need without damaging the environment any further. She describes it as meeting the needs of all within the means of the planet.

P: It sounds sensible. But why is it called Doughnut Economics?

G: It's all about keeping things in balance. If you imagine the shape of a doughnut, there are two rings, an inner ring and an outer ring. Inside the doughnut, between the two rings, is a safe space where a fair and sustainable economy takes place. The inner circle represents society's basic needs such as water, housing or health. The outer ring represents environmental issues such as climate change, air pollution and so on. The idea of the doughnut is that you don't want to fall into the hole in the middle because this is where people can't access their basic needs such as food, clean water and health care. You don't want to be outside the outer circle, either, because that's where destruction of the environment takes place.

P: OK, I think I'm with you. But how can this be achieved?

G: Well, some governments have already adopted the model and they are moving towards a more sustainable approach.

P: Well, thank you, Gus, for introducing us to this twenty-first century approach to economics. Food for thought! Now our next guest is ...

The photos show three different problems in a town that affect people's well-being. All three issues are important, but if I had to choose the most effective photo, I would go for number one – a lack of cycle lanes. When there are no cycle lanes in a town or city, cyclists are forced to use public roads and ride between cars – as we can see in the photo. This can be really dangerous and, as I am a cyclist myself, I think the photo illustrates a very real situation that everyone can relate to. I definitely wouldn't choose picture two because I think cycle lanes are essential, but play areas in parks are simply nice to have. What I mean is that it's important for children to play outside, but they don't need play equipment. Furthermore, it isn't clear from the photo whether the play area is closed permanently or temporarily. It may be that the play area will reopen next week! I think picture three is quite effective, as it shows a real problem that wheelchair users have with access to certain places, and how they feel in such situations. However, I wouldn't choose it because I think access for wheelchair users in towns has improved recently. For example, public transport, public buildings, shops and schools all have wheelchair access. The photo looks like it might be outside a private house and I don't think wheelchair access to private houses is the responsibility of local government.

1 B: What sort of problems would you like your local government to spend money on?

A: One of the biggest issues in my city is the state of the pavements. They are really shocking. The main problem is that the authorities haven't spent any money on repairs for about twenty years, and so elderly people, wheelchair users and parents with pushchairs have to avoid holes and bumps. Even young people fall over regularly and twisted ankles are a common injury here. It is particularly dangerous when it rains. If we had better pavements, more visitors would be happy to come into town and spend money in the shops. But, at the moment, because the pavements are in such bad condition, people don't enjoy walking around the city centre, so they stay away.

2 B: Traffic pollution is a big issue affecting the well-being of urban populations. What can local authorities do about it?

A: Traffic pollution is a huge problem in big cities and one of the solutions is to stop vehicles using the main streets. If city centre streets were closed to vehicles, there would be less pollution, and this would improve living conditions for everyone. However, closing some streets in the centre could cause traffic problems in the surrounding streets and the suburbs. An alternative solution could be a law that requires drivers to pay a sum of money if they take their vehicle into the centre. If they had to pay, they would try to avoid the city centre. The money raised through this law could then be used to pay for other ways of reducing pollution such as electric buses.

3 B: What can the government do to improve the well-being of the population?

A: There is no doubt that government can improve the well-being of the population. One obvious way is to make sure that people have access to green spaces for walking and running, and other sports facilities where they can do exercise and keep fit. Another way would be to spend more money on improving the air quality in cities and, in particular, reducing traffic pollution. Government could also organise awareness campaigns and promote the benefits of buying local products. If more people bought fruit and vegetables from local farmers, it would benefit the local economy, reduce unnecessary food miles and improve people's well-being by encouraging them to eat healthier, more organic food.
